OF

OF
A. F. & A. M. of Illinois

In compliance with the provisions of the Constitution and By-Laws of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois, the eighty-third annual meeting was held in the City of Chicago, at Aryan Grotto Temple Bldg., commencing on Tuesday, the 10th day of October, A. D. 1922, A. L. 5922, at 9 o'clock a. m., and was opened in ample form by Bro. Elmer E. Beach, most worshipful grand master.

Entertainment

Previous to the opening, the grand lodge was delightfully entertained with a musical program, which was thoroughly enjoyed. Those taking part were:

Boys' and Girls' Band of the Illinois Masonic Home.

St. Cecilia Orchestra, composed of members of St. Cecilia Lodge No. 865.

Ingleside Quartette, Chicago.

A vote of thanks was extended the participants which was concurred in by every member of the grand lodge.

Prayer

Bro. R. Keene Ryan, the grand chaplain, led the devotions.

Most Holy, Wise, and Glorious Lord God, Great Architeet of the Universe and Ruler of all Worlds, deign from thy celestial Temple from the realms of Light and Glory, to bless us with Thy presence upon this occasion, the opening of this grand lodge.

In accordance with Thy law and the teachings of our ancient fraternity it is ever our duty, before entering upon any great or important undertaking to invoke Thy guidance and blessing.

This, O Great and Eternal Lord God, we now most reverently do.

Incline Thy ear to the prayers and petitions of Thy children now assembled.

Pour upon us all, and all the members of the craft throughout the world the rich blessings of Thy Providence.

Fill our hearts with confidence without presumption, with piety without illusion and with tender affection for Thy Divine Goodness and Love for all mankind.

We implore Thee for Thy divine guidance of the Most Worshipful Grand Master of this Grand Lodge during the session now impending.

Grant unto him and those associated with him in the conduct of our proceedings power of mind, firmness of hand and great understanding, to the Glory of Thy Holy Name and to the advancement, for all good purposes, of our beloved institution. Amen.

Presentation of the Flag

The grand marshal, with the grand stewards, retired and returned with the flag of our country, and presented it to the grand master who placed it in the grand East, while the brethren sang "America."

Report—Committee on Credentials

Bro. Emmett Howard, chairman of the Committee on Credentials, announced that representatives from a constitutional number of lodges were present, and asked further time to complete their report. The request was granted.

Report of Grand Master

The grand master, Bro. Elmer E. Beach, presented his annual report.

BRETHREN OF THE GRAND LODGE:

As this message to you is penned I am profoundly impressed, indeed I may say oppressed, by the conviction that the spirit of unrest, doubt, suspicion and discontent which might reasonably have been expected immediately following the world war, has not been diminishing as time has passed. Class hatred and jealousy is more pronounced than ever before. The wage earners are filled with bitter animosity toward those who have accumulated or are possessed of the wealth without which the large industries of the world can not be carried on. Without accumulated wealth there can not be railroads and steamboats, telephones and telegraphs, coal mines and steel mills, or any of the great mercantile or manufacturing industries which not only furnish employment and a livelihood to the millions of wage earners, but enable the manual laborer to educate himself and family and enjoy not only the necessities of life, but also luxuries which even wealth could not obtain a few generations ago. Reason, common sense, justice, and mutual self-interest demand that jealousy, animosity and suspicion shall not control the relations between the workers and the owners of wealth, but that a broad, generous human sympathy should exist and control the relations between these classes.

The time will surely come when a universal brotherhood among men will be a reality and not a mere verbal expression of a theory, when universal permanent peace shall exist among the nations of the world. Enlightened common sense and self-interest must establish a proper and equitable relationship between capital and labor. There are several millions of Freemasons in the world. All of them are students of the profound philosophy or system of moral principles of the universal institution. No finer or more perfect moral system has ever been established by man. No one can calculate the wide influence and irresistible force of such an organization. Free from political bias or influence and wholly non-sectarian, it inculcates those fundamental principles of morality, justice, and patriotism concerning which all right thinking men agree and to which the consciences of all good men yield ready assent. Such an army of men, recruited from every rank and walk of life, animated by the principles and teachings of such an Institution, must exert a compelling influence for good in the world which shall do much to hasten the coming of the era of peace on earth and good will toward men.

Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are guaranteed to us by the Constitution. Every individual has the fundamental and inalienable right, not only to refuse to work or render service against his will, in other words to refrain from or to quit work when he chooses, but also has an equal right to seek employment and to work when, where and upon whatever terms or conditions he can obtain employment. A forcible denial of this right by any body or combination of men, no matter how numerically strong or powerful they may be, if allowed by the government, can result only in the crumbling of the foundations of the Republic, the certain destruction of all liberty and independence and a return to chaos. The tenets of Freemasonry and the cardinal virtues taught us in every lodge, a sense of justice and the moral fibre of our Universal Institution, must form a stabilizing influence which shall lead to the destruction—the utter annihilation—of the pernicious doctrine that, when a group, organization or combination of men voluntarily give up and abandon their employment, any right exists to resort to violence and bloodshed to prevent other men, who are willing to do so, from entering the employment thus abandoned. The continued existence of our modern industrial system and civilization depends upon the destruction of the wicked and unjust claim that a man or body of men may refuse to work and then by violence prevent others from doing the work which they themselves refuse to do. The right to work, when, where, and upon such terms and conditions as one chooses, unmolested by threats or unlawful violence, is a necessary corollary of the right not to work in any employment against one's will—in other words, the right to resist slavery. Here is an opportunity for Masons and Masonry to assist in a practical movement to educate the conscience of the world to a proper conception of this fundamental question.

NECROLOGY

The grim reaper has been less unkind to us in this Grand Jurisdiction than in many former years. Only one present or past grand officer has been lost to us by death since we last met together—R.W. Bro. Henry S. Albin, Grand Steward—who was called to his reward on February 19th, 1922. The Committee on Obituaries will make appropriate mention of the life and services of this brother and the others in this and in other states who have passed to the Great Unknown during the last year. In respectful and affectionate remembrance of these brethren, let us rise and bow in silent and prayerful respect to their memories.

SMOKING IN LODGES

Reports have come to me on numerous occasions that the law of this Grand Lodge forbidding smoking in open lodge was not enforced with the ready good will which should animate every master of a lodge. Feeling that every law of the Grand Lodge should be enforced until repealed or changed regardless of the personal preferences of the lodge or the Grand Master, I caused a commission appointed for the purpose to take testimony in one case. It became apparent that in this particular lodge no sufficient effort had been made by the members to obey the law, or by the Master to enforce it. I thereupon visited the lodge and reprimanded the master and the members for their disobedience to the law. The words of the Grand Master were respectfully received, and I believe this lodge is loyally obeying the law and I trust that all others will be equally loyal so long as the law is in force.

DISPENSATION RECOMMENDED

A considerable number of brethren in North Chicago, a municipality located between Lake Forest and Waukegan, and nearly equally distant from each, have asked for a dispensation to form a new lodge in that locality. After a careful investigation, the committee appointed for that purpose reported unanimously recommending that the petition be granted. The preliminary papers were accordingly sent to these brethren, and the lodge in Lake Forest and one of the two lodges in Waukegan voted favorably upon the petition but Waukegan Lodge No. 78, by far the older and larger of the two lodges in Waukegan, voted adversely. I have carefully considered the matter and am convinced that the material is ample to support a good lodge in North Chicago and that no serious harm would result to any existing lodge if a new lodge be established there. I, therefore, recommend that a dispensation for a new lodge be granted to the brethren of North Chicago.

SUNDAY PICNICS

It having come to my attention that certain lodges contemplated holding lodge picnics on Sunday, I addressed a letter to each lodge warning against such affairs in the name or under the auspices of the lodges. So far as I know the warning was heeded and every lodge cheerfully and in good faith acted upon the suggestions made.

CHANGE OF NAME OF HOME AT LA GRANGE

The name of the Home maintained for the wards of the Grand Lodge at LaGrange is the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home. As Masons furnishing a home and education to children of our deceased brethren or of those who through accident or misfortune cannot properly care for their children, we provide for the care, maintenance and education of these children with a loving solicitude for their present and future well being, and should be anxious to avoid stigmatizing them in the slightest degree by the use of the more or less objectionable word "orphan." Deprived of the loving care and affection of their natural parents, their lot is none too pleasant at best. These wards are treated at the Home, not as "orphans" but as our children. If we apply to them the term "orphans" others certainly will do the same and cause many a heart-ache which we may perhaps avoid. It has been suggested that the name of the Home be changed from Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home to Illinois Masonic Home for Children. I should be glad if an appropriate amendment to our By-laws for this purpose be introduced at this meeting and be by unanimous consent adopted.

DONATION TO LAGRANGE PUBLIC SCHOOL FUND

At the last meeting of the Grand Lodge $6,000.00 was donated to the Board of Education of the school district at LaGrange for use in the erection of new school buildings. It is recommended that a similar donation be made to be used for equipping playgrounds, an athletic field, gymnasium, or some like purpose.

FOUNDATION FUND FOR VOCATIONAL TRAINING

The brethren of Adelpi Lodge No. 1029 have undertaken to do something which they characterize as "worth while" for the children in the Home at LaGrange. They have pledged themselves to give annually one dollar each for five years for a foundation fund for vocational education and buildings for that purpose at the Home. They have sent to the treasurer of the Home Board three hundred eighty-nine dollars as an initial payment, and are hopeful that other lodges will fall in line so that something substantial can soon be accomplished. The liberality and earnest desire of these brethren to do something of lasting benefit to our children at LaGrange deserve the thanks and approval of the Grand Lodge, and it is hoped that their example will be followed by others so that the very laudable plan they have inaugurated may soon be brought to a successful fruition.

DONATION TO LAGRANGE HOME

During the past year Medinah Temple made a very generous donation of $20,000.00, which financed the purchase of a large addition to the grounds adjoining the Children's Home at LaGrange. The Trustees of the Village of LaGrange have since vacated two streets which ran through this property, so that we now have a solid block of land surrounding the Home which will afford ample playgrounds, athletic fields and space for additional buildings for many years to come. The Grand Lodge is very grateful and appreciative for the generosity which prompted this splendid gift for the benefit of our wards in the Home at LaGrange.

SECRETARY DEPOSED

Early in January, 1921, Brother C. F. Young, a member of Sidell Lodge No. 798, then living in Ohio, wrote Brother J. A. Seybold, Secretary of Sidell Lodge, requesting a dimit. A dimit was sent to Brother Young which was not in the form prescribed by our law and which did not contain the information necessary to enable Brother Young to affiliate in Ohio. He returned the dimit and advised the secretary of what information the law in Ohio required. Another dimit similar to the first was sent him and he again returned it explaining what was necessary. Other letters were afterward sent by Brother Young to the secretary, all of which were ignored. Upon being advised of the situation I wrote Brother Seybold in December last directing that he send Brother Young a dimit endorsing thereon the information needed. During the following four and a half months I wrote Brother Seybold four letters directing him to send the dimit and finally on April 26, ordered him to send the dimit at once and advise me that he had done so. Brother Seybold ignored these directions and final order and answered none of my letters. Finally on May 4, 1922, I deposed Brother Seybold from office and issued a dispensation for a special election to fill the vacancy. The election was held, and Brother Young received his dimit within a few days after the new secretary was elected. In my opinion charges should be preferred against Brother Seybold for his disobedience and contumacy and flagrant neglect of duty and upon conviction proper punishment should be inflicted. I have not ordered that Brother Seybold be placed on trial, preferring to await the action of the Grand Lodge in approving or disapproving my action in the premises. The file of correspondence in the case is herewith furnished to the proper committee for such recommendation as they may see fit to make.

A case very similar to the above occurred in Manito Lodge No. 476. A trial was held in that lodge and the secretary, Brother S. E. Dennis, disregarded repeated directions given to him by me to furnish the attorney for the accused with a transcript of the proceedings so that an appeal might be taken. Not only did the secretary disregard these repeated directions but neglected even to dignify them by an answer. On August 25, I removed Brother S. E. Dennis from the office of secretary. The file of correspondence in this case is also submitted for such recommendation as the proper committee shall deem proper.

MASTER DEPOSED

On June 28, 1922, it came to my knowledge that Brother Frank Sims, Master of Crystal Lodge No. 1025, had willfully disregarded the objections explicitly made to him by a past master and by both wardens against the initiation of a candidate whose initiation had already been held up for more than two years by the objections of other members of the lodge. In spite of these objections and statement to the master that if he disregarded them the matter would certainly be laid before the Grand Master, Brother Sims stated that he would assume the responsibility and did proceed to initiate the candidate objected to. In a conference with the master, he admitted to me the charge made against him which was in writing. I was forced to the conclusion that if Brother Sims acted through ignorance he was both unfit and unsafe to be master, and if his action was a willful disregard of the legal right of objection, he was equally unfit longer to fill the office of master of his lodge. I therefore visited the lodge on July 20, 1922, deposed Brother Sims as master and placed the lodge in charge of the senior warden. The written charges signed by the members of the lodge who made the objections to the initiation of the candidate in question, which were admitted by the Master, are herewith submitted for such action as this Grand Lodge may see fit to take. After the master was deposed he stated in open lodge that he was glad he was deposed, that he wished he had been deposed two weeks before when he was first called to the Grand Master's office, and that so far as he was concerned his deposition from office was final. I, therefore, recommend that he be not restored to office and that his removal be made final by the Grand Lodge.

CHARTER RESTORED

My predecessor, Brother Fitzgerald, last year arrested the charter of Henderson Lodge No. 820, located at Kenney. This action was approved by the Grand Lodge and the functions of the lodge were suspended until June 1, 1922. Acting upon this direction I restored the charter on June 1, 1922, and although no communication concerning the matter has come to me, I assume that the lodge has resumed the exercise of its functions.

CHARTER ARRESTED

Complaint was made to me early in the year of grave irregularities and violations of Masonic law in Royal Lodge No. 807, located at Macedonia. I requested Bro. R. C. Davenport, R.W. Senior Grand Warden, to visit Royal Lodge in company with Bro. A. M. Edwards, R.W. D.D.G.M., and to ascertain if possible the real condition and the facts in the case. They visited the lodge two or three times, and learned definitely a number of facts any one of which would have warranted the arresting of the Charter. The lodge is split into two factions and the most bitter feeling prevails. The Master and Wardens with their followers formed one faction and would not allow any candidate to be elected who was presented by any one of the other faction. The faction opposed to the Master and his followers would not allow the election of any candidate presented by the opposing faction. The Master and Wardens, however, disregarded blackballs when cast against the candidates whom their faction favored and declared them elected regardless of the blackballs in the ballot box. When the initiation of the candidates thus illegally declared elected was objected to, the Master ignored the objections and proceeded to confer the degrees upon those candidates.

The ballot was spread upon four or five candidates collectively, and the interrogatories were propounded to two or more at the same time. The ballot was spread upon candidates before the entire committee had reported, the Master neglected to announce the nature of the report of the investigating committees, and members exposed their ballots while voting and afterwards. So many of the Grand Lodge By-Laws were violated that we may almost conclude that if the officers and members had known of any others they would have violated these also. The foregoing facts being established and many of them admitted, it was evident that the usefulness of the lodge was destroyed, harmony had disappeared, the true Masonic spirit had vanished, and enmity, ill will, jealousy and bitter factional strife only remained. At my direction, therefore, Brother Davenport visited the lodge again and arrested the charter. My opinion, based upon all the facts is that the brethren at Macedonia cannot act together amicably in a lodge, and that the charter of Royal Lodge No. 807 should be permanently revoked. The files of correspondence and reports in this case are submitted for such action as may seem wise to the Grand Lodge.

DISPENSATION WITHDRAWN

During the year, after investigation and a favorable report of a committee a dispensation was granted to Anram Lodge U.D. and it was duly instituted. A considerable amount of work was done by this lodge, 68 candidates were raised, the records were properly kept and the transactions of the lodge were in conformity with the legal requirements. However, a very unfortunate situation developed in the lodge. Conditions of inharmony became pronounced, and such bitter personal animosity and jealousy among the officers and some members became apparent that I was reluctantly forced to believe that the elements of discord were such that the brethren could not be expected to work together with that degree of harmony and concord so essentially necessary in a lodge. I was convinced that the issuance of a charter would only perpetuate an intolerable situation, and I accordingly withdrew the dispensation. I recommend that the dispensation be not continued and that the funds and property in the hands of the treasurer and under the control of the officers be turned over to the District Deputy Grand Master who has had charge of this lodge, and by him turned over to the Grand Lodge.

FEES COLLECTED FOR DEGREES CONFERRED BY LODGES NOT HAVING JURISDICTION

My attention has been drawn to the fact that some time ago nine petitioners residing nearer lodges in Chicago than to any one of the five lodges having concurrent jurisdiction in Oak Park, were elected and received the degrees in the several lodges in Oak Park, three of them in Oak Park Lodge

No. 540, four in Circle Lodge No. 938, and two in Fair Oaks Lodge No 1006. The fees collected in these cases were $300 by Oak Park Lodge, $325 by Circle Lodge and $175 by Fair Oaks Lodge. There is no question that these fees should not be retained by the lodges which received them by invading the jurisdiction of the lodges in Chicago. The question presented, therefore, was what disposition should be made of these fees. The Committee on Jurisprudence were not united in their opinion and my own opinion differed from that of some of the committee. I therefore directed that these fees be turned over to the Grand Treasurer for such disposition as this Grand Lodge may determine.

PHYSICAL QUALIFICATIONS

Many requests have been presented for dispensations to enable lodges to receive and act on petitions for the degrees in cases where the petitioners had not the physical qualifications necessary to enable them to conform to what the various degrees require of them. I have felt constrained to follow the course adopted by my predecessor, and issue no dispensations in these cases. I have never been fully convinced that it is wise to depart from the long established and until recently well nigh universal rule requiring that candidates have no physical defects which prevent them from conforming to everything the various degrees require of them. Although empowered to do so, I have therefore declined to issue dispensations waiving physical defects which the Grand Lodge itself has declined to do.

LODGE RECORDS LOST BY FIRE

During the past year another lodge has lost its entire records by fire. Many of our lodges do not meet in fireproof buildings and have not provided fireproof safes or vaults for the safekeeping of their records, the loss of which would cause irreparable damage. Advice, warning, exhortation, everything has failed to induce these lodges to take the simplest precautions to avoid such disaster and injury as might be so easily anticipated. It seems that nothing short of a legal requirement of the Grand Lodge will move some lodges to properly protect their records. It would seem that the matter is of sufficient importance to warrant the adoption of a by-law requiring every lodge forthwith to provide itself with a fireproof safe for the protection of its records.

BEARDSTOWN FLOOD SUFFERERS

Early last spring a very serious disaster occurred to the Masons and others in and around Beardstown as a result of the unprecedented high water which flooded a very considerable portion of the state in that locality. This resulted in great suffering and need for immediate assistance.

The situation was one calling for prompt action, and the need was pressing. I, therefore, directed the Grand Treasurer to place $1,000.00 in a special fund subject to the order of R.W. Bro. B. L. Ten Eyek, and requested him at once to visit the flooded district, ascertain conditions and to draw on the special fund for the relief of those suffering immediate and pressing want. Brother Ten Eyek immediately went to Beardstown. He found and reported the need for assistance to provide necessities to relieve distress of Masons and their families and others. He placed the $1,000.00 at the disposal of Cass Lodge No. 23, to be distributed as the Master of the lodge and the committee appointed for the purpose should direct. Four thousand dollars more was likewise placed in a special fund to be drawn on by Brother Ten Eyek as the necessities of those in distress might require. I am thankful that the distress of these flood sufferers was not so serious as to render it necessary to expend any portion of the additional fund of $4,000.00. Prompt action was necessary in this matter to make the assistance as useful as possible, and it is hoped the Grand Lodge will approve the action taken.

FORM OF LEGACIES OR BEQUESTS TO THE GRAND LODGE

A number of Masons from time to time are prompted to make provisions in their wills to leave a portion of their estates to the Grand Lodge. Some desire these bequests to be used for the Children's Home, some for the Home at Sullivan, and others have no preference. Owing to the very great care and particularity required to draft a will which can withstand a legal attack, it has seemed advisable to furnish a few simple forms for the guidance of those who desire to make bequests or legacies to the Grand Lodge or to the use of either of the charities maintained by the Grand Lodge. It should be borne in mind that, as now conducted by the Grand Lodge, the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home, and the Illinois Masonic Home at Sullivan are names merely for these charities maintained by the Grand Lodge. Bequests therefore should be to "The Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois," that being the correct legal title of our Grand Lodge; or to the Grand Lodge described as above for the use of the Illinois Masonic Home at Sullivan or the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home, as the testator may prefer. A testator recently left a portion of his estate to the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home of Chicago. This Home is not located in Chicago, and it required a special order of the Probate Court to enable the Executor in this case to pay over the money for the use of the beneficiary intended. There was no opposition by other beneficiaries under this will to this order of the Court, but no one can say what the result might have been if a contest had been made. I recommend that proper forms be prepared and printed for distribution to all lodges and to others interested, so that as few mistakes as possible be made which shall defeat the purpose of those who may desire to leave portions of their estates to these charitable uses.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Hundreds of questions are propounded to the Grand Master every year which even a very meagre knowledge of our by-laws would have enabled those asking the questions to answer themselves. Most of the mistakes of masters of lodges result from ignorance of the law rather than from willful perversity or even careless indifference. We in Illinois have developed and perfected a splendidly effective system for teaching and learning the standard work. We have several hundred grand lecturers, each of whom has, through years of patient study and practice, earned the title of Right Worshipful, passed a thorough examination before the Board of Grand Examiners, secured a commission, and is now an authority upon the ritual and work adopted in this jurisdiction. These brethren are of much more than average ability and capacity. They have been selected by rigid examinations as to their knowledge and general fitness. Yet in Illinois no provision or precaution has ever been made or taken by the Grand Lodge to insure the election as masters of our constituent lodges of brethren who possess or have proved that they have a knowledge of Masonic law, custom and usage in any degree greater than that possessed by the average member of whom little or nothing in this particular is expected or required. Indeed the very general custom in hundreds of lodges of regularly and almost religiously advancing each officer in line to the next higher office necessarily results in the election of Masters who may or may not possess any knowledge of law and usage sufficient to qualify them for the discharge of the important and varied duties of the office. These considerations have led me to the conviction that no brother should be eligible to election as master who has not previous to his election proved that he has the requisite knowledge of the law to justify the expectation that he can administer the affairs of the lodge in an orderly and satisfactory manner. The evidence of proficiency should be the possession of a commission or certificate issued by a properly constituted Board of Legal Examiners only after a thorough examination. This system may be gradually put in force by the adoption of appropriate legislation which shall not be retroactive to the extent of applying to or affecting present masters and shall become operative only at a date in the future sufficiently distant to enable all wardens or others to prepare and take the required examination. As one example out of hundreds which might be cited to illustrate the importance of requiring masters to possess at least a reasonable familiarity with our Masonic law, allow me to call your attention to what occurred in one of our lodges recently. A candidate petitioned and was rejected in a lodge and afterwards became a resident in another Illinois town. After living in the latter town a year or more he petitioned the lodge there and explicitly stated when and where he had previously petitioned and been rejected. The lodge nevertheless received his petition without asking for or receiving a waiver, and in due time elected the candidate and conferred the degrees upon him. When the attention of the Master was called to this plain violation of the law, he expressed astonishment and declared he never knew of the existence of Code No. 475, which in words too plain to be misunderstood explicitly forbids what this Master had in his ignorance done. I hope the committee on Legislation will prepare and submit at this session of the Grand Lodge appropriate amendments to our law to cover the points above mentioned on this subject.

In 1845 our Grand Lodge adopted a resolution requiring that every candidate raised to the third degree should learn the catechism of the third degree and pass a satisfactory examination thereon in open lodge within one year after he was raised and making it the duty of the Master to provide the necessary instruction to the candidate. For many years past no attention has been paid to this resolution, although I am not aware that it has ever been rescinded.

I have long felt that recently made Masons too frequently lose all interest in the lodge, quickly join one or more of the allied Masonic bodies, and thousands of them very infrequently visit the lodge more than a very few times after they are raised. If they were all required to learn the third degree catechism and pass an examination on it within one year, there would be some reason and necessity for attendance at lodge and good results would come in keeping up their interest in lodge affairs, and they would often become better Masons and more useful to the fraternity thereby. I am of the opinion that if the spirit of the resolution above referred to, which was adopted many years ago, were enacted into law and some manner provided for enforcing it, such as depriving the members of certain rights in the lodge, such as voting or holding office, much good would result from the enactment of such a law.

Code No. 82 is an attempt to state how our Grand Lodge by-laws may be amended but it fails to cover the case. It starts as follows, "The by-laws for the government of constituent lodges which the Grand Lodge may enact in accordance with Code No. 48, page 26, may be amended in the following manner," etc. Our Grand Lodge by-laws consist of by-laws relating to the Grand Lodge as well as by-laws relating to lodges, or "for the government of constituent lodges." Nowhere in our constitution, so far as I find, is there any other provision than the one above quoted from Code No. 82 for amending the Grand Lodge by-laws. Consequently there is no provision in the constitution for amending the laws relating to the Grand Lodge. It would seem, therefore, that Code No. 82 should be amended in effect as follows: strike out the words beginning in the first line and ending in the third line to-wit, "for the government of constituent lodges which the Grand Lodge may enact in accordance with Code 48, page 26," and insert in lieu thereof the following: "of this Grand Lodge." The Code would then read, "The by-laws of this Grand Lodge may be amended in the following manner," etc.

I believe that the spirit of our law really contemplates that none but citizens of this country may receive the degrees in our lodges. The charge to the candidate in the first degree, I think, clearly contemplates that the candidate is a citizen of this country. Among other things we enjoin him to be loyal to his government, and to never lose sight "of the allegiance due to his country." What sort of a charge would this have been if delivered during the period of the late war to a citizen of one of the countries with which we were then at war? Is it not an absurdity that under such circumstances we should charge an alien, a citizen of a country with which we were at war, who was receiving his degrees in a lodge here "never to lose sight of the allegiance due to his country?" The so-called universality of Masonry has reference more to the universality of the teachings, principles and philosophy of Masonry than to the right of an alien to receive the degrees in our lodges. This is not an entirely new question in our Grand Lodge, but I believe the adverse report on a similar amendment was without sufficient consideration and contrary to sound reason and the good of our Grand Lodge. I should like to see an amendment proposed at this session requiring citizenship in this country as a requisite to petitioning our lodges.

I have been asked by one lodge whether a lodge is required to pay to the Grand Lodge a per capita tax upon members in the Illinois Masonic Home at Sullivan. Our By-laws do not now provide for relieving the lodge from payment of the per capita tax on its members in the Home. It would seem that such provision should be made. I, therefore, recommend that the committee on Legislation submit an amendment to our By-laws which shall provide that no lodge shall be required to pay Grand Lodge dues upon any member while in the Illinois Masonic Home.

An unfortunate misapprehension frequently exists in the minds of candidates as to the character of Masonry and the advantages to be derived by membership in the institution. To avoid this misapprehension and to enable the prospective candidates better to weigh the important step they contemplate, some Grand Lodges have provided for the preparation by a proper committee of a general statement which shall be handed to every candidate before he signs the petition for degrees, explaining the nature, character and purposes of Freemasonry and the qualifications for membership, emphasizing particularly the fact that it is not a Benefit Society and is not to be entered in the hope of personal gain or advancement. If such a statement were to be prepared and attached to our petition with perforations so that it might be readily detached and retained by the candidate, it would do much to clarify the minds of many candidates who might otherwise be under a misapprehension.

I suggest that this subject be referred to the proper committee for consideration and report at this session of the Grand Lodge.

Our petition for degrees, a copy of which is found on page 157 of the Blue Book, contains this statement:

“I have resided in the State of Illinois.....years, and for the six months last past at.....Illinois.” Instances have occurred where the petitioner has resided for a number of years in Illinois, then been absent for a time, and after returning, has petitioned for the degrees after six months and before one year from the date of his return. The first part of the above statement therefore to-wit, “I have resided in the State of Illinois.....years” might be literally true and the candidate have resided in Illinois only six months continuously before the date of the petition. I suggest therefore that either by resolution or otherwise there be inserted in the statement in the petition above quoted after the word “years” the following, “next preceding this date.” The petition would then read, as it should: “I have resided in the State of Illinois.....years next preceding this date, and for the six months last past at.....Illinois.”

The question has often arisen in Illinois as to whether or not a Mason could be properly tried for unmaasonic conduct on account of misconduct, misdemeanors, or crimes committed by him previous to petitioning the lodge. Some jurisdictions I know have attempted to remove any doubt from this subject by incorporating in their petitions a statement in substance as follows: “I know of no mental, physical or moral reason why I should not be made a Mason.” I believe such a clause ought to be in our petitions. This recommendation is referred to the Committee on New Legislation.

BONDS FOR TREASURERS AND SECRETARIES

The importance of having all treasurers and secretaries placed under bonds is, as a plain business proposition, beyond question. As authorized by the Grand Lodge at its last meeting, I have appointed Bro. A. H. Bell, Bro. L. A. Goddard, and Bro. Paul A. Neuffer as a committee to inquire into and report on the advisability of this Grand Lodge securing from some responsible surety company a schedule bond which shall cover the office of treasurer and secretary of every constituent lodge in this Grand Jurisdiction. From investigations I have made independently of the committee as to the manner of writing and the expense of such bond, I feel that such arrangement should be immediately made. Some officers appear to feel that it is an insult to them and a reflection upon their integrity to be asked to furnish a bond. These supersensitive brethren probably would not resent the action of the Grand Lodge were it to arrange for a schedule bond covering the offices of all treasurers and secretaries. At all events such arrangement would provide the one thing needed, that is a business-like system in place of the present haphazard, incomplete and insufficient method of leaving the matter to the uncertain action of the individual lodges. It is hoped that the committee may recommend a satisfactory plan which will accomplish the results desired.

BASEBALL AND OTHER CLUBS

A subject which has caused me much uneasiness during the past year is the growing evil resulting from the formation in the lodges of various kinds of athletic clubs, such as baseball clubs, basketball clubs, bowling clubs, etc. All these forms of athletics are admirable in their proper place and with proper restrictions. At the inception of these organizations it was believed that much good would come from the form of innocent and healthful exercise which these friendly contests between the members of the lodges would produce. Instead of promoting the generous and brotherly emulation which was expected, these contests have degenerated into the keenest and bitterest rivalry which in many cases has led the players and their adherents into the most disgraceful quarrels, some of them resulting even in fistie encounters.

In many cases, in their intense partisanship, the members have forgotten not only the ordinary principles of sportsmanship, but the requirements of decency and gentlemanly conduct as well. Vile, abusive, and vulgar language has been frequently indulged in, and disgraceful rowdyism has been not uncommon, and spectators not Masons have often been amazed, and naturally wonder what sort of a fraternity it is whose members indulge in such ribald, insulting and scandalous language and conduct toward each other. With the formation of these clubs there has developed in the lodges a sort of class spirit injurious to the welfare of the lodges, and this clannish class spirit in many cases has led to a bad kind of lodge politics, such as the demanding of political recognition for the athletic members in the selection of the officers of the lodges. Moreover, in many cases lodge funds have been used to finance these clubs, to buy uniforms, etc. In every case which has come to my attention where lodge funds have been so used I have advised that such uses cannot properly be called Masonic and are therefore illegal.

All in all, greater evil than good has resulted from these athletic clubs and craftsmen's leagues, and I have been gradually, although reluctantly, forced to the belief that all these forms of clubs or organizations within our lodges should be strictly forbidden.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF COURTESY

The Grand Lodge is meeting this year in the Temple of Aryan Grotto of Chicago. The use of the Temple has been tendered to the Grand Lodge without charge for rent and I desire here to acknowledge this courtesy and to express thanks to Aryan Grotto for their generosity.

A detailed statement of lodges constituted, lodges instituted, dispensations granted, fees collected, etc., will be appended hereto as an appendix, and may be consulted at leisure by any who are interested.

CONCLUSION

In administering the affairs pertaining to the office of Grand Master, I have been more and more impressed with the thought that a free, generous and willing obedience to law is essential to the well-being and perpetuity of our honored Institution. Disobedience to or disregard of any law, quickly breeds contempt for all law. This leads directly to anarchy and chaos. No State or Institution can long endure without a genuine and patriotic loyalty to the law. This is as true of our Fraternity as of our state or country. The solemn admonition I would like to give to the 250,000 Masons in this state is, first to learn the law, and then to yield willing and loyal obedience to the law.

The growth of the Institution in this state during the past year has not been so great in numbers as in some years, and yet we are hopeful that the moral strength of Freemasonry has been increasing as rapidly as the Institution has ever increased numerically. This thought, this hope, suggests a comparison which may be interesting and warrant some speculation as to causes or effects. In 1871, with 36,000 Masons in Illinois, there were 114 expulsions and 75 suspensions for unmasonic conduct. In 1921, with 230,000 Masons, the expulsions were only 23. With less than one-sixth as many Masons in 1871, there were five times as many expulsions as in 1921. What has caused this remarkable change? Were our brethren of 1871 thirty times less careful in the selection of candidates, or were they thirty times more strict and rigid in enforcing the moral and Masonic law than we of 1921? Or to put it the other way, are we thirty times more careful in weighing the qualifications of candidates, or are we only one-thirtieth as strict in the enforcement of moral and Masonic obligations as our brethren of fifty years ago? In any event, we must be forced to the conclusion that superlative care and caution should be exercised by us in passing upon the qualifications of candidates if we are to hope to maintain the Institution as a strong moral force for the building of character and for the maintenance of good order, good citizenship, loyalty and patriotic devotion to our country. If the time shall ever come when few or no laws at all shall be necessary to protect the rights of individuals, it will be when the whole world shall have become obedient to the teachings and tenets of Freemasonry.

Finally, my brethren, allow me to express to you my profound sense of gratitude for the confidence you have shown in elevating me to this high office. My ambition has been to be just and impartial, sympathetic and not stern and severe. Firmness has often been necessary when it would have been far more pleasant to overlook and forgive disobedience and irregularity. Mistakes and errors of judgment have of course been made. What I most desire at this time is the approval of my brethren of my efforts to serve the Craft. If I can hope to have won your approval no sacrifice of time or effort will have been too great.

Report—Committee on Correspondence

Bro. Delmar D. Darrah presented his report as Committee on Correspondence. It was received, ordered printed in the proceedings and will be found in the appendix.

Committee on Grand Master's Annual Report

Bro. Charles H. Spilman, chairman of the Committee on Grand Master's Report, presented the report of that committee. On motion, it was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

The grand master in opening his report of the fraternal year gives brief recognition to the spirit of the times, a sense of unrest and unreality, and fittingly directs attention to the fundamentals of Masonry, which when acknowledged and exemplified present a ready guide through the maze of evidences of human passion. It is a splendid sentiment with which to open this grand lodge and may well serve as the keynote of its deliberations.

The section devoted to necrology is referred to the Committee on Obituaries.

Action of the grand master in upholding the dignified atmosphere prescribed for subordinate lodges is approved.

Two matters touching upon the proposed inauguration of new bodies are dealt with under the headings, "Dispensation Recommended," and "Dispensation Withdrawn." These should be considered and reported upon by the Committees on Lodges U. D. and are so referred.

Action taken in regard to Sunday picnics is commended and approved.

The suggestion concerning the designation applied to the children over whom the grand lodge exercises loving care is dictated by a kindly heart and will doubtless appeal to every member of the grand lodge. It is referred to the Committee on Legislation for formal action.

Recommendation for additional appropriation of funds for the La-Grange Board of Education is referred to the Committee on Finance.

The fraternal thought, evidenced in a material way, of the brethren of Adelpi Lodge No. 1029, and the members of Medinah Temple, is suitably acknowledged by the grand master and his references thereto are approved.

Several cases of discipline came to the attention of the grand master during the year and action was taken in each. To the consideration of the Committee on Jurisprudence is referred this phase, including the two cases under the heading "Secretary Deposed," that under "Master Deposed," and that under "Charter Arrested." The restoration of the charter of Henderson Lodge No. 820, being the conclusion of a matter which has previously been considered by this grand lodge, and involving no further issue, is herewith approved.

The question of fees collected on degrees conferred by lodges not having jurisdiction should be brought before this grand lodge by the Committee on Jurisprudence.

The grand master's ruling in cases involving physical qualifications raises no new question but is in line with precedent and is approved.

The recommendation for adoption of a basic measure requiring safeguarding of lodge records is committed to the consideration of the Committee on Legislation.

With hearty approval of the action of the grand master in recognizing the need for relief of Beardstown flood sufferers, the technical consideration of the funds involved is referred to the Committee on Finance for formal inclusion in their report.

Careful attention should be given to the important legal point offered under the caption "Form of Legacies or Bequests to the Grand Lodge," and this is left to the province of the Committee on Jurisprudence.

To the same committee is referred the recommendations concerning qualifications of masters, third degree examinations of candidates, amendments to the grand lodge by-laws, citizenship qualifications, and grand lodge dues upon members in the Illinois Masonic Home at Sullivan. Extended consideration should be given to most of these and they should have preliminary review by the Committee on Legislation so that the effect of their possible application may be thoroughly understood.

A new idea so far as jurisdictional enactment is concerned but one whose need has been often locally felt, is embodied in the recommendation that a petitioner should to a reasonable extent be made acquainted with the outstanding features of the Masonic institution prior to receiving the degrees and prior to signing the petition. Your committee believes that this subject should be made a topic for consideration by a special committee, and so recommends.

The recommendations concerning form of petition apparently involve no matters calling for legislative consideration or jurisprudential construction but are merely intended for purposes of clarifying a form long in use and are therefore approved herewith.

The subject of bonds for treasurers and secretaries has been under consideration during and since the last annual meeting of the grand lodge, and is recommitted to the special committee.

A wide range of possibilities is involved under the heading "Baseball and Other Clubs." It is the opinion of your committee that the subject as at present reported is too divergent for definite action by this grand lodge. We believe that each case will so differ in circumstances as to make a general rule difficult of framing, and we suggest that the handling of these matters should be left as it is at present—directly in the province of the grand master.

Fitting acknowledgment is made for the courtesy of Aryan Grotto in extending without charge the use of its headquarters for this grand lodge session.

There is further presented in the report of the grand master a great amount of detail which includes the action taken in regard to five appointments to fill vacancies, four appointments of grand representatives, eight dedications of buildings, nine corner-stone ceremonies, twenty-eight instituting and twenty constituting ceremonies, together with the financial data appertaining. All of these have been examined by your committee and are approved.

The extensive report of the grand master not only brings to the brethren of Illinois a detailed account of his stewardship in handling the business affairs of this great organization, and a showing of how he has directed its fraternal efforts. It bespeaks in every line a constant thought for the good of the order, a desire to so protect it by wise laws that error may be avoided, to so inspire its members to the attainment of moral worth and the performance of goodly deeds that the true purpose of our institution may be attained. Your committee commends in unstinted terms the interpretation placed by Most Worshipful Brother Elmer E. Beach upon the duties of the high position which you have intrusted to him.

Fraternally submitted,

C. H. SPILMAN,
AMOS PETTIBONE,
H. M. PALMER,

Committee.

On May 8, 1922, the secretary who had been installed at the institution tendered his resignation and the same was accepted. A new secretary was elected. From this time on the minutes are interlined, irregularly written, carrying many erasure marks, footnotes and apparent subsequent insertions by both pencil and pen, giving the records a neglected, careless and slovenly appearance.

We, therefore, recommend that the dispensation be continued and that a charter as "Prairie State Lodge No. 1088" be placed in the hands of the most worshipful grand master to be delivered to the lodge at such time as, in his judgment, the records show that they are being kept in accordance with the requirements of the Grand Lodge by-laws.

Oration

M.W. Grand Master and Brethren of the Grand Lodge:

I think that this is the most impressive scene I have witnessed during the year. I am very happy to be here today. I don't know whether I shall bring you a message worthy of this great occasion, but I do know that I shall take from you an inspiration and a courage which will help me throughout the ensuing year. There never was a time since this Great Order was founded when it was so needed by a distracted and a harassed world as it is needed today. There never has been a time since the Christian Era dawned when the great principles which have come to be known as Christian civilization were more in need of the support of such a body as this than today.

I myself have had occasion during the past few years to learn the significance of this Order. I have had occasion to test the reality of the great words with which we conjure at our sacred rites infinitely better than I had before. During the Great War, in its early stages, it was difficult to make our people understand what that great strife meant to us and to the world. I recall how depressing it was when I, as Governor of this great State, went about trying to impress upon my fellow citizens the significance of that mighty strife. It seemed to our people, as they had been unfortunately told, to be a long way from our shores. They could not visualize this mighty battle, raging along the front of almost a thousand miles, as in any way affecting or being related to our own people and our own country. And during that time when, as it seemed to me, the war was nearer our hearts and hearthstones than any war we had waged in all our past; during that period of gloom and depression, a great Masonic body met at Springfield, five thousand members of the Craft; and one night I appeared before that body, and for the first time in all these months I received a response to the things that I had been trying to say. For the first time I learned that there was in Illinois a great body of men to whom the words "Justice" and "Righteousness," to whom the great concepts that they had been taught night after night in their lodges were still sacred; and I knew that under their leadership and with the inspiration of their example Illinois would be true to the traditions of its past and would emerge from that great conflict with its glory undimmed, with all the luster of its heroic past.

From that day until the close of the war, whether in Chicago, whether out in the State, or wherever members of this Craft were gathered together, there a sacred fire was burning upon its altars, and the light from that fire went out in all directions. And then I knew that this Order was something more than a mere fraternal order. I knew that beautiful as it was in its ministrations to the unfortunate brethren and their families, I knew that added to all these softer influences which had emanated from the lodge was to be added that grander purpose of its being, and that the Masonic Lodge was also one of the bulwarks of our institutions and one of the safeguards of our common country.

The months came and went and finally Peace was declared, and then new dangers threatened civilization everywhere. You will recall that this new creed that had its birth in Russia, a creed which denied all of the principles upon which the Christian civilization had been based for more than nineteen hundred years, threatened all the world. We wondered if Central Europe was not to follow the example of Russia, and then thoughtful men everywhere said, "If Central Europe shall yield to these forces of disorder and anarchy and materialism and crass brutality, Western Europe will no longer be secure." And then men began to wonder if this awful form of misgovernment might not cross the Atlantic and find lodgment upon our own shores.

You will recall, I am sure, that for months following the war we were as apprehensive of the red flag as we had been fearful during the war of the Central Empires. And about that time it was my good fortune to visit Philadelphia, where they had done me the honor of inviting me to come to receive the 33rd degree of this Great Order—and I am perfectly willing to admit to you that I have always felt I hardly deserved that honor. I said that to some of the brethren—I see Brother Goddard here, he will recall I said it to him, and Brother Emmerson, another, will testify I admitted it at the time—but though I might have felt in my heart a little unworthy of the honor, I did not decline it, I want to assure you of that.

And so I went down to Philadelphia and I attended the meeting of the Supreme Council; and when I heard the figures read I learned that there were two and a half million of Masons in America, and that during these months the Order had grown with a rapidity it had never shown before. And as I sat there recalling these problems with which we had to deal, and these dangers that were arising out of Eastern Europe, when I heard those figures announced, I again renewed my courage for the future, and I said, "There are two and a half million reasons why the Red Flag of Anarchy shall never fly above American soil!" And so in the trying times of peace, this Great Order is just as impressive and just as beneficent as it had been during the crucial days of war. Today it is playing a great part in this most most critical era of the world's history, because it is not ashamed to meet in the presence of the flag, and it does not shrink from looking into an open Bible, because Justice, Righteousness, Mercy and Brotherhood are just as potent concepts with the Order today as they were a half a century ago. And today the world needs a revival of these old aspirations of the human heart; the world needs a reaffirmation of those basic principles as it has not needed it before within my time.

We recall, I am sure, that before the war some of those things for which this great Order stands were becoming obscure in the minds of men. People were becoming selfish. They were divided into classes. They had forgotten the old definition of "neighbor." They were thinking of themselves alone. It was a great crass material civilization which we were forging in those years, and when war came some of us hoped that out of it all a new spirit might come as some compensation for the tragedies of the war. For a time it seemed as though our hopes would be realized, for never was so sublime a spectacle presented in all the history of the world as this great population of ours presented then. One hundred million and more of men and women and children with one hope and one aspiration, and that aspiration was to perpetuate forever in the sky their country's flag! Never before had a great population forgotten its differences; never before had little jealousies been so submerged; never before was there such a spirit of exaltation filling all the sky as during those years. And we said to ourselves, "Ah, maybe we needed to go through this furnace in order to be purified of our sins, which had come out of the materialistic years before the war; maybe we needed this to recover our old idea of brotherhood; maybe we needed this to forget our own little selfish interest in the great cause of humanity in which we are all engaged."

I remember those awful weeks in March of 1918, with offensive succeeding offensive, and when it seemed as though the tide of war sweeping towards the West was irresistible; I remember how with fear and trembling we picked up our newspaper morning after morning and first looked at the casualty lists. I recall with what grief news came into the various communities of this great State that one of their boys had fallen. And then it was that all our people seemed to feel that we never again would fall back into the littlenesses that had marked and marred those earlier years. At last the war reached its end. This fine spirit of sacrifice, this spirit of devotion, this great new feeling of common brotherhood began to disappear in the reaction that has come from those loftier and better moods; we are again suffering from the little jealousies, from class hatred, and from the materialistic creed, and we are forgetting the great spiritual concepts without which this great civilization would have been impossible and that have been the cornerstone of this great Order. So as I said at the beginning, my friends, there never was a time when it was more necessary to recall again and again the great fundamental principles of this Order than now, if we would save this great Christian Era for the future of the world. There never was a time when we should again and again recur to the ideals of justice, of uprightness, of brotherhood, of faith in the skies; never was there a time when these things were so needed or so demanded as today. I am glad to be here. I am not going to take up much of your time, but I am glad to be here to say that whether or not I have failed in my message to you, I shall leave this great assemblage with a new fortitude in my own heart for the tomorrows that are yet to come. The picture of this great assemblage, with its altar draped with the "stars and stripes," with an open Bible upon it, this great picture will be a most inspiring helpful picture that I shall carry with me throughout the year. And I do hope that when we adjourn we shall adjourn with a pledge, a sacred pledge, upon our lips, and in our hearts, that these great basic principles for which this Order stands we shall emphasize again and again day by day in our several communities as opportunity shall present. And if we do, when again a year from today we meet, we shall have gratitude in our hearts that it has been given to us to help preserve our priceless heritage of the past.

I thank you.

Report—Committee on Obituaries

Bro. C. L. Montgomery presented the report of Committee on Obituaries. It was adopted by a rising vote.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, Ancient Frce and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

BRETHREN:

Another year has passed into history and with it many of our brethren have passed through the portals into "that country from whose bourne no traveler returns."

While we pause in our deliberations to pay tribute to those who have gone before, we are seriously reminded of the "uncertainty of human life, the absolute certainty of death, and the vanity of all earthly ambitions."

This world may be likened to a huge stage upon which the tragedy of life is being enacted by the human race. Some playing as blazing stars, in the spotlight, others of us in the wings or in the shadows beneath the stage proper, yet each and every one doing a part which is necessary to round out and complete the play.

From time to time, and alas, how often, a player is snatched away, and whether it be an almost unknown actor or one of the bright stars there is someone ready to take the place and fill the vacancy and the great play goes on without a halt. So it is that we "are as a shadow that passeth."

Fully realizing that, although we may "escape the numerous evils incident to childhood and youth" and live beyond the span of three score years and ten, yet life is short and is rapidly passing away. Let us "usefully and wisely employ our time," so that when it comes our time to "obey the summons of the Grand Warden of Heaven," may we go, "not like the quarry slave, scourged to his dungeon, but like one who draws his shroud about him and lies down to peaceful slumber."

While we feel the vacancy left by their departure, the fragrant memory of their lives still remains, an incentive to do more and better things "during the short space allotted to us here," feeling that, "through our belief in the immortality of the soul" that they are living in eternal spring.

"Tell me not, in mournful numbers
 Life is but an empty dream,
 That the soul is dead that slumbers,
 And things are not what they seem.
 Life is real, life is earnest
 And the grave is not the goal;
 Earth to earth and dust to dust

HENRY S. ALBIN

R.W. Bro. Henry S. Albin was born April 9, 1830, near Mitchell, Indiana, and died at his home 514 South Francisco Ave., Chicago, Ill., February 19, 1922.

Brother Albin was commissioned lieutenant in the Civil War and served his country faithfully.

In Masonry Brother Albin was very active. He was made a Master Mason in Temple Lodge at Greencastle, Indiana, in July, 1856. In 1868 he moved to Chicago and affiliated with Cleveland Lodge No. 211.

In 1886 he, with a number of other brethren formed Siloam Lodge and was appointed its first master August 20, 1886. After the constitution of the lodge he was installed master November 4, 1887. He served as master and tyler for many years, having been tyler since 1901 until his death.

He was appointed grand steward in 1905, and had been continued as such until his death.

CHARLES ANDREW WEAVER

R.W. Brother Charles Andrew Weaver of Clayton Lodge No. 147, died March 28, 1922. Brother Clayton was master of Clayton Lodge in 1892 and was D. D. G. M. of the Sixty-Seventh Masonic District of Illinois at time of his death.

There were 178 deaths of masters and past masters during the year and 159 lodges were bereaved of one or more of these tried and faithful servants. (A list of these brethren is herewith presented and will be found in the memorial pages in the appendix.)

Also a long list of grand masters, past grand masters and other officers of foreign jurisdictions.

They have gone on before and while it may appear to us that our ties to this life are somewhat lessened, may we feel that our ties in the Glory World is strengthened by the knowledge that "but a few suns more" and we will go to our reward to find them waiting to greet us there as they greeted us while here, but with a greeting that shall last through eternity and "where no discordant voice shall rise," and only rejoicing and happiness shall fill the days.

Special Report—Committee on Jurisprudence

Bro. Geo. M. Moulton, chairman of the Committee on Jurisprudence, presented the following special report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Wardens, and Brethren:

By request of the most worshipful grand master your Committee on Jurisprudence heard the appeal of the representatives of the Near East Relief organization, and herewith present a draft of resolution the passage of which is recommended by this committee.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, for the past six years a most desperate and deplorable condition has existed in Asia Minor due to the persecutions and cruelties enacted upon the non-Mohammedan minorities by the Turk, and,

Whereas, The recent burning of Smyrna, which astounded the whole civilized world, has left more than 300,000 people homeless and helpless, many having died already of starvation or disease, and

Whereas, The Near East Relief, a humanitarian and non-sectarian organization, is incorporated by special act of the United States Congress to administer relief to these stricken people, and

Whereas, President Harding has just issued a stirring appeal to the people of our country to contribute of their means to help relieve the distress of these destitute refugees, many of whom we understand are widows and orphans of deceased Master Masons.

Resolved, therefore by the M.W. Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Illinois:

First: That we endorse most heartily, the Near East Relief in its work of succoring and sustaining the Armenians and other minority races in the Near East until they are able to accomplish their economic self-support.

Second: That in response to this great need and to the appeal of our president for funds in connection with the Smyrna emergency, we appropriate from our general treasury a creditable sum for this worthy cause, said appropriation to be forwarded through the Illinois Committee Near East Relief, as the contribution of the Grand Lodge of Illinois for itself and in behalf of all the constituent lodges in its jurisdiction.

We also recommend that that portion of the resolution which refers to the amount of the appropriation be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Fraternally submitted,

GEO. M. MOULTON,
 LOUIS L. EMMERSON,
 H. T. BURNAP,
 C. E. ALLEN,
 H. L. BROWNING,
Committee.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The general conditions at the home at Sullivan are perhaps as satisfactory at the present time as they have been in the history of the institution. The grand lodge at its last session generously appropriated sufficient sums of money to make this possible.

Many long needed improvements and betterments have been completed and the equipment brought up to date. A power line, connecting the buildings with the Sullivan city plant has been installed and we are assured of light and power should our own plant cause us trouble. During the seasonable months very little coal will be used. This manner of handling the power and light will prove very satisfactory, we believe.

New and improved farm machinery has been installed and a new implement shed has been built. Nearly all the interiors of all the buildings have been freshly painted and the general appearance is very much improved.

Last year's report regarding the plumbing in the men's building, while the best possible under the circumstances, was satisfactory neither to you nor your board. An appropriation of $7,500.00 had been made for the improvement by the grand lodge and $9,000 had been demanded for the work. This was more than the board felt justified in spending. This year we are able to report that the plumbing has been satisfactorily installed at a cost of $6,488.15, $511.85 less than the appropriation.

Equally satisfactory is our report concerning the completion of a solarium, or sun parlor, for the hospital, for which the grand chapter had appropriated $10,000.00. The builders demanded $12,000.00 for this improvement last year, and we refused to go on with the work. This year we let the contract so far under the appropriation that enough remained of the $10,000.00 to pay for the furnishings. This solarium is a great improvement, giving hospital patients needed sunshine and adding to their pleasure and well-being.

We have been able this year also to greatly improve the grounds about the home, inaugurating a plan of landscape gardening which, as the years pass, will add more and more to the attractiveness of the surroundings. It is a pleasure to report that this has been accomplished without any cost to the grand lodge. By conserving the funds appropriated by constituent lodges for entertainment, we have been able to apply about $2,500 to the work of beautifying the grounds, which until now have been a hay field, thus furnishing permanent entertainment which gives to the members and all concerned constant delight.

We have listed all property belonging to the grand lodge, which is in charge of your committee, and the insurance has been largely increased, to conform to the value placed upon the property by the experts employed.

GRAND CHAPTER DONATION

The Grand Royal Arch Chapter, at its annual convocation in 1921, voted its usual donation of $5,000.00 for the maintenance of the Royal Arch Memorial Hospital. This sum was added to our maintenance fund and a detailed statement of the expenditures will be found in our report. The action of the grand chapter in voting this annual gift to the hospital calls forth the hearty commendation of the board of managers and is appreciated by the grand lodge and constituent lodges throughout the state.

MEMBERSHIP

The membership of the home continues to increase. The average membership for 1921-1922 was 140.

APPRAISAL

The reports of the treasurer and the books of the institution have been audited by Bro. A. B. Steuben, of the Secretary of State's office, and may be found in the proceedings.

ROAD FUND

There remains in the hands of the treasurer of the board a balance of $560.29 of a special road fund appropriated several years ago for repairing and maintaining the road between the home and Sullivan. The committee requests that this fund be allowed to remain in its hands to be used for the same purpose.

THE SUPERINTENDENT

Brother and Mrs. A. E. McCorvie have been with us another year in charge of the home and have worked unceasingly for its improvement. Their duties have been numerous and arduous, and have been performed carefully and unflinchingly. We feel that their work during the past year should be appreciated greatly by the members of the home and the fraternity at large.

DISCIPLINE

There is no doubt that it is a difficult matter to manage old people of different degrees of health and temperament. In a few cases it has been found impossible and the executive committee in charge has been compelled to request the removal of some persons from the home. We consider this an opportune time to call the attention of masters and secretaries of constituent lodges to the fact that when signing the application for admission to the home, an applicant agrees to abide by the rules of the institution and becomes subject to removal from the home for any violation of these rules.

THE FARM

In the superintendent's report will be found a financial statement of the farm, showing receipts and expenditures.

NEW ROAD

Through the cooperation of the road commissioners of East Nelson and Sullivan townships a good road has been made from the home to the Sullivan township line.

ENTERTAINMENT

Lodges and individuals have been generous in donations for the purpose of providing entertainment for the members of the home. A moving picture machine was installed last year which is greatly appreciated by the members.

Last year the October class in Oriental Consistory presented a player piano which has done much to while away the hours.

As soon as the board can determine the kind of a Radio machine to buy, one will be installed, and we hope that will do a great deal in the way of entertainment.

It should be remembered that the home is situated a considerable distance from the city and the only entertainment to which the members have access must be provided at the home. Many of them—an average of 45—are hospital patients and the days are often long and irksome.

Your committee fraternally recommends that the brethren keep the old folks in mind when dispensing gifts.

THE HOSPITAL

On account of the large number of members in the home we have had to refuse several hospital patients. If we had admitted them we could not have taken care of our home family when they needed hospital attention.

The hospital is for the accommodation and treatment of members of the home. Before admission can be gained to the hospital, the applicant must be accepted as a member of the home, and a person must possess all of the qualifications for membership in the home set out in the application, and be admitted regularly to the home family in order to secure admission to the hospital.

In conclusion, we wish respectfully to emphasize the need for more accurate and complete reports on the part of some of the constituent lodges desiring the admission of members to the home. The grand lodge established this Masonic Home on broad humanitarian lines, setting forth certain and proper qualifications for admission. It is the duty of constituent lodges to submit a report of qualifications in making application for the admission of a member, and it is the duty of your board to pass upon the qualifications so reported. It is our duty, equally, to admit those whose qualifications conform to the established requirements and deny admission to those who do not qualify.

We submit that it is unjust to the board; unjust to the afflicted members of the home, whose sufferings the hospital was established to ameliorate, and unjust often to the applicant himself, when application reports fail to give the board necessary information on which to base a speedy and correct decision. The report in all cases should be so complete that it would remain for the board only to say yes, or no, to the application. Yet frequently we are required to make personal investigation to obtain facts which should have been supplied by the lodge, or to verify statements which we have reason to doubt.

The members of the board are donating their time and services to the affairs of the home without the hope of fee or reward. We, the board earnestly wish to carry out the sacred trust imposed upon us, in conformity with our duty to God and humanity, and the high ideals of Masonry, but we must protest against the unnecessary labor and trouble caused by incomplete or inaccurate reports on the part of constituent lodges.

Therefore, those interested in securing admission to the home for dependent Masons, and others eligible under the rules, are admonished to see to it that the applications are not only complete but that no attempt at concealment of facts be made.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES MCCREDIE,
ALONZO DOLAN,
D. G. FITZGERRELL,
Board of Managers.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF ILLINOIS MASONIC HOME

Sullivan, Illinois, September 30, 1922.

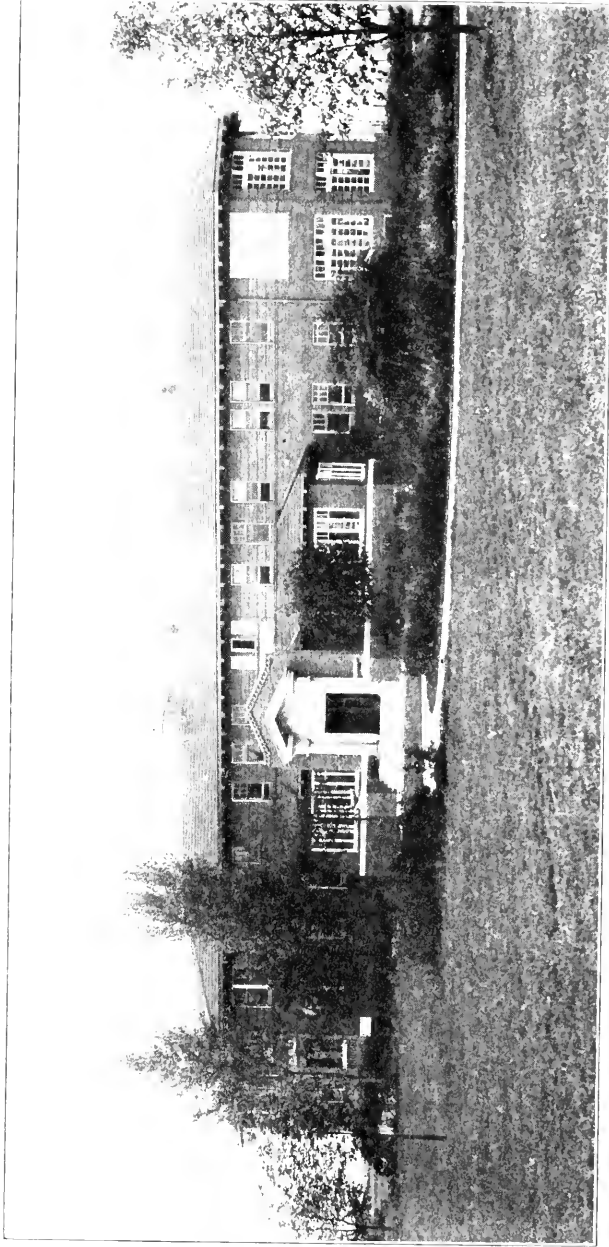

To the Board of Managers of the Illinois Masonic Home:

GENTLEMEN:

I herewith submit a report on home conditions for the year just gone by.

Conditions in the home during the past year have been very good. We have had about the usual amount of sickness that comes with old age, and is to be expected. The hospital has been used to capacity the entire year, taking care of the infirm and sick from the home.

I am pleased to report that the Mastie flooring has been completed in the hospital; also put on the two corridors in the men's building, and

by the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons

in the room next to the employes' dining room, at a total cost of $1,555.81, which was paid out of the maintenance fund; also a cement silo was built on the east farm, at a cost of $809.11 out of the maintenance fund, besides a lot of general repairing done on practically all of the buildings.

Several acres of stumps have been blown and grubbed on the east farm, which has been charged to the farm labor account. We had a good many rods of fence washed out by the floods last spring, besides considerable other damage done by the floods, which necessitated considerable extra labor.

The power and light line has been completed and motors installed, and we have been using city current for over two weeks, which has been very satisfactory. The new A. C. Generator has been installed and the engine is now being overhauled and will be ready for business in a few days. I am of the opinion that this change will be a decided improvement, besides will lighten the expense during the summer season.

I would like at this time to make mention of Bro. Howard Hough, superintendent of the city light department, who rendered us valuable assistance in the electrical installation of this proposition; also Bro. Julian Vallette of the General Electric Co.

The contract has been let for the Otis Elevator motor and for the Deleo pump.

The following painting has been done out of the special painting fund: outside woodwork on hospital; porches on men's building and on the administration building. The administration building decorated entirely, inside with the exception of two rooms. All the buildings on the east farm are done and the water tower about finished. We are now painting the women's building.

We have the exhaust fan installed in laundry and are ready to install one in the hospital kitchen.

The special clothing fund was used entirely in purchasing new clothing, bed linen, towels, etc. The mattresses in the rooms in the administration building have all been replaced with new ones. The electric dishwashing machine has been installed in the main kitchen, and a hand machine in the lower kitchen, which has been greatly appreciated. Also the power vacuum cleaner. The milking machine installed last November has never missed a day since installed. The implement shed, 26 x 100 feet, has been completed and the machinery is now well housed. The landscape work done last fall and this spring has done very well. Some replacements will have to be made this fall. The new solarium on the hospital is a decided improvement.

We have had several fine entertainments during the year, besides a good Fourth of July celebration. The Sullivan band gave a free band concert at the home one night during the month of June, and also the Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian church choirs and orchestras, besides a couple of concert companies.

A contribution of $25.00 each, for the purpose of placing markers at each grave in the home cemetery, has been received from all of the lodges written to last winter, except four, and I am pleased to report the markers are now placed, which adds greatly to the appearance of the cemetery.

Holidays were celebrated in true holiday fashion, thanks to the liberal donations to the entertainment fund.

On the whole, the past year has been very satisfactory.

Respectfully submitted,

A. E. McCORVIE,
Superintendent.

Report—Committee on Jurisprudence

Bro. Geo. M. Moulton, chairman of the Committee on Jurisprudence, presented the following report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Wardens and Brethren:

Your Committee on Jurisprudence to which has been referred several matters treated of in the report of the most worshipful grand master, beg leave to report as follows:

SECRETARIES DEPOSED

(1) On May 4, 1922, the most worshipful grand master deposed Brother J. A. Scybold, secretary of Sidell Lodge No. 798, from office and issued a dispensation for a special election to fill the vacancy.

From a careful review of the evidence in the case we are convinced that the action of the grand master was fully warranted, and we therefore recommend that his action be sustained and further recommend that charges be ordered filed in Sidell Lodge against Brother J. A. Scybold, and that he be placed on trial for wilful neglect of duty and insubordination.

(2) On August 25, 1922, the most worshipful grand master deposed Brother S. E. Dennis, secretary of Manito Lodge No. 476, from office for wilful neglect of his duties and insubordination in that he wilfully failed to furnish the attorney for an accused member of the lodge with a transcript of the trial proceedings in order that an appeal be perfected to the grand lodge, even after repeated directions to do so given by the grand master.

We approve of the action taken by the most worshipful grand master and recommend that the deposition be extended for the remainder of his term and that Brother S. E. Dennis be ordered placed on trial in Manito Lodge under charges of wilful neglect of duty and insubordination.

MASTER DEPOSED

(3) On July 20, 1922, the most worshipful grand master deposed Brother Frank Sims, master of Crystal Lodge No. 1025, from office for wilfully disregarding objections explicitly made to him by a past master and both wardens of his lodge to the initiation of a candidate whose initiation had already been held up for more than two years by objections of other members of the lodge.

The most worshipful grand master in his effort to do complete justice in the matter, personally visited this lodge on the above date to obtain first hand information in regard to the offense, and after investigation removed Brother Sims from office. Immediately thereafter Brother Sims obtained the floor and in an arrogant manner stated to the grand master and brethren present in open lodge that he was glad he was deposed, that he wished he had been deposed two weeks before when he was first called to the grand master's office, and that so far as he was concerned his deposition from office was final.

Your committee feels that Brother Sims' wish should be granted and therefore concur in the recommendation of the grand master that Brother Sims' removal from office be made final; and we further recommend that Crystal Lodge be ordered to place Brother Sims on trial for his unmasonic conduct.

CHARTER ARRESTED

(4) In July of this year the most worshipful grand master through Brother R. C. Davenport as proxy, arrested the charter of Royal Lodge No. 807, located at Macedonia. This action was taken after complaint in writing had been made to the grand master by five members of this lodge charging that the three principal officers had grossly violated the masonic law with regard to the conduct of election of candidates for degrees, and after a personal investigation had been made by Brother Davenport and it was found that candidates were advanced after specific objections had been regularly made thereto; that the master and wardens knowingly and wilfully declared candidates elected and candidates rejected when the ballot taken did not so warrant; that ballots were disclosed freely by certain members; that the officers were guilty of collective voting on candidates and other infractions of the law.

We therefore concur in the recommendation of the grand master that the charter of Royal Lodge No. 807 be permanently revoked, and we further recommend that the master and wardens of this lodge be suspended from all the rights and privileges of Masonry for a period of one year from this date, and that the district deputy grand master of this district be and is hereby charged with the duty of fully investigating the facts as to the violations of the Masonic law by other officers or members of this lodge prior to the arresting of the charter, and to file the necessary charges, and that such offenders, if any, be placed on trial as and when the grand master may direct.

(5) Fees illegally collected.

The record in this case shows that Oak Park Lodge No. 540, Circle Lodge No. 938 and Fair Oaks Lodge No. 1006 have each collected fees from candidates residing within the jurisdiction of other lodges. We recommend that the action of the grand master in requiring the fees unlawfully collected by these lodges to be placed in the treasury of the grand lodge, be approved and that the amount of these fees be placed to the credit of the Charity Fund.

(6) Forms of Bequests.

We recommend that the most worshipful grand master be authorized to appoint a committee of one to prepare forms of bequests for the guidance of those desiring to bequeath property to our Masonic homes, and when the same are approved by the grand master the forms shall be published in the next issue of the blue book, and distributed in such other manner as the grand master may desire.

(7) Baseball and other clubs.

Your committee heartily endorses the judgment expressed by the most worshipful grand master relative to the formation of athletic and pleasure clubs among the members of a lodge, and the detrimental effect which ultimately results from such organizations through rivalry, indiscreet zeal and exuberant enthusiasm. At the 74th annual meeting of the grand lodge the following query was referred to the Committee on Jurisprudence.

“Can a lodge appropriate funds from its treasury to maintain a baseball club composed of members of the lodge?” and the opinion of the committee adopted by grand lodge, was rendered as follows:

“No, as it would be unmasonic for a lodge to appropriate funds from its treasury for any such purpose.”

The further recommendation of the Committee on Jurisprudence in the same report was also adopted by the grand lodge, said recommendation reading as follows:

“That all organizations within the lodge be forbidden in accordance with the recommendation of the grand master, except such as are organized for purely charitable purposes.”

At the 75th Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge the following opinion reported by the Committee on Jurisprudence was adopted by grand lodge, said opinion being in substance as follows:

“A lodge is a separate entity distinct from the individual; it has well defined powers and functions. A club, though confining its membership to persons belonging to a particular lodge, should in no sense be a part of the lodge.

To form an organization ‘within the lodge’ means to form it with the sanction of such lodge, and the right to use the name and funds, and secure the influence of the lodge to promote its interests.

We are of the opinion that there is no objection to the formation of societies or clubs recruiting their numbers from a particular lodge—the objection is to using the name, influence, or funds of the lodge to further the purposes of such society or club.”

The foregoing seems clearly to express the limitations as well as the permissible scope of the social and pastime clubs which may be formed by the members of any lodge. Such organizations exceed their powers and prerogatives, and their existenee is in conflict with the Masonic law of this jurisdiction when their activities are conducted under the name or auspices of any Masonic lodge or allow it to appear, in any form of publicity, that they are a part of, or have any common interest with any lodge in this jurisdiction.

Your committee reiterates the opinion that it is unlawful to use any of the funds of a lodge in the formation, support, or maintenance of any social or pastime society, club, or other form of organization, among its members. Your committee is further of the opinion that salutary and effective measures to eliminate the evil conditions which are recited in the report of the most worshipful grand master, and resulting from the abuse or misuse of the privilege of lodge membership by the formation of societies or clubs therein, may be safely left to the disciplinary power vested in the most worshipful grand master, whose edict in such matters would have all the force and effect of law, and the issuance of which edict may safely be left to his discretion.

(8) The most worshipful grand master has propounded the following question to this committee for our opinion:

“When a master of a lodge has been deposed from office for the remainder of his term, and such action is approved by the grand lodge, is he thereafter entitled to the rank and title of past master?”

Your committee is of the opinion that the sentence or judgment of removal from office necessarily is broad enough to deprive the offender of the rank and title of past master.

Fraternally submitted,

GEO. M. MOULTON,
C. E. ALLEN,
H. T. BURNAP,
LOUIS L. EMMERSON,
H. L. BROWNING,
Committee.

A Visitor from Wyoming

Bro. Fred C. Barnett, Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Wyoming, was introduced to the brethren, and responded briefly.

Report—Committee on Legislation

Bro. Wm. B. Wright, chairman of the committee presented the following report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

Your Committee on Legislation recommends the adoption of the proposed amendment to code 313, and as the language sought to be stricken out is obsolete we ask unanimous consent to its immediate adoption.

WM. B. WRIGHT,
E. C. MULLEN,
WM. WILHARTZ,
Committee.

Report—Committee on Appeals and Grievances

Bro. Alexander H. Bell presented the report of the Committee on Appeals and Grievances. The report was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

The undersigned, as your Committee on Appeals and Grievances, respectfully report that at this session of the grand lodge we have had submitted to us on appeal eight cases, and we respectfully submit to you our conclusions in each of the cases as follows:

This case comes to this grand lodge by appeal from Shekinah Lodge. Charges were preferred against the brother two years ago or more, and the charge was in substance that he had made improper advances toward a woman who had visited his photograph gallery. It was not charged, and never was claimed, that he had any improper sexual relations with the woman. The utmost that was claimed was that he had improperly taken hold of her and in effect had improperly solicited her. The case was tried before a commission last year and was brought to the grand lodge last year upon appeal. The finding of the commission which had found the brother guilty last year was set aside for the reason that nearly all the evidence that had been admitted against him was purely hearsay and should not have been heard. This grand lodge last year reversed the action of the commission in finding the brother guilty and directed that a new trial should be had. The case has been tried a second time by a commission appointed by the grand master, with the result that the brother was found guilty and the punishment was fixed at indefinite suspension.

Your committee is of the opinion that the brother was badly advised as to the conduct and management of his case before the commission, because he did not testify himself nor offer any evidence in his own defense. This brother has been a very active Mason, is an elderly man and has been very useful to his lodge and to Masonry generally in that part of the state. The woman upon whose testimony chiefly the brother was found guilty was a comparative stranger in the community, which has in it a large floating population and the woman's story in our opinion was highly improbable. The brother has unfortunately through his zeal in the suppression of rituals and otherwise, incurred the enmity of some of the active members of his lodge.

Your committee, after careful examination of this record, is of the opinion that the action of the commission in finding the brother guilty should be sustained, because his conduct was, to say the least, indiscreet; but we are clearly of the opinion that the punishment fixed was excessive. This brother has been practically deprived of all the rights and privileges of Masonry for two years. The last adjudication of guilty was about the thirtieth day of January, A. D. 1922. We recommend, therefore, that the action of the trial commission in finding the brother guilty be sustained. We further recommend that the action of the commission in fixing the punishment at indefinite suspension be set aside, and that his punishment be fixed at suspension for the term of one year from the thirtieth day of January, A.D. 1922, and that on the thirtieth day of January, A.D. 1923, the brother be restored to all the rights and privileges of Masonry, including membership in Shekinah Lodge No. 241.

In this case the charges and specifications which had been filed against the brother do not appear in the record, but the record show that charges and specifications were preferred and it is quite obvious from the record what the substance of the charges and specifications was. The charges were in effect that this brother had under divers and varying circumstances been sustaining improper relations with a certain woman, and your committee without going into detail contents itself with saying that the evidence abundantly sustains the charge. Such illicit relations were notorious and long continued and tended strongly to bring Masonry into disrepute.

The case was tried before a commission appointed by the grand master, which found the defendant guilty as charged and fixed his punishment at expulsion from all the rights and privileges of Masonry. After a careful examination of this record your committee is of the opinion that the finding of the commission is correct. We recommend, therefore, that the action of the commission be sustained and that the brother be expelled from all the rights and privileges of Masonry.

This case was tried before a commission appointed by the grand master. The brother is a young man and has been a member of Ogden Lodge No. 754 only a few years. His brother is secretary of that lodge and the young man in question had been a good member of the lodge from the time when he was admitted. There came a time when complaints were being made in the lodge that the ballot-box was improperly manipulated to make it difficult, or practically impossible, for a member to cast a black ball if he desired to do so. One evening at the lodge when a ballot was to be taken the master and senior warden were absent, and the junior warden presided. A ballot was taken and after the ballot had been taken and the lodge had been called to case this brother went to the junior warden, acting master, and inquired whether or not he, the junior warden, had anything to do with that crooked deal. It appears that about all the black cubes had been removed from the ballot box but that two of them had been put in a remote corner of the ballot box and glued down or stuck down with glue or mucilage, fast to the bottom of the box; and it was that which he complained of as a crooked deal. As a result of this conference the brother wrote to the grand master complaining of the irregular and improper manipulation of the ballot box in his lodge and the grand master by correspondence instituted an investigation. Whereupon this junior warden preferred charges against the brother, claiming that in the dispute he had with him about the ballot box on the occasion mentioned, the accused called him a "damned liar," and charging also that in 1918 had had improper relations with an unmarried woman by means whereof he became the father of her illegitimate child. The improper relations which he is said to have sustained with the woman in question were practically three years before these charges were preferred. The relations which he sustained toward the woman in question were in existence at the time when he was taking the degrees in Masonry, and terminated about the time that he completed taking the degrees. Whatever there was in that was a matter of general knowledge in the community and had been all the time. No charge had ever been preferred against the brother about this matter until he had this unfortunate dispute with the junior warden. Your committee cannot escape the impression that the charge against the brother was made as a sort of camouflage or smoke screen, as a counter-action or counter-irritant, against the complaint which the brother had made about the improper manipulating of the ballot box.

The evidence does show, however that he was guilty of improper relations with the woman in question, and although the complaint is late in the making yet the commission found the defendant guilty and indefinitely suspended him from all the rights and privileges of Masonry.

Your committee recommends that the action of the commission in finding the accused guilty be sustained, that the action of the commission in fixing the punishment at indefinite suspension be overruled and believing that the punishment already borne is quite as much as is warranted under the circumstances we recommend that he now be restored to all the rights and privileges of Masonry, including membership in Ogden Lodge No. 754.

vs.

In this case the defendant was charged with having entered the home of a lady, the wife of a master mason, and taking hold of her and making indecent proposals to her. The proceedings of the lodge are quite irregular so far as the record shows; no notice was given to members of the lodge that charges would be preferred or had been preferred, and no opportunity was given to members of the lodge to attend the meeting in order to vote upon the acceptance of the charges. But the charges were accepted by the lodge and the accused brother was put on trial.

The trial was had before a commission appointed by the most worshipful grand master, and resulted in an adjudication that the defendant was guilty and the punishment of the defendant was fixed at expulsion. From this adjudication the defendant appeals.

Your committee has examined this record with great care. There is much in it that we cannot explain and do not attempt to reconcile with what seems to be the real truth in the matter. There seems to have been great feeling and a very considerable degree of interest worked up in the matter, but without going into detail we content ourselves with saying that after carefully examining this record we are clearly of the opinion that the evidence does not justify the conclusion of the commission. The testimony of the woman concerned and such testimony as she offered in corroboration is manifestly incorrect as to the time when the offense is alleged to have been committed. The positiveness with which she and her witnesses state the date of the occurrence and the certainty that nothing of the kind occurred at that time casts discredit upon the entire story. Her testimony as to the offense was denied in toto by the accused. Your committee therefore is of the opinion that the action of the commission should be reversed.

We recommend, therefore, that the action of the commission in finding the accused guilty and in expelling him from all the rights and privileges of Masonry, be set aside, and that he be restored to all the rights and privileges of Masonry, including membership in Manito Lodge No. 476.

In this case the substance of the charge is that the accused circulated false reports in effect charging that he saw Brother ——, also a member of Belknap Lodge, in a furtive manner enter the back door of a certain house and that this Brother —— was admitted by a certain young woman. There is considerable feeling shown in this case. It appears that the accused was keeping company with the young woman in question and was foolishly jealous and through an inexcusable feeling of jealousy he was watching for any indication that she was keeping company with any other person. The whole charge is trifling, the case is trifling. There is, in our opinion, nothing in it of any considerable moment one way or the other. The trial was before the lodge and the lodge found the accused not guilty.

Your committee recommends that the action of the lodge in finding the accused not guilty be sustained.

AARON LODGE NO. 913

VS.

The charge in this case is in effect that the accused petitioned Boulevard Lodge No. 882 for the degrees in Masonry on April 6, 1916, and was rejected; and that afterwards in November, 1920, he petitioned Aaron Lodge No. 913, stating therein that he had never previously petitioned any lodge for the degrees in Masonry. Whereupon the accused was elected and received the degrees in Aaron Lodge. It is a fact that the accused had been rejected by Boulevard Lodge No. 882 and that he did state in his petition to Aaron Lodge that he had never before petitioned any lodge to be made a Mason. The evidence was that he answered the question of the secretary of Aaron Lodge stating that he had not before then petitioned any lodge to be made a Mason. The defendant admitted all this on the trial; the excuse given by him was that a Mason who talked with him about petitioning Aaron Lodge advised him to scratch out of the petition that part of it which would state that he had not petitioned another lodge. The trial was before the lodge and resulted in an adjudication that the brother in question was guilty and that he should be suspended for one month.

Your committee, after carefully reading this record, is not satisfied with the excuse or explanation given by the defendant of his conduct. We are of the opinion that if he had sufficient intelligence to be a Mason he should have known the significance of the paragraph in the application which he signed and of the questions which were propounded to him by the secretary. We think the evidence fully justifies the conclusion that the defendant was consciously misrepresenting facts and concealing the fact of his former rejection.

Your committee recommends that the action of the lodge in finding the accused guilty be sustained, that the action of the lodge in fixing his punishment at suspension for one month be overruled, and we recommend that he be now expelled from all the rights and privileges of Masonry.

BEE HIVE LODGE No. 909

VS.

In this case the defendant was charged with having sustained improper relations with a young woman in Chicago, and the trial was before the lodge and resulted in an adjudication that the defendant was not guilty. The case has been brought to the grand lodge by appeal. The charge was that the woman with whom this brother is said to have sustained such improper relations was the daughter of a Master Mason. The evidence, however, shows without any question that while she was the daughter of a Master Mason she had not lived with her parents for a number of years and was out in the world running her own affairs, and she was very plainly, in our opinion, an adventuress, as shown by the evidence. This brother had no means of knowing that she was the daughter of a Master Mason, and indeed, he had become intimate with her before he had taken his degrees. The intimacy proceeded to a point where the woman in question demanded money, which the defendant failed or refused to supply, and thereupon she made the complaint to the officers of the lodge of which the accused was a member. The trial was before the lodge and the members of the lodge seemed to be so much impressed with the idea that the woman in question was an adventuress that they found the defendant not guilty.

Your committee is of the opinion that after carefully considering this record there is no very grave misconduct on the part of the defendant which would call for the severest penalty, yet he ought have been punished in some measure. We recommend, therefore, that the action of Bee Hive Lodge No. 909 in finding him not guilty be set aside. We recommend that the accused be declared guilty and that his punishment be fixed at suspension from all the rights and privileges of Masonry for the period of one year from this date.

JACKSON PARK LODGE No. 910

VS.

In this case charges were preferred against the defendant charging him with the crime of carrying concealed weapons, and of being guilty of disorderly conduct. The case was tried before the lodge without the intervention of a commission, and resulted in a finding of not guilty. Quite a mass of evidence was introduced which was pure hearsay and should never have been admitted. Letters written by the master of the lodge to a brother of the defendant, letters written by this brother of the defendant to the master of the lodge, and letters written by other parties were in evidence, none of which was competent. The charge is trifling, and the evidence is unsatisfactory, and your committee is clearly of the opinion that the action of the lodge in finding the accused not guilty was fully justified under the circumstances. We recommend, therefore, that the action of the lodge be sustained.

Report—Committee on Legislation

Bro. William B. Wright, chairman of the Committee on Legislation presented the following report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

That portion of the most worshipful grand master's report relating to "Form of Legacies and Bequests to the Grand Lodge" and that portion which recommends that a general statement be prepared explaining the nature, character, and purposes of Freemasonry, and the qualification for membership to be furnished each petitioner for the degrees before he signs the petition, will require time and care as to details. Your committee therefore recommends that these subjects be referred to a special committee with instructions to draft suitable forms for legacies and bequests, formulate the statement mentioned and submit same to the grand lodge at its next annual communication for adoption or rejection; together with a form of petition for the degrees including the recommendation of the most worshipful grand master relating to the form of such petition.

Your committee is of the opinion that the recommendation of the M.W. Grand Master relating to the creation of a Board of Legal Examiners and the requirements that a brother, to be eligible to the office of master, shall pass a thorough examination before such board and secure from it a commission or certificate attesting his knowledge of Masonic law, is commendable in principle. It involves a new departure and if it becomes the law of this grand lodge, it will require not only the drafting of one or more new sections to the code but the amendment of a number of old sections; and this committee does not feel equal to the task, in the time at its disposal, of presenting to the grand lodge at this session a comprehensive, well considered, and harmonious draft of laws and amendments which would create such a board and provide the machinery for its proper functioning. We therefore ask that this subject also be referred to a special committee to be appointed by the M.W. Grand Master.

WM. B. WRIGHT,
E. C. MULLEN,
WM. WILHARTZ,
Committee.

THIRD DAY

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, A. D. 1922, A. L. 5922

The grand master called the grand lodge from refreshment to labor at 9 o'clock a. m.

Grand officers and representatives were present same as Wednesday.

Prayer was offered by the grand chaplain.

Report—Committee on Legislation

Bro. William B. Wright, chairman of the Committee on Legislation presented the following report:

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

The undersigned Committee on Legislation, to whom was referred the amendment to Code 667, begs leave to submit the question of such amendment to this grand lodge without any recommendation from this committee. The purpose of the amendment is to increase the grand lodge dues from $1.25 per annum to $1.75 per annum.

The committee reports on the proposition to add a new section to the code to be numbered as 461A, appearing on page 157 of the proceedings of 1921, that several matters affecting the form of petition to be used by the applicant having been mentioned in the grand master's report, your committee is of the opinion that the object of the proposed by-law and of the recommendations of the most worshipful grand master can be reached as well by resolution as by an addition to the code. The committee therefore respectfully asks further time to formulate such a resolution, and recommends that the proposed by-law does not pass.

As to the proposed amendment to Code No. 544 referred to this committee, we recommend its passage in the following form, the author of the amendment having at the request of the committee re-cast it in the language here presented, which in no wise changes but makes more clear the purpose of the amendment. As now proposed the code as amended will read as follows:

544. Whenever objection is made by any member of a lodge to the advancement of a brother therein to the second or third degree the reasons therefore must be made known, and the matter shall be referred by the master to a committee with power to inquire into such reasons, who shall report thereon to the lodge as soon as practicable. If from such report it shall appear in the opinion of the committee that the reasons assigned are insufficient, and if a majority of the members present concur in such report the lodge may confer the degree as if no objection had been made; but if the reasons assigned shall be deemed to be sufficient and a majority of the members present concur in such report, the candidate shall be entitled, upon application, to trial upon the alleged objection.

As to the proposed amendment to Code No. 321, which is: "Smoking in open lodge is prohibited during the conferring of any degree, and the master is responsible for the strict enforcement of this law." Your committee is of the opinion that the law on this subject as it now stands would not be improved by the amendment.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WM. B. WRIGHT,

E. C. MULLEN,

WM. WILHARTZ,

Committee.

No action was taken on the report of the committee on code 667.

The proposed amendment to code 321 did not receive a two-thirds vote of the representatives present and was lost.

The balance of the report of the committee was adopted.

Report—Committee on Bonds

Bro. Alexander H. Bell, chairman of the Special Committee on Bonds for Treasurers and Secretaries of Lodges, asked for further time, which was granted.

Thanks

The brethren in Chicago provided automobiles for all the brethren in attendance at grand lodge, that they might visit the Masonic Orphans Home at LaGrange and the park system.

Bro. John L. Browning offered a vote of thanks to the Chicago brethren and to others who made it possible that this could be accomplished, comprising the Chicago, Illinois, and North Shore Automobile Clubs, four mounted policemen, Bro. Gotthard A. Dahlberg and Bro. W. H. Wesbey, the superintendent of Lincoln Park.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

Report—Committee on Legislation

Bro. William B. Wright, chairman of the Committee on Legislation reported that by order of the grand master, the committee had drafted the following amendments to the code.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

Your Committee on Legislation beg leave to submit the following report on matters referred to us.

Amend Code No. 312 by adding a paragraph to be designated "J," which shall read as follows:

"J. To provide a fireproof safe or vault for the protection of its records."

Amend Code No. 562 by adding after the word "degree" in the second line the following: "Nor shall he be permitted to vote or hold Masonic office after he has been raised."

Said code when amended will read as follows:

562. No candidate shall be advanced to the second or third degree, nor shall he be permitted to vote or hold Masonic office until he shall have passed a satisfactory examination in open lodge upon his Masonic proficiency unless by dispensation of the grand master. After a candidate has passed an examination in open lodge and retired, the master may declare whether the candidate has shown suitable proficiency, or the master may in his discretion permit the matter to be determined by a majority vote of the members present.

Amend Code No. 451 by striking out the words "either initiation or." Said code when amended will read as follows:

451. An alien who is a candidate for affiliation, and who is otherwise qualified, need not be naturalized as a prerequisite to his petitioning a Masonic lodge.

Amend Code 667 by adding thereto the following: "Provided no lodge shall be required to pay grand lodge dues upon any member while in the Illinois Masonic Home."

Amend Code No. 252 by striking out the word "orphan" in the first and second lines of the fourth paragraph, and insert after the word "home" in the second line the words "for children," making it read:

252. "The board of managers of the Illinois Masonic Home for Children shall have the same number and be appointed and serve in the same manner as the 'Board of Managers for the Illinois Masonic Home'."

Amend Code No. 229 by making the title read: "The Fund for the Illinois Masonic Home for Children." Amend the code by striking out the word "orphans" in the first and fourth lines and insert after the word "fund" in the first line the words "for children," and in the fourth line insert the words "for children" after the word "home." The title and code will read:

The Fund for the Illinois Masonic Home for Children.

229. The fund for the Illinois Masonic Home for Children shall consist of the moneys and securities received and held in trust by the Grand Lodge for the Illinois Masonic Home for Children at LaGrange, together with such sums as may be collected or specifically appropriated therefor from time to time by the grand lodge, and the accretions thereto from interest, donations or bequests.

Amend Code No. 443 by inserting after the word "God" in the third line the words "a citizen of the United States of America;" so that when amended said code will read as follows:

443. Every candidate applying for the degrees in Masonry must have the senses of a man, especially those of hearing, seeing, and feeling; be a believer in God; a citizen of the United States of America; capable of reading and writing in English, and possessing no maim or defect in his body that may render him incapable of conforming to what the several degrees respectively require of him. Provided that in case of any such maiming or physical defects, on petition of five members of the lodge, the secretary shall transmit the petition to the grand master for his decision.

Should the grand master upon investigation deem it advisable so to do, he may in his discretion issue a dispensation permitting the lodge to ballot on the petition.

These amendments were offered separately and each received the seconds of twenty representatives, and lie over until next year.

Report—Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home

Bro. Robert J. Daly, presented the report of the Board of Managers of the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home at La-Grange. So much of the report as related to appropriations was referred to the Finance Committee. The remainder of the report was adopted.

Chicago, October 4, 1922.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

BRETHREN:

Your Board of Managers in charge of the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home at La Grange, fraternally submits the following report of its administration for the year ending September 30, 1922.

Immediately following the close of the grand lodge meeting in 1921, the board met for organization. Brother William D. Price, who had been reappointed for a three year term, signified his acceptance of the appointment and the Board then effected its organization as follows:

Robert J. Daly, president.

Robert C. Fletcher, treasurer.

William D. Price, secretary.

The board has met on the second Monday of each month during the year.

As heretofore, the treasurer and superintendent have been bonded in the amounts of $20,000 and $5,000 respectively.

Conditions at the home during the year have been as is usual in an institution of this kind. At this time the general health of the children is excellent although during the year there has been an unusual amount of the contagious sickness incidental to childhood, making necessary the expenditure of over $1,500 for special nurses and the services of our physician, Brother Arthur E. Higgins, M. D., have been in greater demand than in any previous year in the history of the home.

The home is also greatly indebted to Brethren Weller Van Hook, M.D., Arthur J. Behrendt, M.D., and Edwin M. Harrison, M.D., for special services rendered to the children during the year.

In this connection the value of our hospital made possible by the Millen bequest has been fully realized.

The schools for Manual Training and Domestic Science have been continued during the summer months and as heretofore with marked success. In addition provision was made for the instruction and amusement of the little children under the direction of a trained kindergarten teacher.

The school for instruction in printing has been conducted during the entire year under the supervision of Brother A. E. Harvie and has demonstrated its value to our boys in teaching the better use of our language and forming habits of industry.

Our children have made very satisfactory progress in the public schools during the year, notwithstanding the inconveniences due to the crowded condition of the schools. This condition is being overcome and the new grammar and high school buildings in the village of La Grange are rapidly approaching completion. The gifts of this grand lodge last year to the schools have been greatly appreciated by the respective school boards and citizens of the school districts.

NEW BUILDINGS

At the grand lodge meeting of 1921, $56,000 was appropriated for new building work which added to the unexpended balance of $39,297.70 in our building fund made the sum of $95,297.70 available for a new north wing and also dining room extensions. There is a balance of $29,217.92 in the building fund which we recommend be left in the hands of the board to meet obligations already incurred.

These buildings are now under roof and under ordinary conditions would be completed at this time but owing to a scarcity of mechanics in the building trades, these additions will not be ready for occupancy before the first of the new year.

NEW GROUNDS

Two years ago, the grounds of the home were more than doubled in area by the purchase of the block immediately south of the home buildings from funds generously provided by Oriental Consistory S.P.R.S. of Chicago. However, our grounds were still divided by public streets and in order to be able to close these streets and have our new land under the same fence as the original home grounds, it was necessary to secure the block of land to the southeast of the home buildings. This condition came to the notice of Medinah Temple A.A.O.N.M.S. and that organization, noted for doing big deeds, provided $20,000 for the purchase of this additional land.

Showing that our home is appreciated in La Grange, the village, through its Board of Trustees, has without cost to the home, vacated the public streets dividing these three blocks and this part of our property is completely inclosed by a substantial iron and wire fence.

FOUNDATION FUND FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND BUILDINGS FOR SAME

The members of Adelpi Lodge No. 1029 have contributed $389.00, representing one dollar for each one of the lodge membership, for the above purpose and have agreed to continue this through the next four years.

The idea is well worthy of imitation and is a splendid exhibition of practical masonry.

The letter accompanying the gift was placed in the hands of the grand master who expressed great interest and will undoubtedly call attention to it in his report to the grand lodge.

The thanks of the fraternity in Illinois are due Adelphi Lodge for showing the way to help the helpless help themselves.

BEQUESTS

In our last report the statement was made that the home was the beneficiary to the extent of approximately $25,000, under the will of the late Brother Edward F. Toomey, a member of Old Glory Lodge No. 975. Certain relatives have contested the probate of this estate and the matter is not yet decided by the Probate Court. We are unable to make further report of the Wilbank and Hoadley bequests, mentioned last year, as these estates are not yet settled.

By the will of the late Brother William Boldenweck, a member of Golden Rule Lodge No. 726, the home is the beneficiary in the sum of $2,000.00.

DISBURSEMENT OF APPROPRIATIONS

Reference to the reports of the secretary and treasurer, auditors and superintendent, appended hereto will show the particulars concerning the disposition of the several amounts appropriated in 1921.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Owing to the additional size of the home and the consequent care of a larger membership than heretofore, the cost of maintenance will increase; also, the changes in the present building have made re-decoration of many parts necessary; the new building should be decorated throughout; and the increase in our grounds and the position of new buildings involve grading, planting and cement work.

Your board has given all these things careful consideration and recommends the appropriation of the following amounts:

For maintenance	$77,000.00
For furnishings and fixtures for north wing and dining room extensions	6,000.00
For repairs to buildings.....	2,500.00

For decorations	4,500.00
For improvement of grounds.....	2,000.00

Total.....	$92,000.00

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF ILLINOIS MASONIC ORPHANS' HOME

To the Board of Managers of the Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home:

DEAR BRETHREN:

Herewith please find my annual report for the fiscal year, ending September 30, 1922.

The children at the home are enjoying unusually good health at this time of year and of the 145 members, 140 are attending the public schools in La Grange.

During the past year we had several epidemics of contagion, consisting of 4 cases of influenza, chicken-pox 11 cases, measles 69, pneumonia 2, which were promptly quarantined in our hospital by Brother Dr. A. E. Higgins, home physician, and with good medical attention and nursing they all recovered excepting Thomas Robert Sallade, 5 years old, who died April 4, 1922, of congestion of the lungs due to laryngitis. This epidemic of course, somewhat handicapped the afflicted children in their school work, but even with this handicap, their averages in the several grades to which they are assigned, compared most favorably with those of other school children.

Our Print Shop under the able management of Brother A. E. Harvic, is self supporting through subscriptions for our paper "The Gossip," by lodges, chapters, commanderies, etc., and printing for the above named bodies, orders usually being placed after visitations made to the home where the object and advantage of vocational training is more forcibly brought to their attention by their own observation.

The larger boys and girls were also instructed during the vacation period of July and August, in manual training and domestic science.

Our garden has been and is still producing vegetables for all members of the home.

The many activities and entertainments provided for the members of the home during the year, are herewith attached, together with the names of those who made possible the pleasure of the little folks.

ported in favor of the change and asked unanimous consent for its adoption.

Report—Finance Committee

Bro. George W. McFatrigh, chairman of the Committee on Finance, presented the following report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois :

BRETHREN :

During the year your Committee on Finance visited the homes at La Grange and Sullivan and found them well conducted and managed and your Committee desires to commend the Homes Committees for the noble work to which they are unstintingly devoting their best endeavors. Masons who have not visited these institutions have no conception of the debt of gratitude the brethren of this Grand Jurisdiction owe to the men who compose the Homes Committees.

Your Committee also visited the office of the Grand Secretary in Decatur and found him comfortably and adequately housed in the Millikin National Bank building with ample vault space for the protection of the various records, etc., of the Grand Lodge.

Your Committee approves the action of the Grand Master in sending funds for the relief of Beardstown Flood sufferers.

Pursuant to a custom adopted by the previous Committee on Finance, we, your present Committee, have had the books, accounts, records, etc., of the Right Worshipful Grand Secretary and the Right Worshipful Grand Treasurer audited by a public accountant, Bro. G. Roy Eshelman, whose report is as follows:

October 7, 1922.

To the Finance Committee of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

BRETHREN:

At your request I have examined the records of our Grand Lodge for the period from September 30, 1921, to September 30, 1922, covering all transactions of the Grand Secretary, Owen Scott and the Grand Treasurer, Leroy A. Goddard.

In making this audit for the first time I have felt the necessity of making a detailed examination of all paid bills, original paid orders and other original entries so that I might prepare a very complete report, furnishing such information as would be expected by those interested in the same.

Attached to the report of our Grand Treasurer is a certificate from Bro. Austin J. Lindstrom, Cashier of the State Bank of Chicago, showing that there was in that Bank at the close of business October 2, 1922, the following balances on deposit to the credit of the Grand Lodge:

General Fund	$270,523.64
Charity Fund	22,270.87
Permanent Fund	2,795.48
Total	$295,589.99

It was not possible to postpone the closing of the books until all orders had been paid and the balance as shown above is subject to a reduction to the extent of orders drawn by the Grand Secretary and not paid by the Grand Treasurer, as follows:

General Fund	$ 133.09
Charity Fund	125.00

My complete report consists of a number of Schedules showing in detail the Receipts and Disbursements for the year, the additions and deductions from Net Worth, Financial Statement showing total Assets and Net Worth of the Grand Lodge and certain other schedules showing incidental information for the benefit of any one interested in the same.

A Summary of the Securities held in the name of the Grand Lodge on the basis of par value is as follows:

Charity Fund	$ 50,590.00
Home for Aged Fund	8,000.00
Illinois Masonic Orphans' Home Fund	75,150.00
Total Charity	$133,740.00
General Fund	69,000.00
Permanent Fund	12,800.00
Total	$215,540.00

I thank you very much indeed for the privilege of making this Audit and hope that the report will merit your favorable consideration in the selection of the Auditor for next year.

Fraternally submitted,

G. ROY ESHELMAN,
Public Accountant and Auditor.

Your Committee recommends that such sums as may be necessary be transferred from time to time from the General Fund to the Charity Fund and vice versa and that the Grand Treasurer be authorized to make such transfer upon the written order of the Grand Master and approval of the Finance Committee.

Report—Committee on Transportation

Bro. Frank J. Burton, chairman of this committee, presented the report. It was adopted.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

BRETHREN:

Your Committee on Transportation respectfully reports that arrangements were made in the early spring through the Western and Central Passenger Association for a one and one-half fare round trip ticket from all points in Illinois and St. Louis, Mo.

This arrangement has proved satisfactory and relieves the brethren from the annoyance of purchasing return tickets at Chicago. Out of approximately 800, all but 14 of the brethren were able to purchase the round trip tickets from their local agent. Special arrangements have been made for these 14 brethren who were unable to purchase round trip tickets, of their local agent to secure tickets in Chicago to their homes at one-half fare, thus giving them the benefit of the special excursion rates.

It is expected that if the same arrangements are made next year, that all agents will be in a position to furnish round trip tickets to Chicago and return.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK J. BURTON,
JOHN B. AIKEN,
SMITH D. HINMAN,
Committee.

Greetings

A letter of greetings from S. C. Bond, only living grandson of Shadrach Bond, the first grand master of the first Grand Lodge of Masons in Illinois, was read.

Report—Committee on Chartered Lodges

Bro. Phil C. Barclay, chairman of Committee on Chartered Lodges, presented the following report.

To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of the State of Illinois:

We, your Committee on Chartered Lodges, to whom was referred the reports of the district deputy grand masters as required by Code No. 165, defining their duties, beg to report that we have presented a detailed report to the most worshipful grand master, of which the following is a summary:

Of the 100 districts 83 deputies made reports in full. The remaining 17, with 154 lodges, reported on 99, leaving 53 not reported on.

In connection with the requirements of Code No. 165 we wish to emphasize the following quotation from last year's report: "This committee has repeatedly called attention to the importance and benefit to the lodges of these reports and believe that no brother should accept this appointment of great honor unless he intends to make an honest effort to perform its duties as prescribed by law, and we trust that next year's report of this committee will show that each deputy visited, inspected and reported on each lodge in his district and in using the word 'lodge' we mean the lodge itself, and not a report based on information obtained otherwise than by a personal visit to the lodge in session."

Of the 867 reports received, 248 had no expense, and the total expense for the entire number reported on was $1,196.80, or an average of $1.38 per lodge.

All of which is fraternally submitted.

PHIL C. BARCLAY,
W. W. WATSON,
W. D. ABNEY,
WILLIS McFEELY,
G. A. STADLER,
Committee.

Amendment to Code

Bro. Nimrod Mace offered the proposed amendment to Code 837. It was seconded by the representatives of more than twenty lodges and referred to the Committee on Laws with the request that they report on it at this session.

837. All charges and specifications shall be filed with the secretary of the lodge, and the date of said filing endorsed thereon. Without delay notice shall be sent by mail to all resident members of the filing of said charges, and the date of the stated meeting at which the same shall be read in open lodge and their acceptance or rejection acted upon, but the names of the accuser or the accused shall not appear on said notice. Such stated meeting shall be designated by the Master, and shall be not less than five, nor more than twenty days after the date said notice is mailed. However, in cases where the magnitude of an offense demands, or where the lodge or the master shall deem it for the best interests of Masonry, the matter may be laid before the grand master, and by the authority of his dispensation said charges may be read and accepted at a special meeting of the lodge, called for the purpose, of which notice as fixed by the grand master, shall be given the resident members.

The Committee on Laws reported in favor of the proposed amendment, and by unanimous vote the proposed amendment was adopted.

Bro. Henry Horner responded for the representatives.

M.W. Worshipful Grand Master and Brethren of Illinois:

While bearing the temporary character and designation of "from New York," I am sensible of the honor accorded me by the Grand Master, as he asks me to respond on behalf of these distinguished representatives of the important Masonic jurisdictions outside of Illinois. I am glad to acknowledge your fraternal recognition of these jurisdictions and their representatives, and to speak for them in so far as they will authorize me to do so. I have always suspected—and as I look at these attractive looking representatives now on the platform, my suspicion is confirmed—that the representatives of these Grand Jurisdictions were selected because they were objects of beauty and monuments of silence. For almost a year I have been trying to ascertain just what we representatives near the Grand Lodge of Illinois were expected to do, and not having found any service by them to be performed, and since the Grand Lodges we represent, or are supposed to represent, have not called upon us to do anything, I have to report upon behalf of these proficient representatives, that everything we have done has been efficiently and skillfully performed.

The grand honors you have just accorded these various Grand Lodges outside of Illinois, through their representatives, manifest your true understanding of the reality of the universality of Masonry I wish that the attitude of this Grand Lodge on the various questions which have been presented to it at this session, its thorough comprehension, and probity in the consideration of, the great questions to be dealt with by our craft, could be properly brought to the attention of the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodges all over this world, that they may take added inspiration from your proceedings.

I know that we brethren, here present, take from this Grand Lodge meeting a newer and fuller understanding of the vitality and vibrancy of Masonry. We, who have had the great privilege of being here during this session, have at least learned the necessity—now as never before in our country's history—for instilling into the daily life of our citizenship, the pure, the patriotic and the practical principles of our Masonic brotherhood.

If we representatives of these Grand Jurisdictions near the Grand Lodge of Illinois, could only travel into the respective Grand Jurisdictions we are presumed to represent—if all of us will only go back to the various local communities and circles and neighborhoods in which we live—carrying to them the enthusiastic and encouraging spirit and hope of Masonry as here exemplified, we will accomplish something toward bringing back moral balance to a world at present bordering on chaos—and to our own country, needed reinforcement of our moral fibre. By doing this we will bring to our present Grand Master and to the other courageous leaders of Illinois Masonry who have become gray—but not tired—in their efforts in behalf of our fraternity, and who have devoted so much of their time to Masonry in this state, the consciousness and satisfaction that they have not labored in vain. Truly, a small enough reward for their earnest labors.

Masonic principles when fully understood and practiced—whether by members of the craft or others, will soon establish right standards of living, a fuller understanding of our duties and our relations to our fellows in a forward looking world. The theme of Masonry, my brethren, is a theme that should be sung so long as human hearts vibrate and tongues retain the gift of speech. It is a symphony that should be sung by those who are tottering on toward their graves, and by those whose hearts are filled with the promise and glow of youth. The spirit of Masonry will never become worn by time, nor held in lessened esteem by daily practice, for honor is never cheapened by contact, and truth—for Masonry is truth—is never out of tune.

Brother H. S. Albin, W. Grand Steward of the Grand Lodge for many years and one of our oldest grand lecturers passed away on the 20th of February and was buried by Siloam Lodge No. 780 on the 22nd of that month.

On May 28th Brother R. B. Prendergast another of our older grand lecturers passed away and was buried by St. Cecilia No. 865 May 31st.

At each of the schools the ritual as authorized by the M.W. Grand Lodge was exemplified in full during the day on a substitute candidate and on an actual candidate at night with the exception of Chicago where we had an actual candidate only on the last night.

The members of the Board feel that these schools were very successful and this success is due largely to the assistance and council of the grand master and other grand lodge officers, the district deputy grand masters and the grand lecturers who so ably supported our efforts and made it possible to exemplify the ritual and movements in our work. We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for their assistance. The board, at this time, also wish to thank you for the kindness and courtesy you have shown them.

Fraternally yours,

W. H. ZARLEY,
B. L. TEN EYCK,
H. L. HOWELL,
H. H. MILNOR,
A. L. PICKEL,

Board of Grand Examiners.

B. L. TEN EYCK, Secretary.

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS ADOPTED

313. Strike out at end the words:

Quarterly circular from the Grand Secretary may be placed on file after the Secretary of the lodge has announced that the lodge has received them.

544. Whenever objection is made by any member of a lodge to the advancement of a brother therein to the second or third degree the reasons therefore must be made known, and the matter shall be referred by the master to a committee with power to inquire into such reasons, who shall report thereon to the lodge as soon as practicable. If from such report it shall appear in the opinion of the committee that the reasons assigned are insufficient, and if a majority of the members present concur in such report the lodge may confer the degree as if no objection had been made; but if the reasons assigned shall be deemed to be sufficient and a majority of the members present concur in such report, the candidate shall be entitled, upon application, to trial upon the alleged objection.

837. All charges and specifications shall be filed with the secretary of the lodge, and the date of said filing endorsed thereon. Without delay notice shall be sent by mail to all resident members of the filing of said charges, and the date of the stated meeting at which the same shall be read in open lodge and their acceptance or rejection acted upon, but the names of the accuser or the accused shall not appear in said notice. Such stated meeting shall be designated by the Master, and shall be not less than five, nor more than twenty days after the date said notice is mailed. However, in cases where the magnitude of an offense demands, or where the lodge or the Master shall deem it for the best interests of Masonry, the matter may be laid before the Grand Master, and by the authority of his dispensation said charges may be read and accepted at a special meeting of the lodge, called for the purpose, of which notice as fixed by the Grand Master, shall be given the resident members.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

APPENDIX PART I

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MASONIC CORRESPONDENCE

SALUTATORY

It is with mingled feelings of satisfaction and regret that the fifth annual report on foreign correspondence is completed; satisfaction that the work has been brought to a close; regret that there are no more proceedings to review reflecting the Masonic world and its conditions.

It is a severe task to read the many volumes covering the transactions of the grand jurisdictions with which the Grand Lodge of Illinois is in fraternal correspondence. It has required close reading this year to find that one pin point about which something might be said. Now that the after effects of the war are being swept away, grand lodges are beginning to pursue more or less of a beaten path. The past year has not been characterized by any unusual legislation and for this reason it has been difficult to prepare a report bristling with new ideas.

The same policy of condensation and paraphrase has been followed as heretofore except that where a direct quotation appeared to be vital and interesting, it has been taken in its entirety without change. It is believed that when one appreciates a good thought of some one else that instead of quoting what was said in his own language that the direct speech of him who uttered the valued idea should be literally copied. By this means, the author is given the benefit of the language in which he couched his thought. Numerous direct quotations will be found in this report because what was said seemed to the writer to be of value to reading Masons, therefore the paragraph has been lifted and made a part of the review.

Some writers have criticized the report of last year for the reason that as they claimed that one half of each review was devoted to the annual address of the grand master. This is quite true and the reason therefore should be obvious. The grand master is himself the grand lodge during interim. He exercises all the functions of the grand lodge and therefore it is natural that his report would, in a large measure, reflect the general condition of the fraternity as he found it. Fully two-thirds of all legislation enacted by grand bodies is based upon the report and recommendations of grand masters. It is therefore, most natural that the report of the grand master should be thoroughly reviewed and its various items chronicled because the report in itself is a mirror clearly reflecting the general condition of the craft as they are found to exist.

Another criticism which has been placed upon the system of reviews as adopted by myself and other writers is that it leads to a sameness of expression. No doubt, this is quite true and it is due to the fact that every grand lodge in the world follows practically the same program. There is the report of the grand master, grand treasurer, grand secretary and various committees each following in sequence. It is most natural that any review of these grand bodies would necessarily follow a fixed line. The writer pleads to a poverty of expression and admits that he found it difficult to invent phraseology and dig up new terms that might give a little relief in the matter of sameness of expression but when it is considered that there are between sixty and seventy grand lodges to review, it must naturally be expected that a tremendous vocabulary would be required if each review were couched in a different form of expression and new verbiage used.

One thing I have tried to do and that is to write the review in simple language. I have avoided the use of words not in general circulation in order that the text might be made as simple as possible so that any brother who was sufficiently interested in the correspondence report might read and understand. Not every Mason will peruse this report. Those who are vitally interested in the welfare of the craft and who like to watch its growth and prosperity will, of course, turn to these pages seeking to find out what other grand lodges are doing for the benefit of the fraternity. In this manner only can the progress of the craft be traced.

This report is offered without apology. It has been conscientiously prepared and the hope is expressed that those who read may benefit therefrom.

DELMAR D. DARRAH.

Bloomington, Illinois, September 1, 1922.

THE POINT OF VIEW

DECADENCE OF WORK

One of the noticeable things among the grand jurisdictions is the apparent decadence of work. In most instances today the statistical tables give evidence of no such numerical growth as distinguished the fraternity during war times. The small number of degrees being conferred at the present time is indeed limited. No apprehension should be caused as a result of this condition. It is simply the outgrowth of present day conditions. Freemasonry being a luxury must naturally suffer in periods of depression. When men are out of employment, when business stagnates, Masonic lodges decline in activity as a consequence. The fact that many lodges throughout the state are doing a small amount of work is simply due to conditions for which the fraternity is in no way responsible. It is believed that one of the best things that could have happened to the fraternity is the fact that the grand rush for Masonic honors has been checked, for now the opportunity is offered for more time to develop those fraternal principles for which Freemasonry stands. While the number of petitions coming into lodges at the present time may be at low ebb yet with the return to normalcy it may reasonably be expected that the fraternity will come back to its own and that there will be large accessions in membership.

MORE REVENUE

In reviewing the proceedings of numerous grand lodges, it is noticed that in many instances, efforts are being made to procure more revenue. Every grand lodge that has established Masonic Homes feels that it must have more money with which to properly conduct its charities and its business enterprises. Of course, many of these grand lodges went into the Masonic Home business not knowing what was ahead of them and therefore failed to provide an adequate source of revenue for increasing needs. As a result, many of them have now reached a point where they have been compelled to resort to strenuous measures in order to increase their income in some way. In some instances the per capita tax has been increased. One of the favorite methods of getting more money is to place a tax on each candidate for the degrees. This has varied from $6.00 to $10.00 and in some cases has gone as high as $20.00. It has been claimed that where the candidate tax has been put into operation, there has been no perceptible diminution in the number of petitions. The argument is offered that when a man wants to enter the fraternity, he is not going to stand back on the matter of $10.00 or $20.00. As the fraternity grows in numbers, its responsibility and duties likewise increase and there occurs the demand for more funds and this demand will have to be met through the loyalty and devotion of members of the society.

THE HIGHER BODIES

It is strange how a drastic bit of legislation which is considerably out of the ordinary will find favor and be rapidly taken up and adopted by other grand jurisdictions. This is particularly true with reference to the matter of the so-called higher degrees. It is only a little over a year ago that the first grand lodge legislated against appendant orders and rites by passing a regulation forbidding Master Masons from petitioning these bodies until after they had been members of the fraternity for one year. Because of the alleged neglect of Masons toward their lodges and their enthusiastic devotion to the higher bodies, grand masters commenced to seek a remedy and recommended the adoption of prohibitive statutes. At the present time, some seven or eight grand lodges have amended their by-laws placing restrictions upon all Master Masons in reference to their petitioning for the higher degrees. One grand lodge even went so far as to pass a law prohibiting any member from petitioning for the Mystic Shrine until after he had been a member of the society for five years. All of the above legislation has been brought about on account of alleged indiscretions in the matter of solicitation on the part of proponents of the higher organizations. The query naturally runs in the mind of the writer as to what would happen if a newly raised Master Mason took his dimit and placed it in a lodge in another jurisdiction which did not have prohibitive laws in this respect upon its statute books. There are many angles to the situation. No doubt, the higher bodies have been overly enthusiastic and it may be a good thing for a Master Mason to rest a year before he starts off to conquer other Masonic worlds. At any rate, the new condition and situation has been created by the enactment of this legislation and the outcome will be watched with much interest.

THE THIRD DEGREE CATECHISM

It has been quite the fashion in any number of jurisdictions to require all newly raised Master Masons to pass an examination upon the catechism of the third degree before they will be permitted to assume their prerogatives as members of the craft. Just what inspired this particular legislation is not known. One grand lodge adopted it. Possibly other grand masters hunting for something out of the ordinary to recommend to their grand lodges seized upon this idea as a wise one. Now this writer hasn't any objection to any Master Mason who wants to do so, learning these questions and answers, but he does think that it is going too far when the matter is made one of coercion and the idea of freewill and accord is eliminated. One trouble with the Masonic fraternity at the present time is that with its exact system of ritual, the dotting of I's, crossing of T's, and skillful manipulation of rods, many business men who would like to participate in its affairs feel they cannot give time to mastering the intricate details incident to ritualistic work. Many of these men would like to attend the meetings of their lodges and take an active part therein but when the major portion of our assemblies are devoted to ritualistic exploitation there is very little offered these men except a seat on the side lines where they may witness what is going on without participating therein. It is noticeable that whenever anyone wants to improve the society he turns to the ritual as the vehicle for making the improvement. When a man attains the degree of Master Mason he should receive some information relative to the society, its origin, history, object and purposes. No one seems to have conceived the idea of preparing a catechism along this line which the Master Mason might be required to memorize in order that he be placed in possession of knowledge of those essentials of the fraternity which are so vitally necessary in its constitution. There is much about Freemasonry that the average Mason knows nothing of. Perhaps this is one reason for his rapidly waning interest in the society and the fact that the average lodge membership is limited to about ten per cent of the total number on the rolls. The average candidate will be required to learn the catechism of three degrees but it is only the active lodge worker who retains them and can make any use of them whatsoever. This writer believes in intellectual Masonry but wants that intellectuality to be derived outside of the ritual.

WHAT WILL THE RESULT BE?

One of the vital questions which is being asked in many quarters is "what will the result be as a consequence of the rapid influx of members into the society during the past three or four years?" Will the fraternity be able to educate and train these men and make them useful members of the society or are they to be allowed to follow the bent at their own inclinations and foist upon the society many ideas and notions which they have derived from other societies and assemblies entirely different from Freemasonry. Every little while, somebody who has been active in another society becomes a member of the Masonic association. About the first thing he wants to do is inject into his lodge some of the ideas which he has derived from his former associations. Freemasonry is a society of its own. Its traditions and laws belong to itself and have been handed down as a result of two hundred years of various changes and evolution. Borrowing as it did its fundamentals from the old operative system, the builders of the middle ages, it is most natural that the novice should find that in the fraternity which being new to him, he would like to change to fit the ideas derived from other associations. Many thinking Freemasons are viewing the present situation with alarm and are asking "will the fraternity be able to assimilate the great number of candidates which have found their way into the society in recent years and will it be able to make these men useful Masonic abiding members?" The tendency of organizations with large numbers is toward the hurly burly. Particularly is this true in the fraternal feeling where a large membership and a fat treasury lead to a desire for many things which the fathers in Freemasonry never planned as a part of the society. One of the serious problems in the fraternity today is to hold the interest of the members we now have and prevent them from backsliding. To accomplish all this and mould these men into Freemasons true and stalwart is one of the problems facing the fraternity today.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

The proceedings of a number of grand lodges disclose the fact that educational programs have been in vogue and met with general success. In most instances the whole matter has been placed in the hands of a special committee which has outlined a system of instruction and has placed the same within reach of every Masonic lodge in the jurisdiction. Several of these programs will be found in the reviews which follow and they are of sufficient interest to merit close examination. The purpose of these educational programs seems to be to present to the craft, facts concerning the fraternity and the work it is doing. In several grand jurisdictions, moving pictures have been used as a part of the program, these pictures dealing with the Masonic Homes of the state and disclosing to the craft the splendid results that are being accomplished in the care of those members of the society who are unable to care for themselves. There is no doubt in the world but that education is the one thing which Freemasonry needs today more than anything else. The admission of large numbers of members makes it imperative that proper information be conveyed concerning the fraternity of which they are a part. The Masonic Service Association has done a good work in outlining these programs. A number of jurisdictions have used them to splendid advantage. One grand lodge organized district meetings at which these educational programs were given and they were so well received that the lodges applied for them and they were rendered in many lodges to the great benefit of the brethren. The outcome of this educational movement will be watched with great interest. It is to be hoped that succeeding grand masters will realize the value and necessity of educational training and exert their best endeavors toward continuing the work which has already been started.

STABILIZING INFLUENCE

One of the most hopeful signs of the times as gleaned from the proceedings of the grand lodges is that Freemasonry is becoming more or less stabilized and is growing more satisfied with its present status and is disposed to let well enough alone. The Masonic world during the last year has shown little disposition toward innovation and for the modification and change of existing rules and regulations. A careful examination of the legislation enacted reveals nothing startling or unusual. In fact, the disposition has been to legislate as little as possible and to consider the fraternity as having sufficient laws and regulations for its present time necessity. Again there has been little evidence of any desire to inaugurate unusual movements which might be construed as tending to upset old time customs and traditions. One of the best things that could happen to the fraternity would be to let things stand as they are and devote a little energy toward upbuilding the craft along fraternal and educational lines. It must not be forgotten that Freemasonry is a fraternal society. There is much more to it than conferring degrees and making laws. These are but incidents connected with the society. They serve the purpose of creating a bond of fraternalism and that fraternalism must be exploited and made to be something more than a mere name only. It is to be hoped that Freemasonry will continue to stabilize and with the advancing years become more coherent with less disposition to change and modify time honored precedents.

KU KLUX KLAN

Grand masters of southern jurisdictions have taken a fling at the Ku Klux Klan. Every one of them have decried any Masonic connection whatsoever with that organization of the cloak and cowl and have denied that they in any way, upheld or sympathized with the object and purposes of this goulish organization. In fact, nearly every grand master has come out in strong words of condemnation against any society of men which takes the law into its own hands and which proceeds to administer justice according to their standards. The idea seems to prevail in the minds of the profane that the Ku Klux Klan is in some way an offspring of Freemasonry.

This is most natural because anything which is secret in character is usually charged against the Freemasons. The public do not seem to understand that Freemasonry is an institution of established worth but look upon it as an aggregation of individuals meeting behind closed doors and carrying on clandestine business. The mere fact that the Ku Klux Klan adopted the cowl and shroud and move about in mysterious manner lead many outside the Masonic fraternity to believe that the whole idea was fostered and promoted by Masons. No greater error could be committed. The Ku Klux Klan have no connection whatsoever with the Masonic fraternity. There may have been Masons who were members of this band but even so it was purely an individual matter. It is a matter of regret that the Masonic fraternity should have been made to suffer as a result of the activities of this organization which moves so mysteriously in certain communities. Freemasonry has ever upheld law and order. It condemns the individual exercise of legal punishment believing that courts are established to punish the wicked and condone the innocent. Every good Mason should see to it that the light of Masonry is so reflected that there can be no possibility of confusing that organization with any other society which moves mysteriously and awards punishment without due course of law.

SCHOOL QUESTION

One of the vital matters which has been discussed in many grand jurisdictions during the past year relates to the public school question. In a number of grand jurisdictions, efforts have been made to secure Masonic endorsement of the Towner-Sterling bill and success has been attained several times. In other jurisdictions, while no direct endorsement of this bill has been made, yet grand lodges have gone on record as favoring a free public school. In one or two instances, resolutions have been passed endorsing the reading of the Bible in our schools. Other grand lodges have refused to recognize the question claiming it was entirely without the pale of Freemasonry. They have assumed that the business of the fraternity was to set an ideal and not to meddle in mooted questions. It is believed that much of the agitation in grand lodges may be traceable to Scottish Rite influence, particularly that of the Southern Jurisdiction. It is not believed for one moment that lodges were in any way influenced toward passing legislation upon the school question but rather such action as was taken was due to the efforts made by the Scottish Rite Masons toward a recognition of this question. The writer declines to take issue in the matter believing that there are two sides to be considered. The man who believes that Freemasonry should take an active part in political and social questions will take a vigorous stand demanding that all Masons shall become propagandists in favor of public school agitation. His opposite who believes in Freemasonry being a fraternity of ideals will hold that to inject school, political and social questions into the fraternity can only result in bringing to it great harm. At any rate, we have two opposite poles of thought and the result will be watched with considerable interest. Every Mason is taught to be a good citizen, to take an active part in those things which mean for the common welfare. As to how far he should assert himself as a Mason in these various enterprises will have to be left to his own understanding of what Freemasonry demands and his ability to measure up to that requirement.

PHYSICAL QUALIFICATIONS

Like Banquo's Ghost, the subject of physical qualification will not down. This year it appears in a number of grand jurisdictions as reflected by the proceedings of these grand bodies. Some grand masters have had the courage to ask for a modification of the hard and fast rule of physical perfection while others have come out vigorously upholding the old rule which has been handed down during the past years. Little progress has been made during the past year in accomplishing a sane interpretation of Masonic law, on this vital question. Much sympathy has been expressed for the individual who for reason of physical imperfection is unable to present his petition to a Masonic lodge but at no time has there been any effort toward making that sympathy practical. In several instances the question has been dodged by that old subterfuge the lodge is the sole judge of the physical fitness of its candidates. That is all right, but just let a lodge initiate a fellow with a right thumb off and see how soon the grand master brings that lodge upon the carpet. One grand master during the past year had the manhood to come out and say that the question should not be left in the open, which frequently leads to the lodges being deceived as to what their rights are and that the whole subject should be so clearly defined that there could be no such trouble. This writer is of the opinion that it will be many years before there will be any modification of the law as it now stands on the question of physical qualifications. The craft is undergoing a slow evolution. It takes a long time to accomplish a reform. The time may come when there will be a more generous view taken of this subject but for the present the writer sees very little hope of any modification whatsoever. The idea is so deeply rooted that this is the last rule of the old operative Masons which Freemasonry now recognizes and that it should be upheld as a last tie between the old operative guilds of the middle ages and Freemasons of the present day and age.

MASONIC SERVICE ASSOCIATION

The Masonic Service Association appears to be holding its own, notwithstanding the fact that a number of grand lodges which formerly held membership voted to discontinue the same. One of the principal reasons offered was that the Service Association had departed from its original plan and that instead of being a bureau for the purpose of distributing relief funds, it had taken on greater prerogatives and departed from the original plan. Another idea which has been advanced as to why membership should be canceled is that the association started with a levy of one to two cents per capita and recently raised to six cents, establishing an administrative office in Washington, D. C., and otherwise building up expensive machinery which was not contemplated in the original plan of promulgation. Notwithstanding all this, the Masonic Service Association appears to have sufficient adherents to enable it to maintain itself in a systematic, orderly manner and accomplish considerable good in the Masonic world. A number of grand lodges have adopted the educational program as outlined by the Masonic Service Association and have drawn upon it for pamphlets, books, etc. The Service Association is no doubt doing good work. It must not be expected that it would at this early stage, receive universal recognition. Freemasonry is extremely cautious and views with alarm any new connection which may be established. The old bugaboo of a national grand lodge is ever present. The mere mention of the term national association causes the whole membership of the society to sit up and take notice. The idea of Masonic state rights is so deeply rooted that anything which suggests a surrender of state authority will be immediately attacked. The Masonic Service Association appears to have come to stay and while it may never claim the affiliation of all grand lodges, it will have the support of many members of the craft who believe in Masonic forward movement if they do have to surrender some of their traditional state rights.

UNIVERSAL MASONIC PLATFORM

If there is one thing which Freemasonry needs today more than anything else it is a universal platform embodying certain essential principles. For instance, the grand lodges of the United States should be united upon the fundamentals necessary for the recognition of foreign grand lodges. There should be uniform rules relating to the rejection of candidates, transfer of membership from one jurisdiction to another without the taking of a dimit and other equally important matters concerning which there is at the present time, such a diversity of opinion and procedure. It would not hurt any grand lodge to surrender some of its so-called inalienable rights and unite with other grand lodges upon a universal platform to which all might agree. If this could be accomplished, no harm would be done to any one. Whether it can be brought about remains to be seen. No doubt, an extensive campaign of education would be necessary to bring the grand lodges of the United States to a point where they would consent to a conference to consider these matters. Even a conference when called would have a very difficult time in getting a respectable hearing. A universal platform of Masonic principles would in no wise interfere with the idea of a state Masonic sovereignty and would have not even a suggestion of national grand lodge and there would be no national president, national secretary nor any other of the appurtenances which belong to national organizations. All that would be necessary would be for the several grand jurisdictions to send representatives to a central point, let these representatives come to an agreement upon some of these questions and it would then be in order for the several grand lodges to ratify what had been done. Each grand lodge would necessarily have to make concessions. There could be nothing in the way of domination. It would have to be a game of give and take. Whether or not this can be accomplished remains to be seen. It is a serious question whether the craft have advanced sufficiently far in their evolution as to make a universal platform of principles. This writer believes it will come in time. It is true that it is needed now but only through education and a spirit of forbearance will it be accomplished.

CLANDESTINE MASONRY

Clandestine Masonry received a severe blow as a result of the trial held in Salt Lake City last April. It was the famous Thompson case and the prosecution was brought about by the federal government. Thompson had 40,000 dupes in western states and the government estimated that he had accumulated $1,500,000.00 as a result of the extensive campaign which he prosecuted in order to procure candidates from whom he exacted large sums of money for alleged Masonic degrees. One of the most significant facts concerning this trial was that the judge who presided was a Mormon and the jury was composed entirely of Mormons. The verdict brought in sentenced Thompson and his comrades to a term in the federal prison at Leavenworth and heavy fines. In order to support the prosecution it was necessary to bring over the Grand Secretary of Scotland and other foreign Masonic luminaries who gave valuable testimony in behalf of the state. The subject of clandestine Masonry is one concerning which few Masons are informed to say nothing of the general public. There appears to be something so fascinating about Masonic degrees that when the unsophisticated are offered an opportunity to get them at a low figure and many times even a high figure, without the ordeal of an initiation they will pay any price. It seems remarkable that the Masonic fraternity should have been so successful in the past one hundred years in combating clandestine Masonry. It is most natural that an institution such as ours would have many imitators and there would be those that would seek to borrow from the fraternity that which might enable them to create systems of their own and thereby derive much. It is believed that the Masonic fraternity has the subject of clandestine Masonry so well in hand that it will be extremely difficult for any group of individuals to prey upon the unsuspecting public. The fraternity has a duty to perform in combating all clandestine operations.

PSEUDO ORGANIZATIONS

If the past year has been distinguished for any one thing it has been for the large number of organizations and societies which have sprung up and which have made Freemasonry a prerequisite for membership. The Order of DeMolay and Order of Builders for Boys have had a growth which is startling. There have been societies of girls organized and the latest to be heard from is the Society of the Pyramids, an organization which has appeared in California and which makes Freemasonry a basis for recognition. The Order of DeMolay for Boys is sponsored by the Scottish Rite of the southern jurisdiction, and lodges have been urged to organize chapters and assist in the promotion of the good work. It is claimed that these boy societies are great feeders for the Masonic fraternity and for that reason they should be encouraged. A number of grand masters, however, have looked with alarm upon the increasing number of societies claiming Masonic connection. In several instances, drastic legislation has been urged in order to counteract the growth and development of these societies and if possible to put them out of existence. Ancient Craft Masonry does not look with favor upon any society outside of its own domain. The fact that we have so many organizations springing up only goes to prove that Freemasonry is a popular institution. Just what the outcome of all this new propaganda is going to be is a question. The whole subject is so new that few Masons seem to grasp it. It is believed, however, that as it becomes better understood, that vigorous action will be taken to prevent these pseudo societies from meeting in Masonic lodge rooms and brethren will be prohibited from lending them encouragement in any way. The question is a vital one and the outcome will be watched with much interest.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON
MASONIC CORRESPONDENCE
NINETEEN HUNDRED TWENTY-TWO

DELMAR D. DARRAH

ALABAMA, A. F. & A. M.

1921

The annual communication which chanced to be the one hundred first, convened in the city of Montgomery, at 9:00 o'clock the seventh day of December.

The representative of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, William W. Daffin, is credited with being present. From a footnote in the proceedings the information is gleaned that grand representatives who absent themselves from grand lodge for three successive years have their commissions revoked.

The total number of lodges represented was four hundred fifty-one.

The first business was the annual address of the grand master, Perry B. Dixon. In his opening remarks he endorses the Towner-Sterling bill.

“As no state, even as the individual citizen, lives unto itself, so no true progress can be made by the state unless it participates in the national welfare. It is therefore incumbent upon this grand lodge to urge its members to enlist in the campaign for a proper education of the nation. To this end your attention is called to a measure now before Congress, known as the Towner-Sterling Bill. This legislation if enacted would create a department of education with its head as an officer in the cabinet. Practically every nation in the world save the United States has such a department; in this country it is but a small and inadequately supported bureau.”

He also calls the attention of lodges to the fact that many of them are not giving the time and attention to a study of the constitutions of the grand lodge that is vitally necessary. He states that many masters, while one hundred percent perfect in the ritual, are many times sadly deficient in a knowledge of the law and regulations.

The grand master states that he was called upon to make no decisions during the year, declaring that such requests for decisions as came to him were easily cared for by reference to the present laws.

Seven dispensations for the formation of new lodges were issued and the usual number of dispensations for various purposes were likewise granted. A number of dispensations to sell or mortgage property were issued.

It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Alabama permits the initiation of maimed candidates for the grand master states that he consented to the initiation of such provided they were not disqualified otherwise and the lodges themselves desired to receive the petitioners.

Thirteen corner-stones were laid during the year. Seven of them were for Masonic edifices.

The report on Necrology as made by the grand master is a long one.

Much is said concerning the Alabama Masonic Home and that institution is reported to be in a splendid condition.

The grand treasurer reported total receipts of $46,854.00. His expenditures were $22,500.00. The report of the grand secretary deals largely with figures and covers the financial transactions of his office. It appears that during the year the Grand Lodge of Alabama attempted to adopt a new constitution but the proposition failed to get the necessary two-thirds vote and was declared lost.

From the detailed report it is shown that thirty-one lodges failed to vote and the grand master appointed a committee of three to hear the excuses of the masters of the delinquent lodges and report to the grand lodge thereon.

Oliver Day Street from the Committee on Foreign Correspondence submitted a special report relating to the recognition of the National Grand Lodge of Italy. His report was favorable to the recognition of the said grand lodge and the Grand Lodge of Alabama concurred. Recognition was likewise extended to the Grand Lodge of Queensland, Grand Lodge of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, Jugoslavia, and also to the Grand Lodge of Ecuador.

The Grand Logia Espanola applied for recognition and the committee asked for further time to consider the request.

It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Alabama has been very generous in extending recognition to foreign alleged Masonic bodies. Brother Street is an able Masonic writer, a Masonic student of the liberal school and evidently has made searching investigation concerning the grand lodges which applied for recognition. In this connection the writer desires to call attention of the Masonic World to the fact that it would be a mighty good thing if some fixed standard of recognition could be adopted by all grand lodges so that we would not have the anomalous situation of having certain foreign grand lodges given a clean bill of health while other grand lodges in the states declare the same foreign grand lodges to be irregular and spurious.

The grand lodge adopted a resolution endorsing the Towner-Sterling bill.

The grand chaplain, William C. Bledsoe, who had served for forty-five years, asked to be relieved as he expected to remove from the state.

The report of the trustees of the Masonic Home is a long one and goes much into detail concerning receipts and expenditures. The cost per capita per month is given as $14.88, or $178.56 per year.

The committee appointed to receive the excuses of those lodges which failed to report on the adoption of the constitution submit a report which is quite amusing. Eleven lodges declared that the vote had been taken and the secretary failed to report same. It looks like a case of making the secretary the goat. The remainder of the lodges failed to submit any excuse and the masters of these lodges were summoned to appear at the next session of the grand lodge and show cause why they should not be disciplined.

From the proceedings the information is gleaned that the grand lodge desires to enlarge the grand lodge building for the Finance Committee made a report submitting a plan for the solicitation of funds for this purpose.

Just before the closing hours of grand lodge it was called to refreshment and a delegation of ladies from the Eastern Star were admitted.

The installation of officers closed an interesting session.

Oliver Day Street writes the report on Foreign Correspondence. He treats each grand jurisdiction topically and quotes liberal paragraphs from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell. He gives fully three pages, taking liberal extracts therefrom.

The report on Foreign Correspondence by the Illinois reviewer is highly commended but its brevity is sorely deplored.

ALBERTA, A. F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of Alberta opened the sixteenth annual communication in the town of Banff on Wednesday, June 8, 1921. The roll of those present discloses the name of M. M. Downey, representing the Grand Lodge of Illinois.

The first business to claim the attention of the grand lodge was the annual address of the grand master, J. H. W. S. Kemmis. In his opening remarks he says:

“At no period of our history has it been possible for Masonry to play so great a part in our community as now. Everywhere men are eagerly straining their eyes towards a new dawn, seeking for more light, and much of the trouble and unrest, discord and strife, between man and man, class and class, is due to disappointment because the intense struggle through which we have recently passed has not yet resulted in bringing about the longed-for millennium. A feeling was abroad that the advent of peace would somehow, in some way, clear away the wreckage of the past; that henceforth the pathways of life would be straight and simple; every man would have equal opportunity and equal share in the best things of life. The bitterness of disappointment in the immediate realization of their hopes has, for the time, unsettled the public mind and led to this period of fault-finding, suspicion, envy and all uncharitableness which seems to have characterized every movement made by individuals or classes to secure from all the others in the community that which was perhaps more than their share.”

He states that prosperity continues to attend the lodges in his jurisdiction and seems to think that they have taken in so much work that they will not be able to assimilate what they have received in the way of new members. He very pertinently observes “Our craft is an institution for giving and not getting.”

A number of new lodges were constituted and started on their Masonic mission.

District meetings were held during the year at which instruction was given in the ritual and the grand master states that a great deal of benefit was derived from the sessions held. In his visits he was accompanied by the grand secretary and custodian of work.

Grand Master Kemmis reports the issuance of eight dispensations for the formation of new lodges. He states that he refused all dispensations to waive time limits in the matter of conferring degrees, believing it was better to let the candidate wait than to send him out a Mason imperfectly understanding the nature of our institution. All dispensations to appear in public in Masonic clothing were refused.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters follow the report of the grand master. They are exhaustive documents and cover in detail the conditions and happenings in the district.

The grand treasurer reports receipts of $17,218.06. His expenditures were $14,378.90.

The report of the grand secretary is a carefully prepared document and chronicles everything which transpired during the year. He gives the net increase for the year at 1,185 and the present membership at 10,485.

The Board of General Purposes which exercises a general supervision of the craft make a brief report stating that no matters came before them for consideration.

The Committee on the Condition of Masonry found eleven lodges to be uninsured and recommended that steps be taken to see that these lodges protect themselves. This committee commend the schools of instruction and recommend that they be continued. In investigating conditions in one lodge this committee found a number of members in arrears for dues and a recommendation was made that the grand secretary call the delinquent brethren to pay their dues within three months or show cause why they should not be suspended.

The election and installation of officers closed a session at which merely routine business was transacted.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by S. Y. Taylor. Illinois is given one and one-quarter pages of terse consideration without criticism or comment.

ARIZONA, F. & A. M.

The thirty-ninth annual communication was held in the city of Bisbee on February 8, 1921. The roster of attendance does not show the presence of the grand representative for Illinois appointed near the Grand Lodge of Arizona.

Henry G. Glore, grand master, presented a brief report covering fifteen pages. He opens by paying a tribute to the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions. He pronounces the membership gain for the year to be the greatest in the history of the grand lodge and states that the financial condition of all the lodges is excellent. He visited all the constituent lodges of his jurisdiction with the exception of one. He calls attention to the various Masonic controversies existing in the State of Mexico and advises the grand lodge that some action should be taken concerning a recognition of that grand lodge which is most worthy. Like all grand masters, he joins in a hearty commendation of the George Washington Memorial Association. He commends the Masonic Service Association of the United States and recommends a continuance of affiliation therewith.

According to his report he issued five dispensations for general purposes and refused three. The small number reported by the grand master is certainly refreshing. Several decisions were reported but they show nothing out of the ordinary. He refused to allow a lodge to visit a lodge in Mexico and assist in conferring the Third Degree, but stated that such members as desired to go individually might do so. His conclusion is very brief and is an expression of sincere thanks for the cordial support given him.

The grand secretary reports receipts of $6,454.50 and expenditures of $2,945.00. The grand secretary received as salary the sum of $600.00.

There are in the state of Arizona but twenty-eight lodges with a total membership of 4,360.

The report of the grand lecturer is interesting and shows that out in Arizona the brethren are diligent in learning the work and performing it to the very best of their ability.

A committee was appointed to collate the decisions made by Grand Master Glore, the same to be printed in the coming volume of proceedings.

The Grand Lodge of Arizona is having some difficulty in preparing a history of Masonry in that jurisdiction. A committee appointed for that purpose report they are having difficulty in getting data from lodges. It is proposed to print the history as a part of the grand lodge proceedings.

Concerning the situation in Mexico the Committee on Foreign Correspondence have the following to say:

“In view of the conflict of opinion among the students of sister grand jurisdictions of the United States, who have made studies of the Masonic situation in Mexico, and the conflict of reports and propagand emanating from various bodies in that Republic, which claim to be the only legitimate grand body in Mexico, your committee is of the opinion that for the present this grand lodge should withdraw recognition from all the so-called Masonic grand bodies in Mexico until such time as a grand lodge or lodges (as the case might be), can prove to the satisfaction of the Grand Lodge of Arizona by authenticated documentary evidence that it governs absolutely the three degrees of Ancient Craft Masonry in the state or states in which it is located, and that it was founded legitimately and in accordance with the established customs of American and English jurisdictions regarding the forming of grand lodge bodies.''

On the morning of the second day grand representatives were received and accorded the grand honors. The grand secretary, George Jay Roskrige, and who is now in his seventy-fifth year, received the felicitations of the grand lodge upon his being re-elected grand secretary for the thirty-ninth time.

An estimate of maintaining the grand lodge for the coming year was submitted just before the close, the amount being $2,554.00. This is practically the salary paid to the Grand Master of Illinois.

The election, installation and presentation of the jewel were pleasant features of the closing hours.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence. The space usually allotted to this review is taken up with a balustrade of the officers and members of the constituent lodges of the jurisdiction.

George J. Roskrige, G.S., Tucson, Box 848.

ARKANSAS, F. & A. M.

The grand lodge opened the eightieth annual communication on Tuesday, the 15th of November. Officers and members of the grand lodge were present and the roll showed the presence of Past Grand Master George Thornburgh representing the Grand Lodge of Illinois.

A pleasing custom of the Grand Lodge of Arkansas is to call the roll of deceased past grand masters. This done, the funeral honors were given in their memory.

The grand master, W. W. Magee, delivered a brief report in which he discloses to the craft the various matters which passed through his hands during his term of office. The following paragraph is from his opening words:

“In the midst of all the world changes, the general unrest, the violent adjustment and readjustment of the level of values, and all the other apparently uncontrollable changes that have taken place in face of the threatened invasion of the peaceable, regular and sane order of things by force that make for disorder, degradation and destruction. Freemasonry, imbued with and holding forth the invincible spirit of Americanism, inculcating lofty citizenship, and the principles of righteous and honorable living, looms forth more popular than ever before in its history in its appeal to thousands of young men as a desirable and enviable haven of membership.”

He visited many lodges and briefly mentions those in which he presented himself.

Five corner-stones were laid, two of them being for Masonic lodges. He made six dispensations, none of them however are unusual. He states that the dispensations issued by him were few and that he had restricted them to cases of necessity.

He reports the approval and execution of three deeds to lodge property which lodges desired to sell. Evidently the Grand Lodge of Arkansas proposes to control all property owned by its constituents.

The grand master reports that the grand secretary turned over to him the sum of $300.00 to be used in defraying the expenses of his office. The grand master spent $268.00 and returned the balance to the grand lodge.

Brother Magee states that inasmuch as he lived five and one-half miles from the nearest stenographer, he did his own stenographic work with pen and ink.

Immediately following the address of the grand master, an invitation was sent to the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star inviting them to attend the evening session of the grand lodge and hear the grand orator.

Fay Hempstead, grand secretary, makes a thorough and complete report of the transactions of his office. He states that he received from all sources, $66,734.00 while the expenditures were $74,025.00.

The grand lodge employs an auditor to check up the books of the grand treasurer and grand secretary and his report appears in the proceedings. He was allowed $25.00 for his services.

The Pension and Relief Board which cares for the poor and needy spent $5,130.00. The highest amount spent for any one individual case was $287.50. This was for a lady who later was married and charity payments to her stopped.

In the Orphans Home maintained by the grand lodge there are seventy-six children, all of whom are receiving most excellent care and attention.

The following unusual resolution was adopted by the grand lodge:

“Resolved, That this grand lodge recommend to the subordinate lodges of this grand jurisdiction that the order known as the ‘Order of DeMolay for Boys’ is an organization worthy of their encouragement, and moral and financial support.

“It is further recommended that a chapter DeMolay be organized in each community where population will justify it, and that the lodge halls or meeting places of lodges, whenever practical and agreeable to the lodge, shall be tendered as a meeting place for this organization.”

It is apparent from the above action that the Grand Lodge of Arkansas and the Scottish Rite are on friendly terms.

The grand lodge went on record as not favoring the Masonic Service Association and it declined to take membership therein.

The oration of the evening of the first day was delivered by Thomas C. McBae, governor of Arkansas. His subject was, “The Relation of Masonry to Patriotism and Government.”

The Grand Matron of the Order of Eastern Star was introduced and spoke at considerable length. The closing feature of the evening was an entertainment by children from the Masonic Home.

The Grand Lodge of Arkansas appears to be well fixed financially for the Board of Finance give their assets at $246,000.00.

The grand secretary, Fay Hempstead, who has just been elected general grand master of the General Grand Council Royal and Select Masters, was given the recognition that his station demands.

The election and installation of officers and the presentation of the jewel were carried out in the usual formal manner after which Thomas R. Marshall, ex-Vice President of the United States, was introduced and spoke at length.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence attached to the Arkansas proceedings. The grand lodge apparently does not care to waste any of its funds in printers ink for the proceedings issued comprise just one hundred twenty pages and cost $1,318.65.

BRITISH COLUMBIA, A. F. & A. M.

The year 1921 was an auspicious one for the Grand Lodge of British Columbia for the reason that during this period the fiftieth anniversary was celebrated. The annual communication was held in the city of Victoria opening Thursday, June 23, 1921. Among the representatives of other jurisdictions who were present, we find the name of W. W. Northcott representing Illinois.

Martin L. Grimmett, grand master, read a brief report of his stewardship during the year. He opens with tributes of respect to the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions. The following rulings made by the grand master are interesting:

“1. A suspension from the office of secretary of a lodge by the worshipful master does not disqualify the suspended brother for election to the same office at the annual election of officers following such suspension.

“If the brother whose application for affiliation has been balloted on thinks the result would have been different on a new ballot being taken, he may renew his application at any regular meeting of the lodge if proper notice is given to the members and a clearance received from the V.W. grand secretary.”

Seven dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted. A number of official visits were made and the notes which the grand master makes in connection with his appearances in the lodges of his jurisdiction are highly interesting. Among the recommendations which are made is one to the effect that hereafter some sort of honorarium be given to the grand master inasmuch as under the present rules the grand master is obliged to defray all the expenses of his office. He also recommends that some provision be made for paying the expenses of representatives to grand lodge. Clothes may not make the man but they go a long way toward shaping the opinion which others may hold concerning us.

Grand Master Grimmett seems to sense this for he says:

“When on one of my visits to a somewhat small lodge, I entered the lodge-room, I was greatly surprised to see that every officer, both elected and appointed, was in evening dress. On my inquiring I found that it was a tradition of the lodge that all officers should dress in such manner. Knowing that a considerable number of members of the lodge were working men, and that the future members of the lodge would be largely drawn from this source, I asked if such a condition would not have a tendency to deter very desirable applicants from applying for admission to the lodge, but I was assured that the result was entirely contrary. I was equally surprised when some days later visiting a large and influential lodge I found that the master was the only one in evening dress. Knowing that such clothes would form an indispensable part of the wardrobe of many of the members of this lodge, I was about to inquire of the master why he was the only one so dressed, when he informed me that many of the other members purposely refrained from attending the meetings in evening clothes, thinking that did they do so it might have the effect of keeping other members of the lodge who did not possess such from attending the lodge meetings. I would not for a moment lay it down as a hard and fast rule that even the officers should be obliged to dress in evening clothes, but I am afraid that many of our brethren are much too lax in this respect.”

In his conclusion he very pertinently says:

“Freemasonry has, during these days of social, industrial and political unrest and strife, a golden opportunity of making its influence felt. It cannot be denied that these conditions are largely owing to the spread of Bolshevism and other kindred pernicious doctrines, and while our own beloved land is not so much affected as the Old World countries, yet it is not entirely free. Contempt for constituted authority and disregard for the law of the land are the very breath of life to these movements. Create in a land such contempt and disregard and you are then laying a foundation upon which the protagonists of Bolshevism may build.”

The grand treasurer shows receipts of $20,809.42. His expenditures were approximately $11,600.00.

The grand secretary presents the usual detailed report covering the many items which passed through his hands during the year. He shows the number raised as 833. The net increase for the year is 1,137 and the present number of members in the jurisdiction is 10,112.

The reports of the district deputies are voluminous documents showing that in British Columbia these officials have something to do and do it with a vengeance.

The grand lodge paused long enough in its deliberations to receive the grand representatives of other jurisdictions and accord them the grand honors of Masoury.

A very interesting historical sketch of Masonry in British Columbia was presented on the afternoon of the second day. If the brethren had to listen to the reading of the entire document they must have been patient and long suffering.

The remainder of the business transacted at this session appears to be principally routine, nothing unusual claiming the attention of the grand lodge.

The Finance Committee submitted a budget allowing the grand secretary $2,000.00 and the grand master $500.00.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is submitted by W. A. DeWolf-Smith. He gives Illinois one and one-half pages of consideration. He quotes the following from the address of Grand Master Fitzgerald: "The difference between America and Europe is that here Fraternity and the rights of man rule. Over there, hatred, grief and jealousy bear sway." Brother Smith then remarks, "Alas, poor Europe."

Brother Smith appears to have been analyzing the list of names submitted in connection with U. D. lodges in Illinois for he observes: "If one may judge from the names of its members, the lodge is composed almost entirely of brethren of the Hebrew persuasion."

This writer is prone to inquire, "Well, what about it?" Masonry is supposed to embrace men of every country, race, sect and opinion.

CALIFORNIA, F. & A. M.

The seventy-second annual communication convened in the city of San Francisco on Tuesday, October 11. Just prior to the opening of the grand lodge there was presented on behalf of the grand tyler, a complete and beautiful set of jewels and furniture consisting of bible, square and compass and case, emblem overlaid with gold, comport and case, ceremonial vessels and case, three silver water pitchers with silver trays and silver glass holders and glasses, three golden candlesticks and case, one ebony baton with mahogany stand, Bible board, board for principal architect, two gold warden's columns, ceremonial implements and case, tyler's sword, grand sword bearer's sword, rods for deacons and stewards, six apron boxes, a particularly fine banner on which was worked the seal of grand lodge, and a large silk American flag.

After the formal opening of the grand lodge and prayer by the grand chaplain the grand master read his opening address. Brother Rodden in his salutatory uses the following paragraph:

“When we review the recent and immediate history of the world, with its strife and turmoil; with its social fabric rent and torn; with the very souls of men poisoned by unworthy passions; with established human relationships disturbed or destroyed—must we not conclude that it is but natural—yes, inevitable—that men of character and understanding, of high ideals and lofty purpose, should seek to ally themselves with an association the first and most important of whose tenets is brotherly love, and with recognition of their individual responsibility, hail the opportunity to serve in that institution which, like some great ship, is ever moving onward—silently, steadily, irresistibly onward—bearing its precious burden of kindness and comfort to those who are afflicted; of sympathy and compassion to those who are downtrodden, and abundance of fellowship wherewith to re-establish and strengthen the ties of friendship so rudely sundered yet so vital to the well-being and happiness of humanity?”

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions.

He refers in his address to what are called Island lodges and expresses regret that he was unable to visit them as he had hoped.

The Masonic Service Association is reviewed and the recommendation made that California does not seek membership therein.

The question of Mexican Masonry is gone into at some length and much correspondence is submitted to the grand lodge. It appears that recognition had previously been extended to the Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico.

A resolution was submitted extending recognition to the York grand lodge and the grand master recommended its adoption.

The Masonic Homes and their general condition is briefly set forth. It appears that during the building operations at the Covina Home, various charges were launched against certain members of the fraternity presumably growing out of the charge of graft. This caused the grand master a great deal of concern and investigation was made and the whole affair charged to gossiping.

The grand master believes in Masonic clubs and recommends the erection of a club house on the campus of the University of California.

The inspectors, corresponding to district deputy grand masters, are highly commended for the work which they accomplished during the year.

The use of the word Masonic in connection with business enterprises caused Grand Master Rodden to issue an edict prohibiting the use of the word Masonic in either advertising or business affairs.

It appears from the report of the grand master that clandestine Masonry invaded the jurisdiction of California, a grand lodge having been established called the Provincial Grand Lodge of California. He states in this connection as follows:

“While I was visiting in Los Angeles during the month of June and immediately prior to the communication of their provincial grand lodge, several attempts were made by representatives to confer with me. I refused to see them, but sent them word that there was absolutely nothing about which we could confer. That if they desired as individuals to affiliate with the Masonic fraternity there was one way, and only one, by which that might be accomplished: by restoring themselves to proper status, by renunciation of their present allegiance, and then by following the course prescribed for all others.”

Concerning the various pseudo Masonic organizations in the country the grand master says:

“One of the great problems confronting us, and difficulties besetting us, is the mushroom organization which requires Masonic affiliation as prerequisite to membership. Wrong in its conception, questionable in its activities, and disastrous in its consequences, it may not longer be disregarded; it may not be lightly considered, but must be looked upon with what seriousness the extent of the menace demands.

“All over our broad land they are coming into being. Every day brings forth a new one. Primarily they are supposedly established for the purpose of providing the recreation and diversion which the dignity and decorum of our lodgerooms will not permit, or for the creation of an additional bond which will inspire mutual assistance—or in plainer language, ‘boosting one another.’ They serve as a lure to the lighter-minded and frequently become the impulse prompting the type of man to whom that sort of thing appeals to seek membership with us. Their interjection into various communities has engendered bitter opposition from those who give Masonry a high place in their lives, and have developed schisms which have seriously endangered the harmony of theretofore harmonious bodies. Their work is carried on in a spirit of buffoonery, and ever and always, in public print and advertising, do they pridefully proclaim their relationship to the great Masonic fraternity.’’

Several decisions are rendered but they contain nothing startling or unusual. The grand master states that he traveled ‘‘hither and yon’’ in visiting the lodges of his jurisdiction.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts at $118,000.00. His disbursements were $108,723.00. The total assets of the grand lodge are reported to be $524,189.00.

The report of the grand secretary is an exhaustive financial and statistical document. In his statement of work he discloses twenty lodges organized, 8,831 raised during the year, number of members 85,181, a net gain for the year of 8,308. The grand secretary receives a salary of $6,000.00 per year.

A special committee on the Masonic Service Association appears to have been digging into the financial statement of the association for the following receipts and expenditures are given:

‘‘Subscriptions from grand lodges.....	$23,215.13
Sales of proceedings.....	1,808.00	$25,023.13

The expenditures were:

Rent and overhead	7,500.00
Postage	962.75
Expressage	108.72
Telegraph and telephone.....	139.50
Printing and supplies.....	6,092.48
Executive Committee, traveling expenses.....	5,056.14
Salaries of employes	4,125.00	$23,974.59
Accounts payable		1,689.00

‘‘Total expenditures and liabilities.....	$25,663.59

‘‘The inventory of assets, consisting of envelopes, bulletins, blanks, three typewriters and an addressograph, listed at $5,801.15.

The report of the Executive Committee showed an expense account for last year of two cents per capita for the membership of the 37 grand jurisdictions belonging. (California’s tax for last year would have been $1,340.00, or six per cent of the total cost.) One member jurisdiction represented at the St. Louis meeting stated that two cents per capita was objected to by his grand lodge, and yet it is proposed to fix the tax at five cents per capita, which would mean this year for California a payment of more than $4,200.00. A permanent secretary has now been employed, at presumably a salary befitting the position, with permanent headquarters at the city of Washington, D. C.”

This committee do not believe that the grand lodge should join this association for they recommend to this effect.

The trustees of the Masonic Home make a long specific report leaving no question as to what their receipts and expenditures were. This report will no doubt make interesting reading for those who care to delve into figures.

The Masonic Temple of San Francisco was operated at a profit of $2,276.00.

The annual oration was delivered by Harvey D. Loveland and was Masonic in character, dealing largely with the philosophical side of the fraternity.

The Grand Lodge of California is doing some excellent work in the way of Masonic education. The committee in charge of this work make the following recommendation:

“1. That the present form of organization of this committee be continued.

“2. That the organization of officers’ associations be continued.

“3. That means to meet the needs of outlying lodges be given immediate attention.

“4. That speakers’ boards be formed in each of the districts.

“5. That the policy of holding group meetings of lodges in the interest of educational work be encouraged.

“6. That an adequate appropriation be made for the work of this committee.”

From the reports of the various employment bureaus, it is apparent that the Masons of California are doing a most excellent work in finding employment for those who find themselves stranded in the great west.

The grand lodge voted to extend recognition to the York Grand Lodge of Mexico and the Grand Lodge of Queensland. Action on the requests of the Grand Lodges of Chili, Ecuador and Guatamala were deferred.

The grand lodge also adopted an amendment permitting lodges to spend twenty per cent of their annual revenue for social and entertainment purposes. Heretofore, they were not allowed to spend any of their income.

The question of dual membership was reviewed and the committee having the subject under consideration asked for further time and it was granted.

The election and installation of officers closes a session bristling with Masonic thought and activity.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Jesse M. Whited. An opening paragraph pleases the writer:

“Some grand lodges have gone so far as to pass resolutions endorsing the ‘Smith-Towner Bill.’ From a theoretical standpoint this may be contrary to an Ancient Landmark (?) but we can not help but feel that it is a step in the right direction. General resolutions endorsing a theoretical question or the sentiment thereof, without taking a positive position, are about as effective as resolving in favor of the spirit of the Ten Commandments or the Declaration of Independence.”

The entire report is topical and makes interesting reading for that student of Masonry who wants to keep abreast of modern Masonic thought.

The sixty-sixth annual communication was held in the city of Ottawa commencing Wednesday, July 20. The total number of officers and representatives registered was 1,045. The grand lodge having been opened in ample form there were addresses of welcome and responses.

The grand master, Fred W. Harecourt, then read his annual address. He opens with historical references concerning the city of Ottawa, also refers to the growth and development of the fraternity in the province of Ontario. The total number of lodges on the rolls is given as 501.

The total receipts of the grand lodge were $133,508.00 and the expenditures for the year for general expenses $22,991.00.

Concerning the making of rulings, the grand master says:

“Handing out rulings has been the one unpleasant part of my duties. It reminds me that even Masons are prone to err, and sometimes for reasons not Masonic. It was wisely said long ago that we all make mistakes, even the youngest of us. Further, my judgment may in many cases be wrong, and often I feel compelled to work an individual hardship in order to uphold precedents which, in the opinion of those affected by the ruling, should be ruthlessly disregarded.”

Many dispensations were issued permitting lodges to initiate candidates who were not physically perfect.

Brother Harcourt gets after negligent masters and secretaries, stating their remissness causes the grand secretary much trouble.

He recommended that the Grotto be given the taboo in Canada. The following paragraph, the meaning of which is so evident that he who runs may read:

“I do not understand why Masons as Masons allow their names to be used by organizations not Masonic even to please their wives or those they hope to call by that name. To my mind it is opposed to the best traditions of the craft and sails dangerously near violation of Masonic obligations.”

The following bold statement is made by Brother Harcourt:

“And even then are our duties at an end? By no means. Individual good citizenship means loyalty to our Province, loyalty to our Dominion, loyalty to our Empire; advocating fair dealings towards other Nations; spreading the spirit of universal brotherhood so as to crush prejudice, and in a spirit of justice to settle the disputes of peoples; setting a high example in all things so that eventually peace and harmony may prevail for all time to come. May we not regard Masonry as a great spiritual fighting machine? We must dare to drop that which is out of date and effete in our methods, so as to be able to mobilize and unify the enormous Christian resources now lying dormant. No lesser ideal can satisfy us. The last awful seven years has witnessed the collapse and failure of the seen. It has shown the unseen and the invisible, may it be for the world's good, in a clearer light.”

He thinks that every lodge is entitled to a visit from the grand master, as many of them are disposed to believe that there “ain't no such animal,” never having seen one.

The following statement seems to portend a coming storm:

“The so-called colored Masons of Ontario have applied to the provincial secretary for a charter incorporating them under the name of ‘The Prince Hall Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons in Ontario.’ I have been asked by the provincial secretary's office if I will consent, and I have had an interview with their so-called grand master. He tells me they have adopted that name. I have requested both him and the provincial secretary, to allow the matter to stand until after the meeting of this grand lodge.”

Concerning the Bible in the public schools, this comment is made:

“In any true ideal of education you cannot eliminate the Bible. The school law and regulations of this province, excellent in this regard, fully recognize this fact. Our trustees, if they could use the power they have, and I fear in many cases they do not, can provide for systematic daily reading and memorizing on the part of the scholars of passages from the Book of Books. Passages memorized thus early are never forgotten, and bring years afterwards solace and hope to troubled minds.”

The reports of the grand treasurer and grand secretary are thorough and complete financial documents. According to the grand secretary’s report nineteen lodges were constituted and sixteen lodges were dedicated according to the Canadian term.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters are extensive documents. Each official covers in minute detail every transaction in his district. From the reports, the grand lodge should be able to form an adequate idea of the general condition of the lodges in the province.

The Board of General Purposes submit a very interesting report concerning the general condition of Masonry in the Province of Ontario. They thoroughly analyze existing conditions and offer some most excellent advice as how best to make Masonry a useful factor.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is written by Edward B. Brown. He writes a most excellent and discriminating report. He briefly reviews the address of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell as well as the principal transactions of the grand lodge, quoting that which pleased him. Concerning the report on Foreign Correspondence the following paragraph appears:

“We have already referred to the report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence. It is Brother Darrah’s third annual report. He has spared no pains with it; indeed he had to take more than ordinary pains, for he was strictly compelled to severe condensation, and, as all writers and preachers know, it is easier to prepare a long report or a long sermon than a short one. Suffice it to say that, in spite of space-limitations, the essential things will all be found in this report, which is distinctive in thought and language, the product of the pen of a ready writer. Our grand lodge—which, like most reviewers, speaks of as ‘Canada,’ the words ‘in the Province of Ontario’ being regarded as negligible,—receives due attention and discriminating attention, which is always gratefully appreciated.”

COLORADO, A. F. & A. M.1921

The annual communication, sixty-first, assembled in the city of Denver on Tuesday, September 20. The grand lodge was opened in ample form and the Committee on Credentials having reported a constitutional quorum present, the grand master announced the grand lodge ready to transact business.

At this point, a committee was proclaimed to be in waiting and who desired to enter the presence of the grand lodge with the flag of our country. The committee entered while the grand lodge arose and sang America.

The roll of deceased grand masters was called by the grand secretary and after the singing of the song, "There Is No Death," the grand master spoke briefly in memory of the deceased.

When the roll of grand representatives was called, William W. Cooper responded for Illinois.

The grand master, Haslett P. Burke, presented a brief resume of his acts covering nine printed pages.

The grand master appears to hold very strict ideas concerning the conferring of the Entered Apprentice Degree, for he says:

"At the time of entering upon the duties of my office, I had decided upon the strict enforcement of Section 278, which relates to the conferring of the Entered Apprentice Degree. I soon discovered that, a contrary custom having been followed during the late war, we were under obligations of fraternal courtesy to other jurisdictions which could not well be ignored. Recognizing in this law rather a matter of policy than principle, I adopted, about sixty days after my installation, a different rule. Conceding the right of other grand jurisdictions to determine under what circumstances work should be done for them, I have issued all such dispensations requested without fee. Accepting the section as the settled policy of our grand lodge on the subject, I have refused all the requests of our lodges to have such work done for them in other grand jurisdictions, save in such instances as could not have been considered as within that policy, and in such, have required that the usual fee be paid. Our obligations, above mentioned, ought by this time be discharged, and the same strict rule should hereafter be observed in both classes of cases, or the section repealed."

The grand master issued a dispensation to one of the Denver lodges to hold a meeting in the Shrine Temple for the purpose of conferring the Third Degree. This is what he says:

“I attended the communication of August 13, participated in the work, and became convinced that I had committed an error. The master and brethren doing the work on that occasion acquitted themselves with credit, and the best possible decorum was maintained, but the place is unsuited, by construction and association, to the conferring of our degrees. These are solemn ceremonies, not theatrical entertainments, and an appropriate spirit and atmosphere are as essential to their success as ritualistic proficiency. These can not usually be secured under such circumstances in such halls. No similar dispensation ought in the future be issued.”

The grand master says that he only accepted two invitations to install lodge officers or to participate in work. He also discouraged as much as possible, the formation of new lodges, stating that he had become convinced that their establishment was not for the general good of the fraternity and that the records showed that one-eighth of the lodges of the jurisdiction have become extinct.

The War Relief Fund in the hands of the Board of Control amounts to over $40,000.00. As this is a trust fund which neither the Board of Control nor the grand lodge can dispose of without the consent of the donors, the grand master very pertinently suggests that some direction be made as to the future disposal of this sum.

The Pueblo flood is reviewed and the statement made that the sum of $5,000.00 was contributed from the grand lodge treasury and lodges outside of Colorado sent in $2,125.00. This latter sum was refunded to the donors as it was not needed.

It is apparent that Colorado has done practically nothing toward the George Washington Memorial, and Brother Burke suggests that the grand lodge either get busy and raise its quota or discontinue its membership.

The use of Masonic emblems in business enterprises is severely condemned and the grand lodge is asked to pass an amendment making it a Masonic offense to use Masonic emblems for any other than strictly Masonic purposes.

The grand master condemns Masonic publicity and in this connection says:

“The greatest danger which today threatens the fraternity is the danger against which its sages and leaders have warned it in Colorado and elsewhere from time immemorial—too much popularity. Our more active lodges should investigate petitions more carefully and select their material more judiciously. Their growth is too rapid to be always healthy. We should cease to worry about the enemy without. Now, as always, he is absolutely impotent to injure us. Freemasonry can only be torn down from within.”

He does not like solicitation for the degrees and seems to think that the practice should be curbed or the fraternity will suffer as a consequence. Electioneering for office in a Masonic lodge is vigorously flayed. Politics in our Masonic organization receives the following treatment:

“The Masonic world today exhibits marked evidence of a disposition in many quarters to depart from the time honored principle of the fraternity to abstain from all participation in political activity. Lodges and grand lodges are advocating the passage or defeat of legislation, and inquiring into the fraternal and religious affiliations of candidates for public office. This field has always been to our fraternity a forbidden one. It can not be entered without the utmost peril to that internal harmony absolutely essential to the existence of Masonry. This is the curse of Latin Freemasonry, and however seductive the voices that lure us, the lessons of history are too plain for us to be deceived. Let Colorado Masons remember the ancient landmarks and be led into the worship of no false gods.”

Grand Master Burke calls all Masonic organizations other than Ancient Craft Masonry, parasites. He is evidently somewhat of a Moses for he apparently went up in mountains of Colorado and brought down the following tablets or statement of principles:

“In view of what has been hereinbefore stated, and considering the apparent confusion in the Masonic world, the time seems ripe for the re-statement by this grand lodge of the following fundamental principles:

“1. The government of the grand lodge is neither a monarchy, an oligarchy, nor a ‘pure democracy.’ It is a representative, constitutional republic. Every attempt to graft upon it any of the distinguishing characteristics of the first three forms named is forbidden by the injunction against ‘innovations upon the body of Masonry.’

“2. The grand lodge, which is but the entire body of the craft in the jurisdiction, acting through its duly chosen representatives, and restricted only by the landmarks, has the sole power and authority to determine what is and what is not ‘Masonic,’ and to fix the conditions under which a petitioner may enter Freemasonry, or, having entered, remain. Its only guide is its best judgment as to what is required by the good of the craft, and from its decision there is no appeal.

“3. The only title to Masonic office is the best judgment of the brethren voting, or the officer appointing, uninfluenced by improper solicitation and exercised with no consideration in mind but the highest good of the craft.

“4. This fraternity, its activities, titles, ceremonies, symbols, and emblems, are not to be used for political or commercial purposes. It repudiates all solicitation for its degrees, all advertisement, all unseemly publicity. It tolerates no foreign meddling in its affairs. It interferes with no man's religion and will not concern itself with matters of political or legislative policy."

He congratulates the splendid condition of the craft and condemns what he calls "An Ambition for Thespian Crowns," evidenced by an overdramatization of the work.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts at $26,206.41. His expenditures were $24,642.00. The grand secretary submits a very complete financial tableau. He gives the net gain in membership for the year as 2,452, and the number of members as 26,242.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence present a report dealing with various issues which seem paramount in the Masonic World.

A most interesting oration was delivered by L. G. Crain, grand orator, on the afternoon of the first day.

The question of increasing the receipts of the grand lodge seems to have engrossed the attention of that body for it was shown that the income now received is barely sufficient for the needs of administration.

The remainder of the business transacted by the grand lodge appears to have been largely routine. The reports of a number of committees were received and adopted without discussion. Apparently the Grand Lodge of Colorado is becoming more or less stabilized.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Stanley C. Warner. He gives Illinois three pages of consideration, taking liberal extracts from the address of Daniel G. Fitzgerrell, grand master, and clips other interesting items from the proceedings in general.

The one hundred thirty-fourth annual communication was held in the Masonic Temple in the City of Hartford, February 1 and 2, 1922.

The Committee on Credentials reported the presence of all grand officers and representatives from the one hundred sixteen lodges. The representative of the Grand Lodge of Illinois near the Grand Lodge of Connecticut does not appear to have been present.

The first business of importance was the address of the grand master, Charles W. Cramer. In his opening remarks he pertinently observes:

“Naturally with the cessation of business and prosperity which we have witnessed during the last year, the influx into our ranks may also cease to some extent but quality and not quantity is the aspiration of Masons as far as membership is concerned. During the years of prosperity some of the lodges raised their initiation fees to a higher point than Masonry in this state has ever witnessed. Many of the lodges were perhaps justified in this action, but now it may be necessary for some of these lodges to seriously consider a reduction, because many a good man whom we might desire may be kept out of our ranks because of his inability to pay a large initiation fee. There has not as yet been a great falling off in the number who seek to join our ranks, and Masonry has not suffered to a degree commensurate with the industries.”

A revision of the Masonic laws, practice, rules and regulations of the Masonic jurisdiction is reported and the work commended very highly.

The grand lodge employed a certified accountant to audit the books of the grand treasurer, grand secretary and grand trustee. The grand master referred to this as a businesslike procedure.

Without mentioning it by name, the grand master calls attention to the activity of a certain secret society which in earlier days was quite active in the South. He urges all Masons in the State of Connecticut to assist, aid and support in the enforcement of our laws without taking matters into their own hands. He also thinks that all Masons should assist in supporting the anti-liquor laws.

Quite a long report is made on Necrology and the distinguished dead of other jurisdictions are given honorable mention.

Twenty-six dispensations were issued by the grand master. They are reported in full and appear to have been issued to take care of local conditions. Several dispensations were issued permitting lodges to confer degrees upon more than one candidate at a stated meeting. The grand master refers to the Masonic Service Association and a detailed report is made to the grand lodge with a recommendation that the Grand Lodge of Connecticut lend its encouragement in every possible way to the good work which the association is accomplishing.

A number of questions and answers were submitted by Grand Master Cramer under the subject of decisions. One question and answer is rather interesting and shows how very far reaching Masonic action may sometimes prove to be. It is as follows:

“Question: Is a brother who is a member of a lodge in this state of good standing and also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star in the State of Pennsylvania subject to the edict issued by the Grand Master of Pennsylvania regarding membership in the Eastern Star?”

“Answer: No, he is not. As he is a member of a lodge under the jurisdiction of this grand lodge, he is subject only to the edict of this lodge.”

Such other decisions as were made refer mostly to constructions of local law nothing out of the ordinary having been discussed.

The reports of the district deputies are made directly to the grand master and are included in his report to the grand lodge. Among the recommendations was one that the constitution and by-laws be so amended that the district deputies might receive the title of right worshipful.

A recommendation is also made that a committee be appointed to investigate the question of a collective bond for the treasurers of all lodges in the state.

A large number of visitations made by the grand master are reported in full. Most Worshipful Brother Cramer closes his report with a strong tribute to the Order of the Eastern Star.

The deputy grand master made a brief report covering visitations made by him.

The grand secretary gave his receipts from all sources as $114,258.60. The net gain in membership is announced at 3,011 giving the Grand Lodge of Connecticut a total membership on December 31, 1921, of 37,780. It cost the grand lodge to operate $92,670.08 of which amount $68,219.00 went to the Masonic Charity Foundation.

A number of lodges submitted copies of their by-laws. The committee found no occasion to find fault with any submitted and gave most generous approval.

The Grand Lodge of Queensland was duly recognized by the Grand Lodge of Connecticut upon recommendation of the Committee on Correspondence.

The election and installation of officers was held on the afternoon of the first day and resulted in the due promotion of the regular line.

The George Washington Memorial and the Masonic Service Association were fully endorsed. The per capita assessment of $1.00 levied upon the Masons of Connecticut for the former was fully met.

The installation of officers, the appointment of nine grand chaplains one for each Masonic district and the appointment of district deputy grand masters closed this most important session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by George M. Kies who presents in a very concise, practical manner an interesting report. Illinois receives one and one-half pages of very generous consideration.

A brief resume is made of the acts of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald and no fault or comment is made concerning them.

A high tribute is paid to the oration delivered by Leroy A. Goddard. He says as follows:

“Leroy A. Goddard, P.G.M., Grand Orator, etc., delivered a stirring oration on the live topics of the day. Descanted on the present chaotic condition of the world, emphasized that Masonry and patriotism are synonymous terms, noted the existence of disloyalty, bolshevism and other ‘isms’ represented by more than 50,000 anarchists in the Chicago district, and exhorts Masons to be positive and not soft-pedal nor be non-committal in fighting this pest. He concludes with optimistic hope.”

The Correspondence Report of this writer is briefly and concisely reviewed by Brother Kies but without comment.

The one hundred sixteenth annual communication was held in the city of Wilmington opening on the 5th day of October. The report of the Committee on Credentials shows the presence of a large number of officers, past officers, representatives and Master Masons.

Harry Mayer, representing the Grand Lodge of Illinois is among those present. The Grand Master Wm. J. Highfield presents a report of unusual merit and interest covering twenty-two pages of closely printed matter. His opening paragraph is worthy of note:

“The actual powers of fallen nature forbid perfection. I am not unmindful of my own faults and shortcomings. I trust, however, that you will glean from the proceedings something that will cause you to feel that I have made an earnest effort to justify the confidence you placed in me. As an interpreter and guardian of the underlying principles of our fraternity—the Fatherhood of God—and the Brotherhood of Man—I have done that which in me has lain to preserve the same, and to raise a superstructure perfect in all its parts and honorable to the founder.”

He pays tributes of respect to the dead of his jurisdiction and reports the holding of twelve emergent communications for various functions and purposes. One of them was held in the Old Town Hall at Wilmington for the purpose of reintering in the lawn of the Masonic Home of Delaware the remains of Gunning Bedford, Jr., the first grand master of the Grand Lodge of Delaware:

“It is interesting to note that this emergent communication was held on the same date (March 31) at the same hour (four o'clock p. m.) and the same place (Old Town Hall) as was the emergent communication for the original interment of his remains one hundred and nine years before, in the cemetery of the First Presbyterian Church.”

Five decisions are rendered. All of them are of minor importance. Grand Master Highfield was permitted to visit twenty-two of the lodges of his district.

The Masonic Service Association is endorsed and the recommendation made that three members of the grand lodge attend the next annual meeting.

The George Washington Memorial Association is commended to the craft and the statement made that Delaware to date has contributed the sum of $5,533.00.

A recommendation was made that a scholarship be established at the University of Delaware in honor of Gunning Bedford, the first grand master.

The Masonic Home and its activities are thoroughly reviewed and the statement made:

“The home has done a magnificent work since it first was founded; and that, too, in the face of serious handicaps due to the fact that the demands made upon it have expanded much more rapidly than have the facilities that have been supplied. In other words, the work required has outgrown this great brotherly plant of ours which was designed to take care of those within our craft who are unable to take care of themselves."

Grand Master Highfield recommends that immediate steps be taken to raise funds for Masonic Home extension work.

Among his recommendations are the following, "That the first Thursday of each year be set apart for the observance of the anniversary of the initiation into the Masonic fraternity of George Washington."

Also that the minimum fee for initiation to membership in constituent lodges shall be $40.00 outside Wilmington and $75.00 in the city. Another recommendation reads as follows:

"The practice indulged in by officers and members of retiring from the lodge while in business session, as well as during the conferring of degrees, having reached such proportions as to be detrimental to the better interest of the craft, I would fraternally suggest to the worshipful masters the advisability of taking such action as will tend to minimize this practice."

Grand Master Highfield thinks that Masons above all others should observe Flag Day.

The grand treasurer shows total receipts of $6,725.00 and expenditures of $6,828.00.

The grand secretary gives the net gain for the year as 447, the number of lodges 22 and the present membership as 5,375.

The Jurisprudence Committee make a report at some length in which they give their stamp of approval to practically everything that the grand master did. The business transacted was largely routine. The following resolution catches the eye of ye reviewer:

"It shall be the duty of the grand secretary to keep the office of said grand secretary open daily, except Sunday and legal holidays, between the hours of 9:00 and 12:00 m., and from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m., also on evenings by appointment."

It looks like the grand secretary had been playing hookey, inasmuch as he only receives $500.00 per year he should be pardoned for stepping out once in a while.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Thomas J. Day. It covers forty-nine pages and is short and to the point. He reviews briefly the principal matters reported by Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald and makes quotations therefrom without either comment or criticism.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, F. A. A. M.

The one hundred and eleventh annual report is a voluminous volume due to the fact that there is published in connection with the proceedings, a complete roster showing the name of every Master Mason in the jurisdiction and the lodge of which he is a member.

A stated communication was held on March 12, 1921, for the purpose of exemplifying the three degrees. The attendance was large and the grand master, Chas. J. O'Neill, expressed his appreciation of the careful and thorough manner in which the work had been rendered.

The annual communication of the grand lodge was held in the Masonic Temple in the city of Washington on December 21, 1921. The first business was the welcoming of a number of past grand masters of the jurisdiction as well as those from other grand jurisdictions.

The grand master, Charles J. O'Neill presented a report of more than passing interest. In his opening remarks he very pertinently asks:

“Who shall say to what extent the truths learned at the altar of Masonry shall prove the rule and guide to the mutual faith of the peoples of the earth to bring about the final concord of nations that shall spell the end of wars? It is, indeed, good to be alive and to be permitted to play even a very small part in the great drama of reconstruction, the foundation stone of which shall be brotherly love. It is an inestimable privilege given to every Master Mason to realize and to assume the individual responsibilities placed upon him to make the fraternity in fact, as well as in intent, a dominant, militant power, to put down forever the forces of oppression, intolerance and ignorance, and to maintain the glorious principles of justice, liberty, and equality which found their origin in the great hearts of our ancient and operative brethren of the craft and which finds its best expression in those lands where speculative Masonry flourishes in the light of day. Truly, ‘the order changeth, yielding to the new.’”

Reference is made to the Washington Bible now the property of Hope Lodge No. 20 in the jurisdiction of New York and which was used in the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding.

The list of visitations made by the grand master is a long one showing that he must have been kept in close touch with the lodges of his jurisdiction.

Two decisions were made by the grand master both of which related to a construction of the law on the subject of balloting. He speaks as follows:

“The object of the collective ballot is solely to expedite the transaction of business, and if such ballot is unfavorable it cannot be assumed that the negative ballot or ballots was or were cast against any particular petitioner or petitioners. An unfavorable collective ballot restores the status quo ante of every petition included therein, and then, in that case, the ballot on the individual petitions must be taken in strict consonance with the provisions of Section 91, quoted.”

Grand Master O'Neill states that he has exercised the dispensing power of the grand master freely due to the fact that the lodges had an immense amount of work to perform and every facility had to be offered them for expediting matters as much as possible. It appears from the report of the grand master that a number of brethren who do not like the idea of collective balloting had been exercising their prerogative to cast a black ballot as an expression of opposition to the principle of the collective balloting. He says in this connection:

“The proposition of any brother passing upon and rendering nugatory a law of the fraternity, under the pretext of the exercise of the right to vote as he sees fit, is intolerable and subversive of every Masonic principle.”

Three new lodges were constituted during the year one of them assuming the name of Congress No. 37.

The Masonic and Eastern Star Home is fully endorsed by the grand master and given his stamp of most hearty approval.

The Masters' Association which it is assumed is composed of masters of lodges, was also heartily commended by the grand master and thanked for the co-operation which they have given that official.

Grand Master O'Neill evidently believes in Masonic clubs for he gives them his hearty endorsement and says that those clubs which are entirely constructive in their character, strengthen and support the work of the lodge in a social and fraternal manner.

The Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia has a Committee on Masonic Education and it is apparent from the report of the grand master that the work of the grand lodge in the matter of education is of the very highest order and is bringing far reaching results.

The George Washington Memorial Association is thoroughly endorsed as is the Masonic Mutual Life Association.

The closing remarks of the grand master are fitting and show that when he retired from the office of grand master that he did so with the love, regard and esteem of all his Masonic brethren.

The grand secretary reports total receipts of $35,718.00 and expenditures of $32,494.00.

The grand treasurer gives the total assets of the grand lodge as being $146,100.00.

A special committee recommended the recognition of the United Grand Lodge of Queensland but in reference to the petition of the Grand Lodge of Ecuador asks for further time.

The Grievance Committee must have had a busy time for a number of cases are reported showing much activity in this department.

The Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia does not propose that any of its constituents shall pass amendments that in any way are not in keeping with the regulation of the grand lodge for it requires every lodge to submit to the grand lodge committee all by-laws and proposed amendments and approval must be had before same can be passed.

Quite a long report is made by the committee on the new Masonic Temple. The estimated cost of the building, ground and furnishings is $4,138,750.00. It is proposed to raise the necessary funds by selling stock to the members.

It is apparent from the proceedings that the Grand Lodge of the District of Columbia is not ready to assume the tremendous financial burden which will be occasioned by the adoption of this report because it took action recommitteeing the whole matter to the committee for reconsideration of report at the stated communication in May, 1922.

The report of the Masonic Employment Bureau is always interesting. It shows that five hundred twenty-nine registered and that two hundred fifty-six were located in remunerative positions.

The Masonic Service Association receives endorsement and membership in the association was continued.

A St. John's Day communication was held on December 27. At this communication the Committee on Grand Master's Address appointed at the previous communication made their report.

The chairman of the Baseball Committee of the Worshipful Masters Association reported that the receipts from the game played in June 1921, netted $14,845.00.

The grand master made a short address in which he called attention to the growth of the fraternity and emphasized the matter of a larger and more commodious meeting place in the city of Washington.

The election and installation of officers together with the presentation of the customary jewel, closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence was prepared by George W. Baird, past grand master. Brother Baird is a most able writer, a thorough student and it is always a pleasure to read his commentary on other grand lodges.

In his opening remarks he refers to "Dr." Owen Scott, a Mason of learning, industry and integrity.

He goes much into detail in quoting from the report of Daniel G. Fitzgerald and commends practically everything he said and did.

He says that the report of the Masonic Home as rendered the Grand Lodge of Illinois is an essay that merits special study for those having duties in the home. He makes one very pertinent comment which affords some food for thought.

"The one thing which appears to the writer to be most difficult in a home is how to keep the beneficiaries contented, for idleness induces trouble. In this home we find a new enterprise. The girls have a band of music, and while their practice may irritate a few, it pleases many and keeps the girls busy. And Brother Harvie has started a printery for the boys, which keeps them busy."

The Correspondence Report of the writer is highly commended and he is thankful for the very generous manner in which Brother Baird has reviewed both the proceedings of the grand lodge and the writings of the Illinois correspondent.

ENGLAND, A. F. & A. M.1922

The Grand Lodge of England does not issue any regular book of proceedings. It holds quarterly communications and sends out its proceedings in abstract form immediately following each quarterly communication.

The first of these under consideration covers the quarterly communication held in London on December 21. Many dignitaries were present at this time.

The first business to engross the attention of the grand lodge was the nomination of a grand master. According to English custom the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn was nominated amidst vigorous applause. Immediately following the nomination the President of the Board of General Purposes presented a resolution appropriating the sum of 300 guineas from the grand lodge treasury for the purpose of buying a wedding present for Princess Mary. Of course, the resolution was carried unanimously and with acclamation.

The Board of Benevolences submit a report of the amount of money expended by them in the care of indigent members of the society. The grand lodge administers its charities in a generous manner and takes care of all worthy applicants.

The Board of General Purposes took action relating to uniformity in the matter of jewels and aprons of grand officers. Lodges were urged to purchase and read the Masonic Year Book for the information which may be derived. Lodges were also reminded that every newly installed worshipful master should be presented with a copy of the Book of Constitutions.

The relation of the Grand Lodge of England to the Grand Lodge of Belgium is set forth in the following:

“It has been brought to our notice, but too late to be included in the usual report, that there has been founded in London a lodge under the obedience of the Grand Orient of Belgium, which a few days hence is, we are informed, to be formally visited by its grand master, accompanied by several of his grand officers. As the Grand Orient of Belgium has not been accorded recognition by the United Grand Lodge of England since 1908—the reasons for which were fully submitted to grand lodge in a report from the Foreign and Colonial Committee of the Board, dated December 4th in that year—it is considered necessary to warn all members of our lodges that they cannot visit any Belgian lodge or, under Rule 150 of the Book of Constitutions, admit visitors therefrom; and it is desired to impress upon them the strict observance of their Masonic duty in this regard.”

The grand lodge considered a proposition to give out Masonic peace medals. Over 140,000 applications having been made to the board for these medals, the grand lodge thought it a wise thing to do and adopted the proposition. Several lodges were given what are called Hall Stone Medals as an evidence of having contributed to the Hall Fund.

The annual grand festival was held on Wednesday, the 26th day of April. At this meeting, the grand master and grand lodge officers were duly installed into their respective places and stations. No business appears to have been transacted at this session.

At the quarterly communication held on the 7th day of June, the grand master submitted a document to the grand lodge in which he gives some sound advice concerning what is expected in the matter of the formation of new lodges. One paragraph is excerpted:

“No attempt should be made by any form of pressure to obtain signatures to the petition, and a large number of signatures is not to be aimed at. A sufficient total of qualified Masons prepared to vouch the necessity for, and promise the permanence of, the proposed lodge, will carry more weight than a great many gathered for the sake of demonstration. No Brother who has not been a Master Mason three years should sign; and it is undesirable that any brother should do so who is not prepared actively to assist in the conduct of the proposed lodge. The lodge which is asked to endorse a petition should be made fully acquainted with the reasons for its presentation, and should satisfy itself by enquiry that these reasons are adequate. The endorsement should not be regarded as a formal act, but as a deliberate approval, for which full reason could be given.”

Quite a long report is submitted by the Board of Benevolence covering the transactions of that committee.

The Board of General Purposes present a characteristic report in which they announce that the grand master had appointed the Prince of Wales to the office of senior grand warden. Brethren are also reminded that they must not communicate directly with the grand master but must first of all send all communications to the grand secretary who will in due time present them to the grand master. The board made an appeal to the craft to use every means in their power to discountenance the use of advertisement in connection with the craft.

The remainder of the business transacted at this quarterly communication was principally routine and in accordance with English custom.

Colville Smith, G.S.

FLORIDA, F. & A. M.1921

The city of Jacksonville entertained the Grand Lodge of Florida assembled in annual communication Tuesday, January 17. After the grand lodge had been opened in ample form and a constitutional quorum reported present, the grand master, Chas. H. Ketchum read his address. The following paragraph catches the attention of the writer:

“American Masonry must stand ready to pay to the American Republic her obligation of guarding the priceless heritage of American liberty transmitted to us from our Masonic forefathers, and which we will transmit to our Masonic descendants, unimpaired. Our Masonry must personify Americanism.”

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead of Florida and the lamented Isaac Cutter of Illinois briefly mentioned.

Three lodges were constituted during the year and dispensations issued for the formation of four. One defunct lodge had its charter restored and one lodge had its charter taken up because it had ceased to function. Thirteen corner-stones were laid.

A number of questions and answers are rendered. From one of them the information is gleaned that in Florida a lodge may elect one as master who has never served as either junior or senior warden.

Two dispensations were issued and six were refused permitting the reopening of a ballot which had been declared dark.

Five Masonic temples were dedicated by Grand Master Ketchum. He states that he visited forty-six lodges and was elected to honorary membership in seven.

The George Washington Memorial Association is highly endorsed and the grand lodge urged to send a representative to the annual meetings of the association. The grand master states that Warren G. Harding then President-elect of the United States was a guest of the Scottish Rite bodies of Jacksonville in February. The following paragraph describes the meeting:

“The Lodge of Perfection had prepared to exemplify the work of the fourteenth degree on this occasion in order that this eminent visitor might view the work of a Masonic body in Florida. The work was beautifully executed under the general supervision of Brother R. V. Rogero, thirty-third degree honorary of the supreme council, after which Brother Harding expressed his appreciation for the work done in his usual congenial manner. The ceremony of presenting our distinguished visitor with a Bible was very impressive and the response by Brother Harding struck a responsive cord which will long be remembered by the brethren present. Just one week after this meeting our President was inaugurated into office and took his oath upon the Bible taken from St. Johns Lodge No. 1 of New York City, this Bible being the same one on which the first President of this nation was inaugurated on April 30, 1789, pressing his lips to that verse in the prophecy of Micah which asks, 'What doth man require of thee but to do justice, to love mercy and to walk humbly before thy God?' to which he referred at the close of his wonderful and powerful address with the inspiring words of consecration and dedication, 'This I plight to God and country.' "

Grand Master Ketchum states that he received several requests from lodges asking permission to receive dimits from lodges in Germany. These were denied.

The grand master attended a banquet arranged by a Masonic club at Jacksonville. During his visit he found that this club was affiliated with the National League of Masonic Clubs. This being in violation of the laws of the Grand Lodge of Florida the grand master directed the club to withdraw its affiliation with the National League. It appears in the grand master's report that the secretaries of lodges have been seriously annoyed by requests made to them for lists of membership. The grand master suggests that masters of lodges instruct their secretaries that the list of names of members be not given out except when the same is approved by the grand master. In his conclusion Brother Ketchum says:

"From our first induction into Masonry, the high ideals of loyalty and patriotism to our country and government have ever been before us. We believe that true patriotism and loyalty to our country and government can be maintained only by education of the people and that such education can only be properly given in a public school, the true 'melting pot' for Americanization. The founders of our government early realized this and from the system which they first established has developed the great system of free public schools as we now know it—a sacred trust for us to hand down to future generations."

The deputy grand master makes a brief report of the various acts performed by him while the grand master was absent from the state.

The report of the grand secretary is complete in detail and shows that that official discharged the duties of his office in a highly satisfactory manner. The grand treasurer gives his receipts at $49,457.00 and his expenditures as $44,001.00.

The trustees of the Masonic Home submit a report which gives receipts of $45,277.00 and expenditures of $44,200.00.

Seventeen old people and nineteen orphans comprise the home guests. In this connection it is pleasing to note that in nearly every jurisdiction the word inmate is not used in connection with those unfortunates who are cared for by the grand lodge.

The Grand Orator Lincoln Hully delivered a most excellent oration upon the subject "The First Great Light in Masonry."

The election and installation of officers and the adoption of the following resolution closed the session:

Resolved, That the Grand Lodge of Florida recognizes the possibilities for good in the Order of DeMolay and hereby endorses the movement in the State of Florida."

The report on Foreign Correspondence was directed by Silas B. Wright. He gives Illinois nine pages of careful and exhaustive review. He takes up the various items considered by Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and finds much favor with everything he did. He devotes four pages to a paraphrase of the Point of View which the Illinois reviewer attached to his report last year. He is most complimentary and has the sincere thanks of this writer.

GEORGIA, F. & A. M.

Georgia is beginning to take its place among the ancients for the one hundred thirty-fifth annual communication convened in the city of Macon October 25. The grand lodge was opened in ample form. The roll call of officers, lodges and grand representatives showed more than a constitutional quorum present.

The grand master, Charles L. Bass presented a short, concise but nevertheless interesting report of his transactions. He commends the grand secretary for the faithful manner in which he discharged the duties of his office and pronounces the financial condition of the grand lodge to be most excellent. He states that Masonic clubs are propagating in the jurisdiction of Florida and they are all doing excellent work in behalf of the fraternity.

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead of Georgia as well as those distinguished in other grand jurisdictions.

The Masonic Home is pronounced to be in excellent condition. Brother Bass states that he issued a large number of special dispensations all of which he kept strictly within the provisions of the law.

Three lodges surrendered their charters during the year. In each instance the lodges were not performing their full duty in the Masonic world.

He states that he rendered more than one hundred answers to questions and seems to think that if masters and officers would study the code there would be no necessity for so many queries. One question and answer is as follows:

“Question: Is it a Masonic offense ‘for a strike breaker to take the jobs of those who wear the square and compass?’

“Answer: It is not when one voluntarily gives up his position and it is taken and accepted by another Master Mason it is not a Masonic offense. A Master Mason who would by false representation, fraud or deceit cause another to lose his position that he might obtain it, would be guilty of a Masonic offense.”

Five changes of venue were ordered in Masonic trials and a long list of lodges submitted which had been visited by the grand master during his term of office.

Seven dispensations were issued for the formation of new lodges and seventeen corner-stones laid during the year. He also visited the Grand Jurisdictions of South Carolina and Virginia.

The George Washington Masonic Memorial Association is endorsed and the lodges and craftsmen of Georgia urged to be liberal in their contributions toward this enterprise.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts as practically $87,000.00.

The grand secretary makes a very brief report giving the number raised during the year at 5,461, and the total number of Master Masons 62,855.

The grand lodge voted the sum of $1,000.00 to the Scottish Rite Hospital for crippled children at Atlanta.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence recommended the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland in which recommendation the grand lodge concurred.

The State of Georgia apparently is having some trouble with its districts for the following resolution was presented and adopted.

The Committee on Jurisprudence endorsed practically all the grand master offered in his answers to questions submitted and other matters which were referred to that particular committee.

One resolution which was introduced in grand lodge is interesting and is reproduced here in full because it gives some idea of what lodges may do along the line of practical Masonry:

“Resolved, First, that the Masonic Grand Lodge of Georgia regards a citizenry educated to its privileges, duties and responsibilities as essential to the welfare of our state.

“Second, that in order to make a higher degree of education available to many who otherwise could not afford it the Grand Lodge of Georgia does establish a permanent and revolving ‘Students’ Masonic Loan Fund,’ which shall be increased by annual appropriations from this body.

“Third, that suitable parts of this fund shall be lent to worthy students upon proper application and recommendation, loans to be made primarily to Masons or those dependent upon Masons.

“Fourth, that the committee to which this resolution shall be referred shall recommend the amount of appropriation necessary for the establishment and maintenance of this fund, and the method of obtaining it.

“Fifth, that this fund shall be in charge of a permanent committee of three appointed by the grand master this year, one of which committee shall be appointed for a term of one year, one for two years and one for three years. Annually after this year the grand master shall appoint one member of this committee for a term of three years. This committee shall direct the distribution of this loan fund and shall make annual accounting of its condition to the grand lodge.”

The election of officers and their installation were closing acts of the grand lodge.

Immediately following a special committee which was appointed to determine the future relations of the Grand Lodge of Georgia and the Masonic Service Association brought in the following recommendation:

“Your committee recommends however, that the grand master be authorized in his discretion to appoint a representative or messenger from this grand lodge to attend the next annual meeting of the association to present officially and courteously the reasons of this grand lodge’s withdrawal and in the hope that there may be some developments which will bring about the restoration of the original purposes and program of the association causing the association to function properly.”

The Correspondence report is written by Raymond Daniel and it is a good one. He opens with a resume of Masonic events throughout the Masonic world which corresponds very much with the point of view of this writer.

He gives Illinois four pages of generous consideration. He quotes liberally from the address of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and commends strongly many of the things which he did. He also is very generous to the reviewer for Illinois and says some very complimentary things about his report. The following by Brother Daniel causes the writer to smile and we congratulate him for his sagacity and penetration:

‘‘We whisper it, but we just wonder, if Brother Darrah ‘poked a bit of fun’ in the following paragraph he wrote in his review of Alabama:

‘‘ ‘The first thing the grand lodge did was to reaffirm its fundamentals. One was the belief in God and the second was the exhibition and display in the Masonic Order of the Holy Bible. The reason for the grand lodge taking up this subject appears to have been that several grand lodges had been lax in this matter by endeavoring to stretch the old fundamentals to permit recognition of French Masonry.’ ’’

HOLLAND, A. F. & A. M.

Proceedings not received to date.

IDAHO, A. F. & A. M.

The fifty-fourth annual communication was held in the city of St. Maries, opening Tuesday, the 13th day of September. The roll of lodges was called, distinguished visitors received and the names of all deceased past grand masters pronounced while the brethren stood with bowed heads.

The grand lodge was then declared at ease and a committee of Eastern Star ladies admitted. This committee presented flowers to the grand lodge officers, after which greetings were exchanged.

The grand master, I. Edgar Meek, read his annual address. One opening paragraph catches the eye of the writer:

“The responsibilities which attach to this body are of important character. This is the legislative body for all Masonry within this jurisdiction, the interpreter of all law, the final arbitrator in all differences that may arise among the craft, and the guide of Masonic thought and the mold of Masonic character for both the present and future. A duty rests upon all here assembled, and the responsibility thereof must not be lightly regarded. Have we learned to subdue our passions? Are we spreading the cement of brotherly love? Is justice our standard? If of this we have not learned or are learning, then it will be in vain that we ascend the three steps which lead to the Sanctum Sanctorum.”

The grand master stated that he was very desirous of visiting all the lodges in his jurisdiction but that circumstances prevented him from doing so. He did, however, present himself in sixty out of the seventy-two lodges, a most excellent showing.

Dispensations were issued for the formation of five new lodges. Four opinions were rendered on Masonic law, all constructions being purely of local color. But sixteen dispensations were issued, showing that the grand master was not disposed to make it easy to set aside the law.

Last year a change was made in the general order of procedure, the grand secretary attending to all matters relating to the conferring of degrees by courtesy, these subjects not being referred to the grand master. The statement is made that the scheme worked out admirably.

The Masonic Service Association is commended and membership continued.

The plan of Masonic education which the Grand Lodge of Idaho has adopted is favorably commented, and the statement made that much progress has been secured in the matter of establishing libraries and the circulation of Masonic books.

The Grand Lodge of Idaho, having given its approval to the George Washington Memorial Association by a substantial contribution of $1,000.00, the grand master urged the brethren to make liberal individual contributions.

Among the recommendations made by the grand master is one providing for the selection of the city of Boise as a permanent place of meeting for the grand lodge.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts to be $23,235.00 and his expenditures $22,069.00. The grand secretary's report shows that the sum of $2,281.00 has been contributed by the lodges of the state to the George Washington Memorial Association.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence recommend the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland and the establishment of representatives.

The following resolution was adopted and ordered to be printed on the back of every petition:

“That no candidate for the degrees of Masonry shall be advanced to the second or third degree until at least four weeks have elapsed since taking the previous degree.

“Furthermore, no member shall apply for or receive any Scottish Rite or Royal Arch Chapter Degree until one year at least has elapsed since taking the Third Degree. A violation of this requirement is hereby declared to be a Masonic offense and will subject the offender to discipline.”

The grand master recommended that the Divine blessing be invoked by the grand chaplain at each morning session of the grand lodge. The Jurisprudence Committee, however, failed to concur and recommended that the suggestion of the grand master be stricken from the record.

The Committee on Returns of Lodges give the total number in the state to be seventy-two with a membership of 8,203. The net gain for the year was 1,047.

An elaborate set of resolutions was adopted by the grand lodge endorsing the free public school system. The resolution contemplated the forwarding of the resolutions to the governor of the state.

The closing acts of the grand lodge were election and installation of officers.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is written by George E. Knepper and he gives Illinois two pages of complimentary review. The principal acts of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald as well as the transactions of the grand lodge are paraphrased in a very interesting manner. The Correspondence report is complimented by one or two liberal extracts and the introduction is referred to as every line containing a message.

INDIANA, F. & A. M.1922

The communication under review is the one hundred and fifth. This interesting meeting was held in the city of Indianapolis on Tuesday, May 3. The usual preliminary musical and literary program appears to have been omitted.

The grand lodge opened in ample form after which the grand master, Omer B. Smith, presented a very interesting report covering fifty-six printed pages. In his opening remarks he refers to the great prosperity which has attended the craft in Indiana during the year. The grand master sent out a special letter to the lodges of the jurisdiction asking them to observe Masonic Home Day on June 24. The response was quite liberal.

New buildings are being added to the Masonic Home and that institution is reported to be in a splendid condition. The George Washington Memorial Association is commended for its good work and Indiana is pledged to raise its per capita for the enterprise.

Grand Master Smith recommends that the office of deputy grand master be made a more active one and that some arrangement be provided for assigning to that official certain duties which will relieve the grand master of considerable labor.

A plan was submitted pertaining to the bonding of all lodge officers.

A number of lodges received visits from the grand master. Brother Smith refers pleasantly to a visit to Auburn Park Lodge of Chicago where he was most graciously received by Elmer E. Beach, grand master of Illinois.

A number of cases are reported wherein the grand master was obliged to exercise his official prerogatives in the way of settling disputes and otherwise providing for the establishment of harmonious relations between lodges.

One dispensation for the formation of a new lodge was issued.

Fifteen corner-stones were laid during the year. A large number of them were for high school buildings.

Several decisions are reported by Brother Smith, most of them being constructions of the Indiana law.

Among the recommendations made is one that if a candidate does not present himself for the E. A. Degree within one year after his election he forfeits the right to receive said degree and the fee must be returned.

Five new temples were dedicated during the year. One lodge was called upon the carpet because it had allowed its members to engage in politics and openly advocate the election of certain candidates.

The cases of a number of lodges whose functions had been suspended by the preceding grand master were taken up and reviewed. Each case is set forth specifically and the recommendation is made either that the charter be restored or taken up as the circumstances warranted.

Several lodges that are on probation as a result of their having done unsatisfactory work were continued on probation until such time as they can meet the grand lodge requirements.

A long list of by-laws approved is submitted by the grand master, showing that if he couldn't find anything else to do, he could read the by-laws of constituent lodges, at least such as had been referred to him for his approval.

The grand treasurer reports receipts of $59,670.00 and expenditures of $54,511.00. The Masonic Home Fund shows that warrants were drawn against it for the year to the amount of $280,991.00.

From the report of the grand secretary the information is gleaned that the membership of Indiana lodges is 113,804, a net increase for the year of 5,783. The number of lodges in the jurisdiction is 558.

The Committee on Jurisprudence submitted an amendment to the by-laws providing that the entire fee for the degrees must accompany the petition and if for any reason any of the degrees are not conferred a proportion of the amount shall be returned.

A long report is submitted concerning the the Indiana Home which shows that institution to be in a most excellent condition. The number of members is given at 291 of which 135 are old people and the remainder children.

Ivory C. Tolle presents a report of more than passing interest relating to the condition of lodges which he visited. The table submitted shows some of the things which lodges have been negligent about and which have caused more or less trouble. The table is interesting and should give the next grand master something to work upon.

The Jurisprudence Committee submit a report recommending that hereafter every petitioner for the degrees must sign his full name. The grand lodge believed the amendment to be a wise one for it recommended its adoption.

A Committee on Ritual report a revision and correction of the ritual. A burial ritual was submitted to the craft with the request that it be studied and such corrections as may be suggested forwarded to the committee.

The Grand Lodge of Indiana declined to recognize the grand Lodge of Ecuador. The election and installation of officers and the presentation of the jewel closed the session.

Elmer F. Gay writes the report on Foreign Correspondence. He reviews Illinois in two pages of consideration, taking generous paragraphs from the remarks of Alexander H. Bell in his memorial to Isaac Cutter. Also what Grand Master Fitzgerrell said on Masonic lotteries and a paragraph from the correspondence report concerning too many laws.

IOWA, A. F. & A. M.

The seventy-ninth annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Iowa was held in Des Moines, June 13 to 15, preceded by the usual three day school of instruction. The meetings of the school of instruction were held in the Masonic Temple, corner of Tenth and Locust streets, and so great was the interest and so large the attendance that part of the time the school was divided into two divisions, each using a different lodge room, so that practically two schools were held at the same time. Eighty-six district lecturers were in attendance, besides a large number of brethren holding certificates of proficiency, so that there was no lack of instructors, both for assisting the custodians in holding the school, and giving examinations to those desiring certificates as district lecturers and for proficiency.

On Tuesday, promptly at nine o'clock, the officers and members of grand lodge met at the Orpheum theater for the opening exercises, and were called to order by the deputy grand master, J. Ray Nyemaster. Brother Alberson, grand master, was then presented by Past Grand Master James D. Gamble, and was received with public grand honors. After responding with a few words of appreciation of the reception tendered him, the grand master called upon Brother J. M. Graham, chairman of the local committee, to preside at the opening exercises.

One very pleasing feature of these public exercises was the singing of "America" by nine kindergarten girls dressed in white, each carrying a United States flag, and representing one of the lodges of Des Moines. After the singing, in which the audience joined, they saluted the flag, recited the pledge to the flag in unison and retired amid great applause.

A very able address of welcome was given by Governor Nate E. Kendall, which was fittingly responded to by Deputy Grand Master Nyemaster. Mrs. Edna Zerwekh, grand matron of the O. E. S. of Iowa, was also present, and in a very happy manner extended to the brethren of Iowa greetings from the members of the Eastern Star.

At the conclusion of the public exercises, after these who were not members of the order had retired, Grand Master Alberson opened the grand lodge in ample form.

The Credential Committee reported that there were 434 lodges represented, with 401 Masters and Wardens, and 217 proxies. There were also present fifteen past grand masters, nine past senior grand wardens, ten past junior grand wardens and twelve past grand treasurers.

The grand master, Amos N. Alberson, then presented his annual address. He congratulates the craft on the splendid prosperity which it is enjoying. He is particularly pleased with the progress which has been made by the schools of instruction. He seems to sense an awakening of Masonic responsibility on the part of the craft not only in relation to civic duty as citizens but as Masons and their relationship to one another. Brother Alberson refers to the 80,000 Masons in the State of Iowa and says:

“I am convinced that Masonry can and will act as a guard to check all anarchism and disregard for established law; that it can and will foster and promote such public school systems as will give every boy and girl in our land an equal opportunity to make the most of their natural endowments; that it will sponsor and support every laudable movement to aid the moral and physical welfare of our youth; that it will lend an active support to religion; continue its good works of benevolence and charity and generally exhibit its fealty to our dogma of ‘The Brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of God.’ ”

The National Masonic Service Association is referred to in a most complimentary manner and the statement made that at the present time the association comprises thirty-four of the grand jurisdictions of the United States. Iowa is contributing its quota toward the George Washington Memorial Association and the grand master gives his full endorsement to the endeavor.

Dispensations for the formation of nine new lodges were granted. On account of certain unwarranted representations made by solicitors for the Ku Klux Klan, the grand master issued a circular warning lodges and membership against affiliation with this organization.

Concerning the use of cipher rituals the following is said:

“The unholy and unlawful practice of the use of ciphers by officers of lodges is still lurking with us, but I am pleased to say to you that its shadow is growing less, and now as it is on the retreat it is hoped that the brethren will give it a vigorous kick. Elect no officers who will not learn the work, and impress upon them that you would rather they would resign than disobey Masonic law in this matter.”

The grand master states that he will be glad to endorse a proposition providing for a substantial contribution to the Masonic Service Association.

The Order of DeMolay for boys is commended, although the grand master says that the organization is in no sense a Masonic body or auxiliary.

Five corner-stones were laid and four Masonic temples dedicated.

Reference is made to the formation of county and city associations for the purpose of carrying out the social work of the fraternity. The following paragraph is interesting:

“I would further recommend that in every city or county a ‘Has-been Club’ or similar combination be formed, to embrace all past masters and the elective officers of the lodges, and if thought desirable, all the past and present elective officers of all other regularly recognized Masonic bodies in the community. These brethren will enjoy greatly the occasional meetings of such groups, and from interchange of ideas and experience can do much for the practical side of Masonry and renew their interest in all the labors of the craft. These are the brethren we must depend on to see that proper designs are on the trestle boards, and to see that they are duly executed.”

The report of the Trustees of the Grand Charity Fund showed that relief was extended in 155 cases, at an average cost of $253.83 each. Of this amount the lodges furnished $59.93 and the Grand Charity Fund $193.90. The report also showed that the needs for charity had increased during the year by $7,984.37 and of this increase the Grand Charity Fund had furnished $5,803.53. This proves conclusively the importance of making ample provision for the future needs of this fund, especially when it is remembered that the normal addition from the twenty-five per cent of the income of the grand lodge only amounted to $22,327.09 while the demands upon the fund amounted to $30,054.50. Were it not for the interest on the Permanent Fund which is being created by the $10.00 Grand Charity Fund fee charged each initiate, the income would have fallen below the requirements.

Possibly the most important business transacted was the revision of the code. Inasmuch as the present edition of the code is practically exhausted and a new edition will soon have to be printed, it was thought best to make whatever changes might be deemed advisable before printing the new edition.

Under the old law amendments to the code became effective as soon as they were adopted by grand lodge. Under the new they become effective July 1st following their adoption.

Under the old law a lodge losing its charter was required to send all of its working tools and other paraphernalia to the office of the grand secretary. Under the new law the "working tools, columns, charts and other Masonic lodge paraphernalia incident to and proper for lodge work" need not be included in the property which must be sent to the grand secretary.

The precise form prescribed under Section 76 for holding the election of officers was amended so as to leave more latitude to the lodge as to the method of conducting the election.

Section 88 was amended to permit the appointment of a chaplain if the lodge so desired.

Section 112 was amended to require the signing of the lodge by-laws instead of the grand lodge constitution.

Sections 122 and 169 were amended to require the recommenders of a petitioner to be members of the lodge petitioned.

Local lodge dues were made payable annually on the first day of January, instead of semi-annually on the first days of January and July, as heretofore.

The number of district lecturers entitled to mileage and per diem for attendance on grand lodge schools of instruction was raised from two to four.

The Committee on Chartered Lodges reported 540 working lodges, with a net increase in membership of 5065, the largest but one in the history of the grand lodge. The lodges received as fees for the degrees during the year $321,264.35, of which $61,180.00 was placed to the credit of the Permanent Grand Charity Fund. During the year 1921 the lodges received 7605 petitions for the degrees, of which number 6000 were elected and 1605 rejected. In speaking of the interesting features disclosed in the returns, the committee said:

"The examination of the returns has brought to our attention many interesting circumstances, but the most interesting and unusual of all is, perhaps, reported by Eddyville Lodge No. 74, of Eddyville. From the report of this lodge, we learn that one Malin G. Tullis, a Justice of the Peace, initiated as an Entered Apprentice on April 2, 1867, was passed to the degree of a Fellow Craft on July 30, 1921. Your Committee has no knowledge of the circumstances surrounding this unusual case and know not why the advancement of this brother was so long deferred. We commend him, however, for his zeal and patience and sincerely trust that he may lay aside the burden of his judicial affairs long enough to enable him to complete his degrees before another fifty years has passed."

Charters were granted to eight new lodges.

Many questions have arisen during the year regarding the principles to be observed in admitting visitors from other grand lodges. The committee on Grand Lodge Recognition presented the following significant report:

"To the Grand Lodge of Iowa:

"Your Committee on Recognition of Masonic Bodies recognizes the fact that Masonry is or should be universal. While we do not deem it best to endeavor to name every grand lodge that we would consider as regular and legitimate, we believe that when there is only one Masonic governing body in a country or territory that such Masonic body should be recognized and its members permitted to visit in Iowa lodges, unless for good and sufficient reason we refuse recognition, or unless the legitimacy is questioned or denied. When there is more than one Masonic body claiming jurisdiction, we would suggest that recognition be withheld until such time as the Masonic standing shall become unquestionable.

"We have for years listed in our Proceedings (see pages 23 and 24 of Statistics, Proceedings 1921) the grand lodges in the United States and other English speaking grand bodies with which we have been in fraternal correspondence, thereby recognizing them as regular grand lodges. We believe we will have very few visitors holding membership in a jurisdiction not included in this list."

The report of the Masonic Service Committee lists a total of 180 talks and lectures given in various lodges under the auspices of this committee, during the past year. These talks were given by thirty different brethren, and were held in eighty-six of the ninety-nine counties of the state. Reports from these talks indicate that they met with the hearty approval of the brethren in the lodges where they were held.

Sioux City was selected as the place for holding the next annual session.

The report on Correspondence is written by that able and distinguished craftsman, Louis Block. He is very good to Illinois for he gives four and one-half pages of discriminating review in which he doesn't hesitate to say just what he thinks. He comments approvingly on a number of things which Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald gave expression to and refers to his address as an excellent one. Brother Bloek quotes some extracts from the report of Owen Scott, District Supervisor for the George Washington Memorial Association and says:

“Be careful, Owen, be careful! This is a ‘National’ Association and first thing you know you will be tied up with a National grand lodge.

“It seems that Illinois is a member of another national institution known as ‘The Masonic Relief Association of the United States and Canada.’ As representative to this association, Brother F. W. Blike makes a report in which he says:

“‘A reference to the work done by the Masonic Board of Relief of Chicago, whose limits are Cook county, alone, shows that the board has handled over 4,000 cases in the sixteen years of its operations and expended nearly $40,000 in relief, will indicate the scope of this great Masonic beneficence.

“‘I am pleased to report that the Grand Lodge of Illinois is highly esteemed, an evidence of which is the election of Brother R. J. Daly to the office of first vice-president.’

“That makes two National Masonic associations of which the Grand Lodge of Illinois is a member. What do you know about that? And yet they stall at membership in the National Masonic Service Association. Verily, Consistency, thou art a jewel!”

Brother Bloek is very nice to the Illinois correspondent for he devotes almost a page and one-half to some very liberal quotations from what the Illinois writer had to say. In commenting upon a paragraph relating to the Masonic Service Association Brother Bloek has the following to say:

“In this connection it should be borne in mind that the association has no thought of attempting to dictate to its member grand lodges. It has no hope of doing aught else beyond standing ready to serve by means of recommendations and suggestions, leaving their development and elaboration entirely to the methods adopted and inaugurated by each grand lodge itself.

“In other words, its sole purpose is to serve and not to rule.”

IRELAND, A. F. & A. M.

The brochure under review covers the transactions of what is called the annual report of the stated communication held on St. John's Day, December 27, 1921.

Claude Cane, deputy grand master, who acts for the M. W. grand master, the Earl of Donoughmore, submits a report of his transactions. Concerning Freemasonry in Ireland he says:

“Freemasonry, as carried on by the Grand Lodge of Ireland, is the most purely democratic institution in the world and if every so-called democracy were carried on in the same way it would be a great benefit to the world at large. It is really to use the cant phrase of the day, the most perfect example of government by consent of the governed. The grand master and his deputy are not in any sense of the word autocrats. They do not say what is to be done, or what is not to be done. They are the servants of the grand lodge, to carry out grand lodge's behests, and I can assure you that both the grand master, Lord Donoughmore, and myself, feel that position to the fullest.”

He pays a tribute to the dead and states that:

“Probably the most notable event of the Masonic year in Ireland was the first visit of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, in stated communication, to one of the provinces, or, rather, to more than one of the provinces, Masonically speaking, when grand lodge held its October communication in the city of Belfast. The arrangements for that meeting were carried out by the two great provinces of Antrim and Down.”

Brother Cane pronounces the progress of Freemasonry in Ireland to be most extraordinary. Twenty-eight lodges have been added to the roll during the year. Two of these were chartered in South Africa.

A lodge in Norway was denied recognition for the reason that it did not place the great light of Masonry on the altar.

In his conclusion he refers to the unsettled condition in Ireland and says:

“I suppose that I am almost bound to say a few words with regard to the future. The future for us, at any rate, here in the south of Ireland is one which we cannot look upon very lightly, or without a certain amount of seriousness (hear, hear). Changes are impending. We do not yet know exactly what these changes will be, but they have been foreshadowed, and, at any rate, the social state of affairs is not going to be exactly the same as it has been in the past. Probably not one of us in this room but looks forward with a certain amount of apprehension to what may happen, and probably those changes are not such as recommend themselves fully to any one of us. But I think there is no need for pessimism. I myself, frankly, am an optimist (hear, hear), and there is just one thing that I want to say to you before I sit down, and that is, that, whether we like it or not, whatever form of government is established in the country, constitutionally, and by the consent of all the parties concerned, and under the sanction of the sovereign to whom we owe allegiance, we as good Masons are bound to make the best of it (applause).''

The grand secretary presents a long report of the various business which passed through his office. This official takes care of all the details of the grand lodge, thereby relieving the grand master and deputy grand master of much tedious labor.

Under the list of new lodges which were given warrants will be found one called Magheramorne and another called Ballymacarrett. It will now be in order to have Bob Daly, chairman of the Illinois Masonic Orphans Home Board of Illinois, to pronounce these names.

It is apparent that in Ireland all charity is operated on the voluntary plan. The subscriptions for the year are given at £5,490.

The proceedings under review cover but thirty-six pages.

There is no report on correspondence and it is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Ireland is satisfied to let things rest as they are.

KANSAS, A. F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of Kansas convened in Representative Hall, State Capitol, in the city of Topeka on the 15th day of February, 1922, and opened its sixty-sixth annual communication. The ceremonies were very brief. The Committee on Credentials reported a constitutional quorum present and credit Richard E. Bird representing the Grand Lodge of Illinois near the Grand Lodge of Kansas as being present. The list of past masters in attendance is a long one. The first business of importance was the annual address of Grand Master Ben S. Paulen. In his opening remarks he observes:

“That you are endeavoring to live and exemplify the beautiful teachings of our order in your business dealings, in your social gatherings, and in every walk and station, and I am happy to know that in this gathering are men who gladly and willingly put aside, for a few days, the cares of their usual vocations and made this pilgrimage to assist Masonry and to demonstrate to the world that this body of men are doing a noble and Christ-like work. That we are banded together for good. That it is our purpose and our desire to help, aid and assist all worthy brothers. That Masonry is serious and is entitled to hold in its membership, the best men of the community. We are certain that ours is an institution worthy of the support of all who strive to do good and fear God.”

Five lodges were constituted during the year and dispensation issued for the formation of eight new lodges. Concerning the issuance of dispensations the grand master says that while he issued a large number of dispensations to cover emergencies usually provided for in the law, yet he refused to issue any special dispensations because he felt that the privilege was being abused.

He refers to the Masonic Home of Kansas as the pride of every Mason of that jurisdiction.

The corner-stones of eleven edifices were laid during the year.

The foreign relations of the Grand Lodge of Kansas with all the Masonic world is reported most peaceful and harmonious.

Concerning the conferring of degrees by courtesy, Grand Master Paulen says:

“Occasionally it is proper and right to ask some lodge in another grand jurisdiction to finish the work by conferring the Master Mason’s Degree, but I can hardly conceive of a case when all the degrees should be conferred as an act of courtesy.”

He gets after several lodges of the state which have been electing Masons to affiliation when the petitioners had never procured a dimit from the lodge to which they formerly belonged. He calls attention to this matter and advises the lodges that hereafter they must be more careful.

During the year the grand master issued an edict or rather communication wherein he set forth very clearly and precisely some of the regulations of the grand lodge which were being violated and calls attention of the various lodges of the jurisdiction to the necessity of strictly obeying the mandates of the lodge or trouble would follow.

Three lodges lost their halls or meeting places by fire.

The grand treasurer reports total receipts of $111,098.00. His disbursements were $123,959.00. The grand secretary, Albert K. Wilson makes a very thorough and complete report and covers the details of his office during the year just closed. He gives the total number raised during the year at 7,043. The grand lodge made a net gain of 6,158 and on December 31, 1921, had a total membership of 69,150.

On the afternoon of the first day a most excellent oration was delivered by Robert P. McCulloch. The document is largely historical and present local conditions are thoroughly analyzed and the following terse statement made, "We should Americanize America."

On the evening of the first day's session the work was exemplified in grand lodge by the officers and members of one of the Topeka lodges. It appears that this is a regular custom of the Grand Lodge of Kansas and it would seem to the writer that it is a good idea. In this manner the standard work as taught and practiced can be exemplified for the edification of the many representatives who come from rural districts.

The Committee on Jurisprudence acted favorably upon the following recommendation of the grand master:

"I recommend that this subject be referred to the Committee on Jurisprudence, and if such committee finds that any change is desirable, that they report to this grand lodge such amendments to our laws as may be necessary, to the end that a Masonic lodge may be courteous, in fact, and may confer degrees for another lodge simply upon the request of such other lodge properly and regularly communicated."

The Committee on Appeals apparently had a busy time for a number of cases are reported which evidently took much time to consider.

The election and installation of officers and the presentation of the customary jewel took place shortly before the closing hours.

Following these ceremonies the Committee on Correspondence made a report extending recognition to the Grand Lodge of Queensland; also to the Grand Lodge of Ecuador.

The last item in the record was the reading of the journal by the official stenographer. The same was corrected and approved.

The Report on Correspondence is prepared by Albert K. Wilson. He treats each jurisdiction briefly and generously and gives to Illinois, three pages of review.

Concerning our proceedings he says:

"The machinery of the Grand Lodge of Illinois must be well lubricated and without doubt peace and harmony prevails within their ranks as the journal of their proceedings is extremely brief when one takes into consideration the fact that they have more than two hundred thirty thousand members. Outside of the comments of the chairman of the Committee on Correspondence there is little of the so-called 'Masonry is a progressive science' proposition in their proceedings, which would indicate that the Grand Lodge of Illinois is at least favorably inclined to an adherence to the ancient landmarks, regulations and charges of the fraternity.'

He quotes in full, Alexander H. Bell's tribute to Isaac Cutter.

The attitude of Daniel G. Fitzgerald in reference to foreign language lodges is mentioned and Brother Wilson thoroughly commends the stand which he took.

The oration delivered by Leroy A. Goddard is referred to as most excellent and a paragraph is quoted.

The Kansas correspondent devotes one page to cracking the Illinois reviewer over the head for a number of things which were suggested in the Point of View which appeared in his report. Of course, Brother Wilson of Kansas evidently belongs to the old school and as long as he is happy in the views which he holds, this writer sees no reason why he should change his.

KENTUCKY, F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of Kentucky assembled in one hundred and twenty-first annual communication in the city of Louisville, October 18. The session covered three days. The first business of importance following the opening ceremonies was the annual address of the grand master, Fred Acker. His salutatory is brief after which he reports that the pressure of business in the grand secretary's office caused him to direct that official to procure an assistant.

Five corner-stones were laid during the year, three of them being for church edifices. Dispensations were issued for the formation of ten new lodges. A long list of visitations is submitted by the grand master showing that he mingled freely with his brethren. A long list of dispensations refused is submitted showing that Brother Acker was disposed to adhere closely to the established laws and regulations of the grand lodge. He refused to permit lodges to send out begging circulars and in this action he was quite right.

It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Kentucky does not look with favor upon the idea of promiscuous circular letters being sent to the lodges of the jurisdiction for it requires all requests to circularize to have the approval of the grand master.

Among the recommendations made is one that the salary of the grand secretary be increased from $2,500.00 to $3,000.00 and that the minimum fee for degrees be fixed at $30.00.

Concerning the use of cipher rituals Brother Acker takes up the cudgel in the following:

“I recommend that this grand body take special and drastic measures to prohibit the use in Kentucky lodges of cipher work and unauthorized rituals referring to the conference of the degrees and lectures incident thereto. Many of our brethren who have a knowledge of Masonic work and a flow of beautiful language compile and publish rituals beautifully worded, and a number of the brethren throughout this grand jurisdiction become possessors of them, and either read or quote many of the paragraphs at intervals during the work, and while they are beautiful to the ear of some of the members, they make little, if any impression upon the candidate, and besides consume a lot of unnecessary time.”

The Ku Klux Klan and its activities is condemned in the following paragraph:

“Any man or body of men, who presume to take the law in their own hands is considered by law a mob, and therefore subject themselves for prosecution by the laws of the land, and any Mason who is connected in any manner whatever in such unlawful practice is violating the principles of the great order of Masonry, and should if known be dealt with by having the severest penalty known to Masonry inflicted upon him or them.”

The Masonic Home is commended for its excellent management and the good work it is doing.

The Million Dollar Committee which is raising money presumably for the proper endowment of the charitable enterprises of the grand lodge is commended for the excellent work it is doing. The goal has been practically reached.

The grand treasurer received from the grand secretary, the sum of $176,804.00. He paid out on warrants, $155,776.00. Among the items expended is the sum of $18,520.00 publication costs of the Masonic Home Journal.

The report of the grand secretary reaffirms some of the business of the grand master's office. The number of lodges in the jurisdiction is 606, with a total membership of 66,212, a net gain for the year of 6,991.

It appears from the proceedings that the Kentucky Racing Association fixed its annual meeting at the same time as that of the grand lodge. A special committee was appointed to confer with the racing association with a view to get it to change its time of meeting, for the reason that the two events filled the hotels of Louisville to overflowing, causing much inconvenience to grand lodge representatives.

On the afternoon of the first day the children from the Masonic Home were introduced and gave a most delightful musicale and literary entertainment.

The Educational Fund of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky is one of its substantial projects. Proceeds from this fund are used for the education of children who are dependent.

The Masonic employment bureau of Louisville is doing excellent work according to a report submitted by a committee in charge of that enterprise.

All new lodges were granted charters with the exception of two whose dispensations were continued.

The Committee on Jurisprudence submit a long report which the grand lodge adopted in its entirety. This committee fixed the pay of officers, representatives and committeemen at $4.00 per day.

The Flag ceremony was laid on the shelf by this committee and a regulation adopted providing that the American flag shall be exhibited in every lodge room on a staff or hung in a suitable place in the lodge room.

A lodge may use a flag ceremony but the character of it is optional with the lodge.

The grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star asked permission to erect a building at the Masonic Home. Inasmuch as the grand lodge had already had plans drawn for the erection of several buildings in connection with the home, the Eastern Star were asked to contribute funds for the construction of one of these buildings with the understanding that the building was to be dedicated to the Order of the Eastern Star with a suitable tablet thereon.

The election and installation of officers were concluding features of the session.

The proceedings under review contain four hundred pages devoted to a publication of the officers and members of Kentucky lodges. The tableau makes the proceedings very bulky.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is written by Wm. W. Clark. Illinois is not included in the list of jurisdictions considered, a matter of regret to this writer.

LOUISIANA, F. & A. M.

1922

New Orleans had the honor of entertaining the grand lodge assembled in the one hundred eleventh annual grand communication.

The grand officers appear to have been present and the representatives of two hundred six lodges.

The first business of importance was the annual address of the grand master, Hollis H. Bain. He opens a most excellent document with the following paragraph:

“Our forefathers laid a strong foundation, a magnificent corner-stone of Masonry in this state. By that very act they have made it incumbent upon us to build a superstructure worthy of that foundation. We can keep the good of the past, only by vitalizing it with the best of today. Each and every achievement of the past and the present is and should be but a potent inspiration for fresh endeavor. Fortunately, as individuals, as organizations, our real growth is not according to an arithmetical, but according to a geometrical ratio; that is, today's increment of new life is not superimposed upon the past but is multiplied into it, revitalizing, strengthening, enlarging the whole! Thus each achievement of the present enlarges the foundation and at the same time gives us a newer and higher viewpoint, a broader and wider prospective from which to take our bearings, to plan, to work.”

The Masonic Service Association is strongly commended by the grand master who at great length discusses the scope and purposes of the same and urges the Grand Lodge of Louisiana to give its most loyal support to the work that is being accomplished.

In Louisiana, Masonic relief appears to be administered by what is called the Grand Masters' Relief Fund. The grand master reports that he was extremely diligent in looking up every applicant to make sure that he was entitled to the relief which he asked for.

The list of dispensations issued by Grand Master Bain is quite long. Practically all of them related to the conferring of degrees and waiving of time limits. One dispensation was to permit a lodge building to be used as a school house until the school building, which was under construction, was ready for use. This is rather an unusual subject to appear particularly in the State of Louisiana. Brother Bain refused to issue a dispensation to a lodge permitting it to appeal to other lodges in the state for assistance in rebuilding its temple which had been destroyed by fire. The grand master ruled that this did not prohibit the lodge from soliciting funds from individual members of other lodges. Another dispensation refused was the request of a lodge to lay the corner-stone of a school building which was practically finished. It would appear to the writer to be a very unusual proceeding to place the corner-stone of a building which was practically finished.

A large number of rulings are presented by the grand master but most all of them are merely constructions of local law. One ruling catches the attention of the writer. It reads as follows:

“Ruled that a Master Mason’s daughter is bound to the craft by blood, no matter whom she may marry.”

Another peculiar question was submitted to the grand master in the following:

“On April 12, I received query from Brother Arch Mayson, Saline, La., as to whether he would be allowed to prefix ‘Royal’ to his name in a sign to be used over his cafe, making is read ‘Royal Arch Cafe,’ with the names Mayson & Frickie underneath.

“I replied that it is contrary to the fundamentals of Masonry to divert in any manner its real purpose or to make any attempt to commercialize it; therefore, in my opinion, it would be bad practice to use it in the connection suggested.”

Among the visitations and official acts reported by the grand master is the following which makes very interesting reading.

“We assembled in the Parish Court House. The meeting was presided over by Brother T. H. McEachern, who, when it came to raising money, showed some symptoms of Methodism. About two hours were consumed by various speakers, who, each in turn, made the giving of money for such a purpose seem not only a duty but a pleasure, after which the brethren, who had filled the auditorium to overflowing, began to contribute. Brother C. O. Ferguson, treasurer of Homer Lodge, started things moving by subscribing $1,000.00; this was followed by Brother J.

R. Madden, Brother J. S. Richardson and others subscribing large amounts. The spirit of giving became contagious, spreading through the entire audience, and in a short while $15,000.00 had been subscribed.”

The question of taxing lodge property in the State of Louisiana appears to have been brought before the constitutional convention of that state. The grand master sent a telegram to the lodges urging them to wire representatives in the constitutional convention protesting against the proposed bill. It is apparent in the State of Louisiana that lodge property has been exempt from taxation. In a number of states, a levy is made on all lodge property the same as other real estate. No doubt the question of taxation of lodge property will be taken up and definitely settled either by State Legislature or by Congress. Freemasonry claims to be an eleemosynary institution organized to care for its indigent members, their widows and orphans. Freemasonry is in no sense, a profit making institution and for that reason it should be exempt from taxation. It should not be forgotten in this connection that Freemasonry renders to the state a very valuable service in that it maintains magnificent homes for the aged, infirm, widows and orphans thereby taking off the state a certain burden which would be thrust upon it were it not for the fact that Freemasonry makes it possible to care for its own.

Grand Master Bain made a number of visitations which must have required an immense amount of travel and painstaking sacrifice.

In the courtesy work done for Louisiana, Illinois is credited with work having been done for one lodge while seven Illinois lodges conferred degrees for Louisiana lodges.

The proposition to build a $3,000,000.00 Masonic temple in the city of New Orleans does not appear to meet with the approval of the grand master. He wants to know where the money is going to come from and warns the grand lodge against involving itself in any serious financial responsibility.

The grand master presents a very interesting report concerning the Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico and the York Grand Lodge of Mexico. The report which he makes is quite long and indicates a rather unsettled condition of Freemasonry in Mexico and the impossibility of reconciling the various factions and getting them together.

The question of establishing a Masonic Home in the State of Louisiana appears to be agitating the grand lodge. The grand master, M. W. Brother Bain appears to have investigated the subject thoroughly and the establishment of a Masonic Home seems thoroughly feasible but on the other hand several of the past grand masters do not look upon the subject with favor and seem to think that Masonic Homes are cold and dreary substitutes for the real home. Apparently the State of Louisiana will have to go through the same violent discussion that the Grand Lodge of Illinois did when it commenced to take hold of this very important subject. The following paragraph in connection with this subject will be read with interest:

“Past Grand Master Thibaut in arguing against the establishment of such a home in his official report of 1912, said: ‘The great State of Illinois has lately inaugurated a system which bids fair to solve the problem. It is the pension system, which enables children to be raised at home rather than sending the amount maintaining them in an orphan asylum or state home.’ However, time proved that this supposed solution was not an effective one, for after a few years experience with it, the State of Illinois found it expedient and necessary to build large Masonic Homes in order to take care of its orphans; and these homes have proven a success.

“A few months ago, while in Chicago, I dined with the superintendent of the Masonic Home, of that city, and if each one of you could have heard, as I did, the testimony of that brother Mason, if you could have seen for yourself how his very life is wrapped up in the rearing of those children, you would not have doubted the wonderful agency for present good and the potential power for future influence that such a home is.”

The grand master concludes his very interesting report by thanking the brethren for the confidence reposed in him and assuring them that he did the very best he could.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts as $94,340.00 while he paid out on warrants $101,218.00.

The grand secretary makes a very thorough and complete report. He gives the total number raised during the year as 3,301 and the present membership of Louisiana lodges as 29,594.

The Louisiana Relief Association reported the expenditure of $16,868.85 which amount was used in dispensing Masonic charity to such applicants as applied. This relief association contributed $6,111.00 to the Grand Masters' Fund. Louisiana has a tax on all degrees conferred which yielded the grand lodge the sum of $24,000.00.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence made a report recommending that recognition be not extended to the Grand Lodge of Ecuador. The committee recommended the fraternal recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland and also recommended:

“That our present policy of non-interference in Masonic affairs in the Federal District of Mexico be maintained until these bodies either agree upon some basis of union or effect some working agreement.”

On the morning of the second day a very excellent oration was delivered by Grand Chaplain Jasper K. Smith.

Fourteen lodges which had been working under dispensation were granted charters and the following resolution unanimously adopted:

“Whereas, The visiting members to the grand lodge are frequently charged exorbitant rates by hotels and restaurants and in order to correct same as far as possible

“Be It Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the grand master to make arrangements to secure rates for the accommodation of the delegates to future sessions of this grand lodge.”

It is quite apparent that the hotels of New Orleans believe in getting theirs while getting is good. Just how the grand lodge is going to control restaurant charges, the writer is unable to state.

The grand representatives of other grand lodges who were present were given a reception and accorded the grand honors of the fraternity. Brother U. W. McMillan, Illinois ambassador was present.

The Committee on Jurisprudence called the attention of lodges to the law requiring that when business is transacted at a special meeting of the lodge, due and timely notice must be given to all members of the lodge stating the time and place of meeting and the business to be transacted and no other business may be transacted than that set forth in the notice sent out.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The Report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by John A. Davilla. His reviews are very brief. Merely the salient matters considered by each grand lodge are taken up and discussed. Illinois is given one-half page of very fraternal consideration. There is neither comment nor criticism. The Correspondence Report of this writer is referred to as “a complete compendium of Masonic information.”

MAINE, A. F. & A. M.1922

The communication under review is the one hundred third, which opened in the city of Portland on the 2d day of May.

One hundred ninety of the two hundred six lodges were represented by two hundred sixty delegates. The opening ceremonies were briefly dispensed after which the grand master, Edward W. Wheeler, presented his annual address. One paragraph in the opening is interesting. It reads as follows:

“The Masonic fraternity seeks no control over the processes of government and the enforcement of the law, and, as an organization, it takes no part in the solution of industrial and social problems except through the influence of its teachings upon the character and conduct of its members. The primary purposes of Masonry are to enlighten the mind, arouse the conscience and stimulate the noble and generous impulses of the human heart. It seeks to promote the best type of manhood and citizenship based upon the practice of brotherly love and the Golden Rule. When these results have been accomplished, the mission of Masonry has been achieved.”

Concerning the proper investigation of candidates, he offers the following:

“In order to insure greater care and a more diligent inquiry on the part of investigating committees, I believe that some form of a questionnaire should be prepared under the direction of the grand lodge and furnished to the lodges in this jurisdiction, to be used in connection with the regular application blanks whenever it may be deemed advisable. The answer of the applicant should be required to the question whether he has ever before applied to any other lodge for the degrees, even though it is covered in the application. Answers should also be required to such other questions as will enable the committee to make an intelligent and thorough inquiry regarding his past history and moral qualifications.”

Proper tributes are paid to the dead both at home and abroad. By-laws of constituent lodges approved and a list of dispensations issued is presented.

Under the head of rulings and decisions the following are selected as being interesting:

“Question. Is it proper for a lodge to hold a public joint installation with a chapter of the Eastern Star?”

“Answer. No. It is not proper for a Masonic lodge to have a joint installation with any non-Masonic society.”

“Question. May a lodge accept a gift of a Holy Bible to be owned and used in common with a chapter of the Eastern Star?”

“Answer. It is not absolutely necessary for a lodge to own the Bible kept and used in its lodge room. But, while the use and ownership of a Bible in common with a non-Masonic society is not forbidden, it is not to be encouraged, as each lodge should be the sole owner of its essential furniture.”

Grand Master Wheeler reports that he visited many of the lodges of his jurisdiction, laid three corner-stones, dedicated three Masonic temples and assembled the grand lodge to conduct the funeral services of Past Grand Master, Albro E. Chase.

The George Washington Memorial Association is briefly mentioned and announcement made that a committee of three had been appointed to take hold of the matter of raising funds for this noble purpose.

The report of the grand secretary is submitted in detail showing the very careful and painstaking manner in which he discharged the duties of his office.

The total receipts of the grand lodge were approximately $30,000.00 and the disbursements $22,454.00.

The statistical report of the grand secretary submitted by the Committee on Returns shows a net gain in membership of 2,179. The number of Master Masons in the jurisdiction is 40,677.

One thing the grand lodge did was to prepare a revision of the text book and digest of the Maine Masonic laws.

The election of officers occurred on the afternoon of the first day and resulted in the advancement of the regular officers.

On the afternoon of the second day, two representatives were seated in grand lodge who had missed their train connections on the previous day. Six others were excused at the end of the first day's session for good reasons. It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Maine proposes that representatives shall attend its session or know the reason why.

The Committee on Jurisprudence brought in a report approving the grand master in all of his acts. The final business of the session was the installation of officers and the adoption of a resolution providing for a form of questionnaire to be supplied by the grand secretary to all lodges of the jurisdiction for use in connection with applications for degrees.

Ashley A. Smith writes the report on Foreign Correspondence and it is an excellent one. He briefly reviews with running comments the principal acts of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and approves everything he said and did.

He devotes almost one page to the correspondence report of ye Illinois writer. He seems to like many things that were said and is complimentary for which this writer is duly thankful.

The annual communication, which was the forty-sixth, was held in the city of Winnipeg on Wednesday, June 8. The grand lodge was opened in ample form. Distinguished visitors were welcomed, after which the grand master read his annual address.

The condition of the craft in the jurisdiction is reported to be most excellent. The membership has grown by leaps and bounds.

Five dispensations for the formation of new lodges have been granted. The grand master truly says that progress in Masonry can be measured only in terms of service. He cautions the craft concerning the exercise of care in the reception of petitions, and makes this query:

“Brethren, what is the effect of this great growth on the character of Masonry in our several lodges? Is it viewed only in the light of material progress—producing many meetings at which degrees are conferred in large numbers—the officers being tremendously busy, while the regular members on the side benches wonder where it is all leading? Or is this growth looked upon seriously from the standpoint of the possibilities thus presented for our beloved institution to assume that leadership in the community life which we could wish for it?”

The grand master reports no official rulings. Twenty-seven dispensations were issued permitting lodges to attend Divine service. In this connection the grand master says:

“I am thoroughly convinced that not one of these lodges was inspired by a desire for a Masonic parade in the vulgar sense of the word, but rather by a desire that the brethren might as a body do reverence to the Great Architect of the Universe, and publicly express their appreciation of the relation of the order to religion, of which it is but a hand-maiden. Personally I should like to see more dispensations granted annually for this purpose.”

But one corner-stone was laid during the year. Visitations were made to ten district meetings and to a number of lodges where the grand master was most splendidly entertained.

Following the grand master's address the representatives of other grand lodges were presented and formally welcomed.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts for the year to be $28,148.00. His expenditures were $23,797.00.

The grand secretary's report gives the present membership to be 9,332, an increase for the year of 963.

A long report is submitted directly to the grand lodge from the Committee on Correspondence. The report is topical in consideration and the principal things said and done by various grand lodges are set forth.

The grand chaplain delivered a very interesting address to the grand lodge proclaiming the principles of the fraternity. The matter of Masonic research and education receives careful consideration in the jurisdiction and a marked increase in the demand for books from the Masonic library is noted.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence.

MARYLAND, A. F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland divides its annual transactions into two semi-annual communications. A semi-annual was held in the City of Baltimore on May 10, 1921, at which were present all the grand officers as well as representatives, past grand masters of the jurisdiction.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland at the time of this meeting had but one past grand master, namely Charles C. Homer. This illustrious brother died last fall so that the Grand Lodge of Maryland is today without a past grand master. This condition arose from the fact that for nearly thirty years, Thomas J. Schryock served as grand master of that jurisdiction and it was only upon his death and the election of a new grand master that they adopted a limited term plan for the executive head.

Grand Master George W. Livingston presents a report to his grand lodge covering but four pages of printed matter. In this address he congratulates the craft upon the splendid and harmonious condition which prevails. He states that the additional fee of $10.00 added to the initiation charge netted the grand lodge the sum of $10,710.00.

One Masonic temple was dedicated during the year.

One thing that was accomplished which seemed to bring most excellent results was the monthly meetings of the grand inspector. The writer can readily see how if it were possible, that the assembling of the district deputies in this state in a monthly meeting would do much toward promoting Masonic unity.

The grand master states that he came across one lodge in which nearly every member owed dues. He reports the contribution of $37,000.00 to the George Washington Memorial Association. The Masonic Service Association is of course, heartily approved.

It appears from the grand master's report that the Grand Lodge of Maryland requires every lodge to report to all other lodges in the jurisdiction, the name and address of every applicant for the degrees. The grand master refers to the custom as an antiquated method and a great consumer of time. He states that there is no necessity for consuming the valued time of a lodge when the list properly printed may be placed in a binder and referred to when occasion requires.

The grand master thinks that a uniform system of bookkeeping should be adopted and used by subordinate lodges. He seems to think that lodges are behind in their methods and everything should be brought up to date. He believes that owing to the congestion of work in many of the lodges of the jurisdiction, the first degree should be conferred singly upon each candidate and the second and third degrees conferred collectively on not more than five candidates at one time. He closes his report by referring to the Masons of Maryland as the best and grandest body of men on the face of the whole earth.

The grand treasurer reports total receipts from November 1, 1920 to May 1, 1921 as $108,416.00 and disbursements covering that period $105,390.00.

At this session, the inspectors as well as grand lecturer make extensive reports concerning their activities during the year.

The grand lodge has had a committee on codifying the laws and regulations. The committee was continued to report at the annual communication in November, 1921.

An amendment was offered fixing the fees for the degrees in the city of Baltimore at $100.00 and outside the city of Baltimore at $50.00 minimum.

The board of managers make quite a long report in which they reveal the fact that a splendid tract of ground has been purchased at a cost of $264,000.00 upon which to erect a Masonic temple which will serve as a proper meeting place for the grand lodge.

A very excellent address was delivered by James W. Chapman.

A resolution was adopted looking toward the establishment of a Mason Home in the state. It would appear that all grand lodges which so long held to the old idea of individual Masonic charity are now commencing to recognize the great value and benefits to be accomplished by the institutional method of dispensing aid to those of the craft and their families who may be entitled to assistance.

What is called the annual communication opened in the city of Baltimore on Tuesday, November 25, 1921. Throughout the entire meeting of the grand lodge there was organ and vocal music.

The grand lodge was opened by the deputy grand master who sent the proper officers out to escort the grand master to the grand east where he was given the grand honors and the gavel placed in his hands.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts for the last half of the year as $75,291.00 and the expenditures as $76,538.00.

The following by Grand Master Livingston should be read by every member of the craft as he offers some excellent advice:

“Brethren, there are some things in that report that are worthy of your attention. We find that during the past term there have been a great many impostors, especially through the rural districts. In Baltimore City most of the lodges attend to their own charity cases or, in the case of a stranger, turn him over to the board of relief. In the counties you think it easier to give the man a few cents and send him on his way to fleece somebody else rather than to turn him over to the officers of the lodge. Before disbursing promiscuous charity to strangers take a little time, care and patience to check up the legality of his credentials, provided he has any. We find that there are some impostors making a regular circuit, and before any of you contribute unless you have the money to spare and don't need it—that is a different story—before you contribute to any stranger in your locality, please tell him that you will telegraph his lodge and if he is a member in good standing you will help him. If you will do that you will help the board of relief to check up and discourage a great many men who are now living on the fraternity as parasites. I do not know of a single worthy case that has been turned down, but I do know of several cases where parties have been victimized."

The address of Grand Master Livingston at the grand lodge is very brief and deals mainly with routine business which passed through his hands. He reports that one lodge which divided itself into two factions received a visit from a special committee with the result that "the leaders of the two factions talked over the matter in open lodge, and they promised that their bickerings would cease and in future to live in peace and harmony."

The grand lodge adopted a resolution extending fraternal recognition to the Grand Lodge of Queensland. The sum of $500.00 was contributed to the United Patriotic Home for Orphans.

The amendment relating to an increase in fees carried. Also an amendment requiring all petitions for affiliation and initiation to lie over for eight weeks before ballot shall be taken. All lodge notices are required to be printed on sheets 5½" x 9½", the printing to be across the narrow width.

The grand lodge held evening sessions at which considerable business was transacted, most of which was of a purely local character. The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The Report on Fraternal Correspondence is prepared by Henry Branch, past senior grand warden. He treats the proceedings of the various grand lodges very briefly mentioning only the salient points.

He gives Illinois one and one-quarter pages of consideration and commends all that Grand Master Fitzgerald did and offers no criticism upon any of his acts.

He refers to the oration of William H. Beckman as a very serious and thoughtful production and quotes a liberal extract therefrom.

Concerning the Illinois Masonic Hospital Association the following is said:

"The Illinois Masonic Hospital Association is commended for its splendid work, but no financial obligation is incurred either by the grand lodge or any of its constituent lodges, and the adoption of the resolution shall in no wise be considered as an invitation by or as authority from this grand lodge to call upon it or any of its constituent lodges for financial assistance in the prosecution of its work or in the erection and maintenance of its proposed hospital.

“ ‘Splendid work, hearty approval of their plan to erect a hospital,’ but don’t call on us for any help. With what face can they appeal to outsiders to support a Masonic Hospital when they are not invited to call upon the grand lodge or any of its constituent members for financial assistance in the prosecution of its work or in the erection and maintenance of its proposed hospital? This does not cut them off from soliciting patients for treatment, however. The door swings wide open, I hope, for all such as need treatment.”

He refers to the Point of View in the Correspondence Report of this writer as “the cream of the whole report.”

MASSACHUSETTS, A. F. & A. M.

The following letter has been received from the grand secretary:

“Boston, July 17, 1922.

“Mr. Delmar D. Darrah, Bloomington, Illinois.

“Dear Brother Darrah: I think you have the latest copy of our Proceedings, namely, for the year 1920. The 1921 proceedings were very seriously delayed by the burning of the plant in which they were being printed when they were about one-third done. They are now, however, in the hands of the binders, and we expect to receive and distribute them in a few days.

“Fraternally yours,

“Frederick W. Hamilton, G.S.”

MICHIGAN, F. & A. M.

1922

A very handsome book of proceedings covers the transactions of the seventy-eighth annual communication held in the city of Grand Rapids, May 23 and 24. The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which there were addresses of welcome and responses thereto. After the preliminaries the grand lodge adjourned until 1:45 o'clock P. M.

Upon reassembling the roll of deceased past grand masters was called. There were no additions made to the list during the year closing.

The grand master, Robert P. Anderson, submits a report of more than passing interest. His introduction is quite literary. The dead not only of Michigan but of other grand jurisdictions are mentioned.

Fifteen new lodges were constituted during the year. Fourteen lodge halls were dedicated showing that the Grand Lodge of Michigan must have been attended with evidences of material prosperity. Nine corner-stones were laid and ten dispensations for the formation of new lodges granted.

The usual extensive list of dispensations for various purposes is made a part of the grand master's report.

The list of official visitations is a long one. Grand Master Anderson was generous in giving his time and talent to his brethren.

The grand master attended the Masonic Relief Association of the United States and Canada. He incorporated this paper into his report. The writer would like to excerpt several paragraphs but must be satisfied with the following:

“Brethren, your attention! Have you ever known of a Jew in destitute circumstances being cared for by any county, state or national charitable institution in this or any other country outside of their own? Therefore the Jews with no other obligation than racial pride are an object lesson to us as Masons.

“The worshipful master or the sick committee should not be restricted to go beyond the limit of about ten dollars, as they are in many of the lodges. They should be given a greater authority financially to furnish relief. Their sympathy should be in a material and not oral form. They should have the power to give an amount necessary to meet the requirements of the brother afflicted. Give the worshipful master or the sick committee the authority to give five times the amount they are allowed to do at present and it will do more to restore the afflicted brother than all the medicine a doctor could prescribe.”

Mention is made of a special meeting held in York Lodge No. 410 at which time the grand secretary, Lou B. Winsor, conferred the Master Mason degree on his son.

The Masonic Service Association is reviewed and its objects and purpose set forth in a very clear manner. No decisions are reported by Grand Master Anderson as he said that everything submitted to him was easily answered by reference to the existing law.

He seems to think that grand lodge proceedings should be more widely read and states that the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Michigan contain many rare gems of Masonic thought.

The good work of the Masonic Home is mentioned and the recommendation made that a tank sprinkler system be used to replace the present fire escape ladders.

The Near East Relief is commended to the grand lodge. Two years ago the Grand Lodge of Michigan gave $5,000.00 to this cause. Grand Master Anderson thinks that the time has come to contribute another $5,000.00.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts to be $51,091.00. His disbursements were $46,775.00. Lou B. Winsor, grand secretary, presents one of his characteristic reports. The report gives the number of Master Masons in the State of Michigan to be 128,599, a gain for the year of 8,586.

A long list of amendments to the by-laws is reported by the grand secretary. Under the Michigan law it is necessary that all amendments be filed with the grand secretary at least sixty days before the meeting of the grand lodge.

The grand lecturer makes a very interesting report. He held 146 lodges of instruction which were attended by 27,747 members of the craft, a most excellent showing. One observation of the grand lecturer is reproduced herewith:

“The many young men who are entering our lodges are looking to us for instruction, by precept and example. We should study well the symbols and learn what they teach, every one teaching great lessons to all of us. This could be accomplished in the institution by the grand lodge of a vigorous and persistent campaign of education among the lodges and the members of the craft, in which it is sought to awaken them to a keen realization of the fact that the real Freemasonry consists in the teachings which lie hidden behind the letters of the ritual and monitor, and not in the mere ritual itself. After all the ritual is only the means to an end and serves for the teaching of great truths and the presentation of high ideals.”

The usual long report from the Masonic Home is presented and it is needless to say that the Grand Lodge of Michigan is handling its affairs in a most excellent manner.

A table is offered showing contributions to the George Washington Memorial Association. The total amount is $20,085.00. There also appears in the minutes a complete resume of the transactions of the George Washington Memorial Association at its last annual meeting.

Upon recommendation of the Committee on Correspondence, the Grand Lodge of Queensland was recognized and an exchange of representatives arranged. The consideration of numerous amendments which had been filed with the grand secretary took up considerable time and it is apparent that the Jurisprudence Committee had their hands full in considering these amendments and drafting their conclusions.

The Finance Committee reported adversely on the matter of contributing $5,000.00 to the Near East Relief Fund. A lively discussion followed, and the report of the Finance Committee was adopted. A sprinkler system was ordered for the Masonic Home. Provision was made for the blanket bonding of all secretaries and treasurers of lodges.

The presentation of the jewel and apron closed the session.

The Correspondence report is written by Lou B. Winsor, grand secretary. He quotes the paragraph of Daniel G. Fitzgerrell on the "American Language Only" and takes four pages of the Point of View of the Illinois Correspondent. Brother Winsor has been very generous to Illinois and he has sincere thanks.

Clark W. McKenzie, G.M., Kalamazoo.

Lou B. Winsor, G.S., Masonic Temple, Grand Rapids.

MINNESOTA, A. F. & A. M.

The sixty-ninth annual communication was held in the city of St. Paul on January 18. All the grand lodge officers were present and representatives of two hundred sixty-one out of two hundred seventy-nine lodges.

A. T. Stebbins, representative of the Grand Lodge of Illinois appears in the number recorded present.

The first business of importance was the annual address of the grand master, Frederic E. Jenkins. He opens with tributes to the fraternal dead and reports the constitution of seven new lodges. He dedicated two Masonic lodge rooms, laid five corner-stones, two of them being for Masonic Temples and three for public edifices.

Grand Master Jenkins states that at the last meeting of the grand lodge the law of Minnesota was changed permitting the initiation of five and not more than ten candidates at one communication providing of course that a special dispensation was granted by the grand master. A number of lodges took advantage of the new law and greatly relieved themselves of their congestion of work.

Among the dispensations refused was one asking permission to hold a special communication of a lodge in a town hall. Several decisions were rendered, nothing out of the ordinary appearing.

The matter of concurrent jurisdiction among the lodges of Minneapolis and St. Paul was introduced and a recommendation made that the whole subject be referred to the Committee on Jurisprudence.

The list of by-laws and amendments approved is an exceptionally long one, showing that the grand master must have spent considerable time in this work.

Grand Master Jenkins made numerous visits not only to his own but to other grand jurisdictions.

Under the head of "Secrecy of Ballot" he makes the following observation which is well taken:

"It is not the privilege of any brother to question the ballot of another. If a petitioner is rejected by ballot or by objection before receiving the Entered Apprentice Degree, the matter should be dropped then and there and not discussed in lodge and especially not on the street. The secrecy of the ballot is the great safeguard of the fraternity, and you are urged to use this in connection with proper and thorough investigation in maintaining the high personnel of the craft. The right to elect or reject is the sacred right of each and every brother, and he should exercise that right in silence, guided only by his conscience and his God."

He condemns the careless tying of lodges, commends the schools of instruction for the splendid work they are doing.

He refers to the active work that the grand lodge has undertaken in the matter of raising funds for the construction of a Masonic Home and states that to date, practically $60,000.00 has been pledged.

The grand master thoroughly sanctions Masonic research and study clubs and thinks the whole success of these undertakings depend upon the responsibility of local brethren.

The Masonic Service Association is commended and its plan for Masonic education is referred to the grand lodge with the urgent recommendation that a committee be appointed to carry forward this work in the State of Minnesota.

The George Washington Memorial Association receives endorsement and the craft of Minnesota urged to send in the full amount of money which they are expected to raise.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts as approximately $68,000.00 and his disbursements as $48,480.00.

The grand secretary submits the customary report in which he gives the net gain for the year to be 5,032 and the membership this date 51,014.

A special committee on district deputy grand masters makes a report in which they recommend a thorough system of lodge inspection and outline exactly what each official shall do when he visits a lodge.

A special committee on the Masonic Home question made a long report. Their deductions are summed up in the following table which is reproduced herewith as a matter of general interest:

“I have carefully studied the records of 28 states, having Masonic Homes, most of them having been built by voluntary contributions. There has only been three or four, where some wealthy brother or friends have left large contributions to buildings, but thus far we have found none such in Minnesota. Twenty-one states have found, after considerable experience that Homes cannot be run and improvements made, without a proper fixed income. In order that you may know how other grand jurisdictions support their Homes, I submit the following:

A special committee on the establishment of a clinic at Rochester, Minn., reported favorably upon the proposition and means were at once devised to raise the necessary funds to employ a competent person to take charge of the clinic and to further carry on this fraternal work.

The Grand Lodge of Minnesota is to be commended for having taken a step in the right direction.

The Committee on Ancient Landmarks submit a report recommending that consideration of all requests for fraternal recognition be deferred.

The Jurisprudence Committee take up the question of physical qualifications and reaffirm the Minnesota law upon that question which reads to wit:

“We call the attention of the brethren to Section 5, Article VII, of the General Regulations, wherein, among other duties, the investigating committee is required to make careful investigation to ascertain the ‘physical qualifications’ of a petitioner and make report thereof. If a committee fails to discover a physical defect which renders the petitioner disqualified and ineligible, it fails to perform the whole duty imposed upon it by this grand lodge.”

A proposition to tax each petitioner for the degrees the sum of $13.00 was laid over until the next annual communication.

The election, installation of officers and presentation of the jewel closed the session.

Charles S. Schureman writes the report on Foreign Correspondence. He gives Illinois two and one-half pages. He briefly reviews the annual address of Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and the principal transactions of the grand lodge.

He devotes two pages to the correspondence report of this writer and analyzes what was said under the Point of View. Brother Schureman admits that some of the statements made were rather startling. He refrains however from expressing his views upon some of the subjects. Brother Schureman writes a good report and it is always a pleasure to read what he has to say.

MISSISSIPPI, F. & A. M.

The one hundred and fourth annual communication was held in the city hall at Meridian, opening on Tuesday, February 21.

Preliminary there was a most delightful entertainment of a literary and musical character, addresses of welcome and responses thereto, greetings from the Order of Eastern Star, after which the grand lodge proceeded to open in ample form.

The report of the Committee on Credentials shows the presence of a large attendance. Paul H. Murphy representing Illinois responded to the roll call.

The first business to claim attention was the annual address of the grand master, J. H. Johnson. His report covered but ten pages of printed matter, being brief in the extreme. He opens with tributes of fraternal respect to the Masonic dead, not only of Mississippi but of other grand jurisdictions. The grand master states that he laid six corner-stones during the year, most of them being for public buildings.

Ten dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted and two dispensations issued permitting lodges to change their location.

The Masonic Service Association is commended and great satisfaction expressed concerning the work done.

The grand master advises that he executed a deed disposing of a lot owned by a lodge now defunct which lot brought the sum of $50.00.

The grand master states that he was privileged to accept all invitations sent to him to visit lodges.

Concerning the increase in membership in the state he says:

“The increase in membership during the past year is 2,339 and considering the financial condition of the country, this is a very remarkable showing. So many are applying for admission that the greatest care must be exercised in the selection of those whom we admit, yet at the same time, we must remember that the more members we get of the right stamp and character, the greater will be our influence. We should admit none knowingly into our ranks who are not moral and upright before God and of good report before the world. Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that the design of the Masonic Institution is not to make bad men good, but good men better.”

The finances of the grand lodge are reported in an excellent condition.

The management of the Masonic Home is highly commended and the grand lecturer is congratulated upon the success of the schools of instruction.

The report of the grand lecturer is interesting because it shows that he not only instructed the lodges but likewise inspected them for he submits a tabulation which is interesting.

Twenty-five lodges of the state have no rods for the deacon. Fifty lodges are not properly furnished to carry on their work in a proper manner. Seven lodges have dissension in their ranks.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters which are appended to the grand masters' report are interesting.

The grand secretary gives a report which is complete in every detail. He shows that the lodges of the state conferred 9,581 degrees during the year. He gives the total membership of the state to be 29,371.

The usual long and detailed report from the Masonic Home was presented. Masons of Mississippi are to be congratulated upon the splendid work that is being accomplished.

The following resolution was adopted:

“Resolved, That at the beginning of each annual communication of the grand lodge, the most worshipful grand master shall designate some member of the grand lodge to be known as the official reader of all reports and resolutions.”

A reading clerk is a mighty good person to have around, judging from some of the weak voices that sometimes try to make themselves heard in grand lodge.

The report of the auditor which takes the place of the grand treasurer's report, is interesting. The total assets of the grand lodge for 1921 are given at $606,349.00, a most excellent showing.

The grand lodge enthusiastically endorsed the following House bill which is before the state legislature:

“Section 1. Be it enacted by the legislature of the State of Mississippi, That whoever not being a member of the Confederate Veterans, of the Daughters of the Confederacy, of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, of the Sons of the American Revolution, of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of the Colonial Dames, of the Grand Army of the Republic, of the Sons of Veterans, of the Women’s Relief Corps, of the Military Order of the Foreign Wars of the United States, of the American Legion, of the American Legion Auxiliary, of the Masons, of the Woodmen of the World, of the Knights of Pythias, or of any other patriotic or fraternal organization, shall willfully wear the insignia, distinctive ribbons or membership rosette or button or any imitation thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $20.00 or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.”

The Committee on Education make a report recommending that in addition to the books and literature now in circulation that there be added moving picture films and stereopticon slides.

The remainder of business transacted at this session was principally routine in character and related to the approval of various local matters which were brought before the grand body.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence attached to the proceedings, the announcement being made that this part will be issued later and sent to all concerned.

MISSOURI, A. F. & A. M.

The one hundred first annual and centennial of the Grand Lodge of Missouri was held in the city of St. Louis, opening Tuesday morning, September 20. The preliminary ceremonies were brief in the extreme, after which the grand master, William F. Johnson, read his annual report. He records his visitations to the lodges of Missouri and the list is a long one showing that he gave much of his time to the encouragement and up-building of the lodges of his jurisdiction. He records the resignation of John R. Parsons as grand secretary because of impaired health and eyesight and announces the appointment of Frank R. Jesse to serve until the grand lodge shall meet and regularly elect a successor.

Dispensations to form new lodges were granted in ten instances. The following reference to a certain secret organization appears as a part of the report:

“As the impression seems to prevail in some sections that the Masonic Fraternity is directly or indirectly associated with or furthering the purpose of a secret organization, and as I have been asked on numerous occasions what relations, if any, our fraternity bears to such secret society or order, it is well that the seal of disapproval be positively placed by this grand lodge upon this secret organization which assumes to itself the right and authority to administer law and punish crimes. Nothing is more destructive of free government than secret control. The arraying of race against race, color against color or sect against sect is destructive of peace and harmony, which is the great end we, as Freemasons, have in view. We profess and boast that we are ‘True to our Government and Just to our Country.’ We cannot as Freemasons and good citizens recognize the right of any secret society or combination of men to assume unto themselves the right to administer law, and to inflict punishment upon their fellowmen. Such an assumption is subversive of our republican institutions and contrary to the great principles of Freemasonry.

“An organization that practices censorship of private conduct behind the midnight anonymity of mask and robe and enforces its secret decrees with the weapons of whips and tar and feathers must ultimately merit and receive the condemnation of those who believe in courts, open justice and good citizenship.”

The Masonic Service Association is briefly reviewed and the continuation of membership therein is made the subject of the report of a special committee.

The George Washington Memorial Association is commended and the Masons of Missouri are pointed out their duty in the matter of making liberal contributions to this most laudable enterprise.

Concerning the tax placed upon candidates the amount derived to be used in maintaining the Masonic Home the grand master says:

“This law should stand. It is just and highly beneficial. It has yielded a fund for the Masonic Home, during this year, amounting to, practically, $80,000.00. I do not believe that it has been the cause of loss of fifty petitioners to the lodges throughout the state. It places no burden upon our present members and the one who does not belong to our order, has no right to complain. It places the petitioner upon a somewhat equitable standing with the older members.”

Brother Johnson submitted quite a list of interpretations and decisions. Practically all of them relate to constructions of local laws with the exception of the following:

“Section 121: The fact that said section was amended several years ago by adding the words, ‘‘Hereafter, no newly-made Master Mason, who fails or refuses to stand such examination, shall be permitted to vote, hold office in the lodge, or dimit,’’ does not relieve the newly made Master Mason of his obligation to stand a satisfactory examination, and one who continuously and persistently refuses to obey the mandate of this section, should be brought before the lodge for failure to comply with the positive direction of the grand lodge.’’

Concerning the indiscriminate issuance of dispensations for all sorts of purposes the following observation was made:

“The impression seems to prevail among some of the craft that a grand master can issue a dispensation for most any purpose. The grand master can only issue a dispensation when the authority so to do is clearly given him in the by-laws of the grand lodge or when by clear implication he is authorized, by said by-laws, so to do. The by-laws of the grand lodge are just as binding upon the grand master as upon the most humble of the craft, and no law can be set aside by his dispensation.’’

John R. Parsons, retiring grand secretary, made a report of his transactions up to the time of his retirement in May and Frank R. Jesse covered his transactions from May until the meeting of the grand lodge.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts from all sources as $191,000.00. His disbursements were $189,453.00.

The special committee which had in hand the question of the Masonic Service Association made a report recommending the sum of $1,000.00 be set apart for carrying out the educational work as outlined by the association.

During the afternoon of the second day, the grand lodge paused in its deliberations to observe its one hundredth anniversary. The program consisted of addresses, music and moving pictures.

The Committee on Necrology pay a splendid tribute to the late Isaac Cutter, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, who died in office.

The Grand Lodge of Missouri has been revising its trial code and has provided for trial by commission.

All lodges under dispensation were granted charters.

The report of the Committee on Grievances is a long one. Numerous cases which came before that committee are gone into in detail and the findings of the committee show that most careful attention was given to each case.

The report of the grand lecturer discloses the splendid work that is being done in promulgating the ritual and lectures of the state. The high efficiency of degree work as manifested on the part of the lodges shows the wisdom of the grand lodge in the system of instruction which it maintains.

The Committee on Chartered Lodges give the net gain for the year at 9,677 and the present membership as 100,093.

The Committee on Jurisprudence brought in their report on the morning of the third day.

Concerning the laying of corner-stones on Sunday, the following comment is made:

“Your committee cannot lend its approval to a construction that will permit a grand lodge to do something that a subordinate lodge is forbidden to do when the act falls within the province of both the local and the grand lodge. It has been a well fixed policy of this grand lodge for the last twenty-one years that neither a subordinate lodge nor the grand lodge could engage in the ceremony of laying a corner-stone on Sunday, even when requested to do so by a church. (See Proceedings 1900, page 6). Nor do we think that mere expediency or convenience should cause this grand lodge to alter that well determined policy.”

A report from the consulting architect shows that progress is being made on the new Masonic Temple now in the course of construction in St. Louis. This building when completed will cost approximately $3,000,000.00.

A number of amendments to grand lodge by-laws were presented and adopted. A grand lodge session without some amendments would be a curiosity.

The election and installation of officers and approval of minutes closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by the Rev. C. C. Woods. He considers Illinois in two and one-quarter pages of review quoting the paragraphs of Grand Master Fitzgerrell concerning Masonic Homes, activities of higher bodies in soliciting Master Masons and the Masonic Service Association.

A generous paragraph is taken from the correspondence report of this writer.

MONTANA, A. F. & A. M.

1921

The proceedings under review is a very excellent volume well printed and profusely illustrated with excellent half-tones of the Masonic Home and its environment.

The fifty-seventh annual communication was held in the city of Butte on Wednesday, August 17.

The grand lodge was opened in ample form and after an address of welcome and response thereto, Robert J. Hathaway, grand master, read his annual report. His first paragraph reads as follows:

“First and most important, we felt the necessity of impressing upon the Fraternity the conviction that Masonic influence is in direct ratio to the exercise of that influence. That, as ancient Masonry was adapted to ancient conditions, so must we adapt our Masonry to present day problems and that to do this, Masonry must become an active, vital element in every community.”

He pays the usual tribute of respect to the dead and reports a long list of degrees conferred by courtesy. He states that through the cooperation of his associate grand officers, he has been able to have visited a total of fifty lodges. These visitations reveal the fact that many of these lodges own their own halls or places of meeting and are in a highly prosperous condition.

A number of new lodges were organized during the year and started on their Masonic mission.

In the report there is submitted the names of a goodly number of brethren who were elected as Masonic Service Association speakers. In this connection he says:

“We are firmly convinced that the Masonic Service Association, with its proposed and already begun program, is the solution of the most vital problems that confront Masonry at this period.”

Among his recommendations the writer finds one which is interesting. It is to the effect that a carbon transcript of the proceedings of the grand lodge be furnished to the incoming grand master, immediately at the close of the grand lodge session, and that arrangements be made whereby the annual proceedings shall be printed and distributed within sixty days after the close of grand lodge.

Brother Hathaway asks the craft of Montana to give special support to the Montana Mason, a Masonic publication issued in the state.

Eight decisions are reported, all of them in accord with established usage.

Mention is made of the inadequate financial facilities of the grand lodge and it is urgently pointed out that some means should be adopted to increase the revenue.

The Masonic Home is highly endorsed and the following observation made by Brother Hathaway:

“We urge upon every subordinate lodge of this jurisdiction the necessity for the immediate appointment of a committee whose duty it shall be to inform themselves of all cases of illness or distress among Masons and their families occurring in their vicinity and to see that these ill or distressed members are suitably remembered by the fraternity, by visitations, by flowers and in any other way that may make more bearable such illness or distress.”

The lodges of the state are urged to give their support toward a free public school system and as far as possible to combat those sinister influences which seem to be working against the best interests of the public school system.

His valedictory is decidedly sectarian. His proposition to govern the world according to the laws of Christ is excellent to the orthodox Christian but how will it be taken by those members of the craft of other beliefs?

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts at $55,667.00. His expenditures were $35,163.00.

The report of the grand secretary is principally financial and sets forth clearly his receipts and disbursements. The salary of the grand secretary is $2,400.00 per year.

The usual detailed report is presented by the Masonic Home Board. The Grand Lodge of Montana is to be congratulated upon the very excellent manner in which its institutional charity is being administered.

The Committee on Correspondence submitted a report deferring action on the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Venezuela and denying action to the Grand Lodge of Mexico and the grand lodge concurred.

On the afternoon of the first day the representatives of other grand lodges were received and properly welcomed.

The Masonic Service Association is endorsed and membership continued.

A resolution was introduced praying for a reduction in grand lodge representation. This went to a special committee of three. An effort was made to secure recognition of the Grand Lodge of France, also the Grand Orient of France. It was moved, however, that the resolution go to a special committee with instructions to report back later in the session.

The George Washington Memorial Association is endorsed and a resolution adopted asking the lodges of Montana to contribute $1.00 per capita toward the enterprise.

Walter L. Stockwell was present and briefly addressed the brethren.

The report of the Committee on Masonic Service Association brought in a report suggesting a long program of educational activity. One proposition that three stereopticons be purchased and placed in the hands of three brethren to be taken about the state and used in connection with lecture work went to the finance committee, who reported favorably to the proposition.

It is proposed in Montana that every candidate for the degrees fill out a questionnaire. For the information of all brethren who may read this report the questionnaire is reproduced in full because of its far-reaching inquiry.

The grand lodge on motion ruled that railroad men were under the same rules of residence as applied to men in other vocations.

The remainder of business transacted at this session was largely routine. The concluding ceremonies were the election and installation of officers together with the presentation of the signet ring.

H. S. Hepner writes the report on Foreign Correspondence giving Illinois one and one-quarter pages of brief consideration. Concerning Leroy A. Goddard the following comment is made:

“Grand Treasurer Leroy A. Goddard has over half a million in the treasury and the Lord knows how much more in other special funds; he is a banker and takes good care of the grand treasurer job, the same as he did that of grand master, and we note now that he is also grand orator; if he were an Italian and a Catholic we would vote for him for pope, and he would make a good job of that; as we recollect him, he has the typical priestly contour in front.”

NEBRASKA, A. F. & A. M.

The city of Omaha entertained the Grand Lodge of Nebraska assembled in sixty-fourth annual communication Tuesday, June 7.

The grand officers were present and in their places as were the representatives from two hundred thirty-five of the two hundred seventy-seven lodges.

After reading numerous telegrams, Joseph B. Fradenburg, grand master read his annual report. He opens with the usual tribute to the fraternal dead, and reports a long list of dispensations issued and by-laws approved.

Six new lodges were instituted during the year and three were constituted and given their charters.

The grand master reports approving the designs for seals selected by three lodges. This is something out of the ordinary as the selection of seals is left to most lodges.

The grand master states that he received a number of requests for re-instatement on the part of members who have been suspended for arrearages of more than three years. He states that a number of these reinstatements were granted.

Seven corner-stones were laid most of them being for public edifices.

The Masonic Service Association is commended and the following observation made:

“I am thoroughly convinced that there is real work to be done by Masons of the United States, that the great strength of this government lies in the education of its people, that concerted action is necessary to bring Masons to a realization of their full duty, not only as Masons, but as citizens of the greatest country the world has ever seen, and it behooves us to keep abreast of the times and avail ourselves of every opportunity to keep Masonry of Nebraska upon the high standard which it has always maintained.”

The George Washington Memorial Association is thoroughly endorsed and the regret expressed that more Masons of Nebraska have not contributed to this worthy enterprise.

Grand Master Fradenburg got after all the weak lodges of his jurisdiction. He took up the charters of three lodges which had not been represented in grand lodge for a period of three years and proposed to hold said charters until such time as the lodges could show cause why they should not be taken up permanently.

The Masonic Homes and the work they are doing is commended in the very highest terms and they are pronounced to be homes in the truest and best sense of the word. In this connection he says:

“The one thing that is still needed to make the home even more successful is the personal interest of each individual brother, not to contribute money, but do some act which will make the residents happier, just such an act as you would like to have done for your father or mother to ease the last years of their life, some act of kindness that is evidence of a charitable heart. Thus each one can do his share in spreading the cement of brotherly love and affection.”

Grand Master Fradenburg emphasizes the necessity of building a Masonic hospital so that the really helpless members of the fraternity may be truly assisted.

Among his recommendations are the following:

“I recommend that a law be passed forbidding a Master Mason from petitioning either the Scottish or York Rite bodies until he shall have been a Master Mason for one year and shall have passed a satisfactory examination in the Master Masons degree, and further that if it should be brought to the attention of the Grand Master that the said bodies are receiving petitions of Master Masons who are not so qualified, he shall have the power to declare said body clandestine.

“I suggest that a system of District Deputy Grand Masters be considered. This Grand Jurisdiction has reached a size that it is impossible for the grand master to keep in touch with the various lodges. In addition thereto, under our system the office of grand master is rarely held more than one year while I believe that the district deputy grand masters could continue from year to year and by calling upon them the grand masters would secure accurate, first-hand knowledge of the conditions existing in the various lodges in the state and the reasons and history leading up to them, in this way being of much more service to the craft.”

His closing paragraph is appealing:

“By service and by service only, can each of us render unto Masonry that which is her due, and if I can be permitted to do my part in building upon a sure foundation, I then will not have worked in vain.”

The report of the grand secretary, Francis E. White, is a voluminous document and leaves no question as to what his financial transactions were nor what the numerical status of the lodges chances to be.

The net gain in membership for the year is given at 3,841 and the number of master masons on the rolls 34,647.

A long report is submitted by the grand lecturer and shows that the schools which are conducted under the auspices of the grand lodge are doing a most excellent work and are reaching a large number of the working force. It cost the grand lodge to maintain its schools for the year the sum of $600.00.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence submitted a report relating to Master Masons petitioning for the higher degrees. This subject was referred to the Committee on Jurisprudence which later brought in the following report which was adopted by the grand lodge:

“No. 1. We recommend the enactment of the following sub-division of Section 148 of the grand lodge law:

‘o. To apply to any Scottish or York Rite body, or for the degrees therein, or to solicit such a petitioner from another until after the lapse of one year from the time said petitioner has been made a Master Mason, and shall have attended at least twelve regular meetings of a Master Masons lodge or lodges, and shall have complied with the provisions of Section 66 of the grand lodge law as to proficiency.’

“And that the following be enacted as sub-division ‘p’ of Section 148 of the grand lodge law:

‘p. Petitioning the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine before five years have elapsed since being made a Master Mason.’

“Add to form 231, page 90, Law of Freemasonry in Nebraska, edition of 1919, the following paragraph:

‘I will not apply to any Scottish or York Rite body for the degrees therein until at least one year has elapsed after I have received the degree of a Master Mason and shall have attended at least twelve regular meetings of a Master Masons lodge or lodges, and shall have complied with Section 66 of the grand lodge law as to proficiency; and will not make application to the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine until five years have elapsed since receiving the degree of a Master Mason.’”

The report of the committee in charge of the Washington Memorial Fund shows that the sum of $6,734.00 had been collected.

The grand lodge paused on the afternoon of the first day long enough to visit the Masonic Home and thoroughly inspect that institution. In the evening the oration was delivered by Frank G. Smith, grand orator. It was an analysis of Masonic principles and there was an abundance of poetical quotation.

The Grand Lodge of Nebraska has quite a sum of money in its War Relief Department. The committee in charge of this, report that the time had not arrived for a diversion of this fund to other purposes.

A resolution was adopted providing for a committee of seven to take charge of the Hospital Fund and devise ways and means of providing for this most laudable undertaking.

The report of a special committee was to the effect that this grand lodge adhere to its present policy and law with respect to the physical qualification of petitioners for the degrees. Also, this committee made the following declaration:

“That a grand lodge asking for recognition must be one organized by no less than three lodges chartered by a regular grand lodge, and not by a Supreme Council or any other Supreme Body claiming to be Masonic.”

The installation of officers and the presentation of jewels closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is written by John A. Ehrhardt. He gives Illinois one and one-quarter pages, however terse his comment may be. The oration of Wm. H. Beckman is pronounced excellent and the review of Nebraska by this writer is summed up in the following words:

“Nebraska is accorded over two pages and the business of our grand lodge well digested.”

NEVADA, F. & A. M.

The annual communication, the fifty-seventh, was held in the city of Reno, opening Wednesday, June 8, at 12:00 o'clock noon.

The Committee on Credentials report the presence of representatives of twenty lodges out of a total number in the jurisdiction of thirty-three.

Harry H. Atkinson, grand master, delivered his annual address. In his opening he says:

“We are particularly fortunate I feel, in the character of our annual communications; they being in the nature of reunions, where new acquaintances are formed, and established friendships made stronger. In other words the personal element enters into our deliberations and communion in a much stronger degree, I believe, than in those jurisdictions where the membership is too large to allow the annual communication to serve the purpose of a personal fraternal reunion.”

He pays a short tribute to the deceased brethren of his jurisdiction. He paused in his address and asked the grand secretary to call the roll of departed brethren. This was done while members of the grand lodge stood with bowed heads.

The usual number of requests to confer degrees by courtesy were granted. The grand master must have been generous in the matter of visiting the lodges of his jurisdiction. From the list submitted it is apparent that he reached most of them.

Inasmuch as he is a member of the Standing Committee on State of the Craft he had an opportunity of judging of the general welfare of the fraternity.

Three corner-stones were laid and one lodge building dedicated. Four decisions were rendered, all of them of purely local character.

The George Washington Memorial Association as well as the Masonic Service Association are discussed at some length and the continuation of membership in both associations is recommended.

Grand Master Atkinson also recommends that a time limit be placed upon those candidates who are dilatory in the matter of preparing themselves for advancement. He believes that proficiency in the ritual and work is a great asset in building up the attendance of lodges and recommends that every effort be put forth by the grand lodge toward securing the highest efficiency in this respect.

Under the head of State of the Craft he very pertinently says:

“The craft has also aligned itself unalterably on the side of law and order and on every occasion its members are disciples of a doctrine that we should be true to our government and just to our country. There is a precept that it is the duty of a Mason to be a loyal citizen, always discountenancing revolution and rebellion. The I. W. W. and Bolshevik propaganda is abhorrent to him as inimicable to our form and system of law and order.”

Concerning the public schools he makes the following observance which is well timed:

“The public schools should be our particular care. In this day of paucity of doctrines and limited facilities for proper instruction made so because of inadequate compensation, we should further the doctrine and espouse the cause of education and loosen the purse strings of our associations so as to make teaching an attractive occupation. Someone has said that when you open a school you close a jail. How different that is from the doctrines of some institutions which hold that the public school is a creator of crime and that crime increases as the public schools become more efficient. People of any society or creed who acknowledge such foolish ideas and disseminate such pernicious doctrines and who maintain that the common school is not a function of the state are enemies of our institutions and would be destroyers of our republic. It should be a particular function of Masons as citizens of their respective communities to see that people who entertain such ideas should be never allowed in positions of authority on any board or other institution of an educational nature.”

The writer likes very much what was said by Brother Atkinson upon the subject of political and civic problems. It was as follows:

“It may be said that political and civic problems should not be discussed within the lodge room. That is very true when those discussions relate purely to matters affecting the best method of government or civic progress but when there is an attempt by people as members of our commonwealth to subvert our institutions, our existing system of law and order and displace it by anarchy and a doctrine that might is right, then it is our duty as Masons and as a Masonic institution to put ourselves before the world openly, fearlessly and unitedly as discountenancing any such false ideals.”

The grand treasurer gives his receipts as $3,323.00 and his expenditures as $2,675.00. The assets of the grand lodge were given at $4,500.00.

The report of the grand secretary is a complete document covering his financial transactions. His salary is $600.00 per year.

The grand lodge granted charters to two lodges that had been newly organized.

The oration incident to grand lodge meeting was delivered by Edward A. Ducker. It was Masonic and historic in character. In one paragraph he says: “Freemasonry is hoary with age. Traditionally it is older than the Sphinx.” Seriously speaking, we wish he hadn’t said that. The non-thinking Mason will fail to take into consideration the meaning of that word “traditionally” and the result will be a misunderstanding of what the orator really meant to say or rather, should have said. We are now living in an age when Masonic writers and speakers must be careful what they say. The present century is demanding the truth concerning the origin and development of our fraternity.

In Nevada the grand instructor is called "The Master of Instruction." This official submits a report showing the extent of his labors among the lodges of his jurisdiction.

At this point the grand lodge was called off for luncheon after which it reassembled and laid the corner-stone of a new Masonic Temple to be erected by one of the lodges of Reno.

On the evening of the second day the roll of grand representatives was called and these brethren were duly welcomed. Charles E. Mack, representing Illinois, responded to his name.

The election and installation of officers closed a session which, while not distinguished by unusual business, yet was most successful from a social and fraternal point of view.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Edward D. Vanderleith, who signs himself the grand commissioner of reviews. He gives Illinois two and one-half pages of fraternal and kindly consideration. He quotes generously from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald.

Commenting on the lines in Grand Master Fitzgerald's report wherein he said, "He longest lives who serves and gives," Brother Vanderleith says:

"Giving to others, of the gifts given to us, for their uplift, and for the betterment of mankind in general, that is Masonry. God's gifts are not truly our own until we have begun to use them for others. To have a good character, not merely for the good of self, but for others. That is giving to others. Knowledge, sharing it with others. Here we have a giving that is better than silver and gold. Sympathy,—letting the stricken man know that a heart is sorry for his suffering. Truly this is a wondrous gift! A bit of love, a smile, a hand clasp,—these are precious things that one may give. Any of these gifts is far more valuable than money."

He also brings forth the following comment in connection with the action of Illinois on the subject of physical qualification:

"The broadening of the physical qualification law brought no end of trouble. The grand master deemed it safer and wiser to leave the matter with lodges under the letter of the old law. A wise decision, but why not let the lodges decide under the spirit of the new law? We have found that the lodges can safely be trusted under a regulation drawn clearly and specifically."

Concerning the correspondence report of this writer he observes:

"Bro. Delmar D. Darrah submits an excellent report. He is a forward looking writer and we need more of his kind."

He quotes what this writer said concerning donations to the Y. W. C. A. and the fact that such action might lead others to expect similar favors from the fraternity. He comments as follows:

“Let them expect. We all expect more than we get. It's the getting that counts. We helped the Y. W. C. A. to get under way. Last year no donation was asked. If another society, with like high aims for betterment, shows up, it may expect a like favor.”

NEW BRUNSWICK, F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of New Brunswick held its fifty-fourth annual communication in the city of St. John the twenty-sixth day of April. The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which a choir of brethren chanted the twenty-fourth Psalm.

The grand master's address is general in character and covers thirteen pages. His official visits are recorded at great length. He sums up conditions in lodges as he found them. One recommendation is made that the office of the grand secretary be located in the Masonic Temple and that suitable rooms be acquired for that purpose.

Some fault is found with the character of the regalia purchased by individual brethren and the recommendation made that the grand lodge procure a supply of suitable regalia and furnish it to the lodges at cost.

The total receipts of the grand lodge for the year amounted to $5,150.00. The net increase in membership for the year was 537 and the total membership of the lodges of the jurisdiction is now 4,897.

No business of importance appears to have been transacted at this session.

NEW HAMPSHIRE, F. & A. M.

A semi-annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of New Hampshire was held on Tuesday, December 28, in the city of Manchester for the purpose of exemplifying the work of the three degrees. This communication being a regular grand lodge meeting, representatives were present from nearly every lodge in the jurisdiction.

The annual communication was held in the city of Concord on Wednesday, May 18, and was the thirty-second annual. The first business was the annual address of the grand master, Harry G. Noyes. In his opening he gives the following paragraph:

“Let us here and now resolve to study and apply the teachings of Freemasonry in our daily walks of life and business. Let us strive to prove to our less enlightened brethren, that our spirit of brotherly love and affection is not solely confined to lodge walls, but is part of our life, and that no matter who the individual may be or what creed he may profess, we are here to work hand in hand for the upbuilding of mankind and the glorification of ‘True Americanism,’ thus demonstrating that our Order is founded upon the principles of equality and justice. The future lies before us golden with opportunities to practice the excellent principles and teachings of our institution. Let us arouse ourselves from the peaceful slumber of the past and continue our wonderful accomplishments of the past two years.”

The fraternal dead are mentioned and their good deeds while on earth are chronicled.

The grand master speaks of the Masonic Bulletin published in the state and expresses great disappointment at the reception it has received. He gets after the masters of the lodges for their remissness in attending to duties of their office, many of them having failed to make proper reports to the grand master.

The Masonic Service Association is reviewed, the campaign of education as proposed is endorsed and a call made for volunteer speakers to visit the lodges and carry to them the message of Masonry.

Grand Master Noyes commends the work of the Masonic Home and asks that some means be devised for raising funds with which to carry on this most excellent work.

The lists of dispensations issued, degrees conferred by courtesy, waivers of jurisdiction granted are all long ones. Many amendments to lodge by-laws were submitted and approved by the grand master.

One Masonic lodge room was dedicated and a report made of the visitations made by the grand master.

Grand Master Noyes believes in dual lodge membership for he says:

“I am convinced that dual membership is a step in the right direction, and am unable to understand where there can be serious results from adopting the same. I am aware that the best versed Mason in New Hampshire is not in accord with my views upon this subject; I refer to M. W. Brother Cheney, but he has not been able to convince me that it is not a desirable amendment to our constitution. Brothers from our state go abroad in the world. Brothers from other jurisdictions come to us. They settle in our state and desire to take part in our proceedings. Their home lodge is dear to them with its associations, and they will not give up their affiliation therein. They do desire to be helpful in the community where they reside Masonically, but not being members of the lodge, hesitate to be active as they might were they a member of a particular lodge. They are an aid both morally and financially, and I am sincere in my belief that general dual membership between all lodges would be of great Masonic advantage.”

Among his recommendations is one that November 4 be set apart for the observance of the Masonic birthday of George Washington.

The Finance Committee show the receipts of the grand lodge to have been $19,270.28, which amount was paid over to the grand treasurer by the grand secretary.

The Committee on Returns give the number of lodges on the roll at eighty, the present membership as 13,344, an increase for the year of 1,097.

The installation of officers and the presentation of the jewel closed a session brief in the extreme.

The forty-fourth annual meeting was held in the city of Albuquerque on Monday, February 20. The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which the brethren stood and sang America. The grand master read his annual report. He sums up the general condition of the craft in New Mexico in the following paragraph:

“The rapid growth in the membership of our lodges continues, a total of 354 having been added during the past year. No new lodges have been formed. More attention has been given during the year past to the quality of our membership and the character of our Masonic work than to a material growth in numbers; and a sincere effort has been made to increase the average attendance of our membership at lodge meetings, to educate our membership to a higher conception of the practical purposes of Masonry, and to create a vision of Masonic usefulness in matters of citizenship.”

He announces a long list of those who have gone from their labors on earth and leaves to the Committee on Necrology the duty of penning suitable memorials.

Three Masonic halls were dedicated and one corner-stone laid during the year.

Twenty dispensations were issued permitting Masonic lodges to occupy halls jointly with other organizations. One lodge received a dispensation permitting it to raise fourteen fellowcrafts to the degree of Master Mason.

The grand master visited a great many district meetings and Masonic assemblies and states that he believes much good was accomplished as a result of his visitations.

Twenty-four questions and answers are submitted under the head of rulings, decisions and opinions. One question and answer is interesting to the writer because it harks back to Anderson's Constitutions to which the writer is quite partial:

“Query: A master of a lodge expresses the opinion that smoking should be eliminated from his lodge room, and asks for an expression on the subject.

“Reply: The worthy brother was informed that this is no new question and that on December 4, 1755, an old regulation of the Grand Lodge of England records that it was ‘unanimously agreed that no brother for the future shall smoke tobacco in the grand lodge at the quarterly communication or the Committee of Charity till the lodge shall be closed'; but that every subordinate lodge is the judge of any matters of this kind, and it is within the power of the lodge to prohibit or permit smoking, but that it is deemed most unwise to permit smoking during the conferring of degrees."

The grand master commends the work of the district deputy grand masters and shows that out of forty lodges, twenty-seven were visited and inspected while thirteen were not.

During the year the grand master sent out a questionnaire and called for suggestions that would help make Masonry in the state a more potent force. He sums up the best things in the replies which he received in the following paragraph, which is very interesting:

"More Americanism in our lodges; no true Mason can be anything but a high grade American citizen." "A speakers' bureau would greatly assist in bringing the craft closer together." "More deputy lecturers so as to give every lodge instruction twice annually." "We need education that will lead to a better and broader realization of what Masonry really means and stands for; there is an evident lack of knowledge by officers in the lodges in regard to Masonic landmarks, laws and constitutions." "Information relative to bills pending on education and matters vital to Masonry." "Study classes in every lodge, and discussion on Masonry for the benefit of moral, civil and religious affairs." "More of a community spirit." "Take some poor boy from a Masonic family and give him a good education." "More time for social features; we have too much degree work and look on that as the only kind of work; higher community ideals." "A program for the enlightenment of the young Masons as to the application of our teachings to every-day life." "Keep the fraternity 100 per cent Masonic by more careful attention to its application." "There are too many Masons in the world that are Masons in name only." "Less knocking of brother Masons behind their backs." "Offer prizes to schools for best scholarship." "More respect in our reference to the Supreme Architect." "Consideration of the landmarks, old charges, constitution and by-laws by systematic assignment of topics in advance to various lodge members." "A definite study club for officers that will give them a better conception of their responsibilities," and so on.

He has considerable to say concerning the competency of lodge officers and thinks that greater attention should be paid to the study of the ritual, laws, rules and regulations of the fraternity.

Concerning the Ku Klux Klan, Grand Master Lester says:

"The effort to enlist Masons as leaders and supporters of the Ku Klux Klan caused me to investigate so far as I could the practices of that organization with the result that I became convinced that it was my duty to issue a warning that would at least cause our brethren to stop and think before associating themselves with the organization. Accordingly, under the date of October 15, I issued a general letter to the Freemasons of this grand jurisdiction on the subject of 'Masonry and the Ku Klux Klan,' directing that the same be read at the first stated meeting after its receipt in every constituent lodge and that notation be made to that effect in the minutes of the lodge."

The George Washington Memorial Association is highly commended and the question of physical qualification is suggested and the opinion of the grand master expressed in the following paragraph:

"Our present worship of the idol of physical perfection is a heritage from the days of Operative Masonry, and in my opinion, is carried to ridiculous extremes in some instances, as, for example, when a grand lodge recently solemnly considered the momentous question of whether a candidate with one leg a quarter of an inch shorter than the other could be disqualified; considering, forsooth, minute technicalities like this when our public school system is being insidiously attacked and the basic principles of our government are endangered! If Masonry with all its virtues cannot acquire the virtue of adapting its practices to changing conditions it surely is neither a universal nor a progressive art. We profess to consider the internal, and not the external qualifications of a candidate; and reason and common sense both condemn the all-too-common practice of critically examining the physical perfection of a candidate while we make no pretense of insisting upon moral perfection. The logical result of continuing such a policy might easily make possible a lodge whose members were physical athletes, but moral delinquents."

Concerning the public schools Brother Lester says as follows:

"The time has passed when Freemasonry can afford to hide its light under a bushel and confine its interest in our system of free education to secret conferences. The world should know, beyond question or doubt, that we stand back of our public schools in all places and at all times and that we are determined that they shall be protected and developed, free from any political or ecclesiastical influence whatsoever. It is distinctly the business of Freemasons, wheresoever situated, to interest themselves in the welfare of all of our educational institutions, state, county or local. The 'little red schoolhouse' should find a champion in every Freemason in this grand jurisdiction."

The grand master says many other most excellent things but lack of space forbids further quotation from an address which is brimming full of advanced Masonic thought.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts at $14,645.00 and his expenditures as $10,098.00.

The report of the grand secretary is complete in every detail. He gives the net gain for the year at 354 and the present membership as 5,630.

The Jurisprudence Committee approve much that was in the grand master's excellent report.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence recommend the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland and the grand lodge adopted the report.

The remaining business of the grand lodge was largely routine except that the grand lodge voted to appoint a special committee to thoroughly investigate the question of extending recognition to Mexican grand lodges.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is written by John Milne in the topical form. It is therefore very difficult to discern what he may have said concerning Illinois.

NEW SOUTH WALES, A. F. & A. M.

This grand lodge holds quarterly communications. Meeting four times a year as it does, the review is more or less difficult. For that reason whatever may be said will be taken collectively and such items of interest as appear will be mentioned.

From the grand master's addresses at each quarterly communication, the information is gleaned that Masonry must be expanding and growing in New South Wales, for a number of dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted during each quarter. The grand master of New South Wales is liberal in the matter of issuing dispensations for at each quarterly communication he announces a long list. Quite a number appear permitting initiation of a Lewis, which in Masonic parlance means a young man under the age of twenty-one. Each Master Mason who is newly raised is given a certificate of membership and it is apparent that the grand secretary was busy issuing them. The grand master reports that one brother offered the grand lodge the sum of $500,000.00 to be used as an educational foundation, the income derived to be applied toward the education of the orphans of deceased Masons.

The grand master in his various reports discloses the fact that he was quite liberal in the matter of visiting lodges where he installed officers, participated in the work and otherwise made the brethren happy.

The financial reports which appear in the proceedings show the grand lodge of New South Wales to be in a most prosperous condition.

In running over the proceedings under review, the writer is led to the conclusion that the Grand Lodge of New South Wales has a fixed policy and adheres to it very closely as the book reveals nothing out of the ordinary and shows in the various transactions an adherence to the time honored customs and precedents of the society.

The active business of the grand lodge is handled by the Board of General Purposes. They hold monthly meetings and no doubt exercise careful supervision over the business and financial affairs of the grand lodge.

One thing the Grand Lodge of New South Wales is to be congratulated upon is the very thorough manner in which the matter of district supervision is conducted. It is apparent that the grand lodge proposes that lodges shall maintain a high standard of efficiency.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence submit a report to the grand lodge in which they say:

“They find that Masonry is making remarkable progress throughout the English-speaking world, increasing rapidly in numbers and in influence. Its high reputation for benevolence and beneficence has been well maintained, and its leaders are striving earnestly to make it the means whereby all that is best in its members may be so encouraged, that the effects of its teachings shall be constantly exemplified in their daily lives.

“The bonds of union between the grand lodges have been strengthened by the holding of a great ‘Peace Meeting’ in England, probably the most important gathering of Masons for two hundred years.

“Our American brethren have established a National Masonic Service Association for the better direction of their efforts to aid humanity in times of national stress. It is a great conception, worthy of the great minds from which it emanated and of the great men who are charged with the guidance of its affairs. They have also founded a Memorial to that great and worthy brother, George Washington, the exemplar of every American boy and an object of admiration to every Mason.”

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by a committee of which C. A. Elliott is chairman. The proceedings of the various grand lodges are considered topically and the most foremost of their transactions are carefully analyzed and liberally discussed. The document is well worthy of the perusal of the Masonic student and regret is expressed that lack of space forbids quoting some of the excellent things said.

NEW YORK, F. & A. M.

The volume of proceedings covering the one hundred and forty-first annual communication is voluminous. New York is a wonderful grand jurisdiction and everything Masonically is generous and large. The grand lodge was opened in ample form and after prayer by the grand chaplain, the grand master, Robert H. Robinson, delivered his annual address. It is an important and pleasing document and gives some idea of the responsibility which came to him during his year of service. His memorial pages are complete and extensive. His list of dispensations issued is quite long and he gives the cause briefly. The grand master refers pleasantly to the dedication of a lodge room for Whitestone lodge. The brethren of the lodge had transformed an old gymnasium into a lodge room, doing all the work even to the drawing of the plans for the remodeling. For the purpose of grand lodge ceremonials the grand master assembled all his officers twenty-one times. The ceremonies consisted in the main of corner-stones, dedications and the constituting of lodges. Masonry appears to be expanding in the State of New York for twenty dispensation were issued for the formation of new lodges.

In Grand Master Robinson's remarks concerning the Masonic Home at Utica, he says:

“Perhaps there is no word in the English language around which there cluster memories that bring to the mind and heart such feelings of peace and contentment as the magic word Home.

“When the weary toiler returns from field or mart or shop at close of day, tired in mind and body, Home is the haven of rest. When the traveler has skirted the globe in search of knowledge or treasure or recreation he turns with longing heart, even as an infant to its Mother's arms, to the quiet and peace of Home. When the child has struggled with studies that seemed to overwhelm or has satiated itself with joys of play and game it seeks the bliss of the family circle in the shelter of the Home.

“Home means rest and quiet and happiness, Home is earth's touch of the bliss of heaven.”

The idea of the Masonic fraternity everywhere seems to be to mould its charitable institutions into real homes, where those who enter may not be made to feel that they are in any sense wards of the institution, but rather members of the Masonic family.

Mention is made of the splendid cottage erected at the Masonic Home at Utica by the Scottish Rite Bodies of the state.

The work of the George Washington Memorial Association is briefly reviewed and the recommendation made that the committee in charge be continued.

Grand Master Robinson states that on June 14 Flag Day was celebrated by nearly every Masonic lodge in the jurisdiction. The following paragraph he quotes from the memorable document, "Your Flag and Mine":

"The world has never known a banner more humble in its origin, yet more daring in its conception, and more eloquent in its appeal to the hearts and minds of men the world over. For nearly a century and a half it has flung forth a message to liberty-loving peoples of all lands, bidding them welcome to a land of opportunity, a land where there are neither kings nor czars, princes nor peasants, a land where all men are brothers with equal liberty and justice for all. And its message has been heard—and answered."

The day of dedication of the hospital at Utica is referred to as the most auspicious in the history of the grand lodge. In this connection, the lodges of New York are urged to do their utmost toward the establishing of a substantial maintenance fund.

The grand master urges the establishment of an official periodical for the Masons of New York and in this connection gives voice to the following:

"The craft is moving forward. A new vision of its opportunities is beckoning us to ampler service and achievement. The need is for leaders who will help us translate our teachings into action, leaders who will stir our minds and hearts to work in unison one with the other, leaders who will point the way to the best that the fraternity can do for the greater good of our fellowmen. Where shall we look for them? The body of the craft must bring them forth. They must be flesh of our flesh, and spirit of our spirit, aflame with an inspired zeal for our ideals. We need them, and we shall have them if we resolve steadfastly to spread among our brethren a broader and deeper understanding of the eternal verities of Freemasonry."

Concerning the National program for education he gives strong endorsement to the Smith-Towner bill, and says:

“The usual arguments against this program on economic grounds are nearly as baseless. The principle of federal aid does, of course, mean that the more populous and wealthy states contribute to assist those less favored than themselves. This objection, however, applies equally to all taxes levied for the common good. By the same token, we ought to scrap our navy because New York contributes more to its maintenance in proportion to population than Mississippi. This objection is narrow, sectional, and selfish. It is directly contrary to the Masonic teachings of brotherhood, universal enlightenment, and relief.

“After the mask has been stripped off, there remains only the naked truth that there are those who do not want to have the American public schools strengthened. Nothing can prevent an alignment being had on this issue and, when that alignment comes, somewhere around ninety percent of the population is going to be on the side of enlightenment and progress.

“If American Freemasonry is true to the principles of George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, DeWitt Clinton, Theodore Roosevelt and countless others of its greatest leaders, there can be no question as to the side upon which our brethren of the craft will stand.”

Over the educational service which is maintained by a special committee of the Grand Lodge of New York, the grand master grows enthusiastic, stating that during the year, a total of over 1200 meetings was held at which addresses of educational value had been delivered.

The Masonic Service Association is endorsed and the following comment made:

“Some grand lodges which have held aloof are now taking a keen interest in this subject, and in addition to establishing local bureaus, have and are inviting the Masonic Service Association to demonstrate its program.

“The experimental stage in the association life seems past. As soon as the permanent plan is settled, the expenses should be very materially diminished. New York already has suggested plans for re-financing, which will materially lessen its commitments and at the same time not cripple the services of the Association to the craft.

“It is my suggestion that the question of New York’s relationship to the association, after the annual meeting thereof in November next, be left to the discretion of the grand master, with the understanding, of course, that New York’s commitment will not be increased over its present per capita obligation.

“The need for cooperation between the Masonic jurisdictions of the United States needs no advocacy. Our sad experiences in the past settle that matter beyond dispute.”

The work of the Geneva conference is reviewed but the grand master is not certain whether the instrumentalities created at Geneva can be availed of for service to humanity under Masonic auspices. He believes that a step in the right direction has been taken for he recommends that New York's quota of expense amounting to $1,000.00 be paid in the matter of the continuation of membership.

Concerning his work as grand master Brother Robinson relates the following story which conveys its own lesson:

“I heard Dr. John Wyndham tell about a visit he made to the Island of Arran; and he told about visiting some of the humble people on that island; and he went into a cobbler's shop and spoke to the cobbler, away back in the corner of the shop and at his bench. And in the course of the conversation, he asked him if it did not become very monotonous and tedious and wearisome, sitting there cobbling all day long; and the old cobbler said, ‘Yes, it sometimes does get very wearisome and tiresome and very monotonous, but whenever it does I just kicks open the door,’ and suiting the action to the word he gave a kick at the wooden door at the side, and there, open to all their view, was the great and vast expanse of the ocean; the weariness and the monotony of the job was lost in the contemplation of the boundless sea.”

From the report of the grand secretary it is noted that the number of lodges in the jurisdiction is 902, and the number of Master Masons 272,634.

The grand treasurer received $568,949.00 and paid out $553,741.00.

A very interesting document was presented to the grand lodge from the trustees of the Masonic Hall and Asylum Fund, which covers the various matters of detail concerning the Masonic Home at Utica and its several departments. The Grand Lodge of New York appears to have sufficient funds for its various activities for the Children's Christmas fund the sum of $15,893.00 was collected. There are in the home 201 children, 163 men, 119 women, a total of 483.

The Grand Lodge of New York adopted the report of the committee on correspondence which recommended the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland, Grand Lodge of Ecuador, the Republic of Czecho-Slovakia, Grand Lodge of Vienna, and delayed action in the matter of several other grand lodges, one of which was the National Grand Lodge of Italy.

An extensive report is made by the committee in charge of the George Washington Memorial Association. It appears that the Grand Lodge of New York has pledged nothing although it has already contributed the sum of $14,000.00. The following table is submitted in the report and is interesting. It shows the amount pledged and paid by each.

The promise is made that New York will do its full share toward this most excellent undertaking.

Quite a number of distinguished guests were present and addressed the grand lodge at length, notably Andrew L. Randell of Texas, Wm. W. Wilson of North Carolina and others.

An interesting paper is presented from the grand historian who goes back to the year 1717 and who reviews some of the early and formulative periods of Masonic development.

Some splendid work is being done by the Grand Lodge of New York in the matter of its educational department. It would be interesting to quote from the committee's report showing just what is being accomplished but lack of space prevents. The election and installation of officers closed the session.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by a committee of which S. Nelson Sawyer is chairman. Illinois is very courteously reviewed in one page, the principal acts of the grand lodge being mentioned. Concerning the report on Foreign Correspondence the following observation is made:

"The well digested report on Masonic Correspondence prepared by Past Grand Master Delmar D. Darrah—his fourth—will be read with pleasure and profit. It is prefaced by a general review of the main issues noted in various proceedings. New York for 1920 is well presented. Two-thirds of the review deals with the address by Grand Master Farmer. All matters of importance are briefly noted in an appreciative spirit."

NEW ZEALAND, A. F. & A. M.

This far-away grand lodge has two hundred seventeen active constituents with an aggregate membership of 17,245.

The thirty-second annual communication was held at Auckland opening on Wednesday, May 11, 1921. The attendance of officers and representatives was unusually large.

Early in the session, the Board of General Purposes submitted an amendment to the by-laws changing the time of the annual meeting from May to November. Another amendment provided for the appointment of provincial grand masters and outlined to a large extent, their duties.

The election of officers took place and resulted in the selection of Thomas Ross of Dunedin for the office of grand master.

What is called the balance sheet was presented and the various sums show that the grand lodge is in a splendid condition financially.

The grand lodge does not recognize the institutional form of charity but does its full duty in the matter of caring for those dependent upon Masonic benevolence. Some of the contributions are quite liberal.

The reports of the disbursements for relief are specifically set forth so that there can be no question as to where the funds of the grand lodge went.

The question of taking care of disabled soldiers was brought forward and the discussion of the subject shows it was agreed that the limitation of the expenditure of the Board of Charities to its interest earnings should be removed and whatever funds the board had at its disposal should at all times be available for use.

It appears from the proceedings that the past masters of the lodges of the jurisdiction have been receiving the proceedings and as the expense is considerable to the grand lodge the proposition was made that the past masters be charged an annual fee of five shillings which would give them the proceedings at practically cost.

The grand lodge also proposes to increase the fee charged for certificates of membership.

The Board of General Purposes announced the resignation of Brother Malcolm Niceol, grand secretary, and in view of the fact that another is to be elected to fill his place a salary was fixed at £550 per annum.

The retiring grand secretary, Brother Niceol, was, after much discussion, given a retiring allowance of £400 per year.

The installation of officers took place with a grand flourish of trumpets and much music, lots of regalia and plenty of eclat.

The following will give some idea of the general character of the procession:

 The Grand Master-Elect was presented to the Installing Grand Master by the Grand Director of Ceremonies.
 Prayer by the Grand Chaplain.
 Response—So mote it be.

The grand master, immediately following the ceremonies of installation, made an extended address to his grand lodge covering many items of interest.

Just before the close the following amendment was moved:

“That the following be added to Rule 142, Book of Constitution, or that a new Rule (No. 142A) be made: ‘Every applicant for initiation into Freemasonry shall be handed by the secretary of the lodge the booklet on ‘The Aims, Object, and Teaching of Antient, Free and Accepted Freemasonry,’ sanctioned and issued by grand lodge, which must be returned to the lodge after perusal. On the applicant then deciding to proceed with his application, it shall be considered by the Investigation Committee of the lodge or Board of Enquiry where such is constituted.’ ”

The matter went to the Board of General Purposes and will come up again next year for final disposal.

NORTH CAROLINA, A. F. & A. M.

The city of Raleigh entertained the grand lodge assembled in one hundred thirty-fifth annual communication. The grand lodge opened briefly after which J Bailey Owen read his annual address. It is concise and to the point, covering eight and one-half pages of printed matter. Reference is made to the educational work upon which the grand lodge embarked last year. Some splendid results have been attained and the recommendation is made that the good work continue.

A number of visitations are reported, one of which refers to a meeting at Charlotte at which every office in the lodge was filled by an employee of the Southern Railroad. Five corner-stones were laid. At each of these functions the grand lodge was assembled and the ceremony performed.

Five dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted and the usual number of dispensations for general purposes issued. Every dispensation for new lodges was only granted after one of the lecturers had certified that at least five members of the proposed new lodge could confer all the degrees.

Two so-called decisions were rendered.

The Masonic and Eastern Star Home is especially commended for the excellent work it is doing and the grand lodge is urged to be liberal in the matter of contributing to this worthy enterprise.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum is mentioned in the following paragraph:

“This noble charity still challenges the admiration of the state, furnishing as it does food, clothes, homes and a splendid education for 394 of the orphans of our state. About 75 per cent of the orphans are children of non-Masons, which shows another evidence of the breadth of our Masonic charity. I commend this great charity to the fraternity and ask the Finance Committee to make to this great work as large an appropriation as they possibly can. Reports from the directors of both of these institutions will be read to the grand lodge for its consideration.”

The grand treasurer reports receipts of $76,681.00 and disbursements of $68,662.00.

The grand secretary's report discloses the fact that there are 454 lodges in the jurisdiction with a total membership of 36,576. The net gain for the year was 3,030. The grand secretary says there is a good deal of book Masonry in North Carolina.

During the first day's session S. R. Harris, the grand orator, delivered a most excellent address, his subject being “The Human Cry and Masonry's Answer.” The address was thoroughly Masonic.

The board of directors of the Masonic Home rendered a short report asking for an appropriation of $50,000.00 to run the home for the coming year.

The report of the superintendent is very complete.

The printing office did quite an extensive business, but shows a loss of $791.00 for the year, whereas the woodworking shop shows a profit of $4,359.00.

The Educational Committee submit a report in which they make certain recommendations for carrying forward the educational work for the year. They are as follows:

“1. That the Educational Committee be a permanent committee of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina.

“2. That in each subordinate lodge, the local master, upon election, appoint an Educational Committee, whose duty shall be to arrange for educational meetings. In addition to this, the committee shall bring to regular meetings items of interest, both local, state and national, in which a Mason should express himself.

“3. That at least four educational meetings per year be held either in a single lodge or group of lodges, under the leadership and direction of the district deputy in co-operation with the local master. Also that the local talent of these lodges be largely used for the development of the program, and occasionally special speakers outside the local district who can contribute to the increase in knowledge.

“4. That a central volunteer speaker’s bureau be established where the lodges can make requests for outside speakers when necessary.

“5. That a portable moving picture machine be purchased and also reels for illustrating Masonic lectures.”

A resolution was adopted providing for the establishment of a fund to be used in the education of children of Masons.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence offer quite an interesting report concerning the recognition of lodges in Latin America. The following paragraph in the report gives some idea of existing incongruity:

“If we cannot recognize Peru, we certainly cannot recognize its youngest child, Ecuador; but I cannot understand how it is that we recognize Cuba and refuse Mexico. I take it that there are good reasons for our position in both cases, or that, rather there were good reasons at the time this policy was established.”

The correspondent recommended that the whole subject go over for one year.

The Jurisprudence Committee brought in a report recommending the approval of the Towner-Sterling bill. The recommendation brought forth a vigorous discussion showing that there were those for the bill and those against it. The grand lodge, however, sustained the report of the committee.

The election of officers with the installation and presentation of the jewel closed a very interesting and profitable business session.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence made a part of the report.

One hundred seventy pages of appendix are required to take care of the tables and various other reports.

NORTH DAKOTA, A. F. & A. M.

The thirty-second annual communication was historic in character because of the International Masonic Convention at Pembina. For this reason it was planned to have only the preliminary business and grand master's address at the morning session prior to calling off for the day.

The roll call showed all grand officers on hand together with a constitutional number of lodges. Several distinguished guests from other grand jurisdictions were present and accorded the grand honors. The United States flag was carried into the lodge room by the senior deacon while members of the grand lodge stood at attention and sang one verse of the Star Spangled Banner.

The grand master, Allen V. Haig, presented his report as grand master. In his opening remarks he refers to the peace and harmony of the institution and suggests that:

“The only danger at the present time is that the increased popularity of our institution may induce unworthy men to apply for admission, and we become rather lax in the investigation of those who apply. It is quality and not quantity that should govern the selection of material for our building. Those who present themselves for membership in our order should be most thoroughly investigated.”

He pays tributes of respect to the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions and reports the constituting of three lodges and issuance of four dispensations for the formation of new lodges. He states that he received many requests to confer degrees in less than statutory time and in all cases where cause seemed urgent enough, the dispensation was issued.

One new Masonic temple was dedicated. The corner-stone of an Episcopal church was laid by the deputy grand master.

The grand lodge maintains what is called a Masonic cottage at Dunseith. It is apparent that this cottage is for the treatment of patients who may be suffering with various diseases.

The grand master reports four questions and answers under the head of decisions. One question and answer is as follows:

“Question: The treasurer of a lodge is the cashier of a bank, wherein the lodge funds are deposited in the name of the lodge. The bank closed its doors and a receiver has been appointed and the lodge is notified to make claim on the bank. Can not the lodge hold its treasurer personally liable for the funds on deposit?”

“Answer: If the funds were deposited in the name of the lodge as provided by the grand lodge law, the treasurer can not be held personally responsible.”

The George Washington Memorial Association is highly endorsed as is the Masonic Service Association.

The visitations made by the grand master are not numerous owing to the fact that business engagements did not permit him to accept very many of the invitations which came to him.

One lodge was called up on the carpet by the grand master because it permitted the use of its temple by an organization entirely foreign to Masonry for use in initiating ceremonies and banquet on Sunday afternoon and evening. The grand master asked the grand lodge to take some action regarding the proper use of lodge temples.

Concerning fees and dues, the grand master says:

“I have learned that a few lodges are disposed to raise the question of fees and dues, feeling that the minimum fee of $50.00 is too high. Surely, if Masonry is worth anything, it is worth $50.00, and I feel it would be very unwise to make any change in this by-law.”

District meetings were held during the year throughout the state at which the work of the several degrees was exemplified and as a result much good was done for the lodges of the state.

The grand master closes his address by thanking the brethren for the loyal support they have given him during the year and with a sincere expression of the appreciation for the high honor conferred upon him.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts as $24,205.00 and his expenditures as $21,658.00. The report of the grand secretary is full and complete and deals with a great many affairs which passed through his office during the year.

The grand lodge paused in its business transactions long enough to permit the presentation of baskets of peonies to the grand master and grand secretary.

The fraternal correspondent, Grant S. Hager presents to the grand lodge a sort of resume of the principal things before the Masonic world. The subjects which he treats are Numerical Growth Continues, Charity More Widespread, Physical Qualifications, Our Stand on the Grotto, Large Lodges, Topical Reviews.

The grand lodge maintains a most excellent library and during the year 423 books were sent out to those who wish to read. From all that can be gathered from the report, the grand lodge is doing a most excellent work in the education of the Masons through its circulating library.

North Dakota is urged in a report made by Walter L. Stockwell, state director to get behind the George Washington Memorial Association and support it in every possible manner.

A long report is made by the committee in charge of the Thompson Memorial Prize in oratory. The Committee on Grand Master's Address and reports of other grand officers submit their findings to the grand lodge in a comprehensive report presented near the close of the meeting.

From the report of the Committee on Masonic Education the idea is gleaned that a most excellent work is being accomplished by the Grand Lodge of North Dakota in the matter of disseminating Masonic information to the Masons of the state.

An amendment to the by-laws was presented providing that all candidates for the Masonic degrees be required to take the oath of allegiance to the American flag. Another amendment provided a change of venue in the case of Masonic trials.

One thing the grand lodge did was adopt a resolution providing that all grand masters present at the meeting of the grand lodge be paid mileage and per diem.

The Committee on Grievances and Appeals report nothing before them showing a most happy and harmonious condition to exist in the jurisdiction.

Concerning the proper use of Masonic temples, the Committee on Masonic Jurisprudence made a report as follows:

“The use on Sunday, of any Masonic temple owned or controlled by a Masonic lodge or Masonic corporation in this grand jurisdiction, shall not be permitted to any other organization for any purpose when a similar use on Sunday is forbidden to the Masonic lodge itself.”

From the report of the Committee on Chartered Lodges the information is gleaned that there are now in the State of North Dakota 13,582 Master Masons.

A patriotic service was adopted and the secretary directed to send copies of the report embodying the patriotic service to members of Congress.

The Committee on By-Laws report adversely on an amendment to the by-laws of the grand lodge providing that all candidates shall take an oath of allegiance to the American flag. On the question of change of venue, it was recommended that the subject be referred to a special committee of three to report at the next annual communication of the grand lodge.

On the afternoon of the last day the grand lodge sent greetings to the Eastern Star, installed its officers and closed with peace and harmony prevailing.

In the Report on Foreign Correspondence prepared by Grant S. Hager, Illinois is very generously considered in three pages. Brother Hager very carefully analyzes the address of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald as a remarkable paper. He mentions the various subjects he considers and commends him for the very vigorous stand which he took upon all matters which Brother Fitzgerald presented. Brother Hager has the following to say upon the attitude of the Grand Lodge of Illinois toward the Masonic Service Association:

“The Grand Lodge of Illinois did not join the Masonic Service Association. No one who was at the Cedar Rapids Conference of 1919 expected it would. The attitude of opposition displayed there by Past Grand Master Alexander H. Bell, of Illinois, and his well-known influence in his grand lodge, made it impossible for a fair and impartial report of the aims and purposes of that organization to come before the grand lodge. We are surprised at the special report of Past Grand Master Owen Scott, however. His attitude at Cedar Rapids was most friendly. In his talks before the conference one was lead to believe he would make a report favorable to Illinois becoming a member jurisdiction. But he evidently acquired a serious attack of ‘cold feet’ when he returned to the soil of Illinois. However, there is not entire unanimity among the prominent members of the jurisdiction on the question.”

Concerning the review of this writer Brother Hager has the following to say:

“A very excellent and discerning review is submitted by Past Grand Master Darrah—his third. The ‘prefatory’ remarks, cover in small compass, a wide range of important subjects. It covers 126 pages and reviews practically all existing jurisdictions. North Dakota for 1919 is covered in two pages. The meat of our proceedings is served for the Illinois craft. Our activities are fairly and kindly treated.”

NOVA SCOTIA, A. F. & A. M.

The city of Digby entertained the grand lodge convened in fifty-sixth annual communication Wednesday, the 8th day of June.

The opening ceremonies consisted of addresses of welcome, reading of letters and telegrams from absentees and the introduction of distinguished guests.

The grand lodge was called to ease and was formed in solemn procession and marched to Holy Trinity Church where divine services were held. A most appropriate sermon being preached by Rev. William Driffield.

The grand lodge then returned to its place of meeting and was called to labor after which the grand master, George D. MacDougall, read his annual address. It is a very complete document in which there is carefully set forth by him the various acts which he performed in his administrative capacity. He says, concerning early Masonry in Nova Scotia:

“We do know that a lodge, regularly chartered, existed in Annapolis Royal in 1738 and in Digby in 1784. There were, as one would naturally expect, the ups and downs, with broken records, consequent upon a young and sparsely settled country. But the lamp of Freemasonry continued to glow, and a sure and firm foundation was established when in 1870 the lodge of King Solomon, No. 54, whose invitation caused us to meet here, was chartered by the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia.”

He very tenderly mentions the dead at home and abroad, commends the Freemasons Home and its Board of Managers.

Two dispensations were issued for the formation of new lodges. He sets forth in his report, liberal paragraphs stating the lodges which he visited and the hospitality that was shown him. The list is a long one and shows that the grand master was generous in visiting the lodges of his jurisdiction.

It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia has had some trouble with the Order of the Eastern Star for in his report the grand master presents the following paragraph:

“You will note the question again asked re-establishment of Order of Eastern Star, and I am advised that a chapter of the order has been instituted in Annapolis Royal. The pronouncements have up to this time always been against the creation of feminine bodies, and while grand lodge has no jurisdiction, theoretically, over O. E. S., it has jurisdiction over other members of subordinate lodge in their connection with any other body. Its membership includes men, whose qualifications are that they must be Master Masons in good standing, and I am advised (I do not know how correctly) that it is necessary that Master Masons be present. In order to clarify the situation, it might be well for grand lodge at this time to make some pronouncement on the subject.”

Under the head of Decisions there is presented a long list of questions and answers. Nearly all of these are local constructions of existing laws. A careful examination of the same reveals nothing out of the ordinary.

The grand master congratulates the craft of the jurisdiction upon the splendid showing it has made in the way of increased membership, the gain for the year being practically forty per cent.

The deputy grand master makes a very brief report concerning invitations to other lodges which he accepted.

From the grand secretary's report the information is gleaned that the present membership of the lodges is 8,781, a gain for the year of 648.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts as $19,776.00 and his expenditures for general purposes at approximately $10,000.00.

The trustees of the Freemasons Home gives the number of guests at eighteen.

The grand historian submits a document which no doubt is pleasing to such members of the craft who are interested in those phases of the fraternity outside the ritual.

The reports of the district deputies disclose the fact that those officials are energetic and ever striving to upbuild the craft in their respective jurisdictions. The reading of their reports show they have been in close touch with the general condition and lodges during the year.

The reception of grand representatives, the election and installation of officers were the principal acts of the closing hours.

James C. Jones writes the correspondence report and considers Illinois in three pages of fraternal and generous review. He analyzes carefully the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald, quoting brief extracts therefrom. Concerning the position taken by Grand Master Fitzgerald on physical qualifications Brother Jones observes as follows:

“As in other jurisdictions, and particularly since the war, the grand master has had more or less bother about ‘Physical Qualifications’ of candidates. However, after calling the Advisory Committee together, the grand master ‘was of opinion that it was safer and wiser to allow the lodges to follow the letter of the old law, rather than attempt to act under the spirit of the new.' In other words it would appear that the grand master does not propose making any alteration on account of changed conditions caused by the war. Perhaps he is right, but as the Scotchman says, 'I hae my douts.' "

He speaks very kindly of the Illinois reviewer in the following paragraph:

"Brother Delmar D. Darrah presented the report on Masonic Correspondence, his third, in which he very pleasantly and intelligently reviewed the proceedings of the sister grand lodges. Nova Scotia for 1919, receives two closely printed pages of the report, and our doings are nicely condensed and fraternally reviewed. Speaking of our last review of the proceedings of this important grand jurisdiction, Brother Darrah says:

'The report on correspondence is prepared by James C. Jones, grand secretary. He gives Illinois four pages of consideration and in a very brief manner, chronicles the principal events of the session of 1918.'

'Now, we thought we did pretty well, and that our consideration of the 1918 proceedings was anything but 'brief.' We note that the modesty of our good brother prevented a repetition of the good things we said of him and his work. But he was entitled to them all the same, but all we reviewers are 'tarred with the same stick,' we are all modest.' "

John Murray Lawson, G.M., Yarmouth.

James C. Jones, G.S., Halifax.

OHIO, F. & A. M.

1921

The Grand Lodge of Ohio sends forth a most excellent book of proceedings covering the transactions of the one hundred twelfth annual grand communication which was held in the city of Cleveland, October 19 and 20, 1921.

The officers and members of the grand lodge met at Hollenden Hotel on Wednesday morning, October 19, and under an escort of Knights Templar were conducted to the Masonic temple where the session was held.

The grand master directed the deputy grand master to open a lodge of Master Masons and then retired.

The report of the Committee on Credentials showed a quorum present after which the grand master was received with honors, took his place in the east and opened in ample form. The grand commander of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar was introduced and welcomed to a seat in the east. Apparently this action on the part of Ohio brethren will not find favor in Colorado, California and a few other states which have recently enacted very drastic action against the so-called higher bodies.

Grand Master John R. Flotron submitted his report which is a very interesting document covering thirty-seven pages. He pays tributes of respect to the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions.

Grand Master Flotron announces the appointment of H. S. Johnson of Cincinnati, Ohio, to represent the Grand Lodge of Illinois near the Grand Lodge of Ohio. He also states that he called a meeting of the district lecturers at the Masonic Home near Springfield. Sixteen were present and matters pertaining to the home were fully discussed and plans outlined for the work of the year.

Dispensations were issued for the formation of eleven new lodges while ninety-four dispensations were granted covering various Masonic needs.

Sixteen special emergency communications were held, sixteen Masonic lodge rooms and temples were dedicated and seven corner-stones laid.

The list of visitations made by Grand Master Flotron is quite lengthy showing that he moved around among his brethren and kept in close touch with the doings of the craft.

He reports that the Masonic Home is at the present time becoming crowded and that applicants now await provision being made for their proper housing.

The grand master announces that the total number of members in the State of Ohio is 157,938 while the total average attendance at lodges for the year is only 20,034 or about 12½ per cent.

He gives three reasons why Masonic lodges are not better attended. They are as follows:

“First, the continual grinding out of candidates where all time is given to initiatory work becomes tiresome to many, especially those seeking more light and a greater knowledge of Masonry.

“Second, a greater number of social and business cares to divide our interests, makes for a lack of appreciation of what each individual member owes the fraternity.

“Third, many come as a stepping-stone only to the so-called ‘higher degrees,’ and after receiving them, fail to realize the importance of the very foundation of their Masonic structure.”

The Committee on Rituals appear to be active because the grand master announces that the supply of cypher copies is exhausted and so many replacements are demanded that it is necessary to continue the committee in its work.

He seems to think that there is a general laxity throughout the jurisdiction in the matter of the business concerns of the lodge. He calls attention to the fact that the business transactions of the lodge are just as secret as the ritualistic work particularly so with reference to the ballot.

Only one decision is rendered by Grand Master Flotron and this relates to an objection lodged against an applicant whose fee the secretary desired to return without record. The decision reads as follows:

“A petition is received when it is tendered to the lodge and the lodge through its membership or its officers by some affirmative action clearly indicates that the petition has been received and ready for further action.”

The grand master seems to think that suitable monuments or markers should be placed at the graves of such past grand masters whose last resting place is unmarked.

The grand master also thinks that district lecturers cannot secure the best efficiency unless they make two visits to each lodge, the first one to be a matter of general instruction and the second is to see that his suggestions have been carried out.

Concerning the protection of Ancient Craft Masonry he says:

“I recommend that the dignity, solemnity and importance of the three degrees of Ancient Craft Masonry be protected by making it a Masonic offense in this jurisdiction to solicit or to recommend a Master Mason to receive any degrees in any organization or body recognized by this grand lodge as Masonic for a period of not less than three months after he has passed a satisfactory examination in the Master Mason Degree; and further, to solicit or recommend a Master Mason for membership in any organization for which that standing is a qualification, until the person so solicited or recommended has been a Master Mason for a period not less than one year after he has passed a satisfactory examination in the Master Mason Degree.”

He recommends as follows:

“Every application made to a subordinate lodge should be a citizen of the United States of America who can speak and read the English language, and if not so, the lodge should refer it to the grand master, who may grant permission to a subordinate lodge to proceed, if in his opinion there be a satisfactory reason for the candidate to reside in the United States of America without becoming naturalized.”

Several amendments to the by-laws are suggested by the grand master and he expresses the hope that they may be adopted.

In concluding, the grand master states that the Grand Lodge of Ohio shows a net gain of 15,177 for the year just closing and that the total membership in the state is 163,657.

The grand treasurer, Horace A. Irvin reports he received from the grand secretary the amount of $251,612.00 and paid out on warrants $292,974.00. The Grand Lodge of Ohio is in a splendid condition financially, its available resources approaching $348,000.00.

The first business on the second day was the election of grand officers. This was followed by quite an extensive report from the Committee on Necrology.

All lodges under dispensation were granted charters.

The Committee on Charity brought in a report endorsing the report of the Near East Association and recommending that the grand lodge lend its assistance to this most worthy cause.

A long report is made by the trustees of the Ohio Masonic Home. The report is interesting and shows the scope of the work being accomplished by the Masons of Ohio.

It is apparent that the grand lodge is wrestling with the problem of building a hospital, for the trustees report that the hospital has not been abandoned but its erection has simply been postponed.

The Washington Memorial Association is of course thoroughly endorsed and such decisions as the grand master report are approved by the Committee on Masonic Jurisprudence. The Jurisprudence Committee submit the following amendment to the grand lodge by-laws:

“That the worshipful master shall require each Master Mason within two months after his obligation to acquire and pass the examination lecture of the degree, unless (for sufficient reason to be stated on record) an extension of time shall be given by the worshipful master, and that he certify that this has been done on the annual returns on blanks to be printed and furnished by the grand secretary.”

The craze for compelling Master Masons to learn the catechism of the Third Degree is spreading. Just what is to be accomplished by this requirement, the writer is unable to discern. Maybe this is one reason why the lodges are not better attended. There is too much attention paid to extraneous matters and too little to those vital things which men like and enjoy and which serve to bring them together on frequent occasions.

Quite a long report is submitted by Robert I. Clegg from the Committee on Masonic History. There is quite an extensive discussion on the ritual of the state which should prove interesting to the brethren of the jurisdiction.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence do not report favorable on the matter of recognizing either the York Grand Lodge or the Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico. Queensland was however, recommended for recognition.

The installation of officers together with the presentation of the customary jewel closed a very interesting session.

The Report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by a committee of which O. P. Sperra is chairman. Illinois is given two and one-half pages of most generous consideration. Brother Sperra makes a brief review of the principal acts of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald and seems to find favor with everything he said and did. Brother Sperra commends the Correspondence Report of this writer and quotes a liberal extract from his Point of View concerning the recent abnormal increase in membership.

OKLAHOMA, A. F. & A. M.

The city of Guthrie, Oklahoma, entertained the grand lodge on February 28, and March 1 and 2. The meetings were held in the Scottish Rite Temple. The first business to be transacted was the presentation of an apron to the grand master, James H. Patterson.

The grand lodge was then opened in ample form after which the Committee on Order of Business submitted the program to be followed.

An address of welcome and a response thereto were followed by the address of the grand master. In his opening remarks he said:

“Can we persuade ourselves that the Disarmament Conference was called because of the influence of the principle of brotherly love among nations? Or was it rather to save the world from bankruptcy? And yet through all, the fraternity of Freemasonry has grown in numbers more rapidly than at any time in its history. And today Freemasonry in its strength is more robust, and in its standing more highly respected, and in its power more influential than ever before. And from everywhere the world over comes the good tidings that men high in political, social, and economic affairs, and from all avocations of life, are eager to join its ranks, subscribe to its doctrines, and permit its great principles to shape and govern their actions.”

The grand master shows the good taste to briefly mention the dead of his own and other grand jurisdictions and to leave to the Committee on Neerology the duty of preparing suitable memorials.

During the year twenty-three corner-stones were laid. Only one of them was for a Masonic temple.

Masonry in Oklahoma must be prospering for nine new lodges were constituted and thirteen dispensations issued for the formation of new lodges. Two lodges were consolidated, two charters taken up and five dispensations to attend divine worship were issued. A long list of special dispensations to meet various contingencies are recorded.

The grand master made a number of visitations to the lodges of his jurisdiction. He also reports that the children of the Masonic Home attended the Shrine picnic where they were most delightfully entertained.

The grand master urged the lodges of his jurisdiction to observe the Washington Masonic Anniversary and four hundred thirty-five of them arranged programs and held fitting exercises.

The Masonic Service Association is endorsed.

Four constructions of local law are submitted under the head of decisions.

Among the recommendations made by Grand Master Patterson is one relating to a re-districting of the state. His reasons are that the districts are now too large, and more are needed to properly subserve the needs of the grand lodge.

The district deputy grand masters are highly commended for the way and manner in which they have discharged the duties of their office. The grand master closes his terse report with thanks to all who assisted him during the year.

A past grand master of the jurisdiction who was expelled from Masonry fourteen years ago was restored to all his rights and privileges, introduced into grand lodge and given a seat in the east.

A most excellent address was delivered by Edgar D. Salkelt, on the subject of "Washington the Unifier."

The roll call of the representatives reveals the presence of Fred S. Walker representing Illinois.

The State of Oklahoma has collected and turned over to the George Washington Memorial Association the sum of $17,769.00.

The report of the grand secretary is complete in every detail. He gives the net gain for the year as 6,799. The present membership is 55,231. The grand treasurer gives his receipts at $199,995.00 and his expenditures as $224,000.00.

A motion was made in grand lodge that the masters of some half dozen lodges which were represented by those officials only be allowed to cast the entire vote of their lodges. After a spirited discussion the motion was lost.

A long report is made by the trustees of the Masonic Home. It cost $55,629.00 to operate the home for eleven months. It is apparent from the report that the money was well spent.

The Committee on Correspondence reported adversely on the recognition of the National Grand Lodge of Italy but voted to extend recognition to the Grand Lodge of Ecuador and to the Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico.

The Grand Lodge of Oklahoma desires to move the Masonic Home. A motion was made and unanimously carried that a committee be appointed to receive propositions and report to the grand lodge.

The grand lodge voted to make the fiscal year of the grand lodge to coincide with the calendar year.

The committee appointed to select a site for the new Masonic Home submitted propositions from two cities. The ballot was taken and the city of Guthrie selected.

A Committee on Public Welfare asked for the sum of $10,000.00 to carry on its work. An amendment was offered reducing the amount to $5,000.00 but the whole proposition was lost.

The grand orator delivered an address on the subject of the Symbolism of the Third Degree. It being largely esoteric, it was not printed in the proceedings.

On motion the grand secretary's office was moved to Guthrie.

The election, installation of officers and presentation of the jewel closed the session.

The Report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Thomas C. Humphry. In his opening remarks he seems to think that the Masonic world has gone wild for he says:

"We have the organization of boys whose fathers were Masons in the DeMolay organization. At colleges there has been an effort to organize boys who are sons of Masons into some kind of an organization, and so on and so on. To enumerate the various number of organizations would trench upon our limited space.

"Reading accounts of so many organizations, all supposed to be traveling the right road, reminds the writer that the colored preacher was wrong when he said to his congregation: 'There are but two roads, one to hell and the other to damnation.' You remember a colored brother arose in the audience and said: 'Dis niggah will take to de woods.' But the spirit of dissatisfaction prevails in a number of grand lodges. Grand masters and grand orator in eloquent strains and musical voice assert that we should favor the free public schools, as though the free public school system was in great danger of being wiped off of our statute books. All of our states have had a free public school system for years, and no political party has attempted to repeal the same; but it is a great subject for oratorical pyrotechnics. The writer nearly fifty years ago in state legislature made his maiden speech on the question of free public schools, and was as earnest and vociferous as if life and death depended on the passage of the measure, when in fact there was no opposition to it and it passed unanimously. It was like the attorney making an eloquent speech in court when taking a judgment by default."

Brother Humphry gives two pages of generous consideration quoting a substantial paragraph from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald and a liberal extract from the oration of Leroy A. Goddard.

In the review there is neither criticism nor comment.

OREGON, A. F. & A. M.

The seventy-first annual communication was held at Portland, June 15, 16, and 17. The roll of grand officers was called and a constitutional number of lodges reported present, after which the grand lodge was opened in ample form. The first thing was to receive the representatives of other grand lodges. C. E. Mensinger, representing the Grand Lodge of Illinois, is accredited with being present.

The grand master, Wm. J. Kerr, presented a concise report covering sixteen pages. His opening paragraph is as follows:

“The past year has been one of great growth in Masonic membership; and, on the whole, a healthful, true Masonic spirit prevails. While evidences of inharmony have appeared, and some difficulties in connection with a few of the lodges required adjustment, still, the year generally has been characterized by peace and harmony. From my observation and correspondence with constituent lodges, I am convinced that most of the difficulties that arise either in the work of the lodges or among the individual members thereof, are due to a lack of understanding rather than to a disposition on the part of members of the craft to ignore or to disregard their Masonic obligations.”

He reports the present membership of his grand lodge to be 21,000, an increase of 2,944 or sixteen per cent for the year. Concerning this increase in membership he says:

“There is ample evidence that those now coming to the doors of Masonry are actuated by varying motives. Most, no doubt, are sincere and in every way worthy, but there are those who hope thus to gain political advantage or social advancement, while others are expecting that Freemasonry will aid them in their business ventures. For instance, a professional man who had recently been admitted to membership in one of our lodges, expressed disappointment that he had not received the same relative increase in his business from members of the Masonic lodge as he had theretofore received from other orders of which he was a member.”

Grand Master Kerr believes in Masonic education, and thinks that there is much to be learned outside the ritual. He recommends that all candidates shall be required to learn the catechism of the Third Degree and pass an examination in open lodge.

Six lodges were given dispensations and set to work. Two hundred fifty-eight dispensations for general purposes were issued.

He calls attention in the following:

“Reports have been received indicating that many of the lodges have discontinued the use of the flag ceremony. This was on the supposition that since the ceremony was not printed in the revised ritual, it had been discontinued. Attention is called to the fact that the action of the grand lodge in providing for this ceremony has never been rescinded.”

The State of Oregon voted previously to construct a Masonic and Eastern Star Home. Grand Master Kerr reports that in addition to the funds already in hand an additional amount of $200,000.00 will be required and that one of the problems before the grand lodge will be to devise ways and means of raising money with which to complete the enterprise upon which the grand lodge has already embarked.

The George Washington Memorial Association is commended and the grand lodge urged to do its full share toward this most laudable undertaking.

The grand master has a great deal to say concerning public schools, government and Masonry and comes out vigorously in favor of the Towner-Sterling bill.

The grand master concludes his address by asking representatives in grand lodge to be zealous in the discharge of the various items of business which may come before them.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts as $59,252.00 and his expenditures as $33,554.00.

The educational fund shows receipts of $4,400.00 and disbursements of $1,795.00.

The grand secretary, James F. Robinson, makes quite a complete report in which he covers in detail practically every matter of business which passed through his hands.

The report of the grand lodge trustees discloses the interesting item that the educational relief fund is used largely for the assistance of children of Master Masons seeking education in public schools.

A long and detailed report is presented from the Masonic and Eastern Star Home. This report shows that the sum of $223,500.00 will be required to complete that institution.

A very interesting address was delivered by Percy R. Kelly, grand orator. The subject was “The Questions at the Threshold.” The address was Masonic and historical.

At this point the grand lodge was called off long enough to permit the introduction of a committee from the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star which organization chanced to be in session at that time.

The grand lodge took up a lot of time in considering various amendments to its by-laws. From the extended report incident thereto it is apparent that the brethren of Oregon interest themselves deeply in legislative changes. An amendment permitting lodges to work ten candidates at one communication was presented and after vigorous discussion was sent to the Committee on Jurisprudence for further consideration.

Reports of a large number of special committees occupied the entire forenoon of the third day. One rather unusual resolution appears in the following:

“It was moved and adopted that a special committee be appointed by the M. W. grand master to handle publicity matters in connection with gifts to the fraternity, and especially to the Masonic Home.”

The installation of grand officers, presentation of the customary apron were interesting features of the closing hours.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by David P. Mason. Illinois receives three pages of fraternal consideration. Liberal extracts are taken from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and the various things which he called the attention of his grand lodge to are favorably commented on by Brother Mason. The oration of Wm. H. Beckman is highly commended. Concerning the correspondence report of this writer the following comment is made:

“Every writer knows, it is far easier to write a review of extended reference than a short one. He has eliminated quotations from proceedings reviewed and comment. Paragraph by paragraph the writer carefully reviews essential facts in the proceedings of the various grand jurisdictions.”

PENNSYLVANIA, F. & A. M.

A quarterly communication was held in the city of Philadelphia on May 21, 1921.

Four lodges were granted permission to receive petitions for initiation presented for the fourth time. It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania has some laws on its statute books limiting the number of times a petitioner can apply for the degrees.

The Committee on Appeals report one case wherein a brother was tried for misuse of the black ball. A brother who had been expelled from his lodge for using the black ball was restored to good standing in his lodge and the penalty of expulsion removed. In another case where the black ball had been used, the accused was found guilty and the action of the lodge sustained. The remainder of the business transacted at this session was purely routine.

At a quarterly communication held June 1, 1921, four more requests to receive four petitions for initiation by lodges were presented and the requests granted.

A brother who cursed his lodge and everybody in it because his brother had been rejected was tried by the lodge and expelled. He appealed to the grand lodge and upon investigation it was found that the master had acted as accuser, judge and jury. The Committee on Appeals sustained the appeal, removed the expulsion and sent the case back for retrial.

A number of by-laws submitted to the Committee on By-laws by constituent lodges were approved.

It appears from the report of the grand master that the lodges in Philadelphia are permitted to open at any hour they choose to elect and may enact by-laws permitting them to open an hour earlier than stated in the by-laws, when it is desired to hold some special function. The grand master seems to think, and rightly so, that lodges should have a fixed time of opening and adhere to that time.

A quarterly communication was held September 7, 1921. The grand secretary made a report giving the number of lodges in the state as 513. The number initiated during the year was 19,383 and the present membership 168,847. The Committee on By-laws report the approval of a large number of amendments which had been submitted for consideration.

The last quarterly communication for the year was held December 7. At this time the trustees of the grand lodge charity fund make a very thorough and complete report as do the trustees of the various other funds given over into their keeping.

The Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania has numerous funds and the array of figures presented in the various reports simply dazzle the man of moderate means who has never been able to write his check above four figures. The various trust funds now in the custody of the grand lodge approach the grand total of $6,756,590.00.

The Committee on Masonic Temple make a very complete report showing that the operation and maintenance of the temple cost $79,345.00. There is nothing to indicate the amount received as income.

Quite a long report is made by the trustees of the various Masonic homes. It would be very interesting to quote some of the items reported but lack of space forbids.

The employment bureau of the city of Philadelphia considered during the year, 3,026 applicants for positions and the committee were able to place 1,227. The Pittsburgh employment bureau received 1,148 applications and placed 202.

The annual grand communication was held in the city of Philadelphia on December 27, 1921. At this time, John S. Sell, grand master, presented his annual report to the grand lodge. It is a very long document and goes much into detail concerning the various affairs which passed through his hands. In his opening remarks he observes that "Freemasonry in Pennsylvania is a Fraternity. It is not a religious body, it is not a political or social organization, and it does not intermeddle with or take part in political, business, social or religious affairs. Lodges meet for Masonic purposes only, namely, for transacting the business incident to the orderly conduct of their affairs, and for conferring degrees by and through which we endeavor to reach the hearts and minds of the members and teach them the competency of the Divine wisdom, their relation to Him, and their fraternal duty toward each other and to all mankind. Lodge meetings are not to be meetings for the discussion of subjects of any kind, whether social, political, religious, or topical upon which there might be a difference of opinion; neither are they to be places of entertainment, nor places from which there shall emanate propaganda of any kind with view to moulding or influencing legislation or public opinion."

He also says:

"Any organization in Pennsylvania, not recognized by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and which uses a Masonic lodge as a door through which a man must first pass in order to become a member thereof is not Masonic, and membership therein or affiliation therewith by Freemasons should be prohibited.

"Some of our brothers may say that Masonry has no right to interfere with the right of its members to join any other organization whether fraternal, or otherwise, and that their right to do so as citizens is guaranteed by the Constitution.

"These seem to forget that they have no inborn or inherent right to become Masons, and the Federal Constitution does not guarantee this privilege. The privilege of becoming a Mason emanates from the grand lodge operating through its subordinate lodges.

“Therefore it naturally follows, that since they are Masons under and by virtue of the grand lodge, they must be obedient to its mandates, and any brother who cannot cheerfully submit to all the rules, regulations and edicts as promulgated by the grand lodge, should sever his Masonic relations, or be compelled to do so.

“I believe, and I think every thoughtful Mason will agree, that no organization, whether it be religious, political, business or fraternal, which in its very inception and perpetuity depends absolutely upon another, and unless within itself there is sufficient merit to stand on its own foundation, has any right to existence.”

Grand Master Sell found it necessary to reissue the edict of Past Grand Master Watres compelling recommenders of committees to be more careful in the exercising of their prerogatives and that every committee on a petition shall personally visit the home of the petitioner and satisfy themselves that the home conditions of the petitioner are such that consistently belong in the home of a Mason.

Among what the grand master calls invocations and which he forbade lodges from carrying out in connection with a banquet or an assumed lodge occasion were the following: “Lectures, stereopticon exhibitions, concerts by brethren, dances, card parties, past master’s night, ladies’ night, social hours, etc.”

Inasmuch as the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania does not recognize the performance of the Masonic Burial Service over the ashes of a brother who has been cremated, the grand master recommends that a modification be made in the burial service and provision made to perform the burial service over the ashes of a deceased brother.

Grand Master Sell refused to issue a dispensation to confer degrees upon those who were physically maimed. He states as his reason that the local lodge was the best judge of the fitness of a candidate and that they should be the judge, keeping in mind the requirements of the by-laws of the grand lodge.

He condemns the hurried manner in which degrees are conferred in both city and country lodges. He says some very caustic things about those lodges which secrete a petitioner at a convenient place near the lodge room, spread the ballot and just the moment he is elected, rush him and initiate him to prevent an objection.

The Masonic Home of Pennsylvania is very highly commended for the splendid work it is doing.

The grand master seems to think that the Masonic Service Association has gone beyond the activities and functions which it announced itself originally to espouse and that the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania can well afford to withdraw from the association and retain its own sovereignty in all things.

Of course, the Masonic Memorial Association is commended and brethren urged to do their full share toward this most laudable enterprise.

Grand Master Sell holds to the opinion that employment bureaus have a tendency to increase rather than diminish the number of those who apply for assistance in the matter of securing work. He seems to think that too many unemployed brethren are not willing to accept a job but insist on filling a position.

Down in Pennsylvania when they want to take up the charter of the lodge they do not arrest it as we do in Illinois, they sequester it. Two lodges of the jurisdiction were so unfortunate as to have their charters sequestered. One had its charter suspended for permitting the Order of Eastern Star to meet in the same lodge room that Masonic meetings were held.

Grand Master Sell reported that the schools of instruction held during the year indicated a very helpful result particularly in promoting the ritualistic work of the jurisdiction. He seems to think that accompanying the instruction in ritual should be information concerning the usages, custom and landmarks of the fraternity.

The Grand Master concludes his address with a complete resume of his official acts. One decision is reported which reads as follows:

“I have decided that a loose-leaf minute book, or a loose-leaf ledger, is not to be used by any lodge. Such books have not only been found dangerous in that substitution can and may be made, but also that pages removed for any reason, are liable to be mislaid, lost, or destroyed, and in such cases the books do not show a complete or accurate account or record.”

The Committee on Grand Master's address make quite a lengthy report in which they take up the various matters reported by the grand master and go much into detail concerning same. His acts receive generous approval.

The election, installation of officers, presentation of the customary jewel together with past grand master's apron and gavel closed a session, socially and Masonically a great success.

The report of Foreign Correspondence is prepared by a special committee whose names are not given. Illinois is given two pages of very generous consideration.

The various acts of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald are reviewed very briefly and his action in refusing to permit lodges to work in any other than the American language seems to have pleased whoever wrote the report for he gives most hearty approval.

The reviewer speaks very complimentary of Past Grand Master Owen Scott, complimenting him upon becoming secretary of the grand lodge and refers to his enthusiasm for the George Washington Memorial.

The Illinois correspondent receives a compliment and expresses regret that a copy of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania was not in his hands at the time the report was made so that that distinguished jurisdiction might have received consideration.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of the Philippine Islands convened in tenth annual communication in the city of Manila on Tuesday, January 24. This young grand lodge is composed of seventy-eight constituents with a total membership of 6,297, a gain for the year of 1,171.

The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which the representatives of other grand lodges assembled in front of the grand east and were duly welcomed. This ceremony concluded, the grand master, Edwin E. Elser, read his annual message. He opens with tributes to the dead of his jurisdiction and enumerates at length those of his own lodges who passed into the great beyond.

A number of dispensations were issued to cover residence qualifications. A number of decisions are submitted. Most of them relate to matters of jurisdiction and to constructions of local law. There is nothing unusual or out of the ordinary appearing.

The by-laws of a number of constituent lodges were approved by Brother Elser.

He reports the issuance of a number of circulars. One of them related to the principles whereby a lodge of Masons is held. His deductions follow:

“One of the principal landmarks of Ancient, Free and Accepted Masonry is the congregation of the brethren into lodges. A lodge is a certain number of brethren duly assembled with a charter or dispensation authorizing them to meet. A charter is an instrument emanating from a grand lodge. A dispensation for a lodge is a like instrument issued by the grand master of a grand lodge. From the foregoing it will be seen that today a grand lodge is a necessity to grant authority for the formation of a lodge. This has been a law and rule since 1717 and is the law today.”

Brother Elser also outlines what he considers as the standard and requirement demanded by all reputable grand bodies of Freemasonry as a basis for fraternal recognition. He follows the California rule:

“Firstly, the grand body seeking recognition must be regularly formed by subordinate lodges which trace their origin to regular and legitimate Ancient Craft Masonry.

“Secondly, the grand body applying for recognition must hold undisputed sway as the acknowledged supreme power in Ancient Craft Masonry in the territory in which it claims jurisdiction, and must not render allegiance or obedience, in any sense whatsoever, to any other Masonic Power, or supreme council, but must be absolutely sovereign and supreme within its territory. As a necessary corollary of this condition, it must recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of all other grand lodges in their respective territories, and shall not presume to project its authority or sovereignty into the territory of any other grand lodge.

“Thirdly, the grand body applying for recognition as a sovereign grand lodge of Ancient Craft Masonry must confine its authority and the exercise thereof, to the three degrees of craft or symbolic Masonry.

“Fourthly, the grand body applying for recognition must recognize and support the Ancient Landmarks, which include, particularly, the Three Great Lights, and belief in God, and the immortality of the soul.”

It appears that the Grand Lodge of Spain has been organizing lodges in the Philippine Islands and the grand master made a vigorous assault on this grand orient which he declares to be irregular and clandestine.

The grand master certainly was generous in visiting lodges for he submits a long list of those he called upon during the year. Nine dispensations for the formation of new lodges were issued.

The Masonic Service Association is highly commended and the support of the Grand Lodge of the Philippine Islands promised.

Concerning the so-called higher bodies the following observation is made:

“During my year as grand master it has several times been brought to my attention that solicitation among the members has been very active on behalf of the so-called higher degrees, and in many instances while visiting lodges in the provinces I have been asked if it was necessary to take these degrees to obtain standing in the symbolic lodges; with the explanation that while the inquirer was most anxious to take the degrees, he could really not afford to do so at the time, and still he would not want to jeopardize his standing or rather prestige in the blue lodge, and rather than do so he would take these degrees at a sacrifice to himself and family, rather than lose caste among the brethren of his lodge. It is needless for me to tell you that I informed him that although degrees have run as high as 99 or 100, still there was no degree higher than that of Master Mason, and no matter how many degrees he might take he would still be no better a Mason than a Master Mason.”

Brother Elser expresses great disappointment that he was compelled to close his year without being able to start active work toward a Masonic School and Dormitory and expresses the hope that the future will see these institutions well established.

The following paragraph states a condition so unusual that it is reproduced herewith as a matter of general information:

“My attention has been called a number of times that the use by Masons in this grand jurisdiction, when forming secret societies, labor unions, and organizations for mutual benefit, or social companionship, of the symbols, regalia, insignia, and forms, which belong to Freemasonry. It is believed that this copying of the types of work and insignia is done partly through ignorance, and also that these things are used to make the ignorant classes believe they are joining a lodge of Masons, and thus the practice becomes a deceitful one, which cannot result in anything but damage to Freemasonry. Recently the officers of a labor union of Manila, believing the club was a Masonic organization, wrote to the Grand Lodges of Europe, and asked for recognition as a Masonic body. Such a petition was of course considered as material for the waste basket, but such a condition, fostered and caused by Masons brings a stigma and a bad name to regular Masonry in the Philippine Islands. I would, therefore, recommend that a resolution as follows be adopted by this grand lodge as a warning and as instruction to our members, who, if not revealing to the non-Mason things which should not be used outside of the lodge, are nevertheless bringing the good name of Masonry and its insignia into disrepute!”

The grand treasurer gives the total receipts of 34,666 pesos. He disbursed 37,477 pesos.

The report of the grand secretary is statistical and numerical. His report proves conclusively that his year of service must have been a busy one.

Following the custom of all grand lodges the Philippine Islands maintain schools of instruction which are doing a splendid work.

On the evening of the first day, the grand orator delivered the oration. As it is in Spanish, the writer declines to say whether it is good, bad or indifferent.

It appears that there is more or less mixture of rituals in the Philippine Islands and a resolution was passed requiring all lodges to use none but the York Rite ritual.

A motion was made that no candidate be obligated unless he is able to speak either English or Spanish. This matter was referred to the Committee on Jurisprudence.

The matter of a school and dormitory was placed in the hands of a special committee to devise ways and means for carrying this matter to a successful conclusion.

All lodges working under dispensation were given their charters.

A special Committee on Womans' Organizations reported favorably upon the Order of Eastern Star and recommended that the necessary steps be taken to introduce that organization into the Philippine Islands.

The report of the Committee on Jurisprudence recommended the restriction of all Masonic work to the English and Spanish languages.

The election and installation of officers closed a very interesting session.

George Rogers Harvey writes the correspondence report. He gives Illinois two pages, quoting briefly the principal sayings of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerald. He compliments the oration of Wm. H. Beckman and says some very nice things concerning the fellow who wrote the correspondence report for the Grand Lodge of Illinois, and for his good words he has sincere thanks.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND, A. F. & A. M.1921

The forty-sixth annual communication was held in the city of Montague on Wednesday, June 22. The Committee on Credentials submit a list of attendance showing there was a large representation present.

The grand master, William S. Stewart, presented a report, interesting and concise. He states that he visited all the lodges in the jurisdiction except two.

The grand secretary accompanied him and a recommendation is made that that official be paid $44.00 covering his traveling expenses.

The dead are tenderly mentioned and the issuance of ten dispensations reported.

The charitable enterprises of the grand lodge are chronicled and great praise is bestowed for the very careful manner in which these are administered.

Concerning the situation in Ireland the grand master said:

“It is not pleasant to refer to the unworthy and sinister efforts of evil and misguided men in Ireland,—(a component part of what constitutes the very heart and centre of our Empire), to tear asunder that island from its long union with Great Britain, and to establish therein, against the fixed desire and determination of a large and loyal body of its people, an independent republic, to be clothed with possibilities of great danger to the rest of the Empire. We cannot but abhor and sternly condemn the brutal methods of cowardly murder and foul assassination employed by the promoters of this unholy design. It should be alike the privilege and duty of all Masons to manifest their hostility to this evil attempt to strangle and destroy at its very heart, the Empire of whose great and glorious exploits we are so justly proud. In this connection it is gratifying to be able to state that no one of any standing in Canada has had the temerity to openly sympathize with so unworthy a cause.”

Concerning the labor situation he says, “There was a time not so very long ago, when labor had no rights except such as the employer chose to grant. Honest toil was then without its proper recognition, and there was no enlightened public opinion to bring its influence to bear to protect the working man against the oppressive greed and grasping disposition of his employer. But all this has been changed, and the credit for such undoubtedly belongs to labor organizations. The improved labor conditions, like the rights and liberties we now enjoy, were only obtained through patience, sacrifice, suffering, effort, strife and strikes. Strikes in the past were indeed justifiably necessary in order that public attention might be called to the grievous condition and just claims of the workers, but in the light of present day conditions, with universal manhood and womanhood suffrage, and with free representative government made easily responsive to all fair appeals, can there be any justification or excuse for strikes, particularly on the part of railroad and public utility workers? It is not at all surprising, that workers, having found the strike weapon so advantageous in the past, are reluctant to give it up."

A recommendation which he made to his grand lodge is a little unusual and is as follows:

"The United States has since their Civil war followed the beautiful custom of decorating on May 30 the graves of their fallen sailors and soldiers. They call it Memorial day. It is recommended that our Empire adopt the same plan and use the same day. It is suggested that as this day comes so close to Empire day it need not be a legal holiday for the Empire; but rather the day in the year when everyone, children and adults should wear a sprig of evergreen to show to all observers that they had in mind their fallen heroes of every race, creed and color and that on that day they would decorate the graves of their brave dead. This day thus observed would become an outstanding event in the history of the two branches of the English speaking races and would do much to set at naught the malign influences of makers of trouble between them. The suggestion is a splendid one but I am afraid the lateness of the Canadian spring season would not make May 30 a suitable day for such an observance."

The deputy grand master makes a concise report and covers visitations made by him.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts as $952.00 and his expenditures as $982.00.

The report of the grand secretary is brief but nevertheless interesting.

The number of Master Masons in the Island is given at 1,037. The net gain for the year is 67. There are but 15 lodges in the jurisdiction.

From the report of the grand lecturer the information is gleaned that every effort is put forth to instruct lodges in the work and ritual.

The Committee on Physical Qualifications submit a report and their deductions are given herewith:

"While there may be a danger of opening the door too widely, your committee quite agree with and recommend to your consideration the ground chosen by a number of grand lodges, viz: that the loss of a finger or toe or similar maimings should not debar a candidate whose mental and moral attainments point him out as worthy and desirable; in short that a man who can conform to all the requirements of our ritual and services is eligible. If he has an artificial foot but can kneel, his loss should not debar him. If some of his fingers be gone but he still retains enough to give the signs and grips properly he should be considered eligible, as these circumstances are usually the results of misfortune rather than personal fault.

“Your committee would therefore recommend that this grand lodge adopt as a common sense proposition that—regarding physical qualification any candidate is eligible who can comply with the requirements of the ritual and secret work, or as described by the landmarks: ‘The modes of recognition.’ ”

Very little business was transacted at this session, the election and installation being the last acts.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence.

QUEBEC, A. F. & A. M.

The Masons of the city of Montreal had the pleasure of entertaining the Grand Lodge of Quebec on the 8th day of February. It was the occasion of the fifty-second annual communication. It did not take the grand lodge very long to dispense with the opening ceremonies after which the grand master, Chas. McBurney read his annual address. His opening remarks are full of congratulation to the craft of Quebec for the splendid condition in which Freemasonry is to be found in this jurisdiction.

The grand master states that his first official act was to perform the Masonic burial service over the remains of Isaac Henry Sterns and to this distinguished craftsman is paid a very high tribute.

Seven lodges were constituted by the grand master during his administration and he reports in detail his visitations to numerous lodges.

Among the dispensations refused was one to permit the initiation of a candidate who had not the necessary residential qualifications. He also refused dispensations to permit the initiation of candidates who have not the full physical qualifications. One dispensation for the formation of a new lodge was refused.

Among the rulings reported is the following which is quite unusual:

The question was asked, "Can a lodge work by virtue of the presence in the lodge room of a photograph of its charter, the original having been destroyed, or removed?" I ruled as follows: "A lodge can work only by virtue of a charter from grand lodge, or a dispensation from the grand master, and the presence in the lodge room of that charter or dispensation is indispensable. The photograph of a charter can no more carry the authority of a charter than the photograph of a man can perform the functions of a man."

Another decision reads as follows:

"No countenance whatever can be given to any organization that seeks to build on, or ally itself to, Freemasonry in this province, until such organization has been recognized and approved by this grand lodge. The Eastern Star has not been recognized by this grand lodge and, consequently, no Quebec Mason can take such part as that indicated in the question without forfeiting his standing as a Mason."

Among the recommendations is one providing for a well equipped library which shall be available to the lodges of the province.

The matter of Masonic publicity is deplored by Grand Master McBurney who says that to advertise oneself or one's lodge is contrary to the teaching of our order.

The report of the grand secretary shows a net gain of 890 members for the year. The present membership is 12,059.

The grand treasurer states that he received the sum of $10,078.00 and spent for the running expenses $5,955.00.

A most excellent address was delivered to the grand lodge by the grand chaplain. His theme was both Masonic and religious.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters are quite complete showing that those officials are truly grand masters in their respective baliwicks.

Quite an interesting report is submitted by the committee on the state of Masonry. The writer is very much impressed with the thorough manner in which these officials have analyzed the general condition of Masonry in the jurisdiction.

The remainder of the business transacted was principally routine concluding with the election and installation of officers.

E. T. D. Chambers prepares the report on correspondence giving each jurisdiction one page. Illinois however is a little more generously treated and is considered in two pages. The foremost sayings of Grand Master Fitzgerrell as well as the principal actions of the grand lodge are chronicled.

Concerning the correspondence report of the Illinois writer, Brother Chambers comments:

“Brother Delmar D. Darrah has made a remarkable achievement in condensing into 137 pages of his Correspondence Report an admirable review of the proceedings of some fifty to sixty grand lodges, which really omits mention of scarcely anything of importance in the volumes of proceedings which he laid under tribute. In common with so many other experienced correspondents, he not only carefully reviews the reports of each grand lodge received by him, but he also comments specially upon a variety of Masonic topics in the introduction to his report. This, we believe to be the best mode to follow in work of this kind, combining, as it does, the advantage of the two most approved methods.”

The Illinois writer is deeply grateful for this most complimentary acknowledgment of his effort.

The proceedings under review are divided into special and quarterly communications. The special communication held on Saturday, August 21, seems to have been devoted to the investiture of grand lodge officers. At this time, the grand master made an address dealing with general matters. He refers to the presentation to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales of a very handsome set of jewels. Accompanying the jewels was a beautifully engraved document attesting the fraternal feeling of the Grand Lodge of Queensland for the Prince of the Royal House.

The grand master also makes mention of the fact that there are upon the rolls seventy-six lodges and a dispensation was issued for the formation of one more, making a total of seventy-seven.

The grand lodge held a stated communication on Monday, the thirteenth of September. James Stodart presided and opened the grand lodge.

The Board of General Purposes report the usual work of their department which is according to English custom, they assuming much of the routine work that is usually performed by grand masters in the states.

From a financial statement which is made a part of the proceedings, the finances of the grand lodge must be in an excellent condition, for there appear numerous funds, the proceeds therefrom being used for benevolent purposes.

A grand lodge committee which has had under consideration the adoption of a constitution for the Grand Lodge of Queensland made a report covering four articles of union looking toward the bringing of all Masonic interests of the state into a closer fraternal bond.

A recommendation was made that the committee be continued with power to draft a constitution and by-laws subject to the approval of the grand lodge.

A special communication of the Grand Lodge of Queensland was held on the 21st day of February. At this session Grand Master Stodart presided. The new constitution of the Grand Lodge of Queensland submitted in printed form was distributed among the brethren and was adopted.

The constitution varied somewhat from the English form in that the selection of grand lodge officers was made elective.

The final session of the grand lodge was held on March 14, 1921.

Two dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted and the Board of General Purposes congratulated the grand lodge upon having adopted a new constitution.

The remaining business was principally routine. There is no report on Foreign Correspondence appended.

RHODE ISLAND, F. & A. M.1921

The proceedings under review cover the transactions of the one hundred thirtieth year. The annual communication was held in the city of Providence opening Monday, May 16. James E. Batty read an address to the grand lodge reviewing the principal acts of his office during the year.

A long list of dead is submitted and the poem "Crossing the Bar" quoted in full. Fourteen lodges received special dispensations permitting them to attend church services and there were the usual number of dispensations for other purposes. Quite a number of visitations to lodges were made by Brother Batty. These are recorded in detail and the account should prove pleasing to the lodges visited. But one dispensation for the formation of a new lodge was issued. The grand master states that he received many requests for interpretations of Masonic law but that in every instance he was enabled to make a satisfactory reply without resorting to the making of a decision. In several instances permission was granted to initiate candidates possessing physical defects. The Masonic Service Association is highly commended as is also the George Washington Memorial project.

It appears from the report under review that the Masons of Rhode Island have a new Masonic Temple in project, for it is stated that a committee having this matter in charge are unable to reach satisfactory conclusions at the present time.

Appended to the grand master's report are reports of the grand lecturer, district deputy grand master and the committee having in charge the George Washington Memorial Association.

The grand secretary announces the present membership at 14,217, a substantial increase for the year. The receipts of the grand treasurer amounted to $9,377.00. The warrants drawn total $7,610.00.

It appears that the Grand Lodge of Rhode Island has on hand quite a sum of money which was raised during the war and is now in the hands of the Masonic War Board. It was proposed to change the name to the Masonic Service Board and to use the funds now in the hands of the War Board to relieve soldiers of the Masonic faith who are in need. The idea is a most excellent one and might very well be taken up by other grand bodies having a surplussage of funds in their hands.

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence, the space being devoted to a tableau of the officers and candidates in lodges.

SASKATCHEWAN, A. F. & A. M.1921

What is called an especial communication was held in the city of Regina on October 4, 1920, for the purpose of constituting a new lodge in that city. The annual communication was held June 15 and brought out a large attendance of grand officers and members of constituent lodges. There were addresses of welcome after which the deputy grand master read an address to the grand lodge, the grand master, Justis E. L. Elwood, having died during the year. A splendid tribute is paid to the deceased grand master.

Brother George M. Wier assumed the duties of chief executive and his report shows that he took hold of the affairs of his office with a clear understanding of what was required from him.

The grand lodge Benevolent Fund is pronounced to be in a very satisfactory condition.

Two rulings were submitted which are copied herewith:

“Members of a lodge holding an At Home of a purely Masonic nature, and to which the public are not invited, are quite justified in making application for a dispensation to wear regalia, although the lodge levies a charge on the members attending the same.

“There is no rule in our constitution preventing canvassing but there is a sort of unwritten law of the craft that there should be no canvassing for positions in the craft. I quite appreciate that there are times when in the practical working out of the matter, a certain amount of canvassing is bound to be done by members of the craft. Such canvassing, of course, should never be done by one who is likely to get the position and I think undue canvassing is to be very much depreciated. The officers elected should be installed.”

The usual number of dispensations for general purposes were issued and four papers were granted permitting the formation of new lodges.

District meetings were held during the year in twelve out of fifteen districts. There was general Masonic instruction and some very able and forceful addresses.

The chain letter nuisance made its appearance in Saskatchewan and an effort was made to curb the enterprise.

The closing paragraph of Brother Wier's address is reproduced herewith and should be read by every loyal American Freemason:

“In conclusion permit me to refer to an opportunity for patriotic service enjoyed in unique degree by the great institution of Freemasonry at the present critical juncture of social, economic, and international reconstruction. Certain profligate demagogues and reckless agitators posing as national heroes have been doing their utmost of late to stir up animosity and misunderstanding between Great Britain and the United States of America. That such despicable tactics are foredoomed to failure need not be argued. Our Anglo-American legacy is a common heritage of language, art and literature, of kinship and ideals. Since Magna Charta the spirit of our common law and the genius of our democratic institutions have developed first in identity and then in harmony toward the same goal of British responsible government—of American Government ‘of the people, by the people, for the people.’ We, as loyal British subjects, venerate the noble achievements and cherish in our memories the deeds of great American patriots, while our cousins across the international border pay willing homage to the great statesmen that added lustre to Britain’s historic past. We stand together to bear the white man’s burden, to protect the weak and oppressed against the tyrant and the autocrat. Temporary misunderstandings may arise but deep-seated animosities can never prevail. To cement the ties of kinship, tolerance, and mutual good-will, and to knit together, even more securely than in the past, these two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race—this is the unique opportunity and responsibility of the great international spirit of Freemasonry, which places brotherly love, relief and truth and the equality of our fraternal intercourse above the accident of birth or the petty nationalism of the jingo. Freemasonry as the interpreter of true British and American national ideals spells Freemasonry as the unifying genius of the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon world. May we Masons of Saskatchewan, the second largest grand jurisdiction of the dominion, do our utmost towards cementing the bonds of international amity and brotherhood and thus hasten the day when the spirit of our order, unfettered by the accidents of time or circumstance, may rise to the level of its God-given destinies!’’

The grand treasurer gives his receipts to be $14,469.00. The disbursements for all purposes were $19,326.00. The grand secretary gives the number of chartered lodges in the jurisdiction to be 155 with a present membership of 12,378, a net gain for the year of 693.

The business transacted at this session appears to have pursued the ordinary channels.

The grand representatives were received and welcomed. Steps were taken toward the establishment of a Masonic newspaper and the grand lodge was closed with the election and installation of officers. Appended to the proceedings is a very short report on Foreign Correspondence in which the Grand Lodge of Illinois is reviewed in one page. Brief extracts are taken from the report of Grand Master Fitzgerald and from the oration of Wm. H. Beekman.

SCOTLAND, A. F. & A. M.1922

The Grand Lodge of Scotland holds quarterly communications following the custom of the Grand Lodge of England. The business transacted is largely routine. The grand lodge being an old body has naturally become more or less stabilized.

Constituent lodges are referred to as daughter lodges from which the inference is drawn that the parent is of feminine gender. Inasmuch as the members of the so-called daughter lodges are all of the masculine persuasion, it would appear that the situation was somewhat anomalous.

At the several quarterly communications held the matter of finances appear to be the principal subject of discussion. The Grand Lodge of Scotland has plenty of money not only for its operating expenses but to maintain the very substantial charities which it carries forward.

The formation of new lodges does not seem to have been in the ascendency as the number reported is very few. Apparently the Grand Lodge of Scotland is well satisfied with the number which it has on its rolls.

The Grand Lodge of Scotland took action in the cause of the United States versus Mathew M. Thompson and voted to send the grand secretary and a committee of distinguished craftsmen to Salt Lake City to give evidence in the case.

All lodge by-laws and amendments thereto must be submitted to the grand lodge for approval.

The list of persons receiving annuities from the grand lodge is two hundred one. The value of the annuities received is £3,520. The annuities range in value from £15 to £40 each. The number of orphans in charge of the grand lodge is fifty-eight and the value of their annuities is £1,195.

The proceedings under consideration contain no report on Foreign Correspondence.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA, A. F. & A. M.1921

This grand lodge holds two communications each year, one every six months. The first under consideration was held October 20, 1920. At this communication several amendments to the Constitution were presented.

The Board of General Purposes made a characteristic report. They give the membership on June 30, 1920, as 8,167, a net increase of 1,058 for the year.

Several new lodge rooms were dedicated and the appointment of Robert M. Holt to represent the Grand Lodge of South Australia near the Grand Lodge of Illinois is reported.

The grand master ruled that the admission of maimed candidates is in some cases permissible provided permission is obtained.

At the second half-yearly communication held Wednesday, October 20, the grand master made quite an extended report dealing with affairs of the jurisdiction principally. Concerning the initiation of maimed candidates he says:

“In sanctioning any application for permission to initiate maimed candidates, I wish it to be clearly understood that I am not doing so by dispensation, or setting aside any law of our Order. I am, as grand master, compelled to exercise that final and most impartial care which in essence and in spirit is to be exercised by every master on the admission of any candidate at all. Since the last communication I have given some additional study to the subject. There is a belief in some quarters that physical imperfection is an absolute bar to admission to our craft. In the American constitutions that principle is carried a very long way indeed, and even in our dominions, and on our own continent, there have been authoritative expressions founded on this belief that the exclusion of the physically defective is a landmark of the Order. Brethren, I am satisfied from my researches that this is not the case. Ample authorities have satisfied me that so far as the landmarks are concerned, the admission of the physically defective and maimed is permissible by the laws of Freemasonry, and I have given the Board of General Purposes the result of my researches.”

Several amendments to the constitution which had been previously presented were adopted.

The remainder of the business transacted is largely routine. The Grand Lodge of South Australia adheres to the customs and traditions of English Freemasonry and this is quite manifest in the proceedings under review.

A rather pleasing custom is found in the correspondence report. The review of each foreign jurisdiction being prepared by the grand representative of that state.

T. Slaney Toole writes the review of Illinois and seems to think that our volume is somewhat heavy reading for those outside the jurisdiction of Illinois. Well, all this writer has to say is that if it can beat South Australia for being prosaic it will have to go some.

Concerning the correspondence report the following observation is made:

“The foreign correspondence has been reduced in bulk. It is perhaps as informative as before, but compression tends to produce a similarity in the notices that inclines to dullness. The committee’s task has been no light one. The reports of the proceedings of over sixty grand lodges have been dealt with. South Australia receives adequate notice.”

SOUTH CAROLINA, A. F. M.

The one hundred eighty-fifth annual communication convened in the Masonic Temple in the city of Charleston on Wednesday, March 8. Two hundred sixty-five out of two hundred eighty-six lodges were represented.

The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which the grand master, Samuel T. Lanham, read his annual report. In his opening remarks he discusses world conditions and considers matters in the Far East.

Extended tributes are paid to the fraternal dead. The state of the craft is pronounced to be most satisfactory.

The George Washington Memorial Association and the great work it has undertaken is thoroughly approved. The educational plan of the Masonic Service Association is endorsed and the statement made that great results from the activities of this movement are expected.

Six lodges were constituted during the year and given their charters while five new lodges were instituted.

Six foundation stones, so called, were laid and record made of the following unusual assemblage of the grand lodge:

“On January 28, 1922, the grand lodge was opened in special communication in the county courthouse at Spartanburg, and the brethren present, about twenty-eight hundred strong, marched in a body to attend religious services in the Billy Sunday Tabernacle, where three thousand seats had been specially reserved for them. This was a notable occasion, and the brethren heard a great sermon by the world’s best known evangelist.”

Several rulings and decisions are submitted. It appears that the Grand Lodge of South Carolina fixed a minimum fee for the degrees. This action caused numerous inquiries to be sent to the grand master asking for interpretations.

The grand master states that he issued the usual number of dispensations. These are not recorded in the proceedings but are on file in the grand secretary’s office.

At the conclusion of his printed address, Grand Master Lanham delivered a supplementary address orally.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters immediately follow the address of the grand master in the proceedings. These reports are complete in detail and show that the Grand Lodge of South Carolina has a very thorough system of district inspection.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts as $50,000.00 and his disbursements as $47,000.00.

The report of the grand secretary is short and in the usual form.

The Hall Committee submit a report giving the receipts as $12,478.00 and the operating expenses as $5,930.00.

One thing the Grand Lodge of South Carolina does is to make oil portraits of all grand masters. These are preserved among the treasures of the grand lodge and are handed down to future generations.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence state they have received a number of requests for recognition but many of these being printed in the Latin language the committee are unable to form any basis of judgment on the matter of recognition because of their inability to read the documents.

The following resolution was presented and enthusiastically adopted by the grand lodge:

“We approve and assert our belief in the free and compulsory education of the children of our Nation in public, primary schools supported by public taxation, on which all children shall attend and be instructed in the English language only, without regard to race or creed, and we pledge the efforts of the membership of grand lodge to promote by all lawful means the organization, extension and development to the highest degree of such schools, and to continually oppose the efforts of any and all who seek to limit, curtail, hinder or destroy the public school system of our land.”

The trustees of the Masonic Relief Fund expended the sum of $21,143.00.

The Grand Lodge of South Carolina does not maintain a Masonic Home and dispenses its charity to each individual applicant according to his need and requirements.

A motion was made that the Order of DeMolay for boys be approved and the subordinate lodges urged to form chapters. This brought out a free discussion with the result that the motion was adopted.

The Committee on Jurisprudence approved all the acts and rulings of the grand master.

An amendment to the constitution was presented fixing the minimum fee for the degrees at $20.00 and providing that lodges may confer the degrees upon ministers without charge.

The election and installation of officers closed the session.

J. L. Michie writes the report on Foreign Correspondence. He is very kind to Illinois quoting liberally from the address of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and complimenting the oration of Wm. H. Beckman by calling it a “masterly address.” He speaks of the correspondence report as a well arranged and carefully considered review in which the scissors play no part.

SOUTH DAKOTA, A. F. & A. M.

The forty-seventh annual communication was held at Watertown commencing June 14. Prior to the opening ceremonies, the grand stewards presented the American flag at the altar, after which the grand lodge was opened in ample form.

This done, the grand secretary offered the following sentiment :

“Behold the flag of our country; the greatest flag of the greatest nation of all the world. May it ever wave over a free and liberty-loving people; may it ever represent the highest ideals of American manhood; the highest standard of exalted womanhood; the purest principles of democracy. May its generous folds, blessed by Almighty God, glorified by the blood of our forefathers and revered by the Masons of our country, ever succor and support at home and abroad, on land and on sea, suffering mankind struggling for human rights, human freedom and human advancement.”

This being Flag Day, the sentiment was most appropriate.

The grand master, John H. McCord, presented his annual address. His preliminary remarks contain the following paragraph:

“Masonry in this jurisdiction has been instrumental in passing two great laws which will materially advance education in this state. One of these, requiring every teacher to take an oath to support the Constitution of the State and of the United States, before they can obtain a certificate to teach. The other is what is known as the Language bill, passed by the last legislature, requiring every child of school age to attend the public schools, during the time of the term in the school district, until they shall have reached the eighth grade, where only the English language is taught. This last bill was fought very hard by the patrons of parochial schools, but the legislature being composed of more than fifty per cent Masons, it was passed and passed with a clause of compulsion that has teeth in it.”

The grand master appears to be quite strong for the Towner-Sterling bill as is evidenced by the remarks which he made concerning this matter of legislation.

He reports receiving a communication from Germany asking for a contribution toward the support of a so-called hospital in Hamburg. His comment is quite caustic:

“It sounds to me like a ‘German whine’ to be asking for aid from the American Masons, when this condition still exists. I will not countenance the giving of any Masonic funds of the Grand Lodge of South Dakota for the so-called Masons of Germany. We may in time forgive and try to forget.”

Dispensations were issued for eight new lodges.

Grand Master McCord reports the approval of by-laws for lodges and the issuance of many dispensations for various purposes. He refused to grant a dispensation permitting a lodge to attend church as a lodge on Easter Sunday. His contention was that such a procedure might interfere with the religious belief of some of the members.

A number of decisions are reported, all of them constructions of local law. The grand master, however, held strictly to the statute on physical qualifications for he repeatedly refused to issue dispensations permitting lodges to initiate petitioners with artificial limbs. He seemed to think that in the matter of physical qualifications the decision should not be left wholly with the lodge for he says and quite truly:

“It is not right to leave it to the individual lodges to pass upon the physical qualifications of a candidate, being responsible to the grand lodge, for, under that ruling, one lodge in this state in its maudlin sympathy took in a man that had been a cripple from infancy, never had walked and was taken into the lodge in a wheel chair. The lodges never report such actions to the grand lodge.”

The corner-stones of three edifices were laid during the year. One of them was for a Masonic Temple, while one Masonic lodge room was dedicated.

He commends the Masonic Service Association and particularly the idea of district meetings for the purpose of spreading Masonic education and getting the brethren together.

Among his recommendations is one to the effect that the laws be changed so that no degree can be conferred upon a candidate the same night he is elected. He makes another recommendation which is somewhat unusual:

“I recommend that all lodges have a secret committee of one, to be appointed by the worshipful master, to investigate all applications for degrees, to make report to him and be remunerated for his services on each application. This to be outside of the regular committee appointed at the time the application is filed.”

He is very caustic in his reference to French Masonry, for he says:

“We cannot touch mud without regret. If French Masonry will insist upon wallowing in the mire of the atheist and the libertine we cannot embrace them without becoming smirched and in time they will drag us to their level, instead of rising to ours.”

In his conclusion he gives expression to the following trite saying:

“It has been said, that if you wanted to kill off a man in a lodge you should put him through the chairs and let him hang himself.”

The writer is disposed to think that there is more truth than fiction in the above.

The grand secretary's report covers many important matters which were taken care of by that official. He gives the net gain for the year to be 1,945. The present membership of the state is 16,460.

The grand treasurer announces his receipts to have been $27,663.00 and his expenditures $21,371.00.

On the afternoon of the first day, the ladies of the Order of Eastern Star were introduced into the lodge room while the grand lodge was at refreshment. There were appropriate addresses after which the sisters retired.

The Committee on Library asked for additional book room and stated that their work in extending Masonic education was experiencing a most unusual growth.

A complete revision of the grand lodge by-laws was submitted by a committee having that matter in charge and the report was adopted.

A motion was made that the trustees be instructed to take action looking toward the incorporation of the grand lodge.

Chas. L. Brockway writes the correspondence report. He seems to make the rule of giving each grand jurisdiction one page of condensed notice in which there is neither comment nor criticism.

TASMANIA, A. F. & A. M.

1922

The annual communication was held on Saturday, February 25, in the city of Hobart. There were present all the grand officers and many past grand masters, masters and wardens of lodges.

The Board of General Purposes opened the meeting with one of the characteristic reports covering various matters of importance which were disposed of by them during the year.

They announce the cataloging of the Masonic Library in the grand secretary's office and recommend the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland.

The Masonic Conference of Australian Grand Lodges is favorably commented upon and the hope expressed that much good will be derived from a continuation of these conferences.

The matter of a ritual for Tasmania is receiving attention of the board asking the grand lodge to give serious attention to this subject.

The financial condition of the grand lodge as evidenced by the reports of both the secretary and treasurer is most excellent. The total receipts for the year was 649 pounds and expenditures 829 pounds.

At this annual meeting reports were submitted to the grand lodge from the grand inspectors of lodges. These officers demonstrate very clearly that they were on the job and accomplished much good in their supervision of the craft.

The various matters recommended to the grand lodge by the Masonic conference are presented to the grand lodge. Each item was taken up and thoroughly discussed and disposed of in accordance with the general idea of Masonic uniformity among the several grand lodges interested in the conference.

The election of officers and installation occurred just prior to the annual address of the grand master. He refers to the general condition of the craft in the jurisdiction of Tasmania and very pertinently says that "while we welcome new members to our lodges, we must put forth diligent effort to retain those we already have."

There is no report on Foreign Correspondence. The booklet under review is limited to thirty-eight pages.

TENNESSEE, F. & A. M.

The annual communication was held in Freemason's Hall, Nashville, opening Wednesday, January 25, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. All the grand officers were present. The representative of the Grand Lodge of Illinois near the Grand Lodge of Tennessee, J. T. Spaulding, is duly credited. The total number of lodges represented was four hundred forty-seven. Fourteen lodges were unrepresented.

The first item of business was the reading of the laws concerning attendance of representatives, information to newspapers as well as illegal and un-Masonic electioneering. It is apparent that the Masons of Tennessee are no different from the balance of the human family and when there is something they want, they simply go out after it.

Rodney Blake, grand master, presented a very thorough and complete resume of the various affairs which passed through his hands during the time he served the craft as grand master. In his opening remarks he says:

“Our banners swell in every breeze that sweeps the continent. Let us render thanks and praise to Almighty God whose spirit has inclined our hearts to form ourselves into a common brotherhood. Are our lodges too numerous, our membership too great? Not so, if we uphold the standard which it is our duty to do as men and Masons. The brethren everywhere have been ever ready to assist me with their counsel and advice whenever I called on them, and that was many times.”

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead of his own and foreign jurisdictions as well.

The grand lodge maintains an emergency fund, the amount on hand being $62,491.00. From the report of the grand master it is apparent that the earnings of this fund are used to support the charitable enterprises in which the grand lodge engages itself.

Three lodges had their charters arrested for failing to comply with the rules and requirements of the grand lodge. At its previous meeting, the grand lodge ordered the arrest of the charter of one but before the act could be performed, the hall and contents of the lodge were burned so that there was nothing for the grand master to take up—rather an unusual circumstance.

A number of dispensations were issued by the grand master to elect and install officers as well as to permit lodges to move from one location to another.

The grand master reports quite a number of dispensations refused, one of which was to examine and ballot upon a candidate at a special meeting.

Grand Master Blake reports visitations to one hundred seventy-four lodges of his jurisdiction. He says concerning his travels:

“I believe some good was accomplished in my visits. I urged proficiency in the work, discussed the educational movement, and when called on explained the Masonic law as I understood it; and to the small weak lodges I tried to say something encouraging that I thought would cause more interest.”

No doubt the grand master did accomplish much good in getting out and meeting the lodges of his jurisdiction.

During the year that Brother Blake served as grand master, he made requests to twenty-nine grand jurisdictions for the conferring of two hundred ninety-four degrees for Tennessee lodges while Tennessee lodges conferred two hundred thirty-eight degrees for twenty-eight grand jurisdictions.

The Masonic Home apparently is in excellent condition and doing splendid work. The grand master makes a report of endorsement and suggests some additions to the home that to him appear necessary and wise. The Order of Eastern Star has given the Grand Lodge of Tennessee a school building at the Masonic Home and the grand master announces that one of the principal actions of the present session of the grand lodge will be the dedication of this splendid contribution to Masonic education on the part of the Eastern Star.

The Masonic Service Association is commended and recommendation made that membership be continued.

The Educational Committee of the grand lodge receives the commendation of the grand master for the splendid work they accomplished during the year.

The George Washington Memorial Association is approved and the recommendation made that November 24 be declared and set apart as Washington Day in honor of George Washington who first saw the light of Masonry on that day.

Certificates of proficiency were issued to a large number of brethren during the year, who had qualified themselves as experts in the ritual.

Quite a number of rulings are reported by the grand master but most of them are of local character, nothing out of the ordinary being reported.

It is apparent that the Grand Lodge of Tennessee does not believe that lodges should have a large membership for the grand master appointed a special committee to investigate large lodges and get all the information possible so that some rational conclusion may be deduced.

The grand treasurer reported receipts for the year at $126,182.00 and expenditures of $91,502.00. The grand secretary makes a very thorough and complete report and goes much into detail concerning various affairs which passed through his hands.

Inasmuch as this was the last meeting of the grand lodge to be held in Freemason's Hall, which had been condemned by the state and city as unsafe, the grand master announced that he considered it fitting to have a farewell service. As a result, speeches were made, songs sung and a very successful meeting was held.

On the morning of the second day the grand lodge voted to remain in session three days.

The Board of Custodians submitted a long report in which they make the statement that the lecturers visited one hundred seventy-three lodges and the custodians fifty-seven lodges, making the total number visited two hundred thirty.

The expenses incurred in holding schools of instruction amounted to $143.32.

The Committee on Jurisprudence make quite a long report and review many of the acts of the grand master. This committee have not confined themselves to the approval or disapproval of his legal acts but also considered other matters reported to them.

A resolution requiring all visitors of a lodge to show a receipt for the current year's dues before being examined came before the grand lodge in an amended form and was lost.

A resolution authorizing the Board of Control to locate and construct buildings at the Widow and Orphans Home was introduced and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

A number of cases were reported by the Committee on Appeals and Grievances. Each case is taken up, thoroughly analyzed and deductions made in accordance with the evidence presented.

The Committee on Returns make a characteristic report.

The Committee on Dispensations and By-laws reported favorable upon the issuance of charters to seven lodges and also dispensations for the formation of five new lodges. One dispensation was refused because the petition was not properly attested by the recommending lodges. It appears to the writer that this is a matter which could have easily been corrected and the lodge permitted to function. It may have been that the committee took advantage of the technicality to hold the dispensation over for another year or to dispose of it in a diplomatic manner.

The grand lodge has apparently been tampering with its ritual for the Board of Custodians made a report and submitted a ritual for the second section of the Third Degree which after much discussion was adopted and the board instructed to print that part of the ritual proper to be printed. Announcement was made that there had been one change made in the ritual of the three degrees and the position of light was changed, one light now being in the east, one in the south and another in the west.

Four lodges of the jurisdiction were reported as delinquent and they were ordered to show cause why their charters should not be suspended. The installation of officers, the announcement of committees and the transference of the signet ring closes a very interesting session.

In the proceedings are some illustrations of the interior rooms as well as the auditorium of Freemason's Hall which no doubt by this time has been demolished. It is too bad that the building was not in such a condition as would permit its repair and preservation. There is something delightfully charming about these old meeting places of those early, sturdy Masonic pioneers who gave so much not only to their community but who at the same time, made possible the growth and development of the splendid fraternity of Freemasons.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by H. A. Chambers of Chattanooga. He gives one hundred four pages to a brief and concise report but he does not go into either fulsome praise nor does he condemn. He makes four quotations from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell and in referring to the correspondence report of the writer makes this brief comment. "Tennessee for 1921 was fully and fraternally reviewed."

TEXAS, A. F. & A. M.

The Grand Lodge of Texas met in eighty-sixth annual communication December 6, 1921. The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which the representatives of other grand lodges were assembled about the altar and given a formal welcome.

All Masons in good standing for forty years or more were presented and welcomed by the grand master.

After these pleasing ceremonies, Andrew L. Randell read to his grand lodge a very interesting address covering his stewardship as grand master for the year closing. In his salutatory he states that he departed from the usual beaten path. What he says will be read with interest:

"As I have viewed it, the duties of constructive thought and leadership and the privilege of visitation among the craft devolve upon the grand master with an equal call of responsibility with those of attention to the routine affairs of his office. It early became evident that under present conditions no man could hope to fully meet the requirements in both directions, nor could any man, even passably, discharge absolutely necessary obligations imposed upon the grand master without an almost complete neglect of his own affairs. I was, therefore, faced in the beginning with the problem of choosing between attention to correspondence only or partially neglecting it in an effort to measure up to the other proper requirements upon me. I unhesitatingly made my choice. It was my conviction that the grand lodge had not intended that its grand master should devote his entire time to clerical duties, and I therefore decided to neglect the correspondence of the office so far as might be necessary to enable me to undertake other work along constructive lines. As a result, many of thousands of letters which have come to my office from lodges and members of the craft have gone unanswered, and I take this occasion to offer an expression of regret to this grand lodge and to all of those who have suffered in this regard, with the hope that you may pardon my action to the motive which prompted it, and provide adequate assistance for those who are to succeed me.”

The grand master states that he devoted a large part of his time to constructive Masonic work. One of the first things he did was to arrange for twenty-one division meetings over the state. He declares that the numbers in attendance at these meetings ranged from six hundred to four thousand five hundred. He observes that the educational work which he undertook was productive of much benefit and says:

“No body of men, whether they be members of a fraternity or citizens of a government, can hope to meet their full obligations and render their full measure of service if they are not trained and educated in the fundamental things for which the fraternity or the government may stand. Nor can any organized society enjoy harmony and prosperity unless provision is made for the complete assimilation of all new members received into its benefits and blessings.”

The Masonic Service Association and its scope of activity is thoroughly set forth and the project highly endorsed. He recommends that the Grand Lodge of Texas publish its own Masonic Journal. He also recommends that all candidates stand an examination in open lodge on the Third Degree.

The Order of DeMolay is commended and the hope expressed that one of these organizations may be fathered by every Masonic lodge in the state.

Under the head of Decisions, Grand Master Randell states that he answered many questions in accordance with the laws and regulations of the grand lodge. He states he granted only two dispensations for the conferring of degrees out of time. He asks the grand lodge for a new set of jewels for the grand officers, stating those now in the hands of these officials are too bulky for convenient use.

A fervent plea is made for a more liberal construction of the law on physical qualifications and the following amendment is proposed:

“(2) That an applicant for initiation must be sound and hale, without maim or defect in his body that may render him ineligible to be a Mason; that is, physical maims and defects should be considered in the light of his internal qualifications, and on the basis of his ability to receive, practice and impart, to all practical purposes, the rites and ceremonies of Ancient Craft Masonry, and possess the mental and physical ability to earn his livelihood in his chosen occupation; and—”

The grand master recommends that the Grand Lodge of Italy be recognized and representatives exchanged.

He states that the sum of $75,000.00 was pledged to the George Washington Memorial Association and that the great State of Texas will not be remiss in raising this amount.

A recommendation was made to the lodges of the state that the Masonic birthday of George Washington be observed and many of the lodges held proper ceremonies.

Concerning the Ku Klux Klan, Grand Master Randall says:

“The Ku Klux Klan is a serious menace to Masonry, both internally and externally, and the imminent dangers therefrom are causing the Masonic leadership of the Nation deep concern. It is because of this menace that I am compelled to speak plainly to all Texas Masons. The public in this and other states are holding Masonry responsible for the Klan. They have been given to understand that Masons compose the membership of the Klan to a very large degree, and that the Klan is really a militant branch of Masonry, organized and operated by Masons to do things as Klansmen that it would not be proper for them to do as Masons. Organizers, speakers and members of the Klan are responsible for this belief among the people at large, which even extends to the school children in some of our cities and towns. Everywhere the Klansmen claim that their membership is Masonic, and everywhere the public charges the Klan to Masonry.”

He asks that hereafter grand masters in Texas be given a competent secretary, stating that fully eighty percent of all correspondence which reaches the grand master can be taken care of by a competent secretary.

The Masonic Home and School are commended for the excellent work which they are doing.

The fraternal dead are mentioned, the district deputy grand masters praised, and a tribute paid to the efficient services of the grand secretary.

The deputy grand master makes a brief report of the acts he performed while the grand master was out of the state.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts at $127,255.00 and his disbursements at $103,933.00.

The report of the grand secretary is interesting and voluminous.

The number of lodges in the state is 912 with a total membership of 107,692, a net gain for the year of almost 13,000.

The Committee on Grand Officers Reports commend the grand master very highly for the many excellent things which he said in his report.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence recommend the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland, and the Grand Lodge of Texas concurred.

According to the proceedings each session of the grand lodge was opened and closed with prayer.

On the evening of the first day the grand orator delivered a short address which was thoroughly Masonic. At this session a report was presented from the Masonic Home which is quite long and covers practically every detail of this most interesting work.

The Committee on petitions open their report with the following paragraph, which shows that Masonry in the State of Texas is rapidly expanding:

“Never in the history of Texas Masonry has there been such a multiplicity of applications for charters for new lodges as are submitted to this convocation of this grand lodge.

This committee is of the opinion that new lodges in suburban districts bring Masonry and its teachings home to men who seldom visit the down town lodges and supported by the community spirit which exists in these localities will make these lodges grow and prosper to a degree that additional down town lodges could never hope or expect to attain.”

The Committee on Masonic History and Research submit a most excellent report after which Walter L. Stockwell made a most stirring address on behalf of the Masonic Service Association. There were several other addresses upon the same subject and after turning over page after page the writer comes to the conclusion that those attending the Grand Lodge of Texas must have been surfeited with the subject.

The Committee appointed by the grand lodge to visit Mexico and to acquire first hand information concerning the state of Masonry in that jurisdiction make a very long and complete report covering their investigations and recommend that recognition be extended to the Grand Lodge Valle de Mexico.

The election, installation of officers and presentation of the jewel were closing features of the session.

S. M. Bradley writes the correspondence report and quotes liberally from the address of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell. Brother Bradley was pleased with what was said concerning the pernicious practice of soliciting for the higher degrees. The principal acts of the Grand Lodge of Illinois are reviewed in a most fraternal manner. Evidently what Illinois did must have pleased him for there is no criticism.

UTAH, F. & A. M.

The proceedings under review cover the fifty-first annual communication held in Salt Lake City on January 17.

The opening ceremonies were brief, after which distinguished visitors were presented. The grand master, John E. Carver, in his opening remarks discusses the history of the fraternity and traces the growth and development of the society. One paragraph is quoted herewith:

“Masonry is but what the members of its brotherhood make it. Through their nobility and worth, it attracts the youth of today. Their fidelity and magnetism of their heart and soul proclaim through their exemplary deeds its teaching worth and power. This grand lodge is rich and strong in proportion to its stalwart men. Poorer are we today because some who have given unto us so much of noblest worth have laid aside the tools of earth and commenced to build anew in newer and fairer and more lasting spheres.”

The Order of DeMolay is commended and the following observation made:

“We have worked our way through the Boy’s Brigade, the Kappa Sigma Pi, and the Boy’s Scouts organizations. We know how much easier it is to commence the work than to endure the steady strain and responsibility of regular meetings. We know, too, that the leader is the key to the situation and leaders with boys are rare and valued men. We do firmly believe, however, in boy's work. In the peculiar conditions of many of our lodges we are convinced that if the lodge contains a boy's worker, an order for boys would be of real value in the present and bear fruit in the quality of the membership of tomorrow. We think therefore that some definite action and thought upon this subject by this grand lodge will be timely and of value."

The Masonic Service Association receives the highest commendation. His comment upon the subject is as follows:

"It was a tonic to know the many strong leaders who assembled to give thought to plans and methods for the improvement of the spirit, knowledge and morale of the craft. We do believe in the work they are doing. We think it is well worth all the money it costs the grand lodge and we recommend the continuing of the relations which we now hold to the association. It must be remembered however that all the results of the Masonic Service Association are dependent upon the committees of the grand lodge and local lodges if the practical benefits are to accrue to the individual brethren."

Grand Master Carver issued but ten dispensations.

Reference is made to the project of a new Masonic Temple to be erected in Salt Lake City, and great satisfaction is expressed at the progress of the building plans.

The George Washington Memorial Association and its work is reviewed. The Grand Master says that the expense of attending the meetings is quite large and that if the grand lodge is to do anything toward this enterprise, the raising of funds should commence at once. The whole subject is referred to the grand lodge for its consideration.

The grand treasurer gives his receipts to be $8,727.00 and his disbursements as $10,261.00.

The report of the grand secretary covers many items. He reports a lively demand for what is called the Utah Monitor and states that all the lodges of the jurisdiction have been supplied with uniform receipts for dues in accordance with late amendments along this line.

The net increase for the year was 669 and the present membership now stands at 4,036. There are but twenty-five lodges in the jurisdiction.

The report of the grand lecturer is interesting and shows that he visited many of the lodges and gave them instruction in the work and ritual. One paragraph in the report is interesting:

“Since examination in the catechisms of the several degrees by committee became permissible under the Masonic law, it is questionable whether or not the rank and file of the craft have not lost a good deal of their knowledge of the catechism and the grand lecturer therefore recommends to the constituent lodges that they take occasion where the work is such as to permit of it to have at least one examination in the catechism of one degree in open lodge each month.”

The Grand Lodge of Utah maintains a most excellent library and a special committee having this work in charge report that books are in demand and there is every evidence that the craft of the jurisdiction are looking for further light.

The Jurisprudence Committee recommended the adoption of a resolution limiting each lodge to the conferring of but ninety degrees in each year. After a full discussion the matter was laid on the table.

This committee recommended the continuation of membership in the Masonic Service Association. It also presented the following amendment to the by-laws, which was adopted:

“No candidate shall be advanced to the second or third degree until after he shall have passed a satisfactory examination as to his proficiency in the catechism of the preceding degree. Such examination shall be either in open lodge or before a committee of not less than two appointed for that purpose. The proficiency of the candidate shall be decided by the worshipful master, or by a majority of the brethren present at the meeting, or by the committee, as the case may be. A brother may be advanced at any meeting of the lodge after having been duly examined as herein required.

The George Washington Memorial Association was approved by the grand lodge and arrangements made to send a committee to the meeting.

The remainder of the business transacted at this session was principally routine.

The election and installation together with the presentation of the signet ring and jewel closed the session.

Sam H. Goodwin writes the correspondence report. It is a most excellent document, but Illinois is not reviewed. It perhaps happened that our proceedings failed to reach the correspondent. Appended to the correspondence report is a most interesting document upon the subject “Mormonism and Masonry.” The writer would like to make some quotations therefrom but lack of space prohibits.

VERMONT, F. & A. M.

The one hundred twenty-eighth annual communication was held in the city of Burlington, June 15 and 16. The roll call showed the presence of the representatives of eighty-three subordinate lodges.

The first business of importance was the presentation of the annual address of the grand master, Archie S. Harriman. His opening remarks are congratulatory concerning the splendid progress of Masonry in the Green Mountain state. Tributes of respect are paid to the dead.

The grand master states that he granted six dispensations for general purposes and refused one to attend church in Masonic regalia, also to permit a lodge to continue work until its charter, lost by fire, could be replaced by a duplicate. It would seem that the latter action on the part of the grand master appears to the writer to be somewhat over-reaching. This may be the Vermont law but surely a lodge that has had the misfortune to lose its charter by fire should not be retarded in its work by the mere absence of a document which the grand lodge can replace at any moment.

The grand master reports that one lodge which had lost its property by fire received substantial assistance from the other lodges of the district in the matter of financial help.

It is noticed that the Grand Lodge of Vermont has been having some trouble with the Grand Lodge of California concerning the care of an indigent member by the Masons of the western state. The matter appears to have been amicably adjusted. It frequently happens that our brethren of the west are quite liberal in the matter of caring for the needy. Sometimes their generosity is not appreciated by some of the eastern jurisdictions who are not quite so liberal in the dispensing of Masonic aid. Hence, an argument.

One decision made by the grand master was to the effect that an objection to the installation of an elected officer must be made in the form of charges preferred.

Four opinions concerning the social activities of a lodge are rendered. Because of their interesting and somewhat unusual character they are reproduced in full:

“1. In my opinion it would not be proper for a lodge to conduct a series of public dances and advertise them as ‘Masonic’ or ‘under the auspices of the lodge.’

“2. A lodge may spend money as it pleases so long as it is for a proper object. It should not make improper use of its money. It would, therefore, be improper for a lodge to back such a series of dances with its funds.

“3. The improper conduct of its affairs by a lodge would expose it to grand lodge investigation. The infliction of discipline for such improper conduct would be at the option of the grand lodge.

“4. With regard to the attendance of Roman Catholics at private Masonic parties by invitation, I see no reason, if any outsiders are to be invited to Masonic parties, why a Roman Catholic may not be invited. However, the membership of the lodge should have an opportunity to express itself as to the desirability of issuing such invitations to any who are not Masons.”

One thing the grand master did was to recommend the discontinuance of the practice of printing in the proceedings the roster of the lodges of the jurisdiction.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts at approximately $11,000.00. His expenditures were $10,000.00.

The grand secretary reports a net gain of 1,020 for the year and gives the total number of Master Masons to be 17,012.

The Jurisprudence Committee bring in a report in which they credit the grand master with having followed the law in his various official acts and rulings.

The Grand Lodge of Vermont appears to have been satisfied to let well enough alone for the proceedings under review show that nothing startling or unusual was done.

The final acts were the election and installation of officers.

The report on Foreign Correspondence is prepared by Chas. H. Darling. It covers thirty-two pages and is topical. His conclusion is reproduced herewith because his conclusions run counter to those propagandists who are prone to use Freemasonry as a panacea for all social and political ills:

“More than two and a quarter million men are already members in the United States alone and many more are daily knocking at our doors for admission. To direct, guide and improve the condition of these men, to mold and make Masons of the newly admitted is work enough for all. Two and a quarter million men united upon a platform of the five points of fellowship make a great and worthy institution and is sufficient to command the admiration and respect of all good men. If there are those who cannot understand this philosophy; if they cannot respond to the heart throbs of such an institution, it is because they themselves have not the true spirit of fraternalism and lack of the milk of human kindness. If they think that they are too broad and are too large minded to stand upon the platform of fraternalism, let them join the church whose mission is the salvation of mankind at large. If they wish to devote themselves to general relief work, let them join the Red Cross that is organized for that purpose. If they wish to do more for the state, let them enter the realm of practical politics, wherein they may find a field for statesmanship and larger political activities; but if they wish to do more for Masonry, let them study the great field of fraternalism and then let them go on foot, and out of their way to help their needy brethren. Let them remember their brother's weaknesses in all their applications to Deity; let them keep their brother's interests and welfare close to their own hearts. Let them stretch out their hands to aid and assist the fallen; and let them whisper good counsel into the ears of their brethren and in the most kindly manner remind them of their faults and endeavor to help and smooth out their pathway of life. This work is absolutely individual and to accomplish it Masons must meet upon this common platform and not be weary in well doing. The lodges call for this kind of service and they are the basis of Masonry. A meeting of all the grand masters in the world will not accomplish it. The spreading of all the propaganda in Christendom will not accomplish it. To accomplish this men and jurisdictions that are advocating centralization and united power, must right about face and get right down into these lodges and do their work there. Ours is the greatest and strongest fraternal institution in the world. This is platform and purpose enough for one institution.

“To depart from the principles of Masonry as a strictly fraternal institution is to dissipate its strength and undermine its foundations. To maintain it as a fraternity we must keep the ‘home fires burning’ in the home lodges. Two and a quarter million members kept Masonically sound, will leaven the whole country so that, as Webster said, in dedicating the monument at Bunker Hill: ‘Desponding patriotism may turn its eyes hitherward and be assured that the foundations of our national power still stand strong.’”

VICTORIA, A. F. & A. M.1921

The first quarterly communication of the Grand Lodge of Victoria was held in the city of Melbourne on Wednesday, March 16. The attendance was unusually large. F. T. Hickford, representing Illinois, was among the grand representatives present.

The grand lodge briefly opened and proceeded to business. Apologies for non-attendance were read from a number of members of the grand lodge.

The Board of General Purposes report their transactions for the quarter. Everything that passed through their hands appears to have been routine in character.

The financial tables as submitted by the auditor show that the Grand Lodge of Victoria has ample funds with which to carry on its work.

Several brethren who had neglected to pay their lodge dues were excluded and their names read in grand lodge.

The grand secretary gives the total membership in the jurisdiction to be 23,237, an increase for the year of 2,732.

Five hundred sixty-four dispensations were granted during the twelve months past, all of them were for purposes usually recognized by English Freemasonry.

The election and installation of officers were features of the closing hours.

A quarterly meeting held on the fifteenth day of June was largely attended. At this session one member of the fraternity who had been receiving stolen property was expelled. The remainder of the business transacted at this session was in accordance with English tradition and custom.

The third quarterly communication was held on Wednesday, September 21. A communication from the grand master was presented appointing a number of brethren to the positions of inspectors of workings.

The Board of General Purposes reported the consecration of six lodges. A number of brethren were reported excluded for non-payment of dues. The grand master made an address dealing with the general condition of Masonry, after which the grand lodge closed in ample form.

At this point in the proceedings there is inserted a report of the first Australian Masonic conference held in the city of Melbourne, November 9, 1921.

Judging from the report, the conference must have been very interesting for the discussions were quite lively. Among the subjects considered were the following: "Maimed or Blind Candidates," "Inquiries Concerning Candidates," "Notifying Lodges of Candidates," "Expelled Brethren," "Masonic Relief," "Lists of Relief Granted," "Enemy Subjects," "Right of Visitation," "Exclusion of Undesirable Members," "Masonic Emblems," "Rank of Representatives," "Masonic Funerals," "Uniformity of Clothing," "Statement for Candidates."

The last quarterly communication was held December 21. The grand secretary read a communication announcing the death of Isaae Cutter, grand secretary of Illinois.

The Earl of Stradbroke, the governor of the State of Victoria, was nominated for grand master and was, of course, elected.

A report was made on the first Australian conference and much of its deliberation was approved.

Several matters of minor interest were considered, after which the grand lodge was closed.

VIRGINIA, A. F. & A. M.

The one hundred forty-fourth annual communication was held in the city of Richmond, February 14. The grand lodge was opened in ample form, after which Grand Master John S. Bottimore read his annual report. An opening paragraph is as follows:

"The forms and ceremonies of initiation and the lectures furnish the alphabet only of Masonry. They do not, of themselves, make any man a Mason, but only a member. Too often this member does not use this alphabet; he will not learn to spell and then to read, and having read, to understand, and rushes on into the so-called 'higher degrees' with little knowledge or appreciation of those through which he has passed. It is this spirit that seeks to change the alphabet, because of lack of understanding. It would, through ignorance, tear down the very foundation stones on which the whole superstructure of Masonry is erected."

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead not only of his grand jurisdiction but throughout the Masonic world. He reports that a dangerous fire threatened the Masonic Temple in March last and that the building was only saved by heroic effort. The sum of $100.00 was given to the Richmond fire department.

Quite a number of visitations are reported by the grand master. He dedicated one Masonic Temple and laid four corner-stones. He approved by-laws for three lodges. His decisions are eighteen in number. Some of them are as follows:

“2. That a lodge has no right either by resolution or by a by-law to require its members as individuals to serve, or pay for dinners at its communications.

“7. That the worshipful master of a lodge has the right to invite a visiting brother from another grand jurisdiction to preside in the East during the conferring of a degree; that the propriety or non-propriety of so doing is a matter in the discretion of the worshipful master in ruling and governing his lodge.

“14. That ‘once a Mason always a Mason’ of some degree of honor, or of dishonor, and that suspension or withdrawal from a lodge does not prevent one from being tried and punished for a Masonic offense by a lodge having jurisdiction.

“16. That a lodge has the right to accept and ballot on the petition of a citizen of Russia, who had lived in this country for ten years; who had taken out his first naturalization papers; and who had resided for the one year last past within its jurisdiction.”

Twenty-six dispensations for general purposes were granted. Six were refused by Brother Bottimore. Most of them were requests asking for permission to initiate candidates who were physically defective.

Seven dispensations for the formation of new lodges were granted and the usual number of requests to confer degrees were both made and approved.

The George Washington Memorial Association is of course thoroughly approved and the enterprise commended most highly. In this connection he says:

“I hope and believe that the Masons of Virginia will not cease their efforts until the temple is built, like unto the Temple of Solomon, and that it will soon become to American Masons all that Westminster Abbey stands for to the English world—a temple, in which is enshrined the memory of our illustrious dead, and in which balm and healing may be found, if unhappily discord should arise among our grand jurisdictions.”

It is apparent that the finances of the Grand Lodge of Virginia are not in the best possible condition for the following observation is made:

“I regret to advise you that our finances are not in a satisfactory condition. Our bonded indebtedness now amounts to $60,000.00 on which we are paying an annual interest charge of $3,000.00. Our dues at present are $1.75 per member; one dollar (four-sevenths of this amount) is appropriated to the Masonic Home; fifteen cents is appropriated for the use of the Committee on Masonic Charity, leaving sixty cents for all other purposes. This will meet these expenses, and will take care of the interest on our indebtedness, but will not provide a sinking fund to pay off this indebtedness within a reasonable number of years.”

The Virginia Masonic Journal is endorsed and the Masons of the state urged to give it liberal support. The lodges of the jurisdiction are praised for the very liberal manner in which they have lent their support to the Masonic Home of the state.

Quite a long dissertation is given concerning the attitude of Freemasonry toward religious organization. He says:

“Earnest and zealous members of different religious denominations meet together in the same lodge room, with the same rights and privileges and it is therefore apparent that absolute neutrality between different denominations is essential to the peace and harmony of the lodge.

“Masonry occupies the same position toward other organizations, and political parties and issues, that it does toward religious denominations. It requires of its members only allegiance to their vows to it, and to its tenets, and leaves them at full liberty to make such church and political and other affiliation as they deem best. Nothing that I have said is intended to imply that Masonry is indifferent as to religious denominations. It is deeply and sincerely interested in them, and in all organizations and movements for the good of mankind, and does not pharisaically hold itself aloof from them; and only claims the right to aid in good works in its own way, and does not offer itself as a substitute for the church.”

His concluding paragraph is so true that it is reproduced herewith:

“The Masonic institution is not merely a man’s social club. It is a great and useful institution. It has blessed the world through untold centuries of the past; it is blessing the world today, and will continue to bless the world ‘When you and I, like streaks of evening cloud, have faded into the infinite azure of the past.’”

The grand treasurer gives his receipts for the year as $131,000.00 and his disbursements as $111,661.00.

The report of the grand secretary is very brief and merely covers receipts and expenditures of his office.

The grand lecturer submits a report which gives some indication as to how the jurisdiction of Virginia promulgates its ritual. The system inaugurated seems to have been highly successful.

All lodges under dispensation were granted charters.

The Finance Committee make a report in which they endeavor to readjust the finances of the grand lodge.

The Jurisprudence Committee make a long report in which they report adversely on a proposition to limit maximum lodge membership to four hundred.

The reports of the district deputy grand masters which are submitted directly to the grand lodge are very brief, little detail being given.

The final acts of the grand lodge were the election and installation of officers and the presentation to the grand master elect of a silver pitcher, basket of flowers and a jewel and apron.

Joseph W. Eggleston writes the report on correspondence. He gives seven and one-half pages to a review of the proceedings of Illinois and he quotes liberally and generously from the report of Grand Master Daniel G. Fitzgerrell. He also quotes almost one page from the report of the Committee on the Masonic Service Association and agrees particularly with everything that Brother Goddard said. The oration of Wm. H. Beckman is complimented by a quotation of almost one page. Concerning the correspondence report of ye writer Brother Eggleston makes it very clear that he does not like the topical form of review, and thinks it cannot do justice to any writer or any review and observes as follows concerning this writer:

“He reviewed Virginia, 1920, by an intelligent summary, and was evidently pleased with Grand Master Cutchius. He correctly classes this writer as belonging to the old school and as adhering strictly to the time-honored precedents of the fraternity. We thank him for the classification, and hold that ours is an ancient institution which no man ever has or ever can improve by modern innovation. We have watched the many efforts for more than forty-five years, and have yet to find a single successful attempt.”

James H. Price, G.M., Richmond.

Chas. A. Nesbitt, G.S., Richmond.

WASHINGTON, F. & A. M.

1922

The sixty-fourth annual communication was convened in the city of Spokane, Tuesday, June 14, 1921. All the lodges of the jurisdiction were represented with the exception of eight. The grand lodge was opened in ample form after which there were addresses of welcome and responses thereto.

The grand master, James H. Begg, delivered his annual message. In his opening paragraph he refers to the unusual growth in membership and calls attention to the fact that he found it necessary to issue several dispensations for the formation of several new lodges owing to the vast amount of work on hand. He refers to his trip to Alaska and gives interesting accounts of the lodges he visited there and the splendid entertainment that was accorded him by the lodges of that far away jurisdiction.

Reference is made to his visit to Alexandria, Virginia, and the impression that the Washington relies made upon him. He promises the liberal support of the Grand Lodge of Washington in the erection of the Masonic memorial to the father of his country.

Numerous lodges of the jurisdiction were visited by the grand master who talked to them upon Masonic affairs. Nine corner-stones were laid during the year, two of them on Sunday.

A long list of dispensations issued is given with the reasons therefor. Among the dispensations refused was one from a lodge asking permission to confer all three degrees upon a seafaring man in one evening.

Two lodges were given permission to attend Divine services, one on Easter and the other on St. John's day.

Two Masonic temples were dedicated, twelve dispensations for the formation of new lodges issued and two refused.

The conduct of the Masonic Home is highly praised and the brethren urged to read the report of the Board of Trustees.

“The Masonic Tribune” of the state is commended to the craft and every Mason is urged to give liberal financial support to the publication.

Several decisions were rendered but the writer is unable to discover anything out of the ordinary.

The work of the Grand Lodge of Washington in the matter of Masonic Research and Education is highly commended. Grand Master Begg realizes that the craft owes something to the newly made Mason for he says:

“We are taking into our Masonic body an immense number of worthy young men, and to them we owe the duty of furnishing all possible means for their education in our mysteries and in the mission and philosophy of our great universal institution. You have already manifested so clear a conception of this paramount duty that there is no need to do more than barely to mention it in this message.”

The report of the grand secretary is mainly financial. The present membership of the jurisdiction is 33,954, a net gain of 5,337.

The total financial receipts were $137,371.00. The total disbursements $143,684.00.

Inasmuch as the grand lodge held its first day's session on Flag Day, the flag ceremony was performed and the national anthem sung.

The grand representatives were welcomed and felicitations exchanged, after which Walter F. Meier, grand orator, delivered a most excellent address to the grand lodge.

A resolution providing for an assessment or rather subscription of $1.00 per capita for the George Washington Memorial Association was presented and referred to the Committee on Finance. Approved.

The Master and Warden's Club of Seattle submitted resolutions providing for thorough investigation and due deliberation before charges are brought in any Masonic lodge. This club is quite correct in the premises when it says, “We believe that Masonic trials should be discouraged rather than encouraged.”

The following amendment to the code was presented by the Committee on Jurisprudence and was adopted:

“Any Master Mason, within one year after receiving the Third Degree, petitioning any organization having as one of its prerequisites membership in a lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, and any brother soliciting such a petition or presenting it to such an organization, shall be deemed guilty of unmasonic conduct. It shall be the duty of the master of a lodge, after the charge in the Third Degree is delivered, to read this section of the code to the candidate.”

The report of the superintendent of the Masonic Home gives the number in that institution to be thirty-eight, of whom four are children.

In the closing hours of the session officers were elected and installed, the salary of the grand lecturer fixed at $2,500.00 per year and traveling expenses, new regalia purchased for the grand lodge and a recommendation from the Finance Committee that a sum equivalent to ten cents per capita be levied for the benefit of the George Washington Memorial Association.

Ralph C. McAllaster writes the report on Foreign Correspondence. It covers thirty-four pages and is topical in form.

Illinois' action on the Masonic Service Association is quoted in full.

WEST VIRGINIA, A. F. & A. M.

The proceedings of the fifty-seventh annual communication held in the city of Parkersburg, Wednesday, the 16th day of November are under review. The book contains a half-tone of the new Masonic Home, the corner-stone of which was laid on Wednesday, November 6. The structure is a magnificent one and the Masons of West Virginia have cause to be justly proud.

The grand lodge opened promptly at 7:30 o'clock P. M. Fred C. Steinbicker, representing Illinois, was among those present.

The grand master, Adrian C. Nadendousch, read his annual address. One paragraph is excerpted:

“True to her destiny America unflinching accepts the challenge to leadership in service to humanity, and, standing with chastened heart but firm resolve beside the open grave of her ‘unknown dead,’ pledges herself irrevocably to the execution of her mission in the ringing sentiment of her chief executive that ‘there must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare.’ My brethren, let us as Masons, remember that we also are citizens of a common country aroused as never before to the senseless, silly, futile resort to arms for the settlement of our disputes, and accord to those charged with the duty of annihilating useless precedent and setting up in its stead a sane, honorable, equitable standard of conduct, that meed of sympathy and support so sorely needed at this fateful hour.”

Tributes of respect are paid to the dead.

The George Washington Memorial Association and all that has been accomplished is reviewed and the statement made that the Grand Lodge of West Virginia will do its full share toward this laudable undertaking.

It appears from the grand master's report that Grand Lodge of West Virginia has declined to become a member of the Masonic Service Association. No recommendation whatever is made to the grand lodge except the pointing out of the rather significant fact that thirty-four grand jurisdictions are now members of the association.

Twenty-five corner-stones were laid during the year, some of them being for Masonic edifices, but most of them being for school houses and churches. The list of dispensations granted is not a long one. All of them appear to be within the regular line of action for such purposes.

A good many complaints reached the grand master concerning invasions of jurisdiction. He states that most of them were adjusted satisfactorily but one found its way into the grand lodge.

Concerning the reports of the district deputy grand masters, the following paragraph appears:

“A careful perusal of the reports will show two conditions that should not exist; first, the frequent disagreements over jurisdictional lines; secondly, the lack of care in investigating the character of petitioners. The former is susceptible of adjustment without the slightest difficulty through the means provided by our rules and regulations, and the latter is capable of just as ready disposition by the exercise of common honesty in the formulation of our findings. In the one instance we are too ready to contend purely through pride of opinion, while in the other we are too prone to take everything for granted and shirk personal responsibility. Numbers may be desirable, but quality is indispensable. If we would extend the usefulness of the craft it can not be through the acquisition of elements incapable of development, morally and spiritually, but must be done through the employment of those instrumentalities that are responsive to its teachings and in sympathy with its purposes.”

The grand master compliments the grand lodge upon the Masonic Home which has just been completed, and looks with much hope upon the future of that splendid institution.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts as $42,205.00 and his expenditures as $41,605.00. The grand secretary's report is principally numerical, dealing with his financial transactions.

The grand lecturer and his deputies submit a report which discloses the way and manner the ritual is promulgated in the State of West Virginia. These reports are thorough and complete and should give the craft of the jurisdiction an adequate idea of the system employed that the ritual is being projected.

A very interesting report is submitted by the trustees of the Masonic Home.

The Grand Lodge of West Virginia is making splendid progress in the matter of building up an institutional charity.

The Committee on the Educational Fund report no applications for assistance from this fund.

The grand lodge, upon recommendation of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence, report favorably upon the recognition of the Grand Lodge of Queensland. The grand lodge accepted the report and voted to exchange representatives.

Early in the afternoon of the second day, the election and installation of officers together with the presentation of the jewel and apron took place. At a night session the Committee on Chartered Lodges submitted a detailed report, giving the number of constituent lodges in the jurisdiction at one hundred fifty-seven. The present membership 27,963, a net gain for the year of 2,435.

The Finance Committee submitted a report levying an assessment of $2.00 upon each Master Mason in the state, the money derived therefrom to be used in completing a Masonic Home.

George W. Atkinson writes the correspondence report and prepares a good one. He reviewed Illinois but the printer played a trick on either Brother Atkinson or the writer for he inserted four blank pages where there should have appeared Brother Atkinson's review of Illinois. Hence the writer is unable to make any comment whatsoever.

If Brother John M. Collins, grand secretary, doesn't send us a complete report next year, he will find trouble on his hands.

The volume under consideration covers the transactions of the forty-seventh annual communication held in the city of Lander, Wednesday, September 14, 1921.

The first business after the ceremonies of opening was the annual address of the grand master, William O. Wilson. The document is not long but is concisely and forcibly written. One opening paragraph reads as follows:

“Whether as a result of the great war the minds of so many have been turned to a desire to join us in our great and good work, we know not, but this we do know, and that is that never before has there been such an awakening in Masonry, both among those seeking admission into our great order, and also among the members of the order, all of whom are earnestly seeking a knowledge of the truth.”

It appears from the grand master's report that the meetings of the grand lodge conflict with those of the state fair and the suggestion is made that some step be taken to avoid this conflict.

Numerous visitations are reported by the grand master. Five lodges were constituted and two corner-stones laid. All requests to lay corner-stones on Sunday were promptly refused.

The grand master had some trouble with petitioners who applied for the degrees and who failed to state they had been previously rejected. He recommends that the grand lodge take some action and amend the code covering this matter.

Some of the lodges of the jurisdiction felt that six months residence was not sufficient to establish residential requirements and the grand master recommended that the law be modified permitting those lodges that wanted longer time to have it.

But ten dispensations for various purposes were issued and no applications for the formation of new lodges were received.

One decision rendered was to the effect that a lodge desiring to attend the funeral of a brother but not participate in it in any way the brethren must be clothed as Masons.

Concerning the matter of learning the work of the Third Degree, Grand Master Wilson observed:

“The old question of proficiency in the work of the Master Mason’s degree is still before us. This grand body might provide some penalty, such as prohibition of certain Masonic privileges. But the wiser course, I feel, is to suspend the conferring of some final portion of the degree, as shall leave something to be done before the candidate shall be declared a Master Mason, until such time as he shall have committed the required lecture work. I recommend this for your consideration.”

Concerning the succeeding degrees he also says:

“As a matter of fact there are no ‘higher degrees’ than the first three. All Masons realize that when a man takes the first three degrees and is entitled to walk and act as a Master Mason, there has been placed within his mind all of the great principles of Masonry which he will ever learn as such. We also know full well that no man can live long enough to become a master of Masonry. It behooves Masonry throughout the world, then, to hold its votaries within the blue lodge fold, until they learn or have an opportunity of learning and learning soundly the basic foundation on which the great structure rests. It is to be admitted that both the York and Scottish rites explain more fully and by different and beautiful ceremonies these great Masonic truths. But if a man rushes through the first three degrees and does not pause long enough in Masonic life to grasp these truths, and then hurries through the Scottish Rite degrees to the thirty-second degree, or through the York to the Knights Templar degree, then he is rarely, if ever, the same Mason, nor does he ever understand the degrees succeeding the Master Mason’s degree, as he does when he pauses for a time on his journey, at the station of the worshipful master.”

He refers the subject to the grand lodge for such action as it may desire to take.

The Masonic Service Association is commended for the good work it is doing and membership continued was the recommendation.

His concluding paragraph under “Our Duty and Opportunity” is excellent. The following paragraph is quoted:

“The great moral forces of the world must by their efforts train the minds of the people along such lines as will restore confidence and normal conditions. Masonry, as always, has a commanding position to hold. The principles which are the foundation of the fraternity should so impress the minds and hearts of its members, so that they shall do their part in upbuilding human character and consequently government character. The great forces which stand for the principle of the development of the individual, among which Masonry stands foremost, are drawn up in battle array against the oriental Bolshevist idea of group thinking. The world has advanced by the development of the individual. The place to develop the individual and to continue is in the public schools. Ideas implanted in the minds of the young are never effaced."

The report of the grand secretary gives the net increase for the year as $19. The present membership of the lodges is 5,986.

An interesting item in this connection is the reporting of total rejections of 258, one fourth of the total number of petitions received.

The grand treasurer gives his total receipts at $9,400.00 and his expenditures as $6,675.00.

The trustees of the Masonic Home Fund give their assets at $24,500.00. Their expenditures during the year were $5,431.00.

The report of the grand librarian gives some idea of the excellent work that is being accomplished in the matter of bringing greater light to the Masons of Wyoming. The library is growing and the plans for the future show broad and liberal scope.

The Committee on Foreign Correspondence reported favorably upon the question of recognizing the Grand Lodge of Queensland.

Some of the amounts paid to the representatives of lodges who attended grand lodge are quite generous, some of them reaching as high as $77.00.

The Committee on the George Washington Memorial approved the proposition and submitted a plan for raising funds for this purpose.

The grand lodge voted to continue membership in the Masonic Service Association. The grand lodge adopted the plan of many other grand lodges in the following:

"Every Mason hereafter raised to the degree of Master Mason in this jurisdiction shall become proficient in the Master Mason's degree as required in former degrees and give proof thereof by examination in open lodge, which fact shall be entered of record. Provided, however, that such examination may be had and record entered in any lodge which may be designated for such purpose by the lodge in which the Master Mason was raised. The secretary of each subordinate lodge in this jurisdiction shall include in his annual report to the grand lodge the names of all Master Masons who have taken, passed and failed to pass an examination upon the Master Mason's degree, in such subordinate lodge."

The minimum fees for degrees were fixed at $50.00. The election and installation of officers with the presentation of the jewel closed the session.

Joseph M. Lowndes writes the correspondence report in his usually effective manner. Illinois receives one page of brief consideration. He commends what Grand Master Fitzgerrell said, and in a few lines covers the principal transactions of the grand lodge. He calls the correspondence report of this writer an excellent one.
